

RILEY'S AUDIENCE IS DELIGHTED WITH WESTERN SPEAKER

Beauties of Oregon Country are Topic of Popular Portland Speaker

Pictured Views and Informal Humor of Talk Bring Throngs to Villard

A westerner, heart and soul of him, and a passionate lover of western skies and western freedom and western beauty, is Frank Branch Riley, who entertained students and faculty at the assembly hour yesterday with his illustrated address on "The Lure of the Northwest."

A square-jawed, eager-eyed enthusiast, with a wide contagious smile, Mr. Riley, who has carried the message of Oregon and the opportunities of the Oregon country to thousands of incredulous easterners, led an interested audience that thronged Villard hall to the doors, through a veritable fairland of beauty in his informal talk yesterday.

Slides Are Shown
Mr. Riley illustrated his address, if such a spontaneous and intimately friendly descriptive treat may be called an address, with a set of colored slides, of amazing beauty, collected by the speaker in a host of scenic wonder spots of the northwest. He flashed upon the screen a constant, shifting panorama of unparalleled loveliness.

Mr. Riley has been addressing audiences throughout the country for a number of years and during this time he has had the opportunity of visiting many of the national landmarks, and far-famed beauty spots of the East and South.

East Is Incredulous
Mr. Riley said that he meets with all manner of incredulity in talking with his eastern audiences of the progress and advantages of Oregon and the West.

"You say you are from Oregon?" one New Yorker remarked. "Oh good Lord! I always get that place mixed up with the Philippines! But then, I suppose you go to San Francisco for the weekends!"

"The test-question in New England," said Mr. Riley, "is, 'what do you know?' In the South it is all a question of pedigree. The southern family trees still flourish, though some of them do need spraying. But in the West, our West, it is 'what can you do?' It doesn't matter who your grandparents were, or how much money father had. It's up to YOU—'what can you do?'"

West Is Goal
"Since the dawn of time, men have pushed ever westward, in search of a

Junior's Annual Costume Affair To Be Riotous Revel of Jazz

Wholesale and retail jazz the latest thing in features, unusual decorations and blind folds for the patronesses, is the advance information given out for the "B. and B." Junior Jazz Jinx, at the men's gymnasium January 26.

The lottery has been worked out in a unique manner and is rivalled only by the annual frosh-Soph mix for squareness. The deep, dark plan of deciding which charming young flapper shall go with which handsome young hero is to be divulged at a meeting of the class Tuesday, January 23 at 4:30.

Colorful costumes are in order and there will be the usual array of bad men, shy little maids, little Lord Fauntleroy, pirates, fairies, and gypsies.

Floyd Wright has been appointed chairman of the committee replacing Marcus Youngs who did not return this term. The committee follows: Helen Ball, Elsie Skoog, Moe Sax, Velma Farnham, Hildagarde Repinin, Harold Potter and Alfred Erickson.

DR. SWEETSER TO LECTURE

"Science and Religion" to be Subject of First of Group Discussion Series

On next Monday evening, Dr. Albert Sweetser of the science department will address Hendricks hall on the subject, "Science and Religion." This is the first of a series of discussion groups planned for the winter term.

Miss Gertrude Talbot, Dr. DeBusk, and Mr. Justin R. Miller have been appointed as a faculty committee to promote interest in the discussion of subjects of world interest in the living organizations on the campus. At a meeting of this committee it was recently decided to co-operate with Y. W. C. A.

HENDRICKS WINS FIRST LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP

Thetas Beat Alpha Phis in Lively Tilt

Hendricks hall won the championship of league 1 in the do-nut basketball series last night when she defeated Susan Campbell hall 15 to 9 in the fastest and hardest fought game of the season, and the Alpha Phi hoopers mared their undefeated record by losing to the Thetas 9 to 6. At the start of the Hendricks-Susan Campbell game, such intense excitement prevailed among players of both teams, that fumbles were frequent and shots at the baskets went wild. After a few minutes of playing both teams seemed to steady themselves, although neither proved up to their usual standard of playing, and considerable roughness prevailed during the entire game.

Grace Sullivan, forward for the victorious team, played her usual fast and consistent game. Mildred Onslow, guard, was deliberate in her playing and clever in picking the balls out of the air with one hand. Florence Baker and Golda Boone worked especially well in combination of centers for Susan Campbell. Florence Barker, particularly played a very heady game. Maude Schroeder, guard, played a very clean game and was on the job every minute. As soon as the winners of league 2 are known, a game between Hendricks and the champions of this league will be arranged to decide the championship of the do-nut series.

