PORTLAND PASTOR WILL LECTURE IN ASSEMBLY TODAY

Dr. Harold Bowman to Discuss Relation of the Bible and Science in Villard

FRANK JUE WILL BE SOLOIST

Presbyterian Minister to Talk To Students at Y. M. Hut at Afternoon Session

The message awaiting the University at the regular assembly this morning will be given by Dr. Harold L. Bowman, pastor of the first Presbyterian church of Portland on the subject of "Science and the Bible." Owing to Dr. Bowman's great popularity in the University community since his appearance here last year before the student body, an unusually large crowd is expected to jam the time-honored hall in Villard and students are advised to reach their places early. Music will be furnished by Frank Jue, of the school of music, who will sing several solos.

Arrived Yesterday

Dr. Bowman arrived on the campus yesterday and spoke before a group of students at noon at the Y. M. C. A. hut. He will also speak again today at the hut on "The Bible as Autobiography." The lecture will begin at 4:15 and is open to all students. The subjects of the visitor's lectures are of especial interest and value to University students who are taking courses in World history and Literature as they deal directly with literary and historical aspects of the Bible, which are discussed in these classes and will give the viewpoint of this eminent theologian on these questions which are being so widely debated at present in the student world.

"It is my conviction that religion is the supreme element in the creation of character and this has impelled me to become a minister," said Dr. Bowman recently in an interview. "The life of Jesus Christ was a supreme success and the person who lives in accord with his teachings and is dominated by the spirit of his life will attain a fineness of character which can be gained in no other way. Such success will endure not only through time, but through eternity. It is a great privilege to be a minister with a message like that."

Sums Up Christian Character

Dr. Bowman continued by summing up essential elements of the character of a Christian by saying that these included purity, integrity, service and a brotherly attitude toward men. His address this morning will deal with the relative functions of the Bible and modern science in religion. It is a matter of surmise whether this will include a discussion of Darwinism in connection with religion but the relation of science and its apparent conflict with many religious convictions is a subject of never-failing interest which is certain to absorb the speaker's hear-

Lillian Auld Reported by Cable to Be Safe in China

Belief Is That Former Oregon Student Went to Peking by Water and Escaped Bandits; Press Affirms Message

Lillian Auld, Oregon graduate reported to have been captured by Chinese bandits, is said to be safe in Shanghai, according to cables received in Eugene yesterday by Mrs. W. G. Hale, wife of Dean Hale of the University law school, and sister-in-law of John Sawyer, United States vice-counsel at Shanghai, who sent one of the cables. Mrs. Hale said that word had been received from Mrs. Sawyer a few days ago saying that Miss Auld and Mrs. Lillian Seton were expected in that city at about the time the bandit raid took place. Mr. Auld then cabled to Mr. Sawyer, who sent the following reply yesterday morning: "With us yesterday. Gone to Peking." As the railroads between Shanghai and Peking are torn up, it is thought that Miss Auld and Mrs. Seton went to Peking by water. Press reports also affirm the statement that both Miss Auld and Mrs. Seton were safe in Shanghai.

GLADYS GALLIER CHOSEN TO REIGN IN CANOE FETE

813 Votes Cast in Balloting for Queen Candidate

Gladys Gallier of Hendricks hall will reign as the first queen of the Junior Week-end canoe fete, as a result of the election held yesterday. A total of 813 votes were cast at this election, which was held at the same time as the student body one. A great deal of interest was shown over the voting and there were several strong contenders in the race, according to Ed Haney, who was in charge of the affair.

The plan of having a queen at the canoe fete was a new one this year, and members of the junior class are assured success with the results of the election, Haney said.

The queen will be placed on the junior float which will precede all the others in the fete. The float is to be attractively decked up with lights. Two flower girls are also to be on the float, and violins are to play during the procession of the floats. The queen will be given a prominent place during the evening, but it is undecided as yet as to whether she will be placed on the bleachers or on the junior float which may be drawn over to the side opposite the bleachers.

