

LAW EXECUTIVES NEED EDUCATION

Enforcement Officers Should Be College Trained, Says Dean Hale

Law enforcement officers and executives will be men with at least a partial college training, in the opinion of Dean W. G. Hale of the University of Oregon law school expressed after he had attended meetings of the Northwest Association of Sheriffs and Police at Portland last week.

"The proposal of most interest to me while I was at the meetings," said Dean Hale, "was the one for establishing schools where men and officers will be trained. In time, men so trained will become executives and the policeman and police force will increase its respectability. When this is done the profession of crime detection will attract a class of man with a larger sense of responsibility as citizens. They will be men conscious of their position, which will not be that of running down criminals, but of keeping the peace, and preventing the younger group from getting into criminal ways."

Quoting the speaker, Dean Hale said, "A policeman should be a man the boys run to rather than away from."

"Men who will be qualified to hold these positions will need to have a substantial amount of general education," said Dean Hale. "They will require at least a high school diploma, and must know something of history and sociology. They will have to know more than the regular technical requirements, such as the probity uses of evidence."

"To illustrate," said Dean Hale, "how much need there is for greater intelligence among law enforcement officers, Mr. May, who was here during the State District Attorneys' association convention, told of a case where a single match thrown away by the criminal at the scene of the crime had enabled officers to figure out the perpetrator's trade. An examination of the match showed steel cuttings clinging to the wood. Of course, the guess was that the man was a machinist, thus narrowing down the number of suspects. At the Portland meetings of the sheriffs and police, it was said that even the deposits under the finger nails at times when the criminal had been careful in all other respects, had led to evidence resulting in conviction. There is not enough attention given to gathering and preserving evidence. Officers of the law are not so careful as a railroad company, for instance. The railroad claim agents collect all the evidence and study it."

"It is part of a criminal's psychology," said the dean, "that he believes a criminal is only a small part of criminal justice. Capture amounts to nothing if the best deterrent of crime, quick and certain punishment, is frustrated. The fewer men who escape the law, the less inclined others will be to yield to the criminal impulse."

"Judges are most outspoken about the inefficiency of law enforcement. When you consider that government itself is maintained through law enforcement, we must never overlook the human equation in justice. If training law-enforcement officers will do anything towards dispersing a contempt for the individual who enforces, it will create a respect for the law itself. Training will help to guarantee the character of the police personnel."

"It is true that the policeman of today is likely to present the imputations placed on him by a discussion of what he terms 'education bunk.' But the lack of a system which might perfect enforcement machinery, may be evolved by a school. The essence of education is systematization."

"The type of school will probably not be a special one, but a school run by policemen themselves. Men trained in special lines, as sociology, criminology, and criminal law, will be called in to instruct. Such subjects as rules of evidence, and the like are examples."

MATINEE DANCE PLANNED

Women's League Will Sponsor Affair to Be Held Washington's Birthday

A Washington's birthday matinee dance is being planned by Women's League for Thursday afternoon, February 22. Chloe Thompson is in charge of arrangements, and effort is being made to secure excellent music and entertainment.

On Washington's Birthday, it being a holiday, there will be no excuse for anyone who does not have a good time. A few nickels will be the only necessity as dates are not even in order, and everyone will be heading toward the Woman's building says the committee. The hours will be from three until six. An efficient committee has been appointed to see that everyone has a good time. This dance will be something to look forward to, and no one need fear a dull afternoon on Washington's Birthday.

SWEETSER WILL LECTURE

Community Club Will Hear Talk on "Oregon Trees and Shrubs"

An illustrated lecture on "Oregon Trees and Shrubs" will be given Thursday night by Professor Albert R. Sweetser, head of the botany department, at the College Crest Community club of Eugene.

The clubhouse was built about two years ago by the residents of College Crest. G. O. Whitton, who owned Inspiration Point, gave the site on it for the clubhouse which was built by the neighborhood, who felt the need of a community club.

At present there are 120 members. Meetings are held on the last Thursday of every month, and after a dinner and business meeting, an entertainment of some kind is held. The club invites those interested to hear Dr. Sweetser's lecture Thursday evening, which will take place at 7:30.

