Another Tradition Gone

No candidates' statements will be solicited this year! If the political platforms which have formerly been announced just prior to elections had any significance the Emerald would be reluctant to discontinue the practice. But statements are usually written by the candidate's political manager. They have no meaning since they are constructed with the one and only purpose of getting votes. Experience shows that platforms are seldom carried out. When the typical candidate is asked for a 100 word statement he limits himself to half a column. It is usually scrawled on notebook paper. Misspelled words are not uncommon. Half of the politicians wait until ten o'clock and then wander to the Emerald office to write their candidates' views. In view of these circumstances the Emerald believes that its columns are too valuable to waste, even for one day a year. There is too much live news which would be displaced for this meaningless propaganda. If any of the candidates believe that real issues are at stake they will be allowed space, but the Emerald will not countenance any such humorous exhibitions as have been enacted in years past.

ALPHA DELTA PI PLANS MUSICALS FOR SATURDAY

Beulah Clark, flutist; Helen Harper, Violinist, and Leona Maurton, Contralto, Will Entertain

Three hundred invitations to faculty members and representative students have been sent out by Alpha Delta Pi, women's fraternity, for a musicale which they will give on Saturday night at their residence on University street. The affair, which is the first "at home" of this nature to be given by a women's fraternity recently, is formal. A number of out-of-town alumni of Alpha Delta Pi plan to attend. Talented girls, members of the organization, are participating in the program. Beulah Clark will play the flute; Helen Harper of Portland, the violin; Eloise McPherson, contralto, will sing; Bernice Ye will play the piano; Gwendolyn Lampshire, the violin; Leona Maurton, contralto, and Olive Merry, soprano, will sing and Meltrude Coe will give a piano solo. The first five girls are members of Mu Phi Epsilon, women's national music fraternity. Miss Clark, Miss Maurton and Miss Harper, who are not attending school this year, will come to Eugene to take part. Miss Jean Harper, a sister of Miss Helen Harper, will come with her sister from Portland to accompany her on the piano. If plans made by the fraternity are carried out, the musicale will be an annual affair in the future.

ART STUDENTS TO PICNIC

Students on Week-end Party at Blue River, Fishing and Hiking Trip

A snow fight in May was one of the diversions of the upperclassmen of the department of architecture, while on the week-end party at the ranch of E. H. McAlister, professor of mechanics and astronomy. Five automobiles left Eugene at 3:30 Friday and carried the fourteen students and four instructors as well as enough food to last thru a siege, to Blue river where the ranch is located. Besides Professor McAlister, the students were accompanied by Professors W. R. B. Wilcox, Virgil O. Hafen, and Eyer Brown, all of the school of architecture and allied arts. Mr. Wilcox was called back to Eugene on business but the other instructors remained until the return Sunday night. A climb to the snow-line resulted in a battle of snow balls and some impromptu coasting somewhat wearing on the eardrums of the dignified seniors. A number of snapshots were taken on the trip. Saturday some of the party hiked to Lucky Boy mine—a deserted mine in the hills with a few abandoned buildings. The others fished, and Professor Hafen contributed six fish to the hampers of food. Sunday they all motored to Foley Springs, and returned.

COURSE OF RACE TO BE ALTERED THIS SUMMER

Change Will Widen Stream Above the Bleachers; Work Will Be Completed by Fall, Says City Engineer

Work will not be started on widening the mill-race until after the end of the term, reports Harry Devereaux, city engineer. Thus the silvery beauty of the race on moonlight nights will not be destroyed in the eyes of the pigger by ungainly machineries of all sorts. It is not definitely decided when the work will begin, but it will be completed by the fall. When the work starts the race will be widened above the bleachers on the opposite side. That kink will be straightened without touching the trees which are across from the Anchorage. The race will keep its present course from that point. On the side of the bleachers a 12-foot walk will be extended from the pavement, and the bank down to the race will start there. Construction of a new bridge over the race at Franklin Boulevard is to be started in a few days. This will be a reinforced structure. The forms are being built at this time.

FATHER O'HARA LECTURES

Giovanni Papini is Subject of Second Talk at Newman Hall

Through his study of all the races and philosophies of the world, and through his fondness for the work of the brilliant Russian writers, Giovanni Papini, who was introduced to American readers by William James the psychologist, became interested in the Gospels which convinced him of the soundness of the religion of Christ, said Rev. Edwin V. O'Hara in the second talk on Religion and Scholarship, recently at Newman hall. Just as Chesterton, Shaw and Belloc are regarded as the literary leaders in England today, so is Papini regarded as the foremost writer in Italy, he said. Papini believes that the sole solution of the evils of the world is through the transformation of the human soul, and that this can be brought about only through religion, the most perfect and suitable of which, he believes, is the one taught by Christ. This belief led him to write "Storia di Cristo," which is being read in all parts of the world today. "Many of the passages of the book are in a style similar to that of Chesterton, and indicate that Papini is a man of imagination and vision," said Father O'Hara. "The English translation by Dorothy Canfield Fisher, is beautifully done and shows what a great literary artist Papini is. The book is thoroughly enjoyable, and one that can be picked up at odd moments and read by anyone with sheer delight."

