

PHILIPPINE VIEWS TO FEATURE TALK OF DR. W. P. SMITH

Assembly Discussion Also to Cover Desire of Islands for Independence

NATIVE ATHLETICS NOTED

Ancient and Modern Styles of Architecture Will Be Pictured

Intimate glimpses, both in word and in picture, of a land little known to Americans will be the feature of the assembly to be held in Villard this morning when Dr. Warren D. Smith delivers an illustrated lecture on the Philippine islands. Dr. Smith, who is head of the University department of geology, is recognized in the scientific world as one of the greatest authorities on the geology of the Philippine archipelago.

During the assembly hour today, Dr. Smith, who recently returned from the Philippines, will only casually refer to the geology of the islands of the south Pacific, but will touch more fully upon a topic which but a few days ago was flashed by cable from Manila as live news. That cable message bore the news that the Filipino people, through their representatives, had made another demand for complete independence from the United States. Dr. Smith will discuss this subject during the assembly hour, giving both the American and the Filipino point of view concerning the question.

Another subject which Dr. Smith will talk on this morning is "The Filipino as an Athlete." Not only as a person who has spent 12 years in the islands will Dr. Smith tell of the superb physical qualities of the natives of the Philippine archipelago, but as a man who has competed with those natives on the cinder track. Dr. Smith was a member of the American team which took part in the Far Eastern Olympiad held in Honolulu in 1914. These olympiads are held every two years, instead of every four. Dr. Smith was a member of the American relay team.

The greater part of the assembly period is to be taken up with the illustrated lecture. All the slides were photographed by Dr. Smith or his associates and around each when thrown on the screen will be woven an interesting narrative. Of special interest to students of architecture will be the display of a series of slides showing the various styles of architecture in the Philippines. Moorish castles, Catholic cathedrals, native structures, and the fine type of modern buildings will be shown in pictures and described by the lecturer. Many of the slides are colored and stand out with wonderful clearness of outline.

Several of the slides will show the natives of the islands in their primitive habitat. One of the most primitive tribes of the archipelago is the Igorots of northern Luzon. In preparing their dead for burial, the Igorots smoke the corpse, then place it in a secluded cave. One of the slides to be shown by Dr. Smith will illustrate the manner in which the dead are embalmed.

Not only are the customs of the island natives strange, but there are also many unusual things in the natural world. A slide to be used by Dr. Smith will show a gigantic clam, known as the Tridacna. Some of this species weigh hundreds of pounds.

Hallowe'en Gives Senior Bench Verdant '26; Frosh Reek Gas

Hallowe'en! "Hallow" is derived from the Anglo-Saxon "halig," or holy, and "een" in the same tongue from the word "aefen," which, used in the ancient Jewish way of reckoning a new day as starting at sunset instead of midnight, inverts the usual order of things and places the evening of a day before the day itself, comparative to a Chinese meal, where desert comes before soup and fish.

So Hallowe'en is the eve of the "holy" hours between sunset, October 31, and sunrise of Holy of All Saints day, November first.

In the University campus section of Eugene, however, those hours were filled with roving, white-gowned, flitting figures, invading fraternity and sorority houses alike with shrieks and screams, and childish hilarity, while jack-o-lanterns grinned, and winked with glowing eyes at the kindly soul who hastily switched the room to darkness and joined his house-brothers in begging mercy from the "ghosts."

Other deity was afoot. Late pedestrians stumbled surprised-

HOME COMING DUES TO BE COLLECTED

CAMPUS LUNCHEON REQUIRES PAYMENT OF 50c SUM

Unaffiliated Students to Pay Amount At Y Hut, Co-Op and Booths; Houses' Fees Due Tonight

Collection of 50 cents from every student enrolled in the University for the Homecoming campus luncheon will start this morning, according to Hal Simpson, president of the senior class. The luncheon this year is to be prepared under the supervision of Mrs. Edna Datson, in charge of the halls of residence. All living organizations have been requested to obtain the 50 cents from the members and have the money ready by this evening. Students living outside of organizations have been asked to pay their 50 cents to solicitors at the campus Y. M. C. A., the Co-op, at the booths or to the individual solicitors. In order to insure the success of the luncheon, which is one of the features of the annual Homecoming, the committee in charge of the collection desire to make the students realize that it is important that they contribute. No meals are to be served at any of the organizations on that day, Saturday, November 11.

