CANOE FETE QUEEN TO BE VOTED UPON AT VILLARD TODAY

Choice Expected to Create an Interest in Week-end's Most Colorful Event

RULER'S THRONE ON FLOAT

Seventeen Prominent Co-eds Chosen by Men's Houses Have Names on Ballot

The queen of the Junior week-end canoe fete will be named today when students vote at a booth in Villard hall at the same time the ballots are marked for student body office.

The election of a queen is a new idea on the campus this year and since its proposal the Junior week-end committee has been working enthusiastically to make it a success.

The girls were nominated by the house with which their organization was paired off in the canoe fete drawing. Every student in the University will be entitled to one vote and the girl getting the most votes will be named without any announcement of how many votes any candidate receives. This will prevent any embarrassment on the part of defeated candidates.

Haney Has Charge

Ed Haney has the contest in charge. The booth at which the ballots are handed out will remain open during the same hours that student body elections are in progress, according to his announcement.

The queen will occupy the place of honor on the Junior float in the fete—another new idea to be featured this year. This float will lead the parade of floats down the race and the queen will receive the homage of the crowd. She will also be given a favored place to watch the fete and, of course, receive considerable publicity in connection with the honor.

This year's canoe fete will be one of the most colorful that has ever been seen in the history of the Junior week-end, say those in charge. Elaborate lighting is being planned and reports from houses which are planning the floats indicate that ideas generally are clever and in most cases original.

Judges Not Announced

The names of the judges will probably not be announced until the night of the fete. It has been decided that three people chosen to name the winning float sit apart and not be allowed to confer before giving their decision. This will prevent the talkative member or members of the committee from swaying the decision, according to the theory of the Junior week-end directorate.

The girls who have been nominated for queen are: Margaret Alexander, Marjorie Hazard, Dorothy Jean Simon, Margaret Seymour, Gwladys Keeney, Georgia M. Shipley, Gertrude McIntyre, Mary Alexander, Elsie Skogg, Alecia Agnew, Grace Caviness, Marion Lay, Thresa Rauschert, Gladys Wright, Helen Ball, Ada Harkness and Katharine Crandall.

DELINQUENTS NOT TO VOTE

Petition Stating Reasons for Failure to Pay Fees Will Admit Student

Thirty-three University of Oregon students will be prohibited from voting at the student body elections today owing to failure to pay their registration fees before 3 p. m. on Monday. This was the word given out by the registrar's office yesterday. "The voting list is made up immediately after the closing of registration," says Mr. Lyon, "and those who have not paid are not legally members of the associated student body." These 33 must write and sign a petition giving their reasons for failure to pay fees and this petition must be voted upon and passed before students are again admitted to the University.

AMENDMENTS WHICH WILL BE VOTED ON TODAY

To permit incorporation of the associated students.

To make Lemon Punch A. S. U. O. publication.

To amend constitution and by-laws of associated students, making arrangements for appointment of Lemon Punch editor, and fixing the pay of editor and manager of Lemon Punch.

To insert clause in by-laws, providing for the granting of letters to members of varsity swimming team making eight points in conference meets.

To grant R. O. T. C. band emblems.

ARTISTS DESIRE NICOTINE BUSH

Rendezvous for Smokers Wanted in Court

A new nicotine tree, a sanctuary for smokers to rival the famous one in front of the Administration building, is the new ambition of the men in the allied arts and architecture department. They want it in their new court—and not only a tree, but a picturesque bench to go under it, so that they can give themselves to courting Lady Nicotine with the greatest possible comfort.

Real bohemian atmosphere, they claim, will result, and the spirit of masques, and dominoes, of fans and veils, will hover near. Besides, they say, after five or six long hours in the drafting room, they deserve a respite, without sprinting to the other end of the campus.

Besides, they darkly hint, they are not the only ones who desire such an arrangement. The instructors, after equally long hours can join them for a friendly smoke—and think how important is contact with an instructor—especially when everyone is happy!

