

OREGON DAILY EMERALD

VOLUME XXIV.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1922

NUMBER 40

PRE-GAME RALLY SHOWS GRID MEN STUDENT SPIRIT

Thundering Thousand Gathers in Woman's Building for Great Pep-Fest

BE GENTLEMEN, IS ADVICE
Coaches and Yell Leaders Emphasize Necessity of Being Good Sports

By Monte Byers
If the roof of the Woman's building leaks in the future, there is a reason. The noise that came from the throats of the Thundering Thousand at the rally last night was enough to raise the roof a foot and to split the beams asunder. The traditional Oregon spirit was there—it was the incarnation of the Oregon spirit. Volume after volume of Oskies, Team Yells, Mighty Oregonians and all the rest of the varsity repertoire of pep instillers rent the atmosphere.

It was a rally that will long be remembered by those who participated in the pep-fest. From all indications the Oregon supporters will journey to Corvallis with a two-fold purpose—to win the football game today in a clean manner and to act the part of gentlemen while they are in the territory of the Beaver.

The gentlemanly spirit of the rooting section was the big point stressed by the coaching staff and the yell king. Such a spirit will win in the long run, they said.

The team, whose crippled condition has long been the concern of the varsity supporters, is fit and ready for the whistle that will send them on their way. Such was the statement of the coaches. The team realizes that the "battle of the year" is here and they are on their toes.

Shy Says Team Ready
"The team is fit and ready," was the way Shy expressed it. "They are full of fight and with you behind them in the bleachers the team will lick them. You don't know what you are up to; the team is in the best of condition."

Shy also mentioned the fact that up to the time of the rally the Aggies had not accepted any of the officials proposed for the game.

The Thundering Thousand showed Shy that they were behind him to a man—showed him that part of the battle today would be fought from the south end of Bell field. The din was terrific as the head coach mounted and left the platform.

Amid cheering and whistling, Bill Hayward, Oregon's super-trainer, took the floor.

"After a hard season with many injuries, that team is in the best of condition. There are no cripples. You may be sure that the team will do its

(Continued on page four.)

WATCH FOR THESE FEATURES IN SUNDAY'S EMERALD

What's the matter with slang? Well, not so much as some of the philological sages would have us believe. Slang's all to the good in many cases. That's the opinion of a dean of the University. Read it Sunday.

"The Changing Spirit of the University!" Here's a live subject. All about us, we students and sons of Oregon can feel a slow, strong and unmistakable drift to different enthusiasms. What's happening? A Sunday feature writer tries to interpret this shifting of values and customs.

"Old Oregon Track." This is the third of that remarkable series that Ep Hoyt is giving us. Hardly anything in the paper has drawn as much interest as this continued story of the dust and battle of the old gridiron and cinder track.

Then you'll be wanting to read about the plays of the game, as seen by our own sports writers.

"The Aristocracy of Brawn." Here is something for you to think about. In fact it is something you have already thought about; that's why we think it worth printing.

And there's a dozen other features. We have some unusually good, robust and swinging poetry for you to enjoy. It's getting better every Sunday.

Watch for the Sunday sheet.

Aggie Star Who Faces Varsity in Big Game

Murius McFadden, End

P. E. SCHOOL HAS WIDE REPUTATION

Recreation, Vigor, Persistent Exercise Is Principle; Good Health Aim

The University of Oregon stands out among institutions of its kind in the teaching, instructing and plan of attack in the department of physical education.

Such is the statement of Dr. J. F. Bovard, dean of the school of physical education.

"Other schools," he continued, "are trying to emulate our system with more or less success."

Dr. Bovard finds the work of the department extremely successful and the reorganization which took place last year, with the coming of Professor Scott is proving that "gym work" in physical education, with the motto of "Recreation for All" is more than the obnoxious tossing of dumbbells around one's head and the twirling of wands.

"In our work," the dean said, "we keep three important principles in mind always. The first—our motto—is the nucleus of our success; 'Recreation for All.' The second is giving work which instills into one a sense of physical well-being and physical vigor; and third that exercise, properly indulged in, is conducive to the best health."

Future of College Men Considered

"We consider," Dr. Bovard continued, "that our function is not only a campus activity, and that it does not only deal with the present, but we are also thinking of the future of the college man. He is taught under expert supervision, a game such as handball, volleyball, or golf—a game which he can play during his whole life. And thereby he becomes the possessor of a form of exercise, which not only enables him to keep at a minimum that tired business man's feeling," and check the "bay window," but which assists him to excel in his particular teams, however.

Do-nut basketball will occupy the stage for approximately three weeks more, and in the meantime the Frosh turnouts do not begin until after Christmas, when the squad will start its barstorming tour, to end January 6 at Portland when Oregon plays the Multnomah Club.

GRADS MAKE REQUEST FOR VILLARD HALL IVY

Former Oregon Students Write from Pendleton for Cuttings of Beloved Old Vines

Golden yellows, coppery reds, shaded greens—Villard hall ivy!

Because of the glory and fame of these ancient vines and the sentiment attached to them, it is no wonder that their memory remains long in the minds of those who have seen them.

The existence of this ivy is not to remain limited alone to the Oregon campus, however, for Pendleton is soon to be shown a bit of the University's beauty.

Mr. and Mrs. James Johns,

Oregon students, have written to the University asking for some cuttings of the ivy to beautify the new home they have recently purchased in that city.

Fundamentals Are Cited

The fundamentals of all forms of physical exercises are running, jumping, climbing and swimming. Every game played has one or two or more of these fundamentals involved.

