

Twenty-one Years Ago

From Oregon Weekly, Nov. 4, 1901

Last Saturday about 700 people (including those who came out of the woods and stubble on the open side of Kincaid field) witnessed one of the most exciting games ever seen in Eugene. Multnomah lined up 15 pounds to the man heavier than the University of Oregon. Near the middle of the first half, Multnomah's fullback made a drop kick from the 20-yard line, scoring 5 for the visiting team. Score 5 to 0, and there it remained. Many people in a position to speak, claim that the ball went outside of the goal posts. The Varsity boys clearly outplayed the club men, putting up a better game from start to finish.

The game was almost devoid of spectacular work, and though interesting, was not enjoyed by admirers of good, clean sport. From the beginning of the game, some of the clubmen tried to act smart, as it would be put if some school boy were doing it. The constant wrangling on decisions, the attempts to attract the attention of the spectators to themselves by "witty" remarks, the windy jabbering to the University men, was disgusting in the extreme.

At the junior class meeting on Thursday, Mr. Densmore announced that the following appointments had been made on the Webfoot staff: literary department, Miss McKinley; joshes, Miss Bannard; athletics, Mr. Gilbert. A committee on junior caps was appointed, also one on junior flag and Junior Day.

Dozens of boys gathered on the Central school grounds Friday night for a grand rally before the game with the Multnomahs. At 7:30 they strung out two by two for town. The Tin Horn band gave concerts and during a pleasing number the city "cops" suggested that sufficient advertising had been done, so the boys struck up a double quick march for the campus where a bonfire was built and enthusiasm prevailed.

Poor old Eve probably didn't know that her mild form of grafting would be handed down to some of the children of Oregon until their infantile proclivities would crop out in the State University. But it is even so. The attractive poster which appeared some days ago over the Webfoot contribution box has been taken down by some one whose keen sense of a joke baffles the best attempts of some of us to see where the funny part comes in. Such exhibits of puerility might in some cases be expected in the first three grades of the public school but in a college—well, if a simple roasting could be grasped by these children, the space might be given to it.

TRI DELTS ENTERTAIN

A delightful tea was sponsored yesterday from 3 to 5 by members of Delta Delta Delta, honoring their house mother, Mrs. W. F. Gram. Invitations were sent out to about 200 townspeople, heads of houses, and faculty members. In the receiving line, besides the honor guest, were Miss Teka Haynes, Mrs. James Gilbert, Miss Mozelle Hare and Miss Madeline McManus. Mrs. Albert Schreff, Mrs. E. C. Robbins, Mrs. R. A. Bruce and Mrs. Bruce Giffin poured, while members of the fraternity assisted about the rooms, which were charmingly decorated with chrysanthemums and huckleberry leaves.

At the Rex

At the Rex Monday and Tuesday will find "Pink Gods," a colorful adaptation of the Synthia Stockley story, "Pink Gods and Blue Demons," enacted by a remarkable cast headed by Bebe Daniels, James Kirkwood, Anna Q. Nilsson and Raymond Hatton. And, just for fun, Buster Keaton, of the frozen face, in his new creation, "The Pale Face," is promised to provide "heap big funs." Charles W. Hawley, popular Rex Wurlitzer artist, will be heard on this bill in a selected organ concert, Luders' "Prince of Pilsen," "Mighty Lak" a Rose" by Nevin, and John Philip Sousa's march, "Washington Post," comprising his concert solos.

Hallowe'en with its attendant gaiety was the inspiration for many of the motifs of informal dances held during the past week. It is gratifying to note that as many organizations as possible are placing their dances on the same nights in order that other dates may be left open for affairs of general University interest.

Several large teas were given during the week, among which were those of Alpha Xi Delta, Delta Zeta, Gamma Phi Beta, Delta Delta Delta and Kwama.

