We Want More

Yesterday morning the advanced class in World History spent the entire hour in a discussion of the situation of Western Europe at the present time. The discussion was led by Dean Sheldon, and followed a short lecture by him in which he presented his views of past events which have led to the present condition of those countries. An unusual interest was shown by the members of the class, and the regret was expressed by several that such things were not done frequently on the campus.

Dr. Wilson, in his assembly address, mentioned the fact that an Eastern college student, had stated in an examination that "Lloyd George was an Irish Poet." The college was not Oregon, and the student was not an Oregon student, but it is not hard to believe that such an answer might well be expected from many in the student body—all students do not take courses which create an interest in world affairs.

It is not with pride that we admit that University students are not "up" on the matters which fill the columns of our newspapers morning after morning. "Lausanne" has little or no significance to them; the Near East situation means a plea for funds about Christmas time, nothing more; Lloyd George might as well be an Irish poet.

There should be some way which more students could be interested in keeping up on the every day affairs which will play such an important part in their life after college days are over. At present, the University man seems to be so busy with his class work and his social life that he utterly neglects the watching of events which are "making history" every day. He finds little demand for an acquaintance with those events, and consequently puts his time in on other things, which, at the time, seem more important.

Students are in a great measure to blame. The library furnishes access to a great deal of literature on the subject. Books, magazines, newspapers and periodicals are brimming over with interesting stories and interpretations of the affairs of the world. All that is necessary is the desire to read them.

There are several ways to create this desire. Clubs have been organized, and discussion groups held. These, however, are accessible to the few, rather than to the many. The occasional spending of a class hour; or a few minutes of a class hour, means the stimulation of interest in the majority of the students in national and international affairs; links up the study of the past with the happenings of the present; and is a real contribution to the capacity for citizenship of Oregon's students. There should be more of them.

Discrediting the Student Body

After all the talk of higher scholastic standards and the new spirit of seriousness, it is rather disconcerting to hear of occurrences casting reflection upon University students. In former years town authorities and undergraduates were constantly encountering each other, and a college scrape ending with expulsion is written in the biography of many a famous man. With the disappearance of the rah-rah boy type there is less for the college discipline committee to do and the president's carpet is no longer threadbare. Cases of misconduct at theatres in Eugene should be treated in exactly the same manner whether the offenders are University students or not. The entire student body must not be made to suffer for the delinquencies of one or two misinformed and misbehaved individuals.

The Emerald is gratified at the response from the announcement that a straw vote on the proposed change to the semester plan would be held. Faculty members have expressed themselves that a show of student opinion would be valuable and students have demonstrated that they are vitally interested. Opinions are different as to the stand the students will take on the proposition. The result will be announced in next Thursday's Emerald.

There is no cause for surprise at the announcement that Shy Huntington may not care to coach Oregon next year under a one-year contract. Before the council took action The Emerald urged the expediency of a three-year tenure and indications are that the stand of the council may cost Oregon her coach.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Notes will be printed in this column for two issues only. Copy must be in this office by 4:30 on the day before it is to be published and must be limited to 25 words.

Co-Op—Co-op members will have annual meeting Tuesday at 4:15 in Villard.

University Men's Class—Will discuss the "Development and Influence of Christianity," Sunday morning at 9:45, at "Y" hut. Professor Dunn is the leader during Mr. Giffen's absence.

Faculty Meet Wilson—Faculty committee on religious and moral activities is arranging for a conference of members of the faculty with J. Stitt Wilson. The conference will be in the Y. W. C. A. bungalow, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Wilson Lecture—By student request, Dr. J. Stitt Wilson will lecture at 4:15 this afternoon in Villard. His concluding campus lecture will be Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Villard. He will speak Sunday at 7:30 in First Methodist church at union meeting of several churches.

COMMUNICATION

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2, 1923.
 To the Editor:

Permit me to express my appreciation of the editorial in your issue of Sunday, December 17, on the question of the length of Shy Huntington's contract with the University of Oregon. I have watched Huntington's work with interest for the past five seasons and am thoroughly disgusted with the athletic authorities of the University who have now come forward with an offer for a one year contract. Both Huntington and Spellman should be given a three-year contract so that they may substitute a definite programme for the hand to mouth policy which they are necessarily following. In view of all the facts and circumstances, Huntington and Spellman have produced splendid results at Oregon and we ought to stand by them.

Yours faithfully,
 C. N. McARTHUR.
 (House of Representatives.)

GEOLOGISTS HIKE JANUARY 21

Three hikes given under the auspices of the Condon Club will take place in the near future, according to Paul Cook, chairman of the club excursion committee. The hikers under the leadership of H. B. Yocom, will visit Spencer's butte on January 21. Later the members of the club under the guidance of Read Bain will visit the territory southeast of Springfield. On March 18 Justin Miller will conduct the hikers to the Braes southeast of Eugene. All these hikes are scheduled on Sunday and are open to all University students.