Other candidates voted upon yesterday were Margaret Alexander, Mary Alexander, Georgia Shipley, Florence Crandall, Marjorie Hazard, Dorothy Jean Simonton, Margaret Seymour, Alicia Agnew, Gwladys Keeney, Gertrude McIntyre, Marion Lay, Elsie Skoog, Grace Caviness, Helen Ball, Adah Harkness and Gladys Wright.

Five Offices, Fifty Ballots Cast; No Thrills at Polls in 1900

"The elections were held on Wednesday and everything passed off quietly. There was no ill feeling among the various candidates and the lucky ones have the best wishes of all."

In 1903 the student body revolutionized things in general, adding 16 more offices and changing the time of elections to the spring instead of the fall. "Last Wednesday was election day at the University and every office from presidency down to committee for oratory and debate was filled," states the May 25, 1903, Weekly. "There were 44 candidates in the field and only 21 offices to fill. The contest was sharpest over the positions of treasurer, and editor-in-chief of the Weekly. Every Ashland student went that ran for office and some disinterested parties thought they could discern the workings of an 'Ashland machine.'"

By ten years ago the political machine was left everybody without opposition and made the election a very tame affair. Only about 50 ballots were cast.

DRAMA WILL BE GIVEN BY DANCERS TONIGHT

Interpretative Work to be Demonstrated by Class

A program of varied and unusual selections will be presented by the advanced pupils of Miss Lillian Stupp, of the department of physical education, in a drama at 8 o'clock tonight in Guild hall. The drama, which is being staged by the senior majors in physical education, will be given by 28 girls, members of the class in educational interpretative dancing. The production tonight will be the first of its kind to be given on the campus, as this type of work has just been introduced by Miss Stupp this year. Special costumes have been planned for all the dances on the program. An orchestra composed of violin, cello and piano will play during the evening, and a special harp solo will also be given.

The box office at Guild hall will be open today from 2 to 6 and seats may be reserved for this evening's performance. Saturday, the office will remain open from 3 to 5 at which time reservations for the repeated program Saturday night can be made. Tickets are on sale at the Co-op, student organizations, and Kendrick's drug store, for 50 and 75 cents.

The personnel of the drama is composed of the following dancers: Margaret Burroughs, Wilma Chaitin, Beatrice Conway, Dorothy Cushman, Dorcas Conklin, Mildred Crain, Lola Keizer, Dorothy McKee, Mildred Le Compte, Muriel Myers, Helen Newland, Doris Parker, Edith Pierce, Nellie Rowland, Violet Reed, Marion Smith, Margaret Stahl, Kitty Sartain, Isobel Stuart, Ruth Tuck, Harriet Veazie, Maud Graham, Harriet Howells, Mary Ann Hanson, Florence Huntress, Adah Harkness, Vera Johnson and Cecile Johnson.

The program, in three parts, includes a number of varied and interesting pieces of work in child studies, orchestration, group dances and others. Following is the program:

VARSITY PLAYERS WILL MEET O.A.C. NINE THIS WEEK

Two Game Series to be Played on Corvallis Campus in Junior's Program

W. S. C. HERE NEXT MONDAY

Cougers Reported to Have Strong Team of Veterans for This Season

This week-end will find the Varsity journeying to Corvallis to cross bats with the Aggie tossers, as one of the features of the O. A. C. Junior Week-end festivities. The entire squad will undoubtedly make the trip as there is always the chance of injury.

The Corvallis diamond is a hard one to play on and the Varsity will find it a difficult matter to come out ahead in the series. The numerous errors made by the frosh tossers, gives some indication of the condition of the playing field over there.

Either Watson or Cook will officiate behind the bat, with the latter having the call. He has worked in all of the important games so far this season. Bohler will no doubt use his big cards in the box, Baldwin and Shields. If the Aggie members get too strong, Skinner, Brooks, or Stoddard can be counted on to leave the grenade. Stoddard worked against the Eugene town team Tuesday evening and appeared to be rounding into form.

Johnson Out Again

Hunk Latham will hold court around the initial hassock and Svarverud will be stationed at the hot corner. Warde Johnson put in an appearance Tuesday for the first time since he broke a bone in his foot. This means that there will be a battle on for first base in the future.