Alpha Lambda of Alpha Xi Delta entertained with a large tea Thursday afternoon for their house mother, Mrs. Mildred Giffen. Yellow and white chrysanthemums and dahlias were used in profusion on the tea table. Those who received were Mrs. Mildred Giffen, Mrs. Wells, Miss Lucille Branstetter and Miss Ethel Sauborn. Mrs. Frances Storpe, Mrs. Douglas, Mrs. Harry Keeny and Miss Wakefield were those who poured. Assisting about the rooms were a number of the sorority girls. Several vocal selections were given by Johanna James.

Kappa Sigmas entertained with a dinner dance at their house last night in honor of their underclassmen. Brightly colored autumn leaves were used effectively in the decorations.

One of the outstanding affairs of the week was a large reception and musical given by Gamma Phi Beta Saturday night. The musical program included several selections sung by Miss Genevieve Clancy, a member of the Glee club; piano solos by the Misses Frances Pierce, Helen Weber and Elinor Holman; a quartette, including Katherine DeNeffe, Margaret Phillips, Florence Campbell and Margaret Kern; and a duet by Virginia West and Florence Campbell. In the receiving line were Mrs. George H. Reed, Mrs. C. D. Rorer, Mrs. George Straub, Mrs. O. F. Stafford and LeLaine West. Featured in the decorations were autumn leaves and cut flowers.

An engagement announced on the campus this week was that of Frank Alm, '25, of Silverton, to Helen Curry, also of Silverton. The news was made known Monday evening at dinner at the Phi Delta Theta house, of which Mr. Alm is a member, when Knute Digerness, a fraternity brother, made the announcement and the cigars were passed.

Miss Curry is a sophomore at O. A. C. and is well known on the campus at Corvallis. Mr. Alm is not attending the University at present.

A very clever dinner dance on Saturday evening was that given for the pledges of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, held at the chapter house. The party was "backward" in every respect, the order of customs at a dance being reversed during the whole evening. A color scheme of black and white was used effectively in the decorations.

"The Dansants" might well be used to describe the Tuesday afternoon affair given by Woman's League on the sun porch of the Woman's building, for dancing is a popular diversion at these teas. Hours are from four to six as formerly.

"Senior Leap Week," perhaps one of the liveliest weeks of the year for the senior man and co-ed, is over. Every afternoon there were dances or affairs of some interesting nature and in the evening more dances. Informality and "pep" characterized each of the events. It is thought that the "week" will become an annual custom among senior classes.

The sophomores of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority entertained with a delightful dinner dance for the pledges Saturday evening at their residence. The rooms were cleverly decorated with myriads of multi-colored balloons and serpentine, giving a circus-like environment for the dance. The programs were in the form of miniature balloons. About 22 couples were present.

Alpha Chi Omega sophomores were hostesses at a dance Saturday evening in honor of their pledges. The programs were made cleverly into Pierrets. The dancing rooms were artistic with large numbers of colored balls strung from the ceilings. Twenty couples enjoyed the affair.

The Nu, women's vocational organization, will have charge of the Y. W. C. A. "At Home" this afternoon from 2 to 5, at the Bungalow. Tea will be served and there will be music during the afternoon. These informal "At Homes" will be given every Sunday afternoon in the future.

Mrs. Katherine Willard Eddy was a prominent visitor on the campus during the past week. Friday night she was honor guest at dinner at the Anchorage given by the Y. W. C. A. Covers were laid for 24, including members of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet and council, advisory board and secretaries.

Delta Zeta entertained Friday night with a delightful pledge dinner dance.

A very delightful supper dance was given Friday evening at the Anchorage by Alpha Tau Omega fraternity in honor of their pledges.

A dinner dance was given at the Anchorage by Kappa Delta Phi fraternity for their pledges last evening. The fraternity colors predominated in the decorations.

Delightful in every way was the dance given last night by Hendricks hall, at the Woman's building. Music was furnished by one of Bill McBride's orchestras. Patrons and patronesses
