

FROSH WILL PLAY SALEM HIGH TEAM

Huntington Brothers Coach
Both Fives Which Will
Clash in Contest

The wits of two famous Oregon athletes who are brothers will be matched tomorrow afternoon when the Oregon freshman quintet, which is coached by "Shy" Huntington, meets the fast Salem high five, who are working under the tutelage of Shy's brother, Hollis Huntington. This game will be played on the floor of the men's gym and is the first of a two-game series to be played by the two teams.

Hollis was as famous a gridiron star in his days at Oregon as Shy. In 1919 he gained nation-wide acclaim for his work as halfback in the Lemon-Yellow eleven which fought Harvard to a standstill in the East-West contest at Pasadena. He also played on the famous Oregon team which defeated Pennsylvania at Pasadena in 1916. Upon his graduation from the University in 1920 he immediately went into the coaching game and has been having marked success ever since. This year his basketball squad at Salem high has thus far gone through the season undefeated and they are prepared to put up a mighty fight before the frosh can mar that record.

On the other hand brother Shy has piloted the yearlings with great success thus far, his proteges having marked up victories in 11 out of 13 games. It is probable that the teams will be evenly matched and that victory for either side will depend a good deal on the strategy of the coaches. The Oregon babes will start the fray with Bryant and Scriptures, forwards, Gosser, center, and Mautz and Hobson, guards. Gosser is not in the best condition possible but his basket-shooting ability is a big part of the frosh offensive, hence his presence in the lineup. The game is scheduled to start at 4 o'clock.