In the past the various houses have provided the food for the luncheon, but with the increasing number of students living outside of organizations, the burden has grown too heavy. The campaign for 50 cents from all the students will be completed this week-end, according to plans.

Students not living in the halls of residence or in fraternities have been urged to contribute to the fund promptly, and to realize that for the money paid in they will obtain a good meal and have the privilege of taking guests to the luncheon. The meal this year is to be superior to those of other years. Sandwiches, scalloped potatoes, roast meat, pickles, and doughnuts are listed on the menu.

EDWARD BAILEY PLANS '13 CLASS REUNION

Prominent Grad Confers With Old Classmates

Edward F. Bailey of Junction City, who was president of the 1913 class of the University of Oregon in his senior year, visited the campus yesterday to discuss with the alumni secretary and others plans for the tenth annual reunion of the 1913 class at the June commencement. Carlton Spencer, registrar of the University, Karl Onthank, secretary to President Campbell, Dean Walker, former football captain, and other Eugene residents are 1913 graduates.

Mr. Bailey was right tackle on the lemon-yellow football team for three years and was selected on the all-north-west eleven for three years. He made the track team competing for Oregon in the hammer, shot and discus events. Mr. Bailey majored in economics and political science. After his graduation he studied law in the University Law School at Portland and played football on the Multnomah club eleven.

When the war started Mr. Bailey enlisted as a private, advanced through every non-commissioned grade and won the commission of first lieutenant in the marine corps. He was a member of the Mare Island Marines football team that won the Pacific coast championship in 1917. Recently he was elected to membership on the University of Oregon Alumni Advisory council. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta and Phi Delta Phi fraternities. Until recently he was Adjutant of Junction City Post No. 61 of the American Legion.

Mr. Bailey is a candidate this year for the Legislature from Lane county. He is practicing law in Junction City.

NEW HOME COMING OFFICE GIVEN TO RICHARD S. SMITH

University Graduate to Carry Varsity Banner into North November 11

APPOINTEE NOTED ATHLETE

Oregon Man Won Track, Grid Fame While on Campus And at Columbia

Richard Shore Smith, a graduate of the University of Oregon in the class of 1901, a five-year Oregon football star, member of the team which licked the famous Bear team 2 to 0, track man competing in the broad jump and weights, and later a post graduate student in Columbia University where he made an enviable record in athletics, will carry the banners of Oregon into Washington territory as the official and accredited ambassador of the University of Oregon to the University of Washington, at its Homecoming, November 11.

Smith was appointed by Robert Kuykendall, alumni secretary, yesterday.

While he was at Oregon, Smith was captain of the team for the years 1898, 1899, and during his time at Columbia, he was elected captain of that famous team in his third year and was also chosen by football experts for the mythical all-American eleven.

Smith was one of the greatest of Oregon's sons who brought her glory on the gridiron. He was also a famous track star and his records in the broad jump and hammer stood for some years. While at Columbia he was also a member of the crew.

After he left Columbia University and took up the practice of law in Oregon, he located first at Astoria and later at Klamath Falls. Some years later he removed to Eugene where he now is. He is a member of the firm of Smith and Bryson of this city. While at Oregon he was a member of the society which received the charter for the local chapter of the Sigma Nu fraternity.

As the representative of Oregon at the University of Washington Homecoming, Smith will speak at the all-university smoker and rally on Friday and will be the special guest of the university at the game on the following day.

OREGON'S RANK HIGH IN COAST GRIDIRON GROUP

Victory Over Idaho Gives Oregon Standing of 1000 Per Cent

W. S. C. TO GIVE REAL TEST

Hardest Games Still to Be Played; California Teams Strong

Oregon, by virtue of her 3 to 0 win over Idaho, ranks among the leaders of the coast football team at present with a 1000 per cent standing, but also has the hardest part of her schedule yet to play. Washington at present rates higher than any of the others with three wins, from three hard teams, and no defeats.

Washington still has the hardest part of her schedule ahead of her though, as she plays both Stanford and California in California on two successive week-ends.

Although Washington is leading the conference, none of her victories have been impressive, as she only took the Idaho team into camp by virtue of a safety, and won from W. S. C. last Saturday 16 to 13 in a game featured by the forward passing of the Washington backs.

