WOMEN'S LEAGUE HAS CANDIDATES PLACED FOR VOTE

For President Georgia Benson and Marian Swartz Named By Nominating Body

ELECTIONS TO BE TUESDAY Committee Selects Material For League Officials; Balloting 9 to 3

Nominations of new officers for the coming year were made at Women's League mass meeting in Villard hall yesterday. The candidates, as named by the nominating committee, are as follows: president, Georgia Benson and Miriam Swartz; vice-president, Mary Alexander and Luella Hausler; secretary, Mary Bartholomew and Mary Jane Dustin; treasurer, Cleo Base and Maude Schroeder; sergeant-at-arms, Mary Braunt, Hilda Chase and Anna DeWitt; reporter, Velma Meredith and Helen Reynolds.

Elections Are Tuesday
Elections will take place next Tuesday in the entrance to the library, from nine until three o'clock. Margaret Scott will be in charge, with Dorothy Cushman, Peg Beatie, Cleo Base, Elizabeth Griggs, Geraldine Root and Ellen McVeigh as assistants, each having charge for an hour. Other nominations will be accepted until noon today, any new candidates to be turned in to either Margaret Scott or Elizabeth Griggs.

Women were urged to bear in mind the "point system" in choosing candidates or accepting campus offices. For if any girl is found carrying too many points she will be forced to drop some activities.

Those having house offices are warned not to accept more than their allotment of points in campus activities.

Dean Edgington Speaks
Dean Grace Edgington spoke to the University women on the matter of elections, and urged them to uphold their ideal of the woman whom they would like to see at the head of campus activities when choosing officers of Women's League.

A motion was passed by the League to the effect that Women's League heartily disavows the cashing of "N. S. F." checks, and will submit suggestions for punishment of offenders. No action was taken against the open chastisement of culprits, as it was thought advisable to wait until the women were better informed. Preceding the meeting a vocal solo was given by Miss Elizabeth Nelson.

COUPLE TELL ENGAGEMENT
Betrothal of Eva Russell and Ned Irwin Announced at House Meetings

Telegrams sent to house meetings at both the Alpha Xi Delta and Phi Kappa Psi houses Monday evening announced the engagement of Eva Russell and Ned Irwin.

Miss Russell is a sophomore in the University and a member of Alpha Xi Delta. She is from Eugene, Irwin, whose home is in Portland, was in school all last year and fall term of this year. He was prominent in school activities and was elected treasurer of the sophomore class. He is a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. Irwin probably will not return to school as he has accepted a position in Portland. The time for the wedding has not been definitely decided as yet.

Debate Is Quartet of Double Coincidence

Is truth stranger than fiction? The four girls who made up the debate team in the Oregon-Washington debate last night say so. In the first place the two girls who formed the Oregon team were freshmen and members of the same house, Alpha Delta Pi. A few days ago it was learned that both of the Washington debaters were also Alpha Deltas.

But that is nothing compared to further coincidences which were revealed. The Oregon girls were Margaret Woodson and Mildred Bateman. The Washington girls were Margaret Kamps and Mildred Jewell. The Oregon Margaret is a freshman and a journalism major and her colleague Mildred a dramatics major. The Washington Margaret is also a freshman and a journalism major and the Mildred from Washington is a dramatics major.

The similarity does not end there, however, for when Margaret met Margaret and when Mildred met Mildred, brunette met brunette and blond met blond.

The Campus Is Seething

(An Editorial.)

The campus is seething as a result of Dean John F. Bovard's refusal to recommend George Bohler. Because of friction in the School of Physical Education, Oregon is to lose a man who has been a leading influence for clean athletics and good sportsmanship. Scores of students were interviewed yesterday and every one criticised the dean for his action. This continual quarrel between the coaches and the School of Physical Education must stop.

Time after time have complaints arisen. Something is radically wrong with the department when, not one coach, but several of them, threaten to leave unless conditions are changed. If the student body could be assured that this incident would be the last there might be less concern. But as long as the organization of the physical education school remains unchanged there is the possibility of trouble. The student body wants assurance that there will be a permanent settlement effected.

