

OIL PAINTING BY SCHROFF TAKES HIGHEST HONORS

Oregon Professor Captures First Prize of $300 at Utah Exhibition

NOTED ARTISTS COMPETE
Winning Entry Is Landscape Formerly Displayed At Chamber of Commerce

Competing with artists from all over the United States, and especially the Pacific Coast, Prof. Alfred H. Schroff, head of the department of fine arts, won the first prize of $300 on a landscape in oils entitled "Blown Cypress Trees—A Grey Day on Seventeen Mile Drive, Carmel by the Sea" at the annual exhibit held at Springville, Utah, according to a telegram received yesterday. He was recently awarded first mention at Seattle over many other western artists on his painting "Wind-swept Cypresses."

The prize-winning canvas is 24x31 inches, an excellent example of Professor Schroff's work. Those who saw his exhibit at the Eugene Chamber of Commerce will remember it as being in opalescent blue-grays and greens, very fresh in coloring, but quieter than his sunny things—full of the force, spontaneity and vitality characteristic of his work. He did some work on it after the Eugene exhibit, but the spirit of the original sketch was retained.

The annual exhibition at Springville, Utah, is in the nature of a community affair, and was begun in 1906 by the founding in that place of the first public school collection in the United States. The students themselves raise money for awards by entertainments, and it is customary for the prize money to be regarded as the purchase price. There are now about 75 pictures in a collection valued at over $200,000. Cyres E. Dallin, of Boston, Mass., who was born in Springville, was one of the early contributors, and gave statuettes of his "Medicine Man" and "Paul Revere." John Hafen, father of Professor V. C. Hafen of the campus department of fine arts, was one of the first to give a painting as a nucleus of the collection. Many of the paintings have risen in value since their purchase, as much as from $150 to $1500 after the death of the artist. A high standard of excellence is maintained throughout the collection. One year the prize-winning painting "Madame Y" had previously received a mention at the Salon in Paris.

Local Men Contribute

Professor V. O. Hafen won the second prize last year and has had four of his paintings purchased by the school. The statue of a bison by Avarad Fairbanks, professor of sculpture on this campus is in the collection.

This is the second year that the exhibit has been open to artists outside of the state of Utah. It was at the suggestion of Professor Hafen on the governing committee that it should be made a national affair. This change has been marked this year by Mr. Schroff winning for Oregon over artists from New York City, Omaha, Washington, Denver, Colorado, Seattle, Nebraska, and many other places.

Real Tobacco Leaf Smoker on Books for Men Saturday

All the campus masculinity take note. The annual men's smoker will be held in the new armory, Saturday April 14. Remember the date and the place and don't get mixed up and steer your course towards the Woman's building.

As for the smoker, it ought to be a whizz, second to none in the annals of the University. The committee, headed by Claude Robinson, has been working overtime in an effort to put out something with a real punch to it—something that will keep the spectators on their toes throughout the evening.

From start to finish the program is full of clean-cut, wholesome amusement. Real boxing, vaudeville skits and musical numbers, beside eats will round out the evening. Boxing will have an important place in the program. Devotees of the ring game will be interested in knowing the Charlie Dawson of the University and Carl Miller, Eugene welterweight will exchange punches in a four-round main attraction. The men have met before and a lively bout can be expected. Besides

FACULTY MEETS THIS AFTERNOON

Fall Registration Dates May Be Decided

At the regular meeting of the faculty this afternoon at 4:15 a report from the schedule committee will be heard on the dates for next year's registration. Several days will probably be needed for this process next year as registration is to take place at one time for the entire year and an effort has been made to have the dates coincide with those of the opening of other colleges in this and neighboring states.

A committee, composed of the members of the regular schedule committee and a special committee on registration has prepared the report and will submit it for approval. The members of this committee are Dr. W. P. Boynton, Dr. J. D. Barnett, Carlton Spencer, Karl Onthank and Mrs. Clara Fitch, secretary.

Another important consideration at this meeting will be the proposed five year course in architecture which Ellis F. Lawrence, dean of the school, has drawn up and will present to the faculty.

FLOZALEY QUARTET TO GIVE CONCERT IN EUGENE

Affair Tuesday Evening Will Be Last of Series for Year

The last concert of the University Greater Artists concert series will be given next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the Methodist church when the Flonzaley Stringed Quartet appears under the auspices of the Associated Students of the University. Students will be admitted upon presentation of their student body tickets. The Flonzaley Quartet will appear for the first time in Eugene. They are well known for their skill in the other cities of the United States and especially of the west coast.