It is toward a standard which has these principles that we are working.

To teach students who have already reached our standard would be a waste of time,

and therefore the physical ability test was evolved.

This test, consisting of the high jump, running, bar vaulting, rope climbing and swimming, combines the four fundamentals and the man who passes it is physically fit according to our standards, and is given the opportunity to participate in any sport of his desire.

Students not able to pass this test are given work which tends to better them in those fundamentals in which they are not up to standard."

More than 780 men are now registered in physical education. One hundred and three of these are in classes C and D. More than 90 passed the P. E. test in October. One hundred and sixty men are taking instruction in swimming, and 46 of the P. E. men elected swimming as their sport. Basketball, handball, volleyball ball, soccer, wrestling, boxing, and various other games and sports are played. Instruction in golf, under the supervision of the University.

And there's a dozen other features.

We have some unusually good, robust and swinging poetry

for you to enjoy. It's getting better every Sunday.

Watch for the Sunday sheet.

(Continued on page three.)

SEVENTY DO-NUT CONTESTS PLAYED IN PRELIMINARIES

Competition Element Increases Interest and Desire for Improvement in Skill

OREGON CLUB IS AHEAD

In League B Three Houses Tie For First Place; Three Weeks to Play

With the exception of one game the preliminaries in the do-nut basketball league were completed last night. Over seventy games have been played so far this season and approximately 200 men have participated in the contests. According to Coach Bohler who has charge of the league, the purpose of the do-nut organization is to enable as many men as possible to participate in competitive basketball. The element of competition which enters into the inter-fraternity games makes them much more interesting and creates a desire for improvement which is lacking in gymnasium work.

From the spectators' point of view this year's contests have been well worth while, as some of the teams play a brand of basketball that borders on varsity play. The 18 competing teams have been divided into two leagues this year, league A and league B. In league A, Oregon Club leads the list, having lost but one of their contests. Sigma Nu, Kappa Sigma and S. A. E. are tied for second place, and in the semi-finals which start next week these three teams will play a round-robin to decide which two teams will play in the actual semi-finals.

Three Teams Tying

In league B the Phi Deltas, Delta Tau and Fijis are the three leading teams, and this combination will stage a six-game contest to decide the winner. When the best team in each league has been selected a match in which the winner must take two out of three games will be played to decide the intramural championship of the University.

Starting next Tuesday one game a day will be played, and each game will be a contest worth seeing. The games will take place at eight o'clock each night in the men's gym. Next week's games are: Tuesday, S. A. E. vs. Kappa Sigma; Wednesday, Delta Tau vs. Phi Delta; Thursday, Kappa Sigma vs. Sigma Nu; Friday, Phi Delta vs. Phi Gamma Delta. There will be a game Monday between Chi Psi and Delta Tau at 4 o'clock. This game will not affect the comparative standings of the teams, however.

Do-nut basketball will occupy the stage for approximately three weeks more, and in the meantime the Frosh turnouts do not begin until after Christmas, when the squad will start its barstorming tour, to end January 6 at Portland when Oregon plays the Multnomah Club.

GRADS MAKE REQUEST FOR VILLARD HALL IVY

Former Oregon Students Write from Pendleton for Cuttings of Beloved Old Vines

Golden yellows, coppery reds, shaded greens—Villard hall ivy!

Because of the glory and fame of these ancient vines and the sentiment attached to them, it is no wonder that their memory remains long in the minds of those who have seen them.

The existence of this ivy is not to remain limited alone to the Oregon campus, however, for Pendleton is soon to be shown a bit of the University's beauty.

Mr. and Mrs. James Johns,

Oregon students, have written to the University asking for some cuttings of the ivy to beautify the new home they have recently purchased in that city.

Fundamentals Are Cited

The fundamentals of all forms of physical exercises are running, jumping, climbing and swimming. Every game played has one or two or more of these fundamentals involved.

It is toward a standard which has these principles that we are working.

To teach students who have already reached our standard would be a waste of time,

and therefore the physical ability test was evolved.

This test, consisting of the high jump, running, bar vaulting, rope climbing and swimming, combines the four fundamentals and the man who passes it is physically fit according to our standards, and is given the opportunity to participate in any sport of his desire.

Students not able to pass this test are given work which tends to better them in those fundamentals in which they are not up to standard."

More than 780 men are now registered in physical education. One hundrad and three of these are in classes

C and D. More than 90 passed the P.

E. test in October. One hundred and sixty men are taking instruction in swimming, and 46 of the P. E. men elected swimming as their sport. Basketball, handball, volleyball ball, socer, wrestling, boxing, and various other games and sports are played. Instruction in golf, under the supervision of

the University.

And there's a dozen other features. We have some unusually

good, robust and swinging poetry

for you to enjoy. It's getting better every Sunday.

Watch for the Sunday sheet.

(Continued on page three.)

Varsity All Ready For Aggie Eleven

Oregon's Speedy End and Quarter Who Will Be in the Limelight Today

Bill Spear

Hal Chapman

BATTLE OF YEAR STAGED TODAY ON O. A. C. GRIDIRON

Two-Game Tie Will Likely Be Broken When Foemen Meet on Bell Field

SHY TAKES 30 MEN OVER

Oregon Team in Best of Shape for Annual Tilt; Field Will Be Heavy

OREGON-AGGIE SCORES FOR PAST 26 YEARS
Year	Oregon	O. A. C.
1894	0	16
1895	44	0
1896	2	0
1897	8	4
1898		