Dr. R. L. Benson Tests Stains in Murder Case

Blood tests made by Dr. R. L. Benson, of the University of Oregon school of medicine, from stains found on the clothes of George E. Whitfield, of Clarke county, Washington, formed an important link in the chain of circumstantial evidence that convicted Whitfield on first degree murder Sunday. The jury recommended that he be hanged. Dr. Benson testified at the trial that he had made over 400 tests, because he realized that a man's life was at stake, and was absolutely certain that the stains were of human blood. The method used in the test, he declared, were standard all over the world and were infallible. Whitfield was convicted of killing 11-year-old Anna Nosko, of Batle Ground, Washington.

"THE FAMOUS MRS. FAIR" AT REX

One of the best photoplays to be shown this season is the Fred Niblo production of James Forbes' great American play, "The Famous Mrs. Fair," which was seen for the first time yesterday at the Rex theatre. Large audiences greeted the film version with great enthusiasm, and it should enjoy another capacity house today. In the east of this Metro-Louis B. Mayer production are seen Myrtle Stedman, Huntly Gordon, Cullen Landis, Marguerite De La Motte, Ward Cran and others. Frances Marion wrote the screen adaptation. The photoplay is released by Metro.

"CHARM SCHOOL" TO BE PRESENTED AT U. H. S.

Senior Class Will Star in Three-Act Comedy

An irresistible comedy, full of mirth provoking episodes, is "The Charm School," a three-act comedy by Alice Duer Miller, to be given by the senior class of the University high school Wednesday afternoon and Thursday evening of this week.

The play deals with Austen Bevans, a young auto salesman who inherits a girl's school, and determines to take charge of the institution and teach the students the secrets of charm. There is a heavy mortgage on the school, however, and Holmer Johns, who holds the mortgage, wishes to get rid of Bevans in order that he may place his divorced wife at the head of the school. Johns' niece is also a student in the school and he agrees to leave his niece and his money in the school providing none of the girls fall in love with Bevans. Bevans has already installed as teachers in the school four happy-go-lucky pals who are teaching such educational courses as the playing of a ukulele and tennis. Of course the girls have to ruin this ideal situation by promptly falling in love with all their instructors, and as a result humorous chaos ensues.

The leading parts are taken by Hugh Lynch as Austen Bevans, and Maybrey Strong as Elise Benedotte. The play is to be given in the high school auditorium. Admission in 35 cents for the matinee and 50 cents for the evening performance.

The cast is as follows:

HISTORY CLASS VISITS OLD PIONEER LANDMARK

Students Watch Celebration of the Founding of State Government

The Oregon History Seminar class, accompanied by Dr. Robert C. Clark, head of the history department, motored to Champeog to be present at the eightieth anniversary of the organization of the provisional government of Oregon. The party left Eugene Saturday morning and returned at 11 o'clock that night.

This was the twenty-third gathering of the pioneers and relatives of the signers of the original constitution for the provisional government at Champeog. Community singing, speeches from the old pioneers and sight seeing through the historical spots in the vicinity of Champeog were enjoyed by the party. On the return trip, the party visited Saint Paul, where the first Catholic church was built. The old brick building is still standing in its original form. Twenty miles from Salem is the first Methodist mission, founded by Jason Lee. The party lingered to inspect the historical edifice. At Salem, the State House was visited. The flags that were used in the Indian wars were examined. One of the pioneers, a 76 year old veteran, entertained the audience by playing quaint melodies on a two hundred year old violin. The instrument was brought to Oregon in 1813.

GOLF COURSE COMPLETED

The golf course has been completed on the ground south of the barracks and is ready for use. It is free and the only prohibition is that players should wear heelless shoes on the green. The course will be a three hole one. It has been under construction for some time. Some time in the future a list of rules will be posted on the course for the guidance of beginners. A great deal of interest has been shown in golf this year and the course promises to be one of the most popular places on the campus.

IT was the first question in the course on Shaving—"Why is the handy cap not a handicap?" and the student replied, "Because it can't get lost."

He referred, of course, to the Williams' Hinged Cap which you see pictured here. This invention puts an end for all time to the nuisance of hunting for lost caps. As you see, the Williams' cap is hinged on. It's the only college cap that you can't lose.

Williams' Shaving Cream is as pleasantly better as the new cap. For Williams' is the fastest beard softener known and, in addition, it is of distinct benefit to the skin. Try giving your face the wholesome care of Williams'. It makes you look and feel your best.

Notice the hinged cap. You can't lose it—and the tube hangs up!