In addition to playing before metropolitan audiences, the members of the Quartet have devoted a large measure of their time to appearances, exclusively before college and university communities. Proof of its success with the generation of college students, is its eleven visits to Harvard university and eleven appearances before the students of Princeton university, the University of Michigan, the University of Kansas, Yale university, and Smith college and many other smaller institutions.

The Quartet is made up of Adolfo Betti, first violin, Alfred Pochon, second violin, Louis Bailly, viola, and Iwan d'Archembeau, violoncello. The famous Quartet which has been in its present organized form for the past seven years, has appeared in European cities in the last season. Upon their appearance in London, the critics of the London Daily Express, paid the following tribute to the art of its members: "A perfect quartet! The performance of Hadyn's Quartet in D would have been a revelation, had one not heard them play it before."

STUDENTS BANQUET

The public speaking classes of the Portland center held their annual banquet at the Benson Hotel, Portland, April 6, under the direction of Helen Miller Senn. About 250 members were present.

Judge George Stapleton acted as toastmaster. Herbert Gordon spoke for the regents of the University, Earl Kilpatrick, for the Portland center, and Miss Elvora Thomson on behalf of the faculty of the other departments. Several students, also made short speeches.

ANNUAL MEETING OF REGENTS HELD DURING VACATION

Gift Campaign Is Endorsed; Governing Board Pledges Support to Plan

DEAN OF WOMEN RESIGNS
Miss Edgington Appointed to Fill Vacancy Until End of Present Year

The board of regents of the University at their annual meeting Saturday unanimously passed a resolution to endorse the University gift campaign for $10,000,000 in ten years. The regents also pledged their support in every possible way to the present campaign.

The resolution was presented by J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of schools, who pointed out the increasing necessity of educational facilities to meet the growing registration at the university, an increase amounting to an average annual growth of 16 per cent during the past five years.

The increase in high school attendance from 8000 in 1913 to approximately 40,000 this year in view of the fact that 50 per cent of high school students go on to college is another proof of the need of the best educational opportunities for the boys and girls of the state, according to Mr. Churchill.

Commerce Instructor Named

Among appointments authorized and made by the board was that of Miss Grace Edgington, appointed as acting dean of women in place of Dean Elizabeth Fox whose resignation was accepted; appointment of Dr. Will Goetting as associate professor in the school of business administration; appointment of Dr. Lloyd Small of the University of Washington as associate professor in mathematics; appointment of Mr. E. F. Carlton of Eugene as lecturer and field man in the extension division, and other appointments of graduate assistants and instructors to fill vacancies.

The only addition to the teaching staff was that of a new professor of physical education in the men's department. The appointment was merely authorized, not definitely made.

An increase of less than 1 per cent was made in the payroll by action of the regents, despite the fact that on the basis of number of hours carried by the increased number of students the teaching burden will be 10 per cent greater next year.

Heating Plant Replaced

The building committee of the board was authorized to proceed at once with plans for the construction of a new heating plant replacing the present inadequate plant.

The establishment of pre-library and pre-nursing curricula was authorized. These curricula will be created by the grouping of courses of study now taught in the University without the addition of new material.

Regents present at the annual meeting were: Judge J. W. Hamilton of Roseburg, president; Sam A. Kozar, secretary of state and Superintendent of the University; C. C. Colt of Portland; A. C. Dixon and Charles E. Fisher of Eugene; C. E. Woodson, Hesper; V. H. Vawter, Medford and William S. Gilbert, Astoria.

Hamilton Heads Board

Judge Hamilton was re-elected president, Charles C. Fisher was elected vice-president and L. H. Johnson, comptroller of the University, was elected secretary.

The greater part of the session of the board was devoted to a discussion of the University's gift campaign, President Campbell's report to the regents emphasizing the necessity of raising funds to meet the growing registration with its increasing demands for proper housing and educational facilities.

Needs of the University were summarized by President Campbell as follows: "A library, a men's gymnasium, a fine arts building and museum, an infirmary, and the completion of the music building will all be pressing needs on the campus within the next five years."

JANNEY'S HEAVY SON

Phillip Dean Janney, Jr., is the name of a young man who has lately arrived at the home of Professor Phillip Janney of the school of business administration. Although Phil Junior weighs only nine pounds, and is but twelve days old, his father has already made extensive plans for his education and plans to put him through the certified public accountant exam before long, so that he can succeed his father at the accounting business.

CO-EDS ALL SET FOR BIG FROLIC SATURDAY NIGHT

Manless Gathering Slated For 7 O'clock In Gym

HOUSES TO GIVE STUNTS
Cash Prizes Offered For Best Costumes; Large Crowd Expected at Jinx

The biggest joy of the year for University co-eds, is scheduled for Saturday night April 14, when the annual April Frolic will be held in the Woman's building at 7 o'clock. Every committee has worked hard to make this manless hop most successful, according to Margaret Beatie, chairman of the affair and every girl is urged to come.