Bohler has not only made good in his own Varsity sports but he has been a factor in putting doughnut basketball and baseball to the front. The fact that many of his athletes visited the Emerald office yesterday afternoon protesting the action of the dean of the school is but another of his recommendations. A number of those who have worked under Bohler declared yesterday that they would not return to Oregon if the coach should leave.

The plan for a Greater School of Physical Education can never be a success until its members can demonstrate to the student body that it can work in harmony with varsity athletics and varsity coaches. Just as soon as that can be accomplished the student body will back the dean in his plans.

The Emerald wants to see the question settled permanently. It wants to see Bohler retained and the situation reformed in a way to terminate the bickering which is working to the detriment of Oregon athletics.

SYMPHONY TO GIVE ANNUAL CONCERT

George Hopkins, Alberta Potter To Play Tonight in Solos; Work is Exceptional

Tonight is the Home Concert of the University Orchestra in Villard hall. A well balanced program has been arranged by Rex Underwood, director, including George Hopkins, pianist, and Alberta Potter, violinist, as soloists.

The orchestra has been holding extra rehearsals lately, and has prepared a program consisting of numbers which have not been played on the campus before. They are for the most part selections from the classics, with the exception of the selection from "The Firefly," by Friml, which is light opera. Many of the melodies in "The Firefly" will be recognized, for they are used extensively in theatre orchestras.

The feature of the program is the piano solo by George Hopkins, with orchestral accompaniment. Considered one of the most brilliant and popular concertos played on the stage today, the "Concerto in G-minor," by Saint Saens, is a very difficult selection, requiring the utmost of technical skill of the pianist. Mr. Hopkins first played this selection in the early years of his study, when he was fifteen years old. Since then he has been gradually building up a reputation for himself, which includes a summer's study in Paris under Moskowski as well as study in Baltimore under Harold Randolph.

A second piano will be used in addition to the orchestra in accompanying Mr. Hopkins. The part will be taken by Mrs. Aurora Underwood.

Alberta Potter, violinist, is a senior in the University, and is also of the faculty of the school of music. Since the orchestra first started its annual tours, four years ago, she has been a member, and has been soloist with it on each trip. Newspapers all over the state have praised her playing, and the Portland Oregonian in particular has published a very flattering review of her work.

For her solo Friday night Miss Potter will play the "Fantasia Appassionata," of Beethoven. This selection was a favorite with audiences in the five Coos Bay towns which the orchestra toured during the Easter vacation. "Carmen Suite, No. 1," by Bizet, is the opening number on the program. Its march, "The Toreadors," is known to everyone. Other orchestral numbers

CALLAWAY IS IN EAST

Owen Callaway, senior in the University and vice-president of the student body, is in Chicago as Oregon representative to the convention of Beta Gamma Sigma, national honorary commerce fraternity. He left last Sunday and is expected to return next Thursday.

WOMEN DEBATERS BEAT WASHINGTON

Unanimous Decision Is Given; Question on Marriage And Divorce

By a decision of 3 to 0 the University of Oregon's women's affirmative debate team defeated the University of Washington's negative at the contest held in the Y. M. C. A. "hut" last night. The question debated was "Resolved that the Constitution should be amended so as to give Congress the Power to Regulate Marriage and Divorce in the United States." A large crowd of interested University and townspeople turned out to hear some of the up-to-date opinions on what is considered as one of the biggest problems before the American nation today.

Mildred Bateman and Margaret Woodson, upholding the affirmative for Oregon, in a most convincing and eloquent argument brought out that some measure was needed to do away with the migratory marriage and divorce laws; that some step must be taken to prevent a just and legal law of one state from being nullified by the loose, slack law of another state; that the affirmative did not ask for a strict and stringent law but one which would command the respect of every man and woman in every state, and one which would be responsible, workable and uniform throughout the United States; that conditions in the United States in regard to marriage and divorce were most deplorable; and that it was necessary that something be done to curb the outrageous number of child marriages being performed in the country.

Mildred Jewel and Margaret Kamps, upholding the negative side of the question for Washington, objected to a uniform law being passed giving Congress the power to regulate marriage and divorce on the grounds; that such a law was undesirable as well as unnecessary. They declared that the terrible conditions existing in the United States were due to social and economic causes; that the opinions and ideas of the American people were too diversified to permit a uniform marriage and divorce law to have any effect; that the American nation was going through a state of transgression and the conditions now existing would soon be obviated; that human nature itself was to blame for the present evil and that, therefore, no uniform law could be of benefit to the people of the United States.

