

NOTED MUSICIANS OF CAMPUS TO PERFORM

Famous Selections Listed in Home Concert Program

George Hopkins, pianist, and Alberta Potter, violinist, both of whom are well known to Eugene audiences for the high quality of their work, will be the soloists with the University Orchestra at its Home Concert to be given in Villard Hall Friday night.

The piano solo in which Mr. Hopkins appears is the "Concerto in G-minor," by Saint Saens. A concerto is a composition written for a single instrument with orchestral accompaniment, and this concerto of Saint Saens is considered one of the most brilliant and popular of any played on the stage today. For the purposes of making the parts more complete, a second piano will be used as an accompaniment in addition to the orchestra, and will be played by Mrs. Aurora Underwood.

Its brilliance is the most outstanding feature of this concerto, requiring the greatest of technical skill of the pianist. The concerto is of three movements. "The first has broad tonal qualities," said Mr. Hopkins. It is powerful, stupendous, and overcast by a richness and wealth of imagination. A light scherzo characterizes the second movement. The concerto is closed with a fast, brilliant movement, which is particularly effective and appropriate.

Alberta Potter, violinist, is a senior in the University, and is also of the faculty of the school of music. Since the orchestra first started its annual tours four years ago she has been a member, and has been soloist with it on each trip. Newspapers all over the state have praised her playing, and the Portland Oregonian in particular has published a very flattering review of her work.

For her solo Friday night Miss Potter will play the "Fantasie Appassionato," of Viennetemps. This selection was used by her on the trip of the orchestra to five Coos Bay towns during the Easter vacation, and was a favorite with audiences there.

A former student of the University, Miss Beulah Clark, now studying with the extension division at Portland, will take the flute part with the orchestra at the Home Concert. Miss Clark studied last summer in New York under George Barriere, of the New York Symphony Orchestra, considered one of the best flutists in the country, later touring the entire country with an opera company on a Lyceum circuit. She will return to the University next year as instructor of flute in the school of music.

The opening number of the program is the "Carmen Suite, No. 1," by Bizet. This has been made famous through its "March of the Toreadors," which is known to everyone. Other orchestral numbers are selections from "The Firefly," by Friml, and "Pagliacci," by Leoncavallo.

Tickets for the concert are on sale at the Eugene Music Shop, Kuykendall's Drug store, and the Co-op. The admission is seventy-five cents; there are no reserve seats.

CLEAN-UP ABOLISHED BY STUDENT COUNCIL for wrestling will probably be drafted in the amendment.

It was favorably moved that Lembo Punch be admitted as a student publication, the editor to be elected by the staff of the magazine and ratified by the Student Council. The salary of the editor and manager would be $200 each, with any surplus being divided as follows: One-half to the Associated Students, and one-half divided among the editor, manager and staff in smaller proportions.

The council approved giving members of the band an emblem lyre as an award for good service.

These recommendations in the form of amendments will come before the student body at the next elections for final action.

go forth, leaning on their staffs and with lanterns in faltering hands, peering here and there in search of someone who has fallen by the wayside, someone who struggled to reach the shrine of political supremacy, but who failed and lies buried under the avalanche.

Friendly hearts and hands go out to him who has fallen and he is tenderly taken back to the refuge where sympathy goes out to him as he tells of his failing to reach the pinnacle.

In the coming pilgrims to the shrine of Politics, someone is destined to falter by the wayside. Fear not, brave soul! You have not dared in vain. The trail is rugged and rough, but if you fail to reach the end, brave hearts will rally from their sanctuary and gather you in. There is always a haven from the storm.

BELKNAP LEADS IN TIPS

Lively Contest Carried On All Year; Total Number for Present Term 291

The lead in the Emerald tip contest, a contest among the members of the Emerald staff in news tips, has been completely run away with by George Belknap, a freshman. Just to show what could be done, he has handed in 147 of the 291 tips turned in this term. This is the largest number of tips that has been turned in by one person in a similar length of time since the opening of the contest.

The two who take second and third place in the contest so far are Genevieve Jewell, with 27 tips to her credit, and Emily Houston, with 19 tips.

The contest has been carried on all year and has caused a great deal of lively competition among the staff members. As the competition will count in the consideration of candidates for the award of the Emerald O's at the end of this term, the contest is growing even more interesting as that time approaches.

