Polls will be open from 9 o'clock until 3 today in the library entrance, where the annual election of officers for Women's League will be held. As formerly, balloting is being held on the Tuesday following nominations at mass meeting. New officers will be announced tomorrow.

Elections this year are teeming with excitement, for both candidates for president are very strong in campus affairs, and competition will be keen. Last year there was only one candidate for president. A close run for all other offices is expected, as all candidates are especially fitted for their respective offices. There are three candidates for the position of sergeant-at-arms.

Elections Early This Year

It was decided to hold Women's League elections this year much earlier than is usual, for in other years they have always conflicted with the rush of Junior Week-end, or with student body elections. By holding elections earlier, it was thought to allow more time for consideration of candidates, and also the new officers will have ample time to be instructed in their duties before the close of the term. In this way the executive body for the coming year will be in working order at the beginning of the fall term.

Last year balloting for Women's League officers was very light, only about one-half of the women students voting. Every woman on the campus is entitled to a vote, and, as much of the success of the coming year depends upon the officers elected, all women are urged to take an interest in the election. All officers of Women's League automatically become members of executive council of the League, which directs all Women's League activities, and many campus affairs.

No Nominations From Floor

At a mass meeting Thursday Margaret Scott gave the report of the nominating committee, of which Florence Jaggar was chairman. There were no nominations from the floor, and when the nominations were closed Friday noon, no other candidates had been announced.

Newly elected officers will be in-

Burning Green Caps Will End Frosh Period of Servitude

Junior week-end is rapidly approaching, and this is a great event to the lowly freshman. The track meet, the ball games, the other festivities all interest him, but there is one event of far greater import—the riddance of that obnoxious green bean.

That green bonnet—the badge of humility and subjection—will be sacrificed to the gods of tradition and fire, as a part of junior week-end festivities. His apprenticeship is at an end and it is with a sigh of relief and contentment that he trudges homeward in his wet clothes after the annual ablution in the race and the sacrificing orgy of the green derby. Purged of all his neophytic sins he emerges from the campus Jordan with a new feeling—with a feeling that there is something before him. He has been tried by the University student body and found good—the balance of the scales have tipped in his favor and he takes his place among his fellow students with

GUM ADDICTS NO LONGER TROUBLE

Stray Articles Worry Library Janitor

The gum chewing, paper-wad addict is no longer a problem to the janitors of the various buildings on the campus, who say that the students are unusually careful this term about refraining from throwing papers around the classrooms. The number of unclaimed rubbers, umbrellas, caps, and wraps in their possession are somewhat of a worry to them, though, and one ventured the opinion that a lot of students must be proof against rain.

The hall in the basement of the library seems to be a favorite place for some to sit around, the janitor says, and study and chat and incidentally tear up a page of discarded notes perhaps, which goes fluttering down to the floor. "It isn't intentional on either part, though," the caretaker remarked.

A large pair of scissors around the school of journalism is entirely responsible for small bits of papers found around those rooms, according to the man in charge there. Although the under side of the seats in the Assembly room in Villard almost represent a fortune in gum, Mr. Morthland, who takes care of the building, is not inclined to blame the active students for this accumulation of years.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA GIVES $1000 TO STUDENT UNION

Five Women's Houses Made Subscriptions to Fund

The number of women's houses that have subscribed to the proposed Student Union building was raised to five last night, when Alpha Chi Omega pledged $1000 to the fund. This is the eighth campus organization to make a subscription. The money will be raised by means of a ten-year endowment policy which will be turned over to the Union fund upon maturity.

Members of Alpha Kappa chapter of Alpha Chi Omega are Charlotte Clark, Florence Jaggar, Margaret Jackson, Helen McCormick, Anna Vogel, Wanda McKinney, Ruth Sanborn, Henrietta Hansen, Gwaldys Keeney, Mildred LeCompte, Freda Goodrich, Vera Price, Hilda Hensley, Edythe Wilson, Nita Howard, Marjorie Baird, Norma Wilson, Geraldine Root, Claudia Broders, Helen Coplan, Phyllis Coplan, Maurine Buchanan, Charlotte Rice, Mabel Turner, Fern Perry, Eleanor Keep, Mary Jane Dustin, Mary Jane Hathaway, Lora Hempy, Margaret Hughes, Margaret Stahl, Katherine Freeman, Nellie Rowland.

Other organizations which have given to the fund are Delta Gamma, Hammer and Coffin, Phi Kappa Psi, Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Phi, Kappa Alpha Theta, Phi Sigma Pi.

ETHICS CONTEST DROPPED

Code Prize Offered by Mrs. Gerlinger Has Few Claimants

The contest for the Co-ed Code of ethics, started by Mrs. George Gerlinger of Portland, member of the board of regents, will probably be dropped until another year because so few codes were submitted and those submitted were not entirely satisfactory. Of the five or six that were turned in, the committee chose the three best and sent them to Mrs. Gerlinger, who has offered a ten dollar prize for the best code.

