

OREGON DAILY EMERALD

VOLUME XXIV.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1922

NUMBER 53

JOY IN SERVICE TO PUBLIC SEEN BY DEAN MILLER

Provincialism Must Give Way to Massive Program of Aid to Humanity

PEOPLE HELD INSINCERE Greater Oregon Plans Given at Student Meeting; Gift to Col. Leader Urged

"Human service is the greatest force in the world for keeping men and women happy, in procuring a long and useful life and in ending that life with satisfaction," said Stephen I. Miller, dean of the school of business administration at the University of Washington, who addressed the assembly yesterday in regard to the Student Friendship fund drive.

"Every hour in which we can render service to our fellow beings somewhere will bring a joy beyond all joy of mere profit, while society, for its part, puts a mark of distinct approval on the man and woman who devote themselves to public service."

In speaking of the success of American philanthropic plans in the Orient, Dean Miller said, "An entire Pacific coast movement is needed to even dent that Oriental civilization. It must not be from Oregon, from Washington, from California but from all the northwestern section. Men must get over their puny provincialism, and grasp the meaning of a larger loyalty, a larger citizenship."

Large Program Needed

We must have a common interest and create a massive program, the speaker declared. "As long as individualism and provincialism are so heavily developed as they are now, it is practically impossible to make a mass play." It is individualism versus loyalty which is one of the greatest obstacles in the way of human progress, the dean believes, and there can be no real progress until men forget this low-planned rivalry and see a larger vision of service and usefulness.

Another obstacle in modern civilization is the tendency of too many people to substitute cleverness in the affairs of life instead of sincerity, according to Dean Miller, and those people who have the finest line of talk and superficial chatter become leaders by the very force of their pleasing personalities and their subtle ability to "play the bluff."

Industry Has Changed

A few years ago, railroad rebates were frequent—that was cleverness; it was necessary to pass laws prohibiting the adulteration of food stuffs—cleverness promoted this; cleverness, so-called provoked the Sherman act. However, in the last twenty-five years, American industry has almost completely changed from the stage of cleverness to the stage of sincerity. An honest effort is being made among employers to cooperate more closely with labor, to initiate codes of service into their business relations and thus to humanize progress.

The idea of thinking in terms of profit and financial returns keeps many from the broader fields of social service, believes Dean Miller. They do not realize that not money alone will make a man powerful and renowned or crown his life with a content, and satisfaction that a larger vision will give him.

Sincere Man Held Best

"Give me the sincere man, the loyal man, the man who thinks in terms of public service," said the dean. "The man of the future will not only be scientifically trained but he will have the ethical capacity of power necessary to human problems. May you students," he concluded, "at the taxpayers' expense, remove from your faces the smiles not coupled with sincerity and responsibility. May you think more of the uplifting of men and women than of the clothes you may wear or the incomes you may receive. May you know the joy of rendering to society the work of loyalty and human service."

Dean Miller spoke with a forceful convincingness that won the immediate attention and interest of the student audience. His very attitude was rapt and powerful and his eyes flashed with the fervor of his subject. He is a man whose vision goes beyond the reaches of his own community; whose ideals are those of service and humanitarianism and whose interests are those of his fellowmen.

Gift to Leader Proposed

Preceding the address, the regular business of the student body meeting was considered. Paul Patterson presented his Greater Oregon plans, which included the announcement of the means to be taken to arouse the inter-

(Continued on page four.)

DURNO'S GRID MEN SEEK STATE TITLE

FORMER OREGON HOOP STAR HAS CHAMP FOOTBALL TEAM

Medford This Year Defeats Ancient Rival When Eddie's Warriors Trim Ashland Squad

Eddie Durno, '21, forward on the Varsity basketball team for three years, and now coach of the Medford high school football team, this year has turned out one of the most successful grid squads in the state interscholastic group. Coach Durno's team has not been defeated this season.

Medford played its hardest game of the season on Armistice day, Ashland being the opposing team. For many years Ashland has been Medford's rival in football and for some ten years the Ashland gridgers have taken the representatives of the Jackson county metropolis into camp, but this year Durno's squad won.

