

CODE TO GOVERN WOMEN'S SPORTS

Better Sportsmanship Urged By Physical Education Department

Miss Florence Alden, head of the physical education department for women, is having an athletic code copied and it will be posted in the entrance to the women's gymnasium in an effort to stimulate good sportsmanship among the women in all their games and contests. "Most people have a rather abstract idea of good sportsmanship," said Miss Alden, "and the 'thou shalt not's' seem to make it more concrete."

The following code was written by Henry Van Dyke. The first ten rules apply to the athlete and the next four apply to everyone.

1. Thou shalt not quit.
2. Thou shalt not alibi.
3. Thou shalt not gloat over winning.
4. Thou shalt not be a rotten loser.
5. Thou shalt not take unfair advantage.
6. Thou shalt not ask odds thou art unwilling to give.
7. Thou shalt always be ready to give thy opponent the shade.
8. Thou shalt not underestimate an opponent nor over estimate thyself.
9. Remember that the game is the thing, and that he who thinketh otherwise is a mucker and not a true sportsman.
10. Honor the game thou playest for he who playeth the game straight and hard wins, even when he loses.

The more general rules are:

1. When you play a game, always try, and wish to win, otherwise your opponents will have no fun; but never wish so much that you cannot be happy without it.
2. Seek to win only by fair and lawful means, according to the rules of the game, and this will leave you without bitterness toward your opponent or shame before others.
3. Take pleasure in the game, even though you do not obtain the victory, for the purpose of the game is not merely to win but to find joy and strength in the victory.
4. If you obtain the victory you desire, think more of your good fortune than of your skill. This will make you grateful and ready to share with others the honor bestowed on you, and truly this is both reasonable and profitable for it is but little that any of us would win in this world were our fortunes not better than our deserts.

EINSTEIN THEORY IS TOPIC

L. L. Snail, Washington Math Professor, to Speak Friday

Professor Lloyd L. Snail, of the University of Washington, will speak on "The Significance of Einstein's Theory of Relativity," Friday afternoon at 4:15 in room 1, Johnson hall. The subject is of great interest according to Professor DeCou, and he urges the faculty and all students who can to attend the lecture.

Professor Snail will not go into the detail of the theory but will discuss the general aspects, the significance, and the relation of the theory to various branches of mathematics, other physical sciences, and astronomy, Professor DeCou stated. The observations of the total eclipse of the sun last year, made by prominent scientists, which will probably have an important bearing on Einstein's theory, in helping to prove or disprove it, will be discussed.

Professor Snail is a graduate of the University of Washington. He was awarded the Denny Fellowship in mathematics, which is the highest scholarship given by the University. The next year he was a fellow student in Columbia University and received with honors, his Ph. D. degree the second year. He has been in the department of mathematics at the University of Washington seven years. He has had several articles on Mathematics published and at present he is having a book on "Infinite Series" and a Repertorium on "Summable Divergent" published.

The members of the Science Club will have Professor Snail as their guest at dinner Friday at which time they will entertain, as guests the Science professors from O. A. C.

WOMAN'S BUILDING IS POPULAR PLACE

Students Use Rooms for Study and Meeting Places on Most Nights of the Week

"I don't see how they could use it much more," said Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson on being asked about the number of students who use the Woman's building. "There's hardly a night that there isn't a meeting of some kind here, and sometimes all four rooms are full. Both boys and girls could use it more for study than they do, though around examination time lots of girls come here to study and they can study too, because it is so quiet."

There are five rooms in the east end, according to Mrs. Wilson, that are open to students. Downstairs are the men's room and the women's room. Either one may be used for meetings or study; on the second floor one may tuck himself away in any corner of the Alumni hall for several hours of study if he wishes, or part of the room may be used for meetings. On the third floor are the Woman's league room and the committee room, which joins it. The committee room is always open and the Woman's league room may be used except when Miss Kern's art classes are in session.

On the other side of the building on the third floor is a study room for the girls. It is well equipped with tables and chairs and has a library for the physical education majors.

"Though the building is always open to visitors, and there are many, it doesn't interfere with the study because they never stay long and there aren't many each day, though there are usually some. They come from all parts of the state and lots from the eastern part," says Mrs. Wilson. "During the summer, I think there were people here from every state in the Union, and often if they had only a few minutes to stay in Eugene they came to the Woman's building."

SECOND HOOP VICTORY SCORED BY TRI DELTS

Delta Gammas Play Good Game But Can't Score

The Tri Delt won their second victory yesterday when they lumbled the Delta Gammas by a score of 27 to 1. The game was hard fought and although the Tri Delt showed their superiority in the game, the Delta Gamma team showed ability in passing the ball. Pauline Bondurant, center, showed ability in sending the ball to the forwards, but the support was not sufficient to net a good score in baskets. Mary Clerin, playing guard, was exceptionally good in checking the opposing forward. For the Tri Delt, Avis Langmack proved her ability in dropping baskets.

Tomorrow the Chi Omegas will play Hendricks Hall at 7:50, and Alpha Chi Omega will contest with Oregon Club. The Pi Phi-Kappa game which was cancelled yesterday, will be played at a later date and announcement of the time will be made.

The lineups for yesterday's game were as follows:

Tri Delt	Delta Gamma
F. Karshner	C. P. Bondurant
J. Ulrich	SC. J. Noren
M. Goodin	G. M. Clerin
A. McMonies	G. P. Boyer
A. Lansmack	F. H. Tillinghast
B. Pride	F. L. Gidley
Substitutes: Tri Delt, H. Hatfield, I. Fournier.

TRIPLE A GIVES DINNERS

Freshman Women Help Poor; Christmas Work Planned

Two needy families of Eugene were given everything necessary for a real Thanksgiving dinner by Triple A, the organization of all freshman women. The social service committee, which had charge of the dinners, is formulating plans for making a happier Christmas for some of the poor children of Eugene. The Friendship Fund drive is to be managed by Mildred Coleman. A schedule of activities to be carried out by Triple A in the next two months is being worked out by the executive council. The plans will be submitted to the whole organization for their approval and adoption. The council is made up of the president, Anna DeWitt, the vice-president, Janet Wood, the secretary-treasurer Anna McCabe, chairman of the social committee, Betty Rouché, chairman of social work, Helen Schreck, secretary of the freshman class, Helen Gripper, chairman of the bon fire committee, Dorothy Dodge and president of the freshman commission, Gladys Norren.

HUT RECEIVING PAINT

With a new coat of paint on both the out and inside, with new flower boxes decorating the windows, and with other changes which are being made, the Y. M. C. A. hut is taking a new lease on life. The exterior of the building will be given three coats of white paint with the eaves and trimmings in green, whereas the interior will be finished in three shades of grey. Mrs. Donnelly's office will be enlarged. Since numerous other alterations are being made, it will probably be about a month before the renovation is entirely completed.

CLUB LIMITS MEMBERSHIP

The Oregon club girls, Monday night decided to take in no new members for 1922-23 after the first meeting next term, which will be held the first Monday after school begins. The last meeting this term will be December 18. All girls desiring to be members of the club will come then and bring their dues.