PLEDGING ANNOUNCED

COOKING COURSE IS LIKED

Home Economics Students Make Special Request for Class

A special class in food preparation has been organized this term in the household arts department at the request of a number of women students. The course is not new but is usually given during the fall term. "You can see how zealous the girls are for the work when it is known that they will come for the work during the hours from four till six three times a week, and from four to five twice a week," said Miss Lillian Tingle, head of the department. The work is a foundation course for all classes in the department.

There have been an unusually large number of letters sent in from all over the state this year, asking for advice in household problems, Miss Tingle reports.

Students enrolled in the department are now engaged in the study and practice of breadmaking and have been invited by the University bakery of Eugene, to inspect that institution, and observe while it is in operation.

PRESIDENT IS ELECTED

Pi Lambda Theta Chooses Ruth Kneeland to Head Organization

At a meeting of the Oregon chapter of Pi Lambda Theta, national honorary educational fraternity for women, held yesterday noon at the Anchorage, Ruth Kneeland was elected president of the organization, an office left vacant by the resignation of Felicia Perkins, who will be unable to remain in school the rest of the year. The office of keeper of the records, which was left vacant by Miss Kneeland in assuming the presidency, will be filled later on in the term.

Other members of the organization are Mary Parkinson, vice-president; Eleanor Coleman, secretary; Mrs. Maxham, treasurer; Felicia Perkins, Ethel Wakefield, Mildred Hawes, Marjory Gilbert, Mrs. Wheeler and LeLaine West.

MEDICAL SCHOOL GROWING

P. L. Campbell and W. K. Newell Officiate at Dedication of New Wing

President P. L. Campbell and W. K. Newell will represent the campus at the dedication of MacKenzie hall at the University of Oregon Medical school in Portland today. This building is a newly finished wing of the medical building and contains research laboratories and class rooms. Formal dedication will take place at two o'clock this afternoon. The building will bear the name of the late K. A. J. MacKenzie who was formerly dean of the school.

A banquet will be held this evening at the Portland hotel preceding the dedication. Owing to the irregularity of the train schedule during the recent floods President Campbell and Mr. Newell were obliged to leave for Portland Thursday night in order to be there.

DIRT FOR ART'S SAKE

There was a shampooing event of usual interest at the Pickford-Fairbanks studios when Mary Pickford's million-dollar curls were washed for the first time in six weeks. This celebrated cinema star had returned from a five-week sojourn on "location" at Chatsworth Lake, and as her whole time away from her studio had been occupied in enacting the role of the lovable though not immaculately "hair-dressed" Tess in her own production of "Tess of the Storm Country," which closes its engagement tonight at the Castle.

TOM MIX AT REX

If you haven't seen the new Fox picture starring Tom Mix, entitled "The Rough Diamond," at the Rex theater you have missed the making of a new chapter in film history, at least as far as Mix is concerned. In this new production, with its snappy title, unusually romantic story, and Mix playing a different sort of a part than he has ever appeared in before, his many admirers who have seen it have been pleasantly surprised.

Citizens of Eugene Are Invited to Hear Hon. J. Stitt Wilson, Ex-Mayor of Berkley, Calif.

Mr. Wilson has made a fine impression on U. of O. Students in his lectures on "Constructive Christian Democracy."

He will speak in the First Methodist Church Sunday evening at 7:30, on the subject "The Message of Jesus to Our Troubled Times."

SOMETHING NEW

Old - Fashioned Cereals . . .

The VITAMINES of wheat, corn and grains are found in the germ of the seed. This germ comes off with the bran in the milling process, and finds its way into the middlings or shorts sold as stock foods. So, one hundred years of improved milling has taught us to feed the vital parts of the grain to stock and keep the poorest for ourselves. Hence our fine livestock. Here we offer whole grain products containing all the vitamins, and milled right here in Oregon.

Brown Rice

Whole, plump grains Brown Rice, unbleached and uncolored, retaining all the fine rice flavor. 2-lb. pkg. 25c

Scottish Oatmeal

Coarse granules, the "old country" kind. It has a sweet, rich flavor, all its own—2-lb. pkg. 25c; 9-lb. sack. 85c

Wheat Granules

A coarsely ground whole wheat mush, made from the entire wheat berry. A natural health regulator—2-lb. pkg. 25c; 4-lb. sack. 45c

Whole Wheat Flour

This is a finely ground, unbolted stone burr flour, prepared from the choicest matured hard wheat—4-lb. pkg. 40c