The Theta-Alpha Phi tilt was slow, but intense excitement was displayed by both teams. Up to last night, neither team had suffered defeat. Two more games remain to be played by the Theta team, before the championship of league 2 is determined.

ORDER OF O PLANS DANCE

Affair to be Given Saturday From 2 Until 5:30 at Campa Shop

The Order of the "O" needs money. That's the story, at least, that George King, president of the paddle wielders told an Emerald reporter last night.

"We not only need it but we are going to get it—nickle by nickle," he added. Then he told of a jitney dance that the lettermen plan to give at the Campa Shop, Saturday afternoon, from 3 until 5:30. "It'll be a lively affair, rough neck, of course, and the Mid-Nite Sons will furnish the harmony."

CONDON CLUB PICNIC

The Condon Club (G. and M. society) plan to hold a picnic south-east of Spencer's butte, Sunday. Gerald Barnes of the school of physical education, who will lead the group, says that everyone is invited and that the only requirements are that those attending bring a lunch and 5 cents to help pay for the coffee, which will be served by the club. The crowd will meet at 1 o'clock on the steps of the Ad building, and will return about 5 in the evening.

LIVE TOPICS SET FOR DISCUSSION AT PREPPER MEET

Presidents, Secretaries, and Editors From High Schools Convene February 2, 3

EDUCATORS TO SPEAK

Program Arranged for Two-day Session; School of Journalism will be Host

Programs have been definitely arranged for the annual conferences of the Oregon High School Press association and of the Oregon High School Student Body Presidents and Secretaries association, which will be held in Guild hall on February 2 and 3 under the auspices of the School of Journalism.

Eighteen high schools have already signified their intention to send delegates. More schools will be represented, is the belief of John MacGregor, president of the A. S. U. O., who is handling the details of the conventions.

Delegates Must Register
Registration booth in charge of Frank Carter, assisted by the Thespian club will be open all day Thursday and until 9 o'clock the following morning. Accommodations for the visiting delegates will be arranged by the halls of residences.

The two conventions will open on Friday at 9:15 in Guild hall, with John MacGregor in the chair. Word of welcome will be extended to the delegates by President P. L. Campbell in behalf of the University. An address by J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of public instruction, will follow. Mr. Churchill will speak on "Solving Our Interscholastic Problems."

Dean Eric W. Allen of the school of journalism will speak at this session, on "Relation of High School Paper to Community Outside," and John MacGregor will address the meeting in behalf of the student body. The meeting will adjourn at 10:45, when the separate sessions will open with the members of the press association remaining in the hall and the student body presidents and secretaries going to the assembly room in the Commerce building.

Kilpatrick on Program
The morning session of the presidents and secretaries will be addressed by Earl Kilpatrick, director of the extension division. Orlando Hollis of Eugene high school, president of the association, will make the opening remarks after which he will announce the appointments of various committees.

To the afternoon session John MacGregor will speak on "The Responsibility and Authority of the Student Body Presidents" and C. A. Howard, school superintendent of Marshfield will give some instructive and valuable points in student organization. High school debating will be discussed by G. E. Finnerty, principal of Eugene high school at this session, and the delegates will discuss many problems arising in their respective schools.

Oregon Knights in Charge

The secretaries alone will then be addressed by Margaret Jackson, secretary of A. S. U. O., after which the delegates will be taken on a tour of the campus. The Oregon Knights will have charge of showing the buildings to the visitors.

On Saturday morning at 8:30 the committees will hold sessions until 9:30 at which time Fred L. Stetson, professor of education, will give a constructive talk on "The Relation of Student Body to the Faculty." High school sports will be discussed by a speaker yet to be selected. C. A. Howard will speak again on "School Activities," after which the election of officers for next fiscal year will take place.

President Will Talk

The press conference will be addressed by members of the faculty of the school of journalism, who will offer the young members suggestions in editing high school newspapers.

Harry G. Johnson, president of the press association, will open the convention of the young journalists with an address. Association business will be transacted, followed by a talk on "High School Notes in Daily and Weekly," by one of the editors. In the afternoon session, one of the high school editors will talk on sources of high school news, and Ken Youel, editor of the Emerald, will speak on writing of the news. George Turabull, professor of journalism, will give an illustrated talk on headline writing.