Judges at the debate were Elbert Bede, editor of the Cottage Grove Sentinel; Victor A. Collins, debate coach at the senior high school of Salem; and Rev. F. G. Jennings of the Episcopal church of Eugene, Miss Grace Edgington, acting dean of women at the University, acted as chairman. Preceding the debate Ruth Akers, a member of the Women's Glee club, sang a solo.

Don Zimmerman last night entered the race for president of the student body. The campaign is in full swing today with this announcement and that of John Piper, Haddon Rockhey for the editorship of the Emerald, Haddon Rockhey for the vice-presidency, Jack Day and Ed Tapfer for the executive council and L. E. Angell, Augusta DeWitt and Lea MacPike for the student council.

Candidates for the office of the chief executive of the A. S. U. O., have been unusually reluctant to make themselves known, but it is thought that any who have been waiting for the ice to be broken will now throw their hats in the ring. Speculation as to who Zimmerman's opponents, or opponent, will be is current.

Rockhey is the first aspirant for the vice-president's job, although it is practically certain that there will be others. Campus politicians have been waiting developments in the race for the presidency and it is likely that more candidates for the vice-presidency will be out within a short time.

Although it has been generally conceded that Edwin Fraser would not win the editorial chair of the Daily without a contest, no announcement had been made until last night. The declaration of Piper may not be the last.

Race to be Interesting

The race between Day and Tapfer for junior men on the executive council is bound to be an interesting development, as both are active on the campus. The office for which they are contending is for a two-year term and is considered highly desirable. The junior man on the council serves on important committees. There may be other candidates out before nominations.

Don Zimmerman is now on the student council and is a two-year letterman in basketball and baseball. He is treasurer of the "Order of the O" and has been identified with the Y. M. C. A. cabinet. During the past year he has acted as Cadet Lieutenant Colonel of the local corps of R. O. T. C. He is a major in geology and was recently elected president of the Condon Club. He has worked on the baseball activities committee and has acted as chairman of the Student Friendship Fund committee. He is a member of Friars and Phi Kappa Psi.

Rockhey Active on Campus
Haddon Rockhey, who is in the race for vice-presidency of the associated students, is also a member of student council. He is a letterman in basketball and has been on the varsity track team. He is included in the "Order of the O" and was chairman of the

Students Have Good Word for Coach Bohler

Sudden crystallization of student opinion regarding the Bohler question is manifested by a wave of indignation which swept over the campus yesterday. Following are a few of the stands taken by students prominent in University activities, and especially by men who have been coached by Bohler:

"Tiny Shields: George Bohler has the confidence and backing of every man in the University. I consider him the best basketball and baseball coach Oregon has ever had. He has made a name for himself as a coach and as an exponent of true sportsmanship. It appears to me that instead of Bohler cooperating with the P. E. department, the University would be better off if there was more cooperating of the P. E. department with Bohler.

Dick Sundeleaf: George Bohler is a coach and a man. He fosters clean athletics and instills fight and Oregon spirit into teams. He has built up a successful system for basketball and baseball teams. He must be kept here at Oregon. In order to eliminate this constant bickering over Bohler by Bovard, it would be well for the student body to hire Bohler instead of the P. E. department. We would be insured a good investment.

Glenn Walkley: Bohler has developed Oregon students into clean players and fans. Doughnut basketball and baseball due to his efforts are now the most important sports at Oregon. We should keep him by all means.

Rud Brown: If cooperation between the athletic department and the physical education department cannot be brought about students should take matters into their own hands and hire Bohler.

"Speed" Pettier: George Bohler stands for what we want here—clean athletics. He knows the stuff and everyone likes him.

KING FEELS MISTAKE MADE
George King: On the face of the thing, without knowing what Dean Bovard has in mind, it looks as though it were a great mistake to let Bohler go. The fact that O. A. C. is after Bohler indicates he is appreciated elsewhere if not here.

Terry Johnson: The best coach Oregon ever had. Oregon cannot take a chance on losing him, and with him all Oregon's hard-earned reputation of being good sports, win or lose.