The last game of the season was played with Forest Grove high school, Medford winning 41 to 2.

Last week Medford challenged a high school in the state to a post-season game for the championship of Oregon. So far this challenge has not been accepted. The Corvallis high school is also out for state honors, and since this team is coached by Speak Keane, former O. A. C. man, if the two teams should meet it will be the squad of an Oregon man against that of an O. A. C. man.

Durno, while attending the University, was too light to take part in Varsity football, but he is well versed in the game.

MADAME D'ALVAREZ ENTERTAINS AUDIENCE

Peruvian Singer Pleases With Interesting Repertoire

Madame d'Alvarez, contralto, sang last night in the Woman's building to an audience that was spontaneously enthusiastic, and completely charmed by the beauty and color of her voice. Madame d'Alvarez is gracious, pleasing in appearance, and the range, sureness and power of her voice was delightful.

Her program consisted of four groups of songs, some of which were sung in English, others in French and Italian, and the last group, with one exception were Spanish songs, two of them being from Carmen. For encores Madame d'Alvarez gave an Irish and a Scotch song, repeating at the completion of the program Bizet's La Seguidilla from Carmen.

Lois Maier, who accompanied Madame d'Alvarez, played two numbers for the third group of her program, "On Wings of Song" (Mendelssohn-Liszt) and "Capriccio in B minor" (Brahms), with Percy Grainger's arrangement of an Irish folk tune for an encore.

Madame d'Alvarez gave the following program:

Group I—The Mind of a Child, Beaumont; Caro mio ben, Giordani; Danza, Danza, Duranti. Group II—The Tryst, Sibelius; The Butterfly Is in Love With the Rose, Cox; Do Not Go My Love, Hageman; Come to the Fair, Martin. Group III—Psyche, Paladilhe; Beau Soir, Debussy; Les papillons, Chausson; Bonjour Suzon, Di Veroli. Group IV—El pano, arrangement by Schindler; Habanera from Carmen, Bizet; La Zagalina, Tabuyo; La Seguidilla from Carmen, Bizet.

EXTENSION SPEAKERS OUT

Alfred Powers, Miss Watson and Ira Richardson Make Addresses

The Extension division will have several speakers out in the near future. Alfred Powers, assistant director, will visit Douglas county next week and will speak, December 20, at the Glendale Union high school, on "Community Aspects of Education." There will be an all-day rally for the school.

Miss Mary Watson of the English department will speak during girls week at The Dalles high school on "Girls' Conduct."

Professor Ira Richardson of the extension department has just returned from a trip in which he spoke at Hood River and McMinnville at the county institutes held last week.

SENIORS ADDRESS CLASS

While Dean Fox was in Woodburn on Tuesday, Scroll and Script, senior women's honorary society, took charge of her Tuesday afternoon ethics class. The five girls wore caps and gowns and talked to the freshmen women on the following subjects: "History of Scroll and Script," "Lorraine West," "Ideals of the Organization," Helen Addison; "Scholarship," Emily Veazie; "Activities," Felicia Perkins; "Athletics," Helen Hoefler; "Alumni Interest," Alice Tomkins. This is the fourth year that Scroll and Script has taken over one of the ethics lectures.

VARSITY HOOPERS START PRACTICE FOR HARD SEASON

Last Year's Lettermen Report Early; Hunk Latham Is Again on Squad

CONFERENCE VERY STRONG

Barnstorming Trip to Be Taken During Holidays; Rockhey Back Next Term

Varsity basketball practice started this week with a large turnout, among which are six of last year's lettermen and Hunk Latham, who won his letter two years ago at center and was considered one of the best in that position on the coast. The six lettermen who responded to Coach Bohler's first call are Arvin Burnett, Don Zimmerman, Eddie Edlund, Francis Altstock, Ralf Couch, and Leo Goar. Haddon Rockhey, who made his letter last season, will be back next term to put in a bid for one of the forward positions.

