Beta Theta Pi	0	1	.000
Chi Psi	0	3	.000
Alpha Beta Chi	0	2	.000

Bachelordon took a 10 to 4 fall out of the Chi Psi quintet yesterday afternoon. The game was fast and hard fought. Both squads were unable to locate the hoop although they had many chances. Nosler and Martin for the winners played a fast floor game. Oliver and Gant bore the brunt of the fracas for the Chi Psi men. The score:

Bachelordon—10	Chi Psi—4
Nosler 4.....F.....	Sargent
Martin.....F.....	Failing
Rivenburgh 2.....C.....	Oliver 2
Weber.....G.....	Gant 2
Gartner 4.....S.....	DeVaul
Norton.....S.....

Referee—Fraser. The Kappa Delta Phi tossers threw a scare into the Kappa Sigs when they rushed last years champions off their feet in the first half. The floor work of the Kappa Deltas was excellent and it was only the foul shooting of "Deak" Bryant that enabled the Kappa Sigs to emerge at the half with a one point lead. At half time coach Burnett pepped his men up and they came back in the last half and showered the basket with counters. For the winners, Strahorn and Bryant took the best with Culbertson playing a great checking game. Anderson and Hill put up a good brand of ball for the Kappa Deltas. The score:

Kappa Sigma—24	Kappa Delta Phi—9
Bryant 12.....F.....	Anderson 5
Strahorn 8.....F.....	Tetz
Fraser 2.....G.....	Hill 2
Leake.....G.....	Norton
Culbertson 2.....G.....	Poutu 2
Randall.....S.....	Saari

Referee—Bohler. No games today.

Campus Boasts Duck Preserve But No Hunting

At last we have a hunting preserve on our campus. It would take the best of imaginations to picture the new School of Journalism on its proposed site. Where the new brick edifice will one day be erected, there is now a seething, slushy mass of miocene muck, covered with water.

Winter is coming and soon the quacking of ducks will be heard as they fly toward the sunny south. But a duck cannot fly all the time and at night they rest on some marshy island or in some still pool. Once in the pool they float about and usually go to sleep. There is a sign hoisted on top of a strong pole, which rears itself from the very center of the pond, which will some day be the basement of the new "shack." This sign carries a warning to all despoilers of the feathered tribe to lay off the mud flats. Probably some wily night editor, as he stole wearily out of the door, came upon the quacking rabble in the mucky mud and decided that they were his and all that came after them. So he slipped into the print shop and rigged a sign "No Duck Hunting Allowed." The sign has all the earmarks of a real game warning.

No doubt the poster of the sign, whoever he may be, is chuckling and gloating over the remains of a fat duck meal. We hope that tonight when he goes after the ducks as they settle on his little mud hole, that he will sink to his chin in the mud for being so selfish with the ducks that camp on our campus.

CHURCH SPEAKERS TALK TO STUDENTS

Anchorage Is Scene of Banquet Under Auspices of Y. M. And Y. W. C. A.

Noted speakers at a banquet of the Church Co-operation committee at the Anchorage Wednesday evening. Dinner was under the auspices of the Y. M. and Y. W. for the purpose of receiving inspiration from foreign and local religious workers and to obtain mutual help and encouragement in the development of a moral and religious atmosphere on the campus.

Mahlon H. Day, Oregon graduate and formerly traveling in the United States in the interests of Canton College, addressed the young people of the University interested in religious activities on the value of church attendance to the student during his school career. "Students have a duty to perform among their fellow students," he said, in pointing out the great responsibility that lies upon every student in creating the proper moral and religious atmosphere on the campus, and especially upon those who assume position of leadership. "Students ought to identify themselves with the local churches from the point of view of friendship alone," he continued. "The best friendships I made during my entire college career were made in church or with those who were interested in religious activities."

President Campbell in a brief address stated his belief that one hundred per cent of the students of this University could be reached and induced to devote more time to the development of the deeper moral life.

"There is a big responsibility they are shirking," he said, referring to the students in general. "Their task is not so much the saving of their own souls, but of saving the souls of others."

Reports were given from the various Bible classes and plans were discussed for the six weeks' campaign to bring the various religious organizations into closer touch with the college life.