"Some of the codes were of very good sentiment, but were too long," said Dean John Straub, in charge of the contest, "and others did not express the right sentiment."

The feeling that it is rightfully his by dint of seven months of subjection and humiliation.

As he emerges from the dip in the diminutive Styx, the first words to pass his lips probably are, "Wait'll next year." That is the proper spirit, for, after being put through the mill, there is no one better qualified than he to expound Oregon ideals and traditions to the incoming class, and it is with eagerness that he awaits that eventful day in the early fall when the new crop of green-cappers line up along old Kincaid, with a foolish grin on their faces and one pants leg rolled atop the knee. They will wonder what it is all about and the present knights of the green skypiece are well informed on how to put them wise.

This year, as in other years, the young neophytes have mutilated their tonsorial

ALUMNI OF STATE BACK AGITATION TO KEEP BOHLER

Petition To Have Coach Stay Is Signed Already By Over 1000 Students

ATHLETES ARE UNANIMOUS Inspirational Work of Baseball and Basketball Mentor Praised by Men

Alumni from all parts of the state are throwing their influence with the students in the effort to retain George Bohler as basketball and baseball coach at the University, and latest developments are that expressions of their disfavor with Dean John Bovard's action in dismissing Coach Bohler will be printed not only in the Emerald, but in other papers of the state, as one of the Portland dailies had a special correspondent on the campus over the week-end investigating the affair.

Petitions requesting the retention of the popular coach were circulated among the students over the week-end, and it is estimated that more than 1,000 have signed already and that before they are turned in over 90 per cent. of the students will have signified their support of George Bohler in this way. Copies of these petitions can be obtained at the Co-op and the Emerald office for those students who have not had the privilege of signing so far.

Petitions will also be at the Y hut and Y. W. C. A. Bungalow. Those individuals who have been circulating the petitions are asked to get as many more signatures as possible, and then turn in the petitions at the Emerald office tonight.

Work Is Praised

The wording of the petition is to the effect that Coach Bohler has not only succeeded very well in coaching of his teams, but that he also possesses that rare quality of being an "inspirational coach" and of inspiring his teams with that sort of spirit.

It continues that he has made a remarkable showing with the material at hand, and has been instrumental in developing a fine spirit in the intramural sports which he has had charge of, and that his loss would jeopardize the spirit of clean athletics and high sportsmanship which is prevalent now. The petition then goes on to request that all efforts be made to retain Coach Bohler, and that pressure be brought to bear to settle the present difficulties.

One thing noticeable about the signing of the petition and the spirit among the students is the representation of the athletes with whom Coach Bohler has worked, for they are 100 per cent behind him, and this means a great deal, for when the Varsity men and subs and second string men forget their own troubles and grievances against a coach and unitedly back him in a time like this it certainly proves beyond a doubt that he has ability and personality.

Student Opinion Aroused

This petition will bring out very plainly just how the students stand on the situation, but that is about as far as it goes, for student opinion is evidently not of much consequence in the government of this University. If the petition had embodied the true feelings of the framers it would more probably have been one for the release of John Bovard from the faculty, for ever since the Dean has assumed the office of dean of the school of physical education there has been constant friction in the department between the Dean and the coaches.

The present situation is only an example of several others which have preceded it and the sentiment of the students seems to be that if Dean Bovard continues in office there will without a doubt be many more like it. It appears therefore that the trouble has only begun, and with the Alumni lining up with the students it appears as if there is much more trouble ahead than the Dean contemplated.

HIGH SCHOOL GAME SCHEDULED

The second game of the season for the U. H. S. nine will be played Wednesday afternoon with the Hendricks high school on the south Willamette diamond. Dope seems to favor the Hendricks team, since they defeated the Albany team 14-9, while the campus team was defeated by the Corvallis team Friday in a close game which ended with a score of 9-8.

FACULTY MAY BUY TICKETS

The faculty are advised by Jack Benefield that they may purchase season tickets for $1.50 to all baseball, track and other games. Tickets may be procured from Mr. Lyons, Johnson hall.

SEVEN MORE IN POLITICAL RACE

ALPHA BETA CHIS LOSE FIRST GAME IN DO-NUT SERIES

Many Errors Feature Initial Contest in Tournament; Score is 15 to 2

CUP IS WON BY FRIENDLY Phi Sigma Pi and Kappa Sigma Nines To Play Wednesday On R. O. T. C. Field

By Webster Jones

The first game of the do-nut tournament was played Monday afternoon when the Bachelordon team defeated the Alpha Beta Chi's by a lopsided score of 15 to 2. Intermittent showers and wind prevented any good playing. Day, pitching for the Bachelordon team, did some good work for the winners. The game was played in the usual do-nut style with many errors. Bachelordon took the lead early in the game and practically had the contest cinched in the first three innings. Lack of practice was in evidence because the two teams were the first to play in the schedule for this spring and they have not had sufficient time to whip their teams into shape. As the season progresses more real ball playing ability will be shown by the house teams.

