

PRESIDENT FAVORS PLAN TO ORGANIZE LOCALS

total investment without difficulty. Twenty thousand dollars can probably be raised on a first mortgage from a loan association, or from a private individual, and the remaining $5,000 could be raised from friends of the group on a second mortgage which by arrangement with the holder of the first mortgage could be paid off first. These loans can be amortized over a sufficient period of years so that the charge of the students living in the house would be a little greater than that of the rentals which are now paid," President Campbell pointed out.

"We believe that two or three groups of men and two or three of women might well be formed this spring. A nucleus of 15 to 20 students could readily get together, form an organization, and arrange for one of the houses which will be vacant in the fall, and by taking in more new students at that time, have a sufficiently large number to finance the management of the house organization in the spring and make the necessary arrangements prior to the opening of the fall term, both because in the longer time a more satisfactory organization can be worked out and members be chosen with more certainty of compatibility, and because rentals are much more satisfactory in the spring than in the period of congestion just after the opening of college in the fall.

"The overflow from the University dormitories, fraternities and clubs will be sufficient to tax the resources of the private rooming and boarding houses in town," believes President Campbell. "These are at present comfortably filled and unless the increasing number of students is provided for by the formation of local groups, congestion in the private rooming houses and elsewhere is apt to be raised to the point where rent will be forced up and charges will become a serious burden to self-supporting students.

"Students interested in forming new groups should see Dr. John F. Bovard, chairman of the student living committee. This committee will be glad to help in the formation of new groups. The committee is also charged with the responsibility of approving the formation of clubs before they announce themselves and make arrangements for houses. The dean of men and the dean of women are also glad to advise students who may be interested in establishing living groups."

"Then came blessed relief. The show had started and the balcony lights were darkened. I could take my hands out of my pockets and let them cool and stretch out my tiresome feet. I became absorbed in the act and the lights, flashing on at its conclusion, almost caught me napping.

"But I lived through it all. The costumes—well, I thought of them the other night at the Follies. It was great. I felt sorry for my fellows down shooting pool or at the "rat race." I felt a wicked exultation at having even managed to get in. And I grinned a grin that must surely have been recognized by the worthy dean of women had she seen me when I saw her.

Dancing is Seen

"The last act had been staged. Uninterrupted dancing was under way. Many stayed to watch, but I felt that I had tempted fate too long already.

"We were past the Oregon building before I cut loose. I danced a jig on the sidewalk while my companions leaned against a tree, weak from indulgence in pent-up laughter. I had seen the April Frolic!"

a candidate must be a male citizen of the United States, between the ages of 19 and 25, and must have completed at least the sophomore year in college. Qualities which are considered in making selection of Rhodes Scholars are character and leadership, literary and scholastic attainments and physical vigor.

RHODES MEN TO BE CHOSEN

Oregon to Have Two Representatives; Candidates Go to Oxford in 1924

Selection of American students for Rhodes Scholarships will take place in 32 states between October 1 and 7, 1923, and Oregon will be privileged at that time to choose two representatives from the institutions of higher learning in this state. The scholars elected will go to Oxford in 1924 where they each receive a stipend of 350 pounds ($1750) a year and the scholarships are tenable for three years provided that the students are approved annually by the colleges of which they are members there.

No restriction is placed upon a Rhodes' Scholar's choice of studies and the students are appointed without examination, upon the basis of their record in college. To be eligible who take in the smoker. "When Caesar ran a Newspaper" is the name of the skit Doug Farrell and his gang of Delta Taus' will put on behind the footlights. "A few Minutes with the Classics," by the S. A. E.'s sounds good. The Fijis have a dancing act and the Phi Sigma Pi's have a comedy number, the name of which is still a mystery. Besides these mentioned, the committee is arranging two or three more stunts.

The musical end of the program will find the Men's Glee club quartet, Doc Furry, Wilbur Phillips, "Shrimp" Phillips, and Roy Bryson, entertaining with several selections. The Eugene Filipino club will also have its stringed orchestra on the program, playing native and modern numbers. Jack Myer's Midnight Sons will furnish music between the various numbers of the programs and while the eats are being served. Owen Calloway and his gang of assistants will dole out coffee and hot dogs to the starving multitude.

Considering everything, the evening's program is well-rounded out and too good to miss, in spite of the many chances of a date to the April Frolic, or some other attraction. Remember, the Armory is the place; 7:45 the hour; pre-requisites—two-bits and the desire to have a good time. Come early and get a good seat but bring your own cushions.

The Year Is Flying---Seniors

Cram Every Week with Pleasure

The last few weeks of school are probably longest remembered. Cram them full of pleasure and you will carry away ties that will forever be bringing you back to Eugene, if not in reality, at least over the swift road of memories.

These last important days can be made much more valuable if flavored by many visits to Oregon's most representative play ground—The Rainbow.

The Rainbow imbues the spirit of Oregon probably better than any other organization off the campus. Spend the free moments of the coming days in the atmosphere of culture characteristic of Oregon men and women.