Besides the lettermen there are many others that have been showing up well in practice, including "Chappy" Chapman, quarterback of the football team, and Bill Spear, also a football player. Several of last year's freshman team are turning out and will run some of the letter men a close race for the berths on the squad.

Will Barnstorm Christmas

A barnstorming trip is being planned by Coach Bohler for the Christmas holidays, on which the team will play ten or twelve games, seven of which have already been scheduled. The first of these is against Silverton on December 27. Silverton has Marc Latham, an Oregon three-year letterman, playing for them and will give the Lemon-Yellow a hard game. Frank Almstar, guard of last year's frosh five, is also on the Silverton quintet.

Other games of the trip are with Independence on December 28, McMinnville December 29, and Newburg December 30, Astoria on January 4, Pacific University January 5 and Multnomah Club January 6. This will give the men plenty of opportunity to show what they have, and on the strength of their playing in these games the team will be selected.

Strong Teams in Conference

Although Oregon is especially lucky in having many lettermen back, practically all of the other colleges on the coast are just as fortunate. Idaho, which won the coast championship last year, lost only one man. The University of Washington team lost only two men and the Oregon Aggies have their entire squad back with the exception of Stinson. California is expecting the strongest team in years, so the dope points to a hard season for the varsity hoopers.

Men Showing Class

The men who have been showing up well in practice so far are Latham at center, Zimmerman at forward, and Burnett at guard. All of these men are veterans and seem to have the call for their jobs. Zimmerman in particular has improved a great deal since last year and is the cleverest shot on the squad.

The men who will make the barnstorming trip are to be selected from the candidates next week in order to leave them free during examination week. According to Coach Bohler, 12 or 15 of the men will make the trip in order that he may pick those who will play the games when the regular collegiate season opens.

MARIAN LINN'S FATHER MEETS DEATH IN RIVER

Parent of University Student Drowns in Willamette When Cable Tips Boat While Unwinding

David Linn, father of Marian Linn, a senior in the University of Oregon, was drowned yesterday morning in the Willamette river when the boat in which he and the foreman of his plant were crossing the stream capsized. Mr. Linn who was the proprietor of the Eugene Sand and Gravel company, had crossed the river with his foreman, taking with them a three-eighths inch cable, which they made fast on the bank. The cable unwinding from a winchlass caught the boat and tipped it as the two men were returning.

The daughter, Marian Linn, is prominent in campus activities. She is well known in musical circles, having sung frequently at campus entertainments. She returned from Portland yesterday morning where she had gone to sing at the Fenton-Clarke wedding. Miss Linn is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta.

Fletcher Linn, brother of the deceased and an alumnus of the University is expected to arrive in Eugene from Portland today.

WEST VIRGINIA ASKS FOR GAME

YELL KINGS PLAN WAY TO PROVIDE STRONGER STAFF

Houses Being Cavassed to Get Aspirants Out Next Term

TWO WILL BE SELECTED

System Planned Will Insure Election of Experienced Cheer Leaders

Failure of students to recognize the importance of the Varsity yell staff has caused considerable agitation toward its complete re-organization. Yell King Rosebraugh, assisted by Del Oberbauer and Claire Keeney, past yell kings, is formulating plans whereby the staff in the future will be picked not at random, but on the merit of past experience.

"In the past," said Oberbauer, "the position of yell king has been more or less of a temporary affair. The yell leader was chosen regardless of past experience."

System Used Elsewhere

This system of selecting the cheer leaders is in vogue in most of the colleges on the coast. They build up their staffs through experience. At least one year on the yell staff is necessary before one can become a candidate for the position of yell king.

"It is also our desire," continued the former yell king, "to revive the interest of the student body in the position held by the yell leader. More recognition should be given the position which is one of great responsibility and high up in the list of student activities."

The amendment presented at the assembly yesterday, if passed, will put the yell king on the student council and will give him a controlling voice in the student affairs."