Dinner to be Given
Robert C. Hall, superintendent of the University press, will speak on high school newspaper business problems.

SEMESTER-TERM ISSUE WARMING UP BY DEVELOPMENTS

Faculty Committee Meets But Won't Talk Until Chairman Returns to Campus

NEW ANGLES SPRING UP

Medical Faculty Takes Part in Discussion; Time for Change Also Problem

Further developments in the matter of the term versus semester question seem now to await upon the action of a committee appointed by President Campbell to formulate definite proposals for action by the faculty at the next meeting.

This committee met late Wednesday afternoon and canvassed the situation, but the various members were unwilling to speak for publication yesterday in the absence of the chairman, Dean W. G. Hale, who was out of town. No announcement of the committee's plans is to be expected until he returns. The other members of the committee are Dean J. F. Bovard, and professors Conklin, Howe, and Gilbert.

Medical School Concerned
An angle of the question which has caused serious consideration is the right of the medical faculty in Portland to participate in the final voting upon this question, which affects their school as much as it does the local departments. The law stating the legislative rights of the faculty declares that professors, associate professors, deans and directors have the right to vote on any academic changes in the University. It has not been customary for the medical faculty to vote on questions of general university policy, but it is not clear that they cannot do it if they desire.

Reports from Portland are to the effect that the medical school has taken a lively interest in the term versus semester question, and the point has been raised by local faculty members that the doctors very possibly have the right to be consulted.

Another question that is still open is whether the change, if any is made, shall go into effect next fall, the fall of 1924, or at some other time.

Other Plans Offered
Although it is not known to what extent the various faculty members will consider student sentiment in casting their votes, some plans that diverge from both the semester and term plans as they now exist, have been mentioned since the student straw ballot, by professors who last week voted on one side or the other.

In addition to the two plans now familiar to all, one variation is a proposal that the term system be continued, but that no credit be given in any subject until the year's work is completed. This virtually means that the University would go on a yearly basis. Another suggestion is that the regular four term method now in use at Chicago and other large universities be definitely adopted. Opposition to this last plan is based on the fact that the faculty at Oregon is too limited, and could not successfully cope with the more or less confused and complicated situation that would arise.

It is prevailing opinion, however, that the University will soon be definitely established on either the present term plan or the semester plan as voted at the last faculty meeting, and that final action is awaiting the report of the committee appointed by President Campbell to recommend procedure in the matter.

COURSES PROVE POPULAR

Freshmen Accounting Classes Increase; 225 Enroll This Term

Freshman accounting courses are increasing in popularity as the students come to see the value of the courses, say members of the school of business administration. This term's enrollment in the courses, which are taught by Phil W. Janney and A. B. Stillman, numbers 225, or an increase of 12½ per cent over that of last term.

The number continues to grow despite the fact that there were 15 flunks last term in the course seems to point out the interest of the student and the practical value of the course, believe the instructors.

FROSH TO RECEIVE LETTERS

All the frosh football men recommended by Coach Baz Williams will receive their numerals and sweaters within the next two weeks according to Eugene Richmond, president of the freshman class. The sweaters have not arrived yet but are expected soon. They will be awarded at the regular Thursday assembly period and at the same time as the Varsity players are awarded their letters.

SHORT COURSE WILL BE OFFERED APRIL 2 TO 6

School of Business Administration to Sponsor Session of State Secretaries

The third annual short course for commercial secretaries which is held under the auspices of the University of Oregon school of business administration, at Eugene, has been scheduled this year for April 2 to 6. The course is for secretaries of state chambers of commerce clubs, and between twenty and twenty-five of these officials are expected to enroll.

The course of study is concerned with the latest methods that have proved effective in chamber of commerce work with special reference to Oregon problems. The course is divided into two parts, one part devoted to the problems confronting the large cities, and the second to the problems confronting smaller communities.

As a part of the course of training offered during the short course, the following books have been selected as a suggested reading list for secretaries who will attend the conference. Economics—"Economics for the general Reader," Henry Clay; "Brevity Book of Economics," McJohnston; Business Organization—"Principles of Business," Gerstenberg; Marketing and Distribution—"Principles of Marketing," Clark or, "Elements of Marketing," Cherrington; Psychology—"Increasing Ones Efficiency in Business," Scott; Government—"Government of the United States," and "Government of American Cities," Munro.