Inez King (Member of executive council): When a man has proved himself so eminently satisfactory as Coach Bohler has, I can see no reason for letting him go. He undoubtedly stands for the highest ideals in athletics—for good sportsmanship, which is what we want here at Oregon.

ZIMMERMAN PRAISES COACH

Don Zimmerman: George Bohler is a wonderful basketball and baseball coach. I think the students should do all in their power to keep him here.

Len Jordan: The loss of George Bohler and the high type of athletics for which he stands would be a serious handicap.

Velma Farnham (Editor of Oregonian): The work Coach Bohler did with the team this year shows what he can do. I think he is a good man and should be kept in the University. I am in favor of his staying.

Bill Collins: The loss of Bohler would be an irreparable one. A true sportsman cannot be found. A man more wholeheartedly devoted to his work could not be secured; a man better able than George Bohler to coach baseball and basketball could not be hired.

"Dug" Wright: Bohler is the best man we have had for years. If we lose him this year it will probably mean we will lose basketball and baseball championships next year. Men hold only the highest respect among the students and the men on the field would do anything for him.

Russ Gowans: Any coach who can take the squad Bohler took at the start of basketball season and turn out a team as he did should be kept here. The baseball and basketball prospects for next year are good and to bring in a new coach would lessen the prospects for a winning team next fall. Bohler has the confidence of every man who has played under his coaching.

Arthur Larson: Let Bohler go if

STUDENT OPINION FLARES AGAINST BOVARD'S ACTION

Dean of the School of Physical Education Refuses To Make Statement

By E. F.

Student opinion is running high as a result of the practical dismissal of Coach George Bohler, due to the action of Dean John Bovard of the school of physical education, who refuses to recommend the present basketball and baseball coach for his position again next year.

Dean Bovard, when questioned about the matter late yesterday, refused to make a statement, merely saying the matter was a closed incident as far as he was concerned.

Athletes Favor Bohler
Rumors of the affair were prevalent on the campus throughout the day and student opinion evidently is 100 per cent for Coach Bohler as far as can be ascertained from questioning prominent athletes and others on the campus.

Coach Bohler, when questioned, remarked that he did not desire to cause a stir of any sort, and would like to have the matter dropped. He also stated he intends to turn his application for the position into the Executive Council regardless of Dean Bovard's recommendation.

Coach Bohler in the three years he has been here has, without a doubt, made himself the most popular baseball and basketball coach that has ever handled these sports for the University. This popularity is not only among the players, but extends throughout the entire student body as well, for he has established a reputation for clean play and fairness that is known and respected in every institution on the coast.

Record is Favorable
Although his record of games and championships won is not very impressive, it will stand against the record of most other years, as the first season here he took the Northwest championship with a team of veterans, and this season his quintet was feared by every squad which met it, although it only finished in the middle of the percentage column.

In baseball he has not enjoyed marked success, but his team this year has all the appearances of a winner and to cap that baseball material, which is coming to Oregon is growing better every year.

The most successful of intra-mural sports are promoted, and managed by Coach Bohler, being baseball and basketball. These two sports attract more attention and more participants than any of the others on the do-not program with the possible exception of track.

Report Causes Storm

The report that "George," as he is known among the athletes, would not be back next year caused a storm of inquiries and protests, several men even going so far as to say they would not return either if their coach would not be back.

A student protest on the action of Dean Bovard is being considered and this will probably develop in the next day or two, as sentiment seems to be very strong in that direction.

OHIO EDUCATOR WILL VISIT

Dr. Bruce R. Buckingham to Address Campus Groups on Friday

Dr. Bruce R. Buckingham, editor of the Journal of Educational Research and member of the school of education at Ohio State University, will be a visitor on the campus Friday. While here he will give two addresses, one to education students at 11:00 Friday morning, and another at 4:00 o'clock to which the public is invited.

The address will be upon two of the following subjects: "The Effect of the Size of a Class on the Efficiency of Teaching," "The Ability of Pupils to Solve Problems in Arithmetic," "New Methods of Evaluating Test Material," and "Making of Objective Tests."

Dr. Buckingham is making a tour of the northwest, visiting normal schools, colleges and universities. A number of superintendents in adjoining cities have been notified of Dr. Buckingham's visit and already several have indicated their intention of attending his talks.