THACHER WRITES ARTICLE

Sales Appeal is Topic in April Number of Western Advertising

Professor W. F. G. Thacher of the University school of journalism has an article entitled "A Baker's Dozen: The Thirteen Points in Sales Appeal," appearing in the April number of the Western Advertising magazine. The subject matter deals with talking points used in advertisements which can be classified logically under thirteen heads, according to Mr. Thacher. These points listed in their order in the article are quality, usefulness, economy, price, reputation, popularity, exclusiveness, testimonials, guarantee, profit, service, limitation of supply or of time, and ease of purchase.

The classification is not water-tight, of course, Mr. Thacher says, no classification ever is. Nor is there any attempt to include in the article the methods of attention-getting and interest-production, such as contests, teaser advertisements, slogans and the like according to Mr. Thacher's comment in the article.

This article was the third of Professor Thacher's to appear in Western Advertising.

THE CANDY COUNTER PAYS

Y. M. C. A. Receives $96 for Sweets; Funds Will be Used to Improve Hut

The candy counter which was installed in the Y. M. C. A. hut two terms ago for the convenience of the boys, has proved to be an unusually successful asset to the hut, as far as finances are concerned. In the last two terms the counter has brought in profits amounting to $96. This money will be put back into the Y. M. C. A. for improvement of the hut and to furnish new games and amusements for those who use the hut for their recreation dwelling on the campus. Plans are set for the building of a new ping-pong table out of the profits of the candy counter. All the daily papers will be purchased and numerous other luxuries will be provided from the fund. There remains $50 to be spent on these things, the other $46 has been used to clear up a few expenses on the hut.

A meeting will be held a little later in the term to designate upon what the remaining $50 will be spent.

KNIGHTS WILL GIVE DANCE

The student body should be prepared for a lively time on Saturday night, according to Ed Tapfer, stunt duke of the Oregon Knights. That organization is making extensive plans for a dance to be held in the Woman's building for the benefit of the entire student body. "We are getting the best music we can for the occasion," says Tapfer, "and we hope for a large representation from the students." An admission of 75 cents will be charged, the proceeds to go to the Oregon Knights.

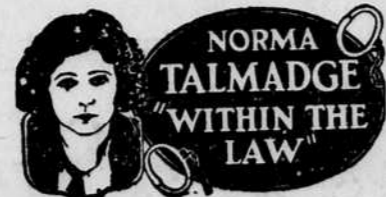

"WITHIN THE LAW" AT REX

Norma Talmadge has given the screen one of the most gripping dramas of a decade in her picturization of "Within the Law," the first National picture which opened a two day engagement at the Rex Theatre last night. "Within the Law" enjoys the reputation of being the most successful stage drama ever produced. If present indications are any criterion, it will be an even greater success on the silver sheet, for as a moving picture it is more moving entertainment.

WATER POLO ADDED TO LIST OF GIRLS' SPORTS

First Class to be Held in Gym Pool Thursday Evening; Life Saving Test Must be Taken Thursday A. M.

Water polo is to be added to the list of spring sports offered by the physical education department for women. Fred Howard, former student and swimming instructor at the University will be in charge. All girls who are interested are asked to report at the pool Thursday evening at 7:30.

The life saving classes held on Tuesdays and Thursdays have been well attended by University women and considerable enthusiasm has been shown. Miss Cannon, life saving examiner, reports. As the American Red Cross requires these tests to be passed each year, all life savers who have not taken the tests this year are asked to report at 11 o'clock Thursday to do this work.

The final swimming meet of the interclass series will come off Thursday at 5 o'clock when the sophomore first team will swim against the freshmen firsts.

SCRIBES ELECT THREE MEN

Byers, Erickson, and Janes Honored By Sigma Delta Chi Fraternity

Monte Byers, Alfred Erickson, and Ted Janes were elected to active membership in Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, in a special meeting of members of the University chapter held Tuesday night. Following the precedence established last year, no journalism majors but upperclassmen were brought up for election.

The three campus scribes, all juniors, have been active in Emerald work for several years. Byers is a feature and sport writer, Erickson is a member of the sports staff, and Janes is one of the day editors of the University daily. Janes was night editor last year, while Byers and Erickson were on the news staff. Byers is also a member of Ye Tabard Inn, Oregon Chapter of Sigma Upsilon, national honorary literary fraternity.

Only men who have shown superior ability in the field of journalism are elected to Sigma Delta Chi. A total