LILLIAN AULD HELD IN CAPTIVITY BY BANDITS

Oregon Graduate Taken From Train Near Pekin, China

Lillian Auld, '22, one of those kidnapped several days ago when Chinese bandits raided the Pekin express near Suchow, is still captive, according to a cablegram reaching Eugene yesterday afternoon. Reports reaching this city in the morning said that Miss Auld, together with her aunt, Mrs. Lillian Seton and their friends, Mrs. Ellen Fleming of Manila, had been released and sent to Pekin.

The consul at Pekin, however, wired he could find no trace of them there. Shortly before 2 p. m. yesterday a report came from London saying that Mrs. Seton and Mrs. Fleming had been released, but Miss Auld was still held captive.

Cablegrams are being sent out by Lillian's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Auld of 1057 Patterson street, Eugene, in an effort to locate her. No details of the reported capture are as yet available, but the general circumstance of the raids have become well known through the news stories of the past three days.

Miss Auld, her aunt and Mrs. Murray Warner left Eugene last October for the Orient. Mrs. Warner did not accompany them on the entire journey, returning to Eugene last week. It was the original plan to visit Japan and Honolulu before coming to the United States next July. Last word received from the two Eugene women was to the effect that they had left the Philippines in April for the China coast, there to entrain for Pekin.

Miss Auld is well known on the campus, being a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, national women's fraternity, Dial, and past president of Pot and Quill, the latter two being honorary women's writing fraternities. She was an artist of note and a writer of a number of short stories, several of which have been published in Collier's and other magazines. She also wrote feature stories for the Portland Oregonian.

Graduate Student Will Complete Work for Doctor's Degree

Norman Byrne, '21, who will take his M. A. this term, and who has done part time teaching in the University conducting classes in ethics, logic, introduction to philosophy and philosophy seminar will enter Harvard this fall for a two year course in philosophy at the end of which he expects to have completed the work for his doctor's degree. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Byrne, who takes her B. A. and B. M. at the University this spring. While at Harvard she will specialize in music, having taken her major in piano here.

Mr. and Mrs. Byrne expect to make the trip by automobile, leaving Eugene in July and stopping at Glacier, Ranier, and Yellowstone national parks, and Chicago. The fall term at Harvard commences September 23.

STUDENTS TO ELECT FOR 1923-24 TODAY

FROSH TRACK TEAM TO MEET ROOKS AT O. A. C. SATURDAY

Final Tryouts to Determine Personnel of Squad Will Commence Today

3 TO ENTER EACH EVENT

First Year Men Have Point Winners in Field Events; Aggregation Has Hopes

The final freshman track tryouts which will determine the men to make the trip to Corvallis this week-end will start this afternoon at 3:30. The Oregon youngsters will tackle the Aggie babes on their track Saturday afternoon. Hayward is sending three men for each event.

Starting this afternoon at 3:30 and extending until tomorrow afternoon, the events will be run off in the following order: Wednesday, 100-yard dash, 440-yard dash, half-mile, shot put, discus, broad-jump, 120-yard high hurdles. On Thursday afternoon: the 220-yard dash, mile, high-jump, javelin and 220-yard low hurdles will be run off.

The number of contestants in the Oregon-O. A. C. freshman meet is always unlimited and Hayward is entering three men in each event. According to Bill, the first three men in each event in the tryouts will be the men to make the trip to Aggie land.

Rooks Former Victors

Last year, in fact, the last two years, the rooks have hung the Indian sign on the frosh. From the looks of things this year is to be the turning point. That does not mean that the rooks are weak on the track because they are reputed to be a fast crew this year, but Oregon's babes have a lot of men that are good for seconds and thirds, in addition to the usual number of first-place winners.

In the sprints Lewis, Kelsey, Bertrand and Snyder are all working hard and any three of them may get the choice for next Saturday. "Gib" McAuliffe, who pulled a tendon in the tryouts last week, is out of the running as far as the frosh-rook meet is concerned and possibly for the rest of the season.