STUDENTS ENTERTAINED

Zoology Faculty Hosts in Alumni Hall; Dr. Torrey Lectures on Travels

A talk by Dr. Harry Beal Torrey on his travels on board the ship "Albatross" was the program at the entertainment given last night in the Alumni hall by the faculty of the zoology department to all students enrolled in the department.

Dr. Torrey's lecture dealt with his travels to Japan and the surrounding islands, and bore a relation to the work done in the department.

At the close of the program, light refreshments were served. This meeting was the first of its kind to be given by the zoology department and it is expected that it will be made an annual affair.

Y. W. C. A. RECEIVES GIFTS

The Y. W. C. A. has received some new pillows, a few kitchen utensils, and a new fire-screen. The furnishings were bought by the bungalow committee with the money received from the proceeds of the chrysanthemum sale which was held last Home-coming week-end. The committee reports that the money is not all spent. They are planning to buy more things for the bungalow with the remainder.

Coue Uses Good Psychology In Suggestions Says Dr. Wheeler

Lying in bed at night with the lights out, fingering the Coue rosary and murmuring with each knot in the cord those much-travelled words, "Every day in every way way I am growing better and better," is an excellent bit of psychology, according to Dr. R. H. Wheeler of the psychology department. Late at night and early in the morning, just before and just after sleep, the mind is not occupied so much with other things; there are fewer inhibitions, and the regular rhythmic utterance of certain definite words has a psychological and physiological reaction on the individual, says Dr. Wheeler.

Speaking of the Coue system of healing by auto-suggestion, Dr. Wheeler said, "It is only another method of mind cure, nothing really new, only more detailed and more carefully worked out than many previous systems."

Dr. Wheeler compared Coue's theory with a story which an individual tells repeatedly, adding embellishments each time he tells it, until by gradual repetition he believes it, although it may have begun with an idea which the individual positively knew to be untrue. By concentration and repetition the story finally becomes a reality to the individual and he believes it as a reality. Dr. Wheeler believes that in this fashion, by auto-suggestion, many physical conditions, even organic ones, can be helped, just as Coue asserts.

Dr. Wheeler, however, takes exception to Dr. Coue's explanation of auto-suggestion operating through the sub-conscious. "The whole idea of the sub-conscious, as a scientific theory," said Dr. Wheeler, "is not favored among psychologists in general. The chief value of auto-suggestion is not

WILLAMETTE HOOP SQUAD FACES THE VARSITY TONIGHT

Bearcats Present Formidable Lineup; Play Good Ball Against Aggies

VISITING CAPTAIN IS WHIZ

Regulars May be Replaced by Subs; Bohler Saving Men for Vandal Horde

The Willamette Bearcat quintet will invade the Oregon campus tonight in an attempt to hang the first defeat of the season on the Lemon-Yellow squad, but if the varsity repeats the Whitman massacre the Bearcats are due for another fall. The frosh play a preliminary with the Chemawa Indians, which is slated to start at 7:00 o'clock sharp.

The Willamette quintet, although weaker than that which last season hung two defeats on Oregon, has a lot of dash and teamwork, as was shown in the game dropped to the Aggies last week by a 38 to 19 count. The Aggies have one of the strongest teams in the coast conference this season, so the fact that they were only able to double the score on the Bearcats proves that the Salem team has something on the ball.

Strong in Second Half

In the last half of this game Willamette scored 12 points against 13 made by the Aggies, therefore they are either a second half team, or the Aggies eased off in the second period.

Logan, captain and most experienced player on the Bearcat aggregation, starred in both contests won from Oregon last year. Logan played guard last season, but has been shifted to forward now and has been high point man in all the games thus far.

The Varsity has been practicing every night this week in preparation for the struggle with Willamette and Idaho and will be in excellent condition, according to Coach Bohler. The same lineup which has played in the early games will probably start, this being Zimmerman and Gowans at forward; Hunk Latham, center; and Chapman and Schafer at guard.

With Hunk Latham and Zimmerman scoring in the usual manner it should be an easy game for the Oregon team. Coach Bohler may use some of his subs and save the regulars for the big game of the week, on Saturday when the Idaho conference champs will attempt to duplicate last year's performance of hanging a lop-sided score on the Lemon-Yellow.

The Idaho outfit is without doubt one of the strongest on the coast this year, and if the Varsity can hand it a wallowing, it will be in line for championship honors.