Basketball Coach George Bohler, who saw the game at Pullman, states that Oregon's hardest game will be the Homecoming fracas with W. S. C., although Washington walloped the Cougars.

California Is Strong

Most of the coast teams have only played one or two conference games so far, and their strength cannot really be determined yet, but California with her wealth of material seems to be the strongest aggregation again this year, even though Coach Andy Smith has been wailing all year about his weak line. The Bruin backfield is composed of veterans, and seems easily to be the hardest hitting and best scoring aggregation on the coast.

The University of Southern California under the tutelage of "Gloomie Gus" Henderson evidently has the real thing in football this year, too, as they stepped out and gave the Blue and Gold California team a real scare last Saturday when they held them down to a 12 point score.

Oregon Has Husky Line

Oregon undoubtedly has one of the strongest, if not the strongest line, of any of the teams; but her scoring machinery so far has failed to function, due mainly to injuries to the first string backs at critical times.

The Washington State game will be the first time this season that Oregon has had anything near her real strength in the lineup, and according to the latest from trainer Bill Hayward it is still rather doubtful whether Hunk Latham will get into that game or not.

The Varsity this year would no doubt have walked away with all their earlier games if the scoring power had kept pace with their defensive work, but the list of injuries to backfield men started with the first game, and knocked off two or three men at a clip in every contest after that, with the exception of the Idaho mix, in which the sole injury was when Ward Johnson had an ankle sprained.

Oregon is without a doubt one of the strongest elevens this year, and her real strength will come to light when she hits Washington State here during Homecoming.

WILLAMETTE GETS $16,000

Two Hundred Students Pledge Toward Campus Endowment Fund

Pledges, amounting to $16,000, were made by the students of Willamette University in the campus drive to raise a million and a half endowment fund. Two hundred pledges, averaging $80 per student, were received in less than an hour. The seniors, with an average of $116 a pledge, led the list; the juniors were second with $78; the freshmen were next with $70 and the sophomores last with $61.

If the pledges should keep coming in, at the same average rate per person, by the 300 students who have not yet pledged the total should exceed $35,000.

LATE LUNCHEON HAS NO TERROR

FAT DOUGHNUTS WILL FORTIFY ASSEMBLY HOUNDS

Speakers May Discourse Indefinitely And Announcers Orate, Thanks to Theta Sigma Phi

"Late luncheon again!"

The usual lurch on Thursday mornings, but today Dr. Smith can hold the attention of the students at assembly as long as he cares to, for they'll all be fortified with the delicious sugared doughnuts hot from the Friendly hall kitchen.

These are the special variety that Theta Sigma Phi, national journalism fraternity for women, introduces to the campus once each year, and the members of the organization guarantee that these will be no substitutes for the originals, but that each will be a genuine hunger-satisfying article of food.

A small matter of no breakfast today need not cause alarm. In fact, it is advised that the early morning meal be dispensed with entirely. There is nothing like a change in diet for improving one's disposition, Theta Sigma Phi will tell you.

Two tables—one in front of the library and the other down at the Commerce building will be fairly loaded with these cake life-savers, as will be large baskets to be found in all the unexpected corners of the campus. You can't avoid them. But they cost only one cent less than caffeine, so why try?

The money raised in this way will be used to help pay the expense of sending a delegate to the national convention to be held at a middle western university in November.

STUDENT SOLICITORS BARRED FROM EUGENE

Emerald, Oregon, Punch and Old Oregon Official

No more solicitors for miscellaneous publications will work among the merchants of Eugene in the name of the University, according to the decision of the executive council at its regular meeting last night. In view of past experience in blotters and programs the body decided that only the four regular University publications, The Emerald, Oregon, Old Oregon, and Lemon Punch be sanctioned and that a letter be sent to the merchants' association describing the action. Representatives of the merchants will be invited to meet with the council at the next meeting to discuss the situation in regard to advertising. Official cards countersigned by the president of the associated students will be issued to all solicitors for University publications.

Bernice Altstock was authorized to represent the University Woman's League at the Western convention to be held in Salt Lake City this month. All larger colleges on the coast are to be represented. Last year Ella Rawlings represented the University at the conference, which was held at Berkeley.