Keating and Gerke have shown the best in the distances but since there are to be three men each in the mile and half-mile, there will be some new men show up in the tryouts. Captain Carlberg is the class of the 440-men but Hernandez runs him a close race.

Mautz Heaving Shot

In the field events the frosh are exceptionally strong. With Bob Mautz heaving the shot around 45 feet and both Anderson and Mautz hurling the discus over 100 feet, things look pretty bright in that line. Kelsey, Cleaver and Tuck are the most consistent performers in the jump. Kelsey is the star of the trio with a mark of over 20 feet in the broad jump, "Louie" Anderson besides working in the discus and broad-jump, is throwing the spear around the 150-foot mark.

After looking over the results of the frosh-Columbia meet last week, it is evident that the frosh will put a formidable aggregation in the field against the Ag yearlings.

FROSH SUMMONED TO FIELD

The Order of the O issues a summons to 30 freshmen, the names of whom appear below, who will report today at 3 o'clock on Hayward field for work. The freshmen who are to report are: A. M. Clark, C. E. Causen, H. Cofill, C. A. Colistro, R. L. Cook, G. D. Cooper, G. R. Cooper, C. R. Crawford, J. C. Crocker, A. M. Cronin, P. Davis, H. Day, H. J. De France, R. E. DeLong, P. F. Dempsey, Frank De Spain, W. De Vane, C. A. Dobler, P. L. Dodds, G. R. Dodson, V. L. Domingo, F. B. Drinker, T. E. Driscoll, G. M. Drury, L. C. du Buy, H. Dutton, R. D. Eby, R. A. Edmiston, E. E. Eggleston.

EXTENSION STAFF IS ENLARGED

Prof. E. C. Carleton, superintendent of the Eugene schools, will be field representative for the extension division next year. The staff at present is composed of six members in addition to the stenographers. They are: Earl Kilpatrick, director, Dr. Dan E. Clark, Alfred Powers, Miss Mozell Hair, Miss Mary E. Kent and Prof. Ira Richardson.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB WILL APPEAR IN CONCERT FRIDAY

Program Will Be Same As One Given on Vacation Tour; Evans is Director

MEN ARE VETERAN SINGERS

Roy Bryson's Work Acclaimed Triumphant; Quartet Meets Applause

A varied program, even better than the one which scored such a general success on the spring vacation tour, will be given Friday night at the Methodist church, when the University men's glee club will appear in its annual home concert under the direction of John Stark Evans, associate dean of the school of music.

The men's glee club is made up largely of veteran singers—men who have worked under Mr. Evans' direction for two and three years. The program attracted wide attention all along the line of the trip and following its presentation in Portland, the metropolitan newspapers were enthusiastic in their praise of the results.

Mr. Evans Responsible for Success

The secret of this year's success is due largely to Mr. Evans' ability to choose a group of musical numbers that will keep an audience delightfully interested. The home concert will benefit by the advantage of having the Methodist pipe organ, which will be used to especially good advantage in Kipling's "Hymn Before Action," the headline number of the entire evening's entertainment. The combination of the men's voices and the organ music is characterized as "superb."

Roy Bryson's work with the club this year has been a revelation to even his most enthusiastic friends. The way he sings "Her Rose" is a triumph incomparable in many ways to anything that has been heard in University glee club circles for years.

Quartet Takes Well with Audiences

The quartet is also bound to score a mighty hit. In practically every concert of the spring trip they were given from four to seven encores and in several cases their humorous numbers created such a good natured riot that it was difficult to get the crowd willing to listen to anything else.

The light and massive numbers are grouped in such a way that the entire evening is bound to please.

No reserved seats will be sold but because of the two prices, 50c and 75c, seats in the church will be divided into two groups and people holding the 75c tickets will be given their choice of the house.

ORDER OPPOSES MEASURE

Proposed Award for Swimmers Considered Detrimental to Wearers of O

The Order of the O at a meeting last night took a definite stand against the constitutional amendment placed upon today's ballot legalizing the awarding of varsity letters to swimmers. The Order went on record as discouraging the associated students from sanctioning such an amendment which it considers detrimental to the best interests of Oregon athletics.

