

FROSH MEN WORK OUT WITH VARSITY

Bohler Has 40 Candidates Turning Out for the Yearling Team

Intensive workouts with the varsity hoopers each night has been the program the freshmen basketball squad during the past week with both freshmen and varsity men under the tutelage of Coach George Bohler. Some forty yearlings are in the squad, which will remain intact until the early part of the winter term, when Bohler will "use the axe" relentlessly until the squad will be reduced to 10 or 12, the number that will be carried throughout the season.

The personnel of the quintet that will represent the class of '26 next term depends to a great extent upon the number of aspirants now out that will get through the coming exams with enough passing marks to make them eligible. Under the new conference ruling a freshman in order to compete in athletics must make passing grades enough for four-fifths of the total number of hours that he is carrying. Hence, a man that is carrying fifteen hours must make twelve of them, leaving a margin of three as the largest number in which he can flunk. Some very promising material is now competing for the frosh quintet and if they all manage to make themselves eligible next term should see a formidable yearling team. Among those who have been showing up to good advantage are Gosser, Murray Leake, Hobson, Farley, Gunther, Carson, Toole, Watson, Bryant, Mautz, Nelson, Cahill, Stoddard, Jordan, Mays, Tuck, Horn, Palmer, McGinnis and Stine.

Practice for the first year men will cease just before the exams, to open again at the beginning of next term. Since it is necessary that Bohler handle both the freshmen and varsity hoopers this year, nearly all of the home games for the babes have had to be arranged as preliminaries to the varsity games. When the frosh make a trip they will be handled by Shy Huntington. Up to date the majority of games scheduled are tilted away from home and include contests with most of the Portland high schools, Columbia University, and Ashland and Medford high schools.

It is the intention of Coach Bohler to schedule campus games for the freshmen with the teams of the Portland Interscholastic league after that league has concluded its regular season. These games cannot be arranged until after the meeting of the directors of the Portland league, which will take place soon for the purpose of making out the regular schedule for the teams in the league. Games are also on tap for the babes with Mt. Angel and the O. A. C. rooks, the latter a four-game series. The proposed contest with the University of Washington freshmen will probably have to be abandoned because if the trip is taken it will mean that at least three smaller games will have to be discarded for this one.

GALOSHES FLAP

That bane of existence, all that is evil; wrecker of happiness, work for the devil; that ruined his day ere it began will never again disturb a son of Father Adam. He's saved, he is free! Let laces go haywire... What care we if oxfords and boots and other shoes flap? Sans laces, sans worry, we don't give a rap! Eight o'clock classes, for the wearer of high-top boots have lost their terror. Leather or rubber or papier mache foot gears flap-flap away, their owners rejoicing. Thanks to the flapper it has saved half an hour, yet is stylish and dapper.

Buckle galoshes, and you are engaged; lace up your boots, a wedding presaged; strings in the shoes, there's strings on the man—a perfectly obvious announcement plan! Sauce for the goose is spice for the gander—so what if raindrops damply meander down glossy silk stockings or woolen hose? Fashion decrees; a wise fomme knows that protests are useless. All will obey until women and men decide that the day has arrived, when, by common consent, lacings are laced and buckles are bent.

STATUE NEARLY FINISHED

according to art critics who see the lofty ideals expressed by the group. The mother, the tallest in the group, is a little over two feet in height and stands behind her grown daughter with an infant in her arms. The group will occupy the niche in the wall between Susan Campbell and Hendricks halls midway between the two sets of steps leading toward the Woman's building.

KILPATRICK HEADS RELIEF

Extension Division Director in Charge of Astoria Red Cross Work

Earl Kilpatrick, head of the extension division, is now in Astoria in charge of the Red Cross relief work there. He was head of the flood relief work in Pueblo in the summer of 1921 and during the war was in charge of the northwest division of the Red Cross.

Mr. Kilpatrick was unable to be in Eugene on Thursday, the day he usually spends here and owing to the amount of extension work now on hand, Alfred Powers, also of the extension division, left yesterday morning to confer with him in Astoria. Mr. Powers will return late this evening.

POP CONCERT TONIGHT

This is one of the ways in which we accomplish things which count."

It has been recently suggested that the O. A. C. band and the University orchestra play at exchange assemblies some time during the winter term, but definite arrangements are to be made later.

The concert this evening will be given at 8 o'clock in Villard hall and an admission of 25 cents will be charged.

is not merely a surface application of gasoline with a cloth or brush, as some people believe.

Garments are immersed and washed in the solvent which removes imbedded dirt as well as surface dirt.

Steam pressing completes the process, leaving a thoroughly clean, sweet smelling and sterile garment.

Our methods are modern and sanitary.