Full dress rehearsal will be held Saturday morning in the Woman's building at 10 o'clock promptly. Every girl expecting to participate in the event must be there at the rehearsal, said Miss Beatie, and act and dress just as she intends to Saturday night at the frolic.

Seven Stunts Slated

Seven organizations will put on stunts this year. Last year the names of half the houses to take part in the stunt show of the last frolic were drawn in a lottery and the houses entering stunts this year, are those whose names were not drawn in the lottery last year. Delta Gamma, Delta Delta, Alpha Delta Pi, Susan Campbell, Gamma Phi Beta, Psi Beta Phi, and Alpha Sigma are eligible to put on stunts this year. A silver cup is the reward for the best stunt, and the house winning it is allowed to keep it one year. Last year the women of the Kappa Kappa Gamma house, giving an unusual presentation of "Pierre Patisserie," the marvelous pastry king, won the cup.

Cash prizes are offered to individual girls dressed in costume. Five dollars will be given as first prize for the best costume and two and one half dollars for the second best. A charge of 25 cents will be asked of those who come to look on, or who come not dressed in costume, and 10 cents will be asked for others. Between stunts ice cream sandwiches will be sold; also the jazziest kind of music is promised.

Mrs. Gerlinger Judge

Alpha Delta Pi will put on "College Tites," as its stunt. "A Night of Dreams" is the title of the Pi Beta Phi act; Gamma Phi Beta will present "Tut Tut"; Susan Campbell will put on "All on a Summer's Night"; Delta Gamma will give "The Ten Million"; Alpha Sigma has taken "Her Major Interest" as its stunt, and the Tri-Delt girls will present "Patch Work."

The judges for the stunts will be Mrs. Irene Gerlinger, Miss Gertrude Talbot, Miss Grace Edgington, Miss Lillian Stupp and Miss Maude Kerns. Mrs. P. L. Campbell, Mrs. John Straub, Mrs. E. E. DeCou and Miss Helen Broeksmith have been invited as patronesses. Women residents of Eugene as well as all University women are invited to attend.

The various committees arranging the frolic and their chairmen are: programs, Inez Fairchild, Mary Skinner, music, Madge Calkins; judges, Katherine Lyon; floor manager, Mariel Myers; stage manager Hilda Chase; stunts, Rosalia Keber; properties, Dorcas Conklin; clean-up, Margaret Seymour.

WASHINGTON PROFESSOR TO JOIN MATH FACULTY

Dr. Lloyd L. Small Appointed Assistant Professor to succeed Miss Copenhaver

At the meeting of the board of regents of the University which was held on April 7 on the campus Dr. Lloyd L. Small, of the University of Washington, was appointed assistant professor of mathematics on the Oregon faculty. Dr. Small has been connected with the faculty of Washington in the same capacity and he will succeed Miss Lucile Copenhaver who was an instructor in the department until a year ago when she left for Chicago where she is doing graduate work in mathematics.

During the absence of Miss Copenhaver her work has been carried on by Richard Elliot of the graduate school until an assistant to Professor E. E. De Cou, head of the department could be found. The appointment of Dr. Small brings to the campus in September another man who has obtained his Doctor's degree at Columbia university in New York. He has also published articles extensively in mathematical journals of the country and has recently appeared before the American Mathematical Society at San Francisco and delivered several papers on subjects relating to his work.

CO-ED WRITERS TO SELL DOUGHNUTS

Theta Sigma Phi to Feed Starving Students

Today—a day of fasting! And by tomorrow morning the students' faces will be wan and emaciated, and they will look unbelievably—inconceivably—hungry. Another war has not come upon the world, nor has all the food in the campus larders been sent to the starving Armenians. No, nothing of the sort, but merely preparation for tomorrow, the day of feasting.

Just so has Theta Sigma Phi, women's national journalistic fraternity, injected a change into the campus program. For Theta Sigma Phi is going to provide more of those delicious doughnuts which only Theta Sigma Phi knows how to produce. Everywhere, on Thursday, will the students be met with huge baskets of them—nice warm ones, doughnuts which have crowded out their holes in swelling up from pride over their perfection.

ARMY OFFICIALS WILL REVIEW R. O. T. C. UNIT

Distinguished College Rating May Be Recommended

The University R. O. T. C. unit will be inspected with a view to recommendation for distinguished college rating April 19 to 21, according to word received at the military department yesterday. Majors H. T. Bull and Ralph W. Kingman will be the inspecting officers, and will review every phase of military work here.

