

MYSTERY PLAY TO BE STAGED SOON

University Actors to Appear in "The Scarlet Pimpernel," Tale of Revolution

A thrilling French mystery in which members of the French royalty condemned by the Tribunal are able to escape to England, colorful costumes of the later eighteenth century, and an unusual surprise at the end of the play, all are combined in the "Scarlet Pimpernel," by Baroness Orczy, which will be the second play produced by the dramatic department this year.

The dates have been set for November 14, 15, 16 and 17 and it will be the first time for several years that a play has been produced for more than three nights consecutively in the Guild hall theater. The play has unusual interest because not until the end is one able to tell who is the Scarlet Pimpernel, the head of the group of Englishmen who are opposing the French revolutionists. The mystery is as deep, and the interest is held as well in this play as in "The Bat," which was seen in Eugene last winter. A group of completely new sets are being made for the play and it is expected by those in charge that this production will overshadow anything that has been done on the campus for some time.

Mrs. John Leader and Fergus Reddie will again play the leading roles, this time they will be supported by all the members of the senior and junior companies. Both Mrs. Leader and Professor Reddie's work was praised highly by members of the faculty and students who saw their last production, "Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire" which was produced during the first part of last month.

Hildegard Repinen, Lorna Coolidge, Claire Keeney and Margaret Nelson, all Guild theater stars, will be seen again, several of them for the first time this year. Many of the new members of the company will make their first appearance in dramatic work of the campus at this time.

Mrs. Leader will play Lady Blakeney, the fascinating French actress who is misunderstood by her husband. Fergus Reddie will play Sir Percy Blakeney, her foppish husband. Darrell Larsen, who was seen in a number of plays last year the best of which was Caesar and Cleopatra, will play Chauvelin, the representative of the French revolutionists. This play, because of its romantic setting and interesting character development, promises to be particularly fascinating to all those who like a good mystery plot.

OREGON EX-STUDENTS VISITED IN MID-WEST

Interior Decorator and Doctor Among Friends Seen by Velma Rupert on Trip During Summer

Velma Rupert, '22, graduate of the school of journalism, brings back from the middle west the word that wherever one goes one meets graduates or former students of the University of Oregon.

At Chicago Miss Rupert met Mrs. Stella Sullivan Miller, who studied in the University for two years. Mrs. Miller is engaged in the interior decorating business with her husband, in Chicago. She is a member of the national executive committee of Theta Sigma Phi, women's national honorary journalism fraternity.

Miss Helen Brenton, Oregon '19, who has finished her work at the University of Minnesota for the degree of doctor of medicine, was another former Oregonian met by Miss Rupert during her four months trip. Miss Brenton, according to Miss Rupert's report, will finish in December her work as an interne and will then be a full-fledged doctor.

Several other Oregonians were met in Miss Rupert's travels, which extended as far as Chicago. In her old home town in Iowa, a Eugene touring car drew up one day while she was there. The occupants, however, were not University of Oregon people. Miss Rupert accompanied her mother, Mrs. Myra Rupert, on the trip.

MRS. JOBES ENJOYS VISIT ABOUT CAMPUS

Noted Club Organizer Visits Campus; Declares Alumni Hall Best She Has Ever Seen

"When I am reincarnated, I want to come to the University of Oregon as a co-ed of sixteen years," said Mrs. E. A. Jobes, a guest of Miss Gertrude Talbot at Hendricks hall, "and I especially would like to be a newspaper girl."

Mrs. Jobes is the organizer and president of the United Daughters of 1812 and is also a member of the Indian Rights association. She has been on the campus for several days and is very much interested in the college students. She says that she has enjoyed visiting the buildings and thinks that the Alumni hall is the most perfectly decorated room she has ever seen.

A year ago, Mrs. Jobes donated a flag to Hendricks hall and this year she has contributed to the adiron fund in the hall.