Oberbauer pointed out that the office of yell king is more than a goat's job. The position of yell leader has never been taken seriously by the students. Without a leader of recognized ability the rooters of an institution are invariably at sea when it comes to concentrated rooting.

Response Was Poor

At the beginning of the football season the response of the student body to the call of Rosebraugh for candidates was so miserable that drastic measures had to be resorted to. Votes ofered it must be given the freshmen who turned out for the staff. Freshmen, however good they may be, are not desired on the yell staff. They are not imbued with the traditions of the school and for that reason are not capable of the positions of assistants to the yell king.

In the absence of upper classmen for the positions of assistants it was necessary for Claire Keeney and Del Oberbauer, former yell kings to offer their assistance to Rosebraugh for the remainder of the football season.

Next term will see a new system of selecting the yell staff innovated. A canvas of the various men's organizations is now being made with the idea of getting men to try out for the yell staff for the remainder of the year. Freshmen, sophomores, and juniors are wanted for the tryouts. Men with yell leading ability are especially desired.

Tryouts at Games

At the first or second basketball game of the season these aspirants will be given a chance and from those trying out, yell king Rosebraugh will select his two assistants for the remainder of the college year. From such a system as this it will be possible to pick a man, schooled in the traditions of the institution and familiar with the various yells, for the yell king next fall. Also it will be possible to select assistants from those who tried out during the winter term.

This system assures the selection of a yell king with a year or two of experience behind him. Out of some 900 eligible men for the position of yell king it will certainly be possible to get enough aspirants out to make the selection of assistants interesting.

At most of the other colleges the position of yell king is an honored one. The yell king usually ranks third in the list of student body officers. Here at Oregon he has no particular rank.

The various organizations are urged to rout out any of their members who possess the qualities of yell leaders.

NEW AMENDMENT TO CONSTITUTION

PLAN TO PLACE YELL KING ON STUDENT COUNCIL

Addition of Cheer Leader Swells Membership to 15; Vote Probably Taken Next Week

At the student assembly in the Woman's building yesterday an amendment was proposed to Article 4, Section 2 of the constitution of the Associated Students of the University of Oregon, providing for the addition of the name of the yell leader to the names of those on the student council. This will raise the council's membership from 14 to 15. The amendment proposed reads as follows:

Section 2—Membership. The Student Council of the Associated Students shall consist of 15 members. It shall be composed of the president, vice-president, and secretary of the Associated Students, the editor of the Oregon Daily Emerald, the yell leader, three men and two women from the senior class of the following year, two men and one woman from the junior class of the following year, and one man from the sophomore class of the following year. The amendment is to be voted upon not later than a week after the notice of it appears in the Emerald. The definite date of the voting has not been decided, but will probably be the last of next week.

KNOCKOUT NUMBER OF LEMMY DUE TOMORROW

Witticisms Feature Magazine; On Sale Monday

"Knockout number" of Lemon Punch declared by competent campus critics as the best "Lemmy" ever issued, will be out in all the glory of its bright orange cover some time Saturday. Although the magazine contains but 24 pages, the features are more numerous, and snappier and clever than ever before, it is understood.

The cover, painted by "Stu" Biles, depicts a sombreroed senior, strumming his guitar under the window of his favorite senorita, and descending through the air is a flower pot—a real "knockout," both from the point of view of the reader, and the unfortunate serenader.

Francis Linklater, recently elected to Hammer and Coffin, has produced an abundance of witticism that goes far toward completing the knockout effect, and the regular members of the staff, Doc Braddock, editor; Ted Osborne, associate editor; Gus Evans, Kelly Branstetter, Ernest Haycox, and others have made their usual high quality contributions.

Art contributions are far above standard, and include work by Stu Biles, art editor, Bee Morrow, Claude Snow, and others. Pen work and illustrations are interspersed throughout the entire publication.

Christmas Reminders Suggested

Copies of this number of "Lemmy" can be obtained at the Co-op ready-wrapped for mailing next Monday, and it is suggested that students send them to friends as Christmas reminders.