"Beginning today extra drill periods will be held from 4 to 5:30 o'clock," states Colonel W. S. Sinclair, commandant, "and all cadets are expected to report at this time. Time put in by the students will be deducted from drill and class periods after April 21."

Although the University military department has been commended several times for the efficient work done by the students, recommendation for distinguished rating has never been made by official inspection officers. This is chiefly due to lack of equipment at the barracks.

"If the Oregon men show the spirit for which the school is famous," said Major H. L. Jordan, of the ninth corps area, who made an unofficial inspection of the unit here last fall, "the battalion will have no trouble in obtaining distinguished rating."

Colonel Sinclair is also confident that the men are capable of earning this coveted rating, and says, "I want every man out for drills from now on until the inspection. If we all work together there is no reason why we can't place with the leading units of the West."

Two changes in the personnel of the department were also announced by Colonel Sinclair. E. E. Walker, holding the rank of captain, has been detailed assistant to Colonel Sinclair, and Captain John T. Murray has been assigned the position in the department now held by Lieutenant M. E. Knowles. Captain Walker served with the Oregon National Guard for several years, and is at present stationed in Hawaii. Captain Murray will come here from Texas. These men will report next September.

Several new phases of military work will be taken up this term, according to Colonel Sinclair, and the aim of the department will be to make the work interesting to the students as well as instructive.

MISS WATSON ENGAGED

The engagement of Miss Mary Watson of the English department to Walter C. Barnes, professor of History, was announced Monday evening at the Pi Beta house, of which Miss Watson is a member.

Thursday the exodus began and by Saturday the campus was practically deserted. Students and faculty left a dreary, deserted group of buildings behind them, and went away somewhere to forget the grind for a week.

Perusers having evacuated, the library became a rather useless stack of books. The librarians took an extra hour's sleep in the mornings and the building was closed in the evenings and on Sundays. The Co-op likewise suffered from a light trade, cut down the opening hours and took 60 minutes off for lunch.

The dining halls at Friendly and Hendricks halls closed for the week, and the dormitory dwellers who stayed over patronized the Eugene restaurants. The nearest thing to a between-class rush that broke the solitude of Easter vacation happened three times a day when the Friendly bunch marched down town to feed. At least one eating house threw up the sponge when the University moved, and closed up for the week.

Everyone who stayed over worked.

GAMES WITH IDAHO SLATED FOR BALL SQUAD NEXT WEEK

More than 40 Candidates on Hand For Initial Work-Outs of Season

PITCHING STAFF IS WEAK
Lettermen for Every Place Return; Last Year's Frosh Practicing

Varsity baseball aspirants to the number of 40 or more had their first practice of the season on Cemetery Ridge field Monday afternoon. Coach Bohler put the squad through some stiff batting and fielding practice and tried out a number of prospective infield combinations before the session was over. Rain spoiled all attempts to workout during spring vacation and the result is that Oregon's diamond artists must work doubly hard to be in readiness for the opening games of the conference schedule here with Idaho April 20 and 21.

Lack of consistent and dependable twirlers still looms as the one big weakness in this year's nine. Unless last year's pitchers show a world of improvement the Lemon-Yellow will have a hard time winning any contests from the other well fortified conference nines. O. A. C., Washington, W. S. C. and Idaho are all reported as strong in the mound department this year. The present staff of hurlers consists of Lefty Baldwin, Doug Wright, Bill Collins and Phil Ringle of last year's nine, and Skinner and Branneman of the 1922 frosh team.

Wright in Outfield

Coach Bohler is experimenting with Wright in the outfield and may use him there as he is a fairly good stickler. Branneman has not turned out yet and there is doubt as to his being up to the scholastic requirements. The other four put in some hard licks during the first practice.

Outside of the pitching department Oregon shows up quite favorably with lettermen back for every position and a host of others offering stiff competition for them. Ward Johnson and Watson, two catchers on last year's squad and Orr and Cook of the Frosh squad comprise the backstop material.

Infielders Are Many

In the infield Coach Bohler has several possible combinations to choose from. Terry Johnson, last year's first sacker failed to make his grades but in Monday night's session Bohler used Hunk Latham at first. The tall boy looked sweet in that corner, and it is likely that he will remain there throughout the season. Jimmy Ross seems the most likely candidate for the second base position from the way he cavorted around the keystone sack Monday. Collis Moore, who hurt his leg and was prevented from finishing the season last year, is making a strong bid for the shortpatch, while Svarvarude who played third base for the varsity two years ago is back for that position. However none of these boys is sure of his position, says Bohler, and all will have keen competition from last year's frosh. Price Sullivan and Troutman are both strong possibilities for the infield as is Earl Shafer, the basketball guard who played baseball while at Willamette.