Last year the do-nut baseball tournament was won by Friendly hall. At the close of the season Oregon club, Friendly hall and Kappa Sigma were tied in league A while Phi Delta Theta, Bachelordon and Alpha Tau Omega were tied for first place in league B. Each group of three played the tournament and came out with Friendly hall and Bachelordon winners in each league. Friendly succeeded in winning the final game and the baseball cup. This makes two years that Friendly hall has won the cup and this season with only a few of their old men back their chances will not be so good.

Two Games This Week

Sigma Chi, Phi Kappa Psi and Kappa Sigma promise to put out good teams. Being so near the top of the list there will be some keen competition between the three. With baseball one of the three remaining do-nut sports, a hard fight for the cup is assured.

Only two games will be played this week-end. Phi Sigma Pi will meet Kappa Sigma at four o'clock on the R. O. T. C. Tuesday afternoon. On Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock Phi Gamma Delta is matched against Kappa Delta Phi on the R. O. T. C. field. On account of the varsity games on Thursday and Friday no games can be played on those days.

When the weather permits games will be played at six o'clock in the morning and evening and in the afternoon at four o'clock. The early morning and evening games will be played on the Varsity diamond, according to George Bohler who has charge of the tournament.

Interest Is High

The tournament last year was surprisingly successful under the management of George Bohler and, with the interest shown so far, this year promises to be the best season of do-nut baseball. Last year 16 teams competed. This year with the addition of one new house there are 17 teams in the schedule. It is only in the last two years that do-nut baseball has come into its own as one of the

FROSH PLAN RIOT FOR LAST SOCIAL FUNCTION

May 25 Is Date For Affair; Professor Dunn and Miss Perkins Chosen Class Advisers at Meeting

Professor Frederick S. Dunn and Miss Mary H. Perkins were chosen as class advisers by the freshman class at a meeting held in Villard hall Friday evening. Besides choosing their advisers the class made arrangements for a Frosh Riot to be held in the men's gym May 25. This party will be the last official social function of the class. Freakish costumes are in order and white collars taboo. Eugene Richmond, president of the class, appointed the following members to head the various committees: Freda Runes, decorations; Gladys Noren, feature; Margaret Boyer, refreshments; Kenneth Stephenson, music and hall; and Everett Ogle, patron and patroness.

COUNCIL POSITION SOUGHT AFTER BY ART ROSEBRAUGH

Adah Harkness Will Run For Secretary; Myers Is Out For Yell Leader

The political reporter of the Emerald was a busy man last night, just before nine o'clock. When the clock sounded the deadline it was found that eight candidates, most of them for important offices, had left credentials and intentions. There were aspirants for almost every position. From all indications the height of the annual campaign is here.

There are now candidates for all of the student offices with the exception of that of senior woman on the executive council. As yet no opponents for Don Zimmerman, candidate for the presidency of the A. S. U. O. have come out.

Candidates which came out yesterday were: editor of the Emerald, Art Rudd; vice-president, Paul Sayre; secretary Adah Harkness; senior man student council, Art Rosebraugh; senior woman student council, Lurline Coulter; junior man student council, Herbert Brooks; sophomore man student council, Bob Mautz; yell leader, Jack Myers.

Rudd Out for Editor

Of chief interest were the announcements of Adah Harkness for the secretaryship and Paul Sayre for the vice-presidency. There are now three in the race for each position and interest is beginning to be noticeable. The announcement of Art Rudd for the editorship of the Emerald also makes three in that race. There are four in the race for senior man on the student council with the publication of the intentions of Art Rosebraugh.

Art Rudd, candidate for editorship is associate managing editor of the Emerald, member of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, and of the University Ad Club. In addition to his journalism work on the campus, he has been advertising manager for the Pendleton Round-up for the past two summers. He has been general and sports correspondent for the Portland Journal during the past three years and worked in the Journal in Portland before coming to the University. Rudd is a member of To-Ko-Lo, honorary sophomore fraternity, and has served two years on the executive council of the campus Y. M. C. A. At present he is working as publicity chairman of the Junior week-end directorate, and has twice been a member of the Homecoming publicity committee. He has been the Pendleton representative on the Greater Oregon com-

RUNNERS TAKE SECOND PLACE IN SEATTLE MEET

Ole Larson Stars, Taking First Place in 100 yard Dash; Other Men Make Good Record in Events

The seven man track team which represented Oregon at the Seattle relay meet Saturday entered only three events, but by taking two firsts and one second, they rolled up 14 points and thus captured second place in the meet.

Captain Ole Larson was the individual star for he walked off with first place in the 100 yard dash, and ran the last lap in the half mile relay, which Oregon won handily. The other men on the half mile team were Lucas, Hardenburg and Oberteuffer.

The mile relay team composed of Hardenburg, Risley, Rosebraugh, and Covalt took second place, being nosed out of first by about three yards by the fast Washington quartet.