A formal resolution was passed advocating the defeat of the measure at the polls tomorrow. "We feel that the alleged merits of the proposal are based on the fact that encouragement must be given the varsity swimmers to save the sport from rapid decadence," said George King in explaining the action of the lettermen. "It is the sentiment of the Order that a varsity O is an award and not a symbol of encouragement for participation in any sport. We feel that the defeat of the measure, a proposed amendment to the student body constitution on today's ballot, is for the best interests of varsity athletics and for the integrity of the O."

"MUMMIE MINE" WILL BE SOLD BY MISS LETCHER

Leading Feature of Varsity Vanities Is Being Copyrighted; Will be Offered to Orpheum Circuit First

"Mummie Mine," the one act musical comedy written by Imogene Letcher of the school of music, and which was the leading feature of the Varsity Vanities will be placed on the market in the near future. It is copyrighted now. Miss Letcher will offer it first to the Orpheum. A friend of Madame Rose McGrew's who is influential in vaudeville circles will produce the act in Denver, Colorado. If "Mummie Mine" is not welcomed by producers as a vaudeville act, its songs, which contain original thoughts, and enchanting bits of melody, will be marketed separately.

Phil Lions, a member of Phi Gamma Delta, who has had a number of songs published, will undertake the sale of the songs. George Olson's orchestra will play songs from "Mummie Mine" at their appearance here Wednesday evening.

Old Familiarity Between Profs And Students No Longer Exists

The good old days are going. Now-days they put clever little signs on their doors, saying that you must knock, or ring the buzzer, or plaster a hand tattoo on the casing before you can take your lowly carcass across the threshold.

It isn't like the good old days when one could steam into his pet professor's den, slap him on the back, call him by his first name, lean back in his favorite chair, help yourself to his special brand of cigarette. Then you could start the handshake act. But those days is gone now.

The way some of our professors liberate and try to evade the great unwashed student multitude, is almost as pitiable as the ex-high sashem of Germany, who whiles away his time behind the

RETURNS FROM POLLS WILL BE POSTED HOURLY

Campaign Has Been Markedly Quiet; All Offices But One Contested

Associated Students of the University of Oregon today will select the men and women who are to handle the student administrative affairs, edit publications, and represent the University during the school year 1923-24. Polls will open in Villard hall at 9 o'clock this morning and will close promptly at 3. There are 2400 students now registered in the University and if all of these are to vote today, an average of 400 must cast their ballots each hour. Students who were late in paying their laboratory fees, and who have since been reinstated must present their receipts when voting.

Now that the mist of battle has dispersed into attenuated wisps and the hour of calm has settled on the political ocean, a review of the campus campaign shows it to be one of the quietest in many years. This uninterested attitude has been attributed to the dominance of the athletic controversy which broke up many political chats during the week-end. This eclipse of political issues is even more remarkable when it is realized that but one office is uncontested—that of senior woman on the executive council. Kate Pinneo is the only one in the field for this position.

Discretion Urged

John MacGregor, president of the associated students, has broadcast an earnest plea to the A. S. U. O. group, asking the students to seriously consider the respective merits of the various candidates and to use discretion in casting their ballots for those who will hold office during the coming year. "It is my sincere hope that all the students will realize the importance of this election and will vote today," said President MacGregor last night in a statement for the Emerald. "If a large percentage of the students will vote today next year's officers will realize the importance of the offices they hold and will work more earnestly."

Speaking about the balloting today, MacGregor made this statement: "Students should exercise the greatest care in marking ballots, for that section of the ballot marked incorrectly will be cast out."

"The voting will end at 3 o'clock today and this evening we will know who are to govern next year," said MacGregor. "A word must be said about the aftermath: Although it has not been apparent that there has been hatred in the present campaign, there is a danger that minor undercurrents have crept in student life. We are students of a University which is rapidly growing, and it is impossible to believe that petty differences can outlast the heat