UNIFORM CREDIT BLANK ADOPTED AT MEETING

New Method Simplifies Recording of Entrance Requirements for High School Seniors

Carlton E. Spencer, registrar, has returned from Salem where he made final arrangements with J. A. Churchill, superintendent of public instruction, for the publishing of new entrance blanks, uniform certificates of preparatory school records, for all Oregon colleges and universities.

The plan for the introducing of new entrance blanks was first discussed by the Higher Standards committee of the Higher Education section of the State Teachers association. It was then taken up by the Oregon Association of Collegiate Registrars. At a meeting of the State Teachers association in Portland during the Christmas holidays, there was a joint meeting of representatives of colleges and high schools. This entrance form was discussed and adopted. A form was designed to be used by everyone concerned—by college registrars and high school principals in certifying students' credits for entrance into all Oregon colleges and universities.

This blank form was approved and Mr. Spencer was appointed to make the final arrangements. Heretofore, each state institution has had an individual entrance form. This necessitated a heavy supply for all principals of preparatory schools.

With the new form a sufficient supply will be sent to each high school so that the seniors applying for entrance into any Oregon institution can be taken care of by a much simpler method than formerly.

Plans for the arrangement of the activities of the Spanish club for the remainder of the year were drawn up at a luncheon at the Anchorage yesterday noon at which the officers of the club and the committee chairmen were present.

A new schedule of meetings will be placed on the bulletin board in the basement of the Oregon building, as well as being published in the Emerald.

In the spring term the club is planning to put on a play under the direction of Miss Florence Whyte. A committee is now looking for students qualified to take parts in the play.

TRACK AND FIELD SQUADS LISTED; MANY NEW MEN

Prospects Much Better for A Successful Season

Oregon's track prospects for 1923 are much brighter than last year's, in the opinion of Bill Hayward. Over 100 men are out for track now, but many more are expected to sign up in the spring quarter. Distance and field-events men seem to be the most needed to fill following list of men who have turned out:

SPRINTS—Larson, Obertener, Breakey and Virden.

440—Hardenburg, Bill Poulson, Bill Johnson, Lucas, Covalt, Shirley Edwards, Leith Abbott, and Rosebraugh.

HALF—Peltier, Kays, Rayner, McCune, Don Peek, Bill Peek, and Leith Abbott.

MILE—Beattie, Curry, Carlson, Schultz and Ed Ellis. More men may be developed.

TWO-MILE—Koepp, E. Miller, Goedcke, Rayner, O. Winther and Robson.

SHOT-PUT—Kamna, Byler and McKune. All are new men.

DISCUS—Kamna, Byler and McKune.

HURDLES—Virden, Weber and several men who are developing. Larson, Lucas and McKinney will be tried out on the low-hurdles.

BROAD-JUMP—Spearow, Rosenburg, Edwards, Virden and Lucas.

HIGH-JUMP—Stivers, Spearow and McKinney.

POLE-VAULT—Spearow, Rosenburg and Poulson.

There are no men so far for the javelin in throw.

Of the men named, the following are last year's frosh: Breakey, Virden, Hardenburg, Don Peek, Bill Peek, Curry, Robson, Wells and Jost.

She is a member of the Portland Opera association, and was a student of Edwin Mutch, who is now studying in Paris with Jean de Reszke. Miss Green is living in Portland at the present time.

JUNIORS GET NUMBERS

was overheard saying, "It would be a good stunt if it worked, but they're a bunch of quitters—now, if the class of 1923 was doing it, they would put it over."

Doug Wright, chairman of the committee, said that the booth would be open today for those who failed to get their numbers yesterday. "We want to urge all of the juniors to wear their numbers and find their partners," he said.

HUNTINGTON ACCEPTS

put in three months during the football season and one month in May for spring practice and for the rest of the year will not be connected with the University. Spellman requested the three-year contract. He asserted that he would be unable to accept unless it were offered, since he is employed in the insurance business and would have to know more than one year in advance. Discussion of the matter of an all-year freshman coach was brought up. Nothing definite was decided.