Oregon Knights, under Jimmie Meek, have been appointed as official salesmen for the Lemon Punch, and will sell this issue on the campus to all who have not subscribed.

Lemon Punch also announces with the issue four additions to the staff, Francis Linklater, assistant on the editorial staff, George Godfrey, national advertising manager, Kenneth Moore, circulation manager, and Knut Diger, associate advertising manager. These men were all recently elected to Hammer and Coffin society, which publishes Lemon Punch, and several other coast humorous magazines. Milton Brown, formerly circulation manager, is now associate manager.

In order to increase the subscription list of Lemmy, a campus-wide subscription drive is to take place on the campus immediately after the opening of school next term. A special price of $1 for the remaining five issues will be offered.

The entire staff is already at work on the next number of Lemon Punch, the "anniversary number," which will be issued early in February. It will be the largest comic ever published in the University, and will contain unlimited novel features and surprises.

YE TABARD INN ELECTS

Ye Tabard Inn of Sigma Upsilon elects Professor Wilkie Nelson Collins to honorary membership.

STRONG EASTERN TEAM SEEKS TILT WITH SHY'S MEN

Tarheels and University May Meet in San Diego Stadium on Christmas Day

CONFERENCE WILL DECIDE

Howe Phones from Portland to Ask if Faculty Would Approve Contest

BRILLIANT VICTORIES WON

Atlantic Gridgers Better Than Penn State Representatives Who Play U. S. C.

The University of West Virginia, one of the strongest football teams in the East this year, has asked the University of Oregon for a football game to be played at San Diego on Christmas day, according to reports from Portland. If members of the conference, who meet at Portland today will sanction such a game, it will no doubt be played.

The first indication that such a contest might be scheduled came yesterday evening when Professor Howe, who is Oregon's delegate at the conference phoned from Portland to find out if the faculty would sanction such a contest. West Virginia is one of the undefeated teams of the East this year, and has won from both Pittsburg and Harvard. Pittsburg is the team which plays Stanford on New Year's day.

If the game does materialize Oregon will be playing a stronger eastern team than either U. S. C. or Stanford, as West Virginia won from Pittsburg, which in turn walloped Penn State. This would seem to indicate that Oregon will either have her hands full in walloping the Virginians, or else eastern football is not as good as that played on the coast.

The final decision on the game will be made at the Pacific Coast conference meet in Portland today, and will be known sometime this afternoon.

HENDRICKS HALL AND OREGON CLUB VICTORS

Chi Omega and Alpha Chi Omega Go Down in Hard Fights; Theta Best High School in Practice Play

Hendricks Hall and Oregon Club were winners in the do-nut basketball games yesterday. Hendricks won from Chi Omega in a hard fought game by a score of 21 to 13, and Alpha Chi Omega was defeated by Oregon Club, 27 to 7. The Theta team won from the University high school in a practice game which resulted in a like score of 27 to 7.

Tomorrow the Delta Zetas are scheduled to play Hendricks Hall at five o'clock and the Kappas will play Oregon Club.

The lineups of the do-nut teams were as follows:

Hendricks	Chi Omega
M. Craine	M. Marsh
W. Chatin	D. Myers
M. Hathaway	V. Owens
P. Lewis	M. Myers
G. Sullivan	E. Richey
B. Alexander	M. Byron
Oregon Club	Alpha Chi Omega
S. Overmeyer	H. McCormick
K. Sartain	E. Keep
E. Overmeyer	M. Dustin
C. Cheadle	C. Broders
R. Howells	W. Brown
B. MacGregor	L. Stevens

INITIATION IS UNUSUAL

A most unusual initiation is that held by Mortar Board, women's national honorary fraternity, which the local organization of Scroll and Script is petitioning.

The services are held in the open, and any one is permitted to witness the ceremony, providing they are far enough away not to hear the words of the ritual.

DEAN DYMENT GIVES TALK

Dean Dymont went to Portland Tuesday afternoon to speak before the Pacific Northwest Preachers parliament of the Christian church. The dean is substituting for President Campbell who was called East in the interests of the University.