The council approved the appointment of Prei Lorenz as manager of the concert series caused by the resignation of Art Rudd.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY FRIDAY

The true spirit of Hallowe'en will characterize the party next Friday given by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. at the Y. M. hut. This party is the first of a series of regular parties which will be held every month. The plans for the affair are not quite completed yet but the hut will be decorated with Hallowe'en witches and all the customary details. Plenty of entertainment will be furnished through games and stunts. There will also be a fortune-teller there to predict the future.

FRESHMEN GIVEN ONE HOLIDAY TO CONSTRUCT PYRE

Faculty in Session Provide That Time Limit and Size Be Fixed

WORK STARTS THURSDAY 9

Members of Class of '26 Must Work on Bonfire for Brief Time This Year

The proposed limitations for the building of the Homecoming bonfire, were approved by the faculty at a meeting yesterday afternoon, with a modification added that the cost shall not exceed $150. A motion was passed regarding the granting of degrees to those who have not fulfilled entrance requirements. The names of 25 students who have completed graduation requirements since June, 1922, were recommended to the board of regents to receive degrees.

In presenting the limitations of the freshman bonfire the committee, composed of five upperclassmen and five faculty members, said, "It is the aim to take care of the bonfire question for the present and for future Homecomings, and to make the time limit and procedure a tradition of the University. In order to keep alive class spirit in the matter, it is felt that no size limit should be placed upon it, other than that suggested by the city fire marshal."

Organization Is Defined

The plans for the limitations follow: 1. Proper organization of the freshman class. This is to be accomplished by having a committee of upperclassmen appointed by the president of the associated students, which shall meet with the freshman president, aid him in selecting a committee of 25 representative freshmen men, see that this committee is called together and properly advised concerning the work of putting up the bonfire, and then turn the matter over to the freshmen.

2. This committee of 25 men may have the privilege of scouting material from the time of its selection until work starts on the bonfire. They may not however, collect any material on the grounds where the fire is to be built or at any other place. They may have the poles and cables, used in building the fire, placed ready for use, and make any other necessary preparatory arrangements, such as hiring trucks.

Work Begins Thursday

3. No actual work of building the fire or of collecting material for the same shall be done by any freshman until the Thursday noon before Homecoming. From that time on, all men of the first-year class, as soon as their classes are out for the day, shall work on the fire, or, if they have no classes that afternoon, they shall start immediately after lunch. This work shall continue during that afternoon, Thursday night, and Friday, up until the time of the rally Friday night. Men physically unfit, or men who are working for self-support, may be excused by application to the freshman class advisor.

4. Freshmen to be given a holiday Friday. The feeling is that it is better to let the first year class men have one day without classes than to have them go through a week of class work with unprepared lessons.

The motion proposed by the committee on admissions and advanced stand-

D. G. Greets Groomed Grownups at Seniors Sirupy Sider Show

"Ye seniors! Slip into your slick, shiny school suits and slide sublimely over to the Sider Shuv!"

So bid the seniors of Pi Beta Phi and Delta Gamma, who are entertaining the members of the senior class this afternoon from three to six at the D. G. house. The affair will be in the nature of a superb strangle, shove, struggle, or anything else you want to call it, they say, just as long as you don't forget the Sider.

Next in importance to be lured forth from her hiding place, the evidence of much, in fact, the abundance of soothing Sirupy Sider will be a great attraction. A feature, "surprisingly different" is promised.

"Seniors!" say the D. G.'s and Pi Phis. Spill this news to your roommate. Spread this propaganda among your friends. Sneak over to the Pi Phi-D. G. Shuv this afternoon and sample the sider."

Tonight, senior women are again to be left to their own devices in the way of entertainment. Weenie roast in Hendricks had been planned by the committee, but evidently Jupiter Pluvius planned otherwise. However, rumor has it that many surprises are in store for the senior man who has a Leap Week date for the evening.

Yesterday afternoon, the Kappa house entertained the seniors at the annual Kappa Coffee, where ham sandwiches, coffee, all day suckers, and Paul Joneses reigned as the most popular forms of amusement. Don Zimmerman poured, and Harry Ellis answered the door bell and received calling cards, which were very much in evidence in many sizes and shapes.

Entrance to the house was made via a step-ladder over the porch railing, since the steps were blocked by a "Street Closed" sign. Signs such as "We Ain't Got Much But You're Welcome to What We've Got," "Dance Helps Those Who Help Themselves," "Gone on Your Own Feet," "Make Yourselves Right at Home," "Hands Off Silverware," and others contributed to the merriment.