Jimmy Ross is still on the crippled list and will not be able to invade the Aggie stronghold. The keystone burden will fall upon either Shafer or Moore. Shafer's ankle is not entirely healed yet and he may not start. Trautman handled the bag in creditable shape against the Eugene team and he may get a chance to demonstrate his wares in the week-end series.

Captain Zimmerman will lead the nine from the short patch. Formerly an outfielder, he is settling down to the infield job with a vengeance and is going better every day.

Outfield Positions Uncertain

In the outfield Roycroft, Collins and either Sorsby or Sullivan will work. Sorsby has an infected wrist and may have to hug the bench and in that case Sullivan will handle one of the gardens. Sorsby's loss will be keenly felt as he is a sure fielder and a consistent hitter. Baldwin, Shields and Brooks can be used in the outfield if necessary. Shields proved his worth as a pinch hitter in the game with Pacific, crushing out the hit that spelled victory and handling one or two chances in the field.

In facing the Aggies, the Varsity is going up against a well-balanced aggregation. They have a strong twirling staff and a strong fielding and hitting team.

Monday and Tuesday the W. S. C. clubbers will invade the ridge diamond for a two-game series. Last year they were runners up in the conference, losing to Washington. This year they have a veteran team, which can field and hit with the best in the conference. Their battery combination is strong and the varsity will be forced to the limit to take the visitor's measure on the ridge.

FRESHMEN TO REPORT

The following named freshmen are ordered to report at Hayward field today at 3 o'clock by the Order of the "O" men:

L. Emery, M. Failing, R. Farley, M. Fernandez, D. G. Finnigan, S. H. Ford, W. C. Ford, C. Frum, E. D. Furrer, A. L. Gale, R. L. Gardner, J. P. Garland, W. K. Geary, F. K. Genke, R. T. Gilbert, R. Godfrey, M. H. Goodell, J. S. Gorriceta, W. R. Gossa, C. J. Grable, T. M. Graham, H. E. Gray, F. M. Greeley, R. E. Gruland, T. N. VanGuilder, J. Gunther, L. E. Gutherless, J. S. Guttridge, E. W. Hagerty and L. W. Hagstrom.

CARTER IS NAMED VICE-PRESIDENT BY CLOSE COUNT

Freda Goodrich Is Elected Oregon Editor by Good Majority; Tapfer Gains Over Day for Position on Executive Council; All Amendments Pass by Big Vote; Total Number of Ballots Cast Sets Record

Claude Robinson was elected president of the A. S. U. O. yesterday in the heaviest balloting recorded in regular elections of the student body of the University, the vote being 917 to 478. As a running mate for the coming year, Frank Carter took the office of vice-president by a substantial majority. Art Rudd will hold the editorial chair of the Emerald for 1923-24, winning over his nearest opponent with a lead of 127 votes.

Marella Berry will record the minutes of the Associated Students, having been elected to the secretaryship by a close margin. Freda Goodrich was easily the choice of the voters for editor of the 1924 Oregon. Ed Tapfer won a place on the executive council as junior man, the ballots counting 763 to 564 for Jack Day.

The seven amendments as presented for consideration were acted upon favorably and in most cases by a strong majority of the voters. Although the campaign this spring had seemed remarkably quiet and comparatively little interest was shown in electioneering on the campus, about 350 more students went to the polls this year than last.

In practically every case there were no neck-and-neck races between candidates. The nearest approach to an uncertain return was that of junior woman on the student council, where at one time the count was: Augusta DeWitt, 212; Margaret McCabe, 221; and Mary Skinner, 206. Later, however, Augusta DeWitt took the lead, finishing with a 122 majority.

Uncontested offices were for junior woman of the executive council, taken by Kate Pinneo, and for senior woman on the student council, where two were to be elected. These were taken by Lurline Coulter and Gladys Wright.

Hal Chapman early took honors in the contest for one of the senior men on the student council, maintaining a lead of two to one throughout the evening until the final results were known. The two other men elected as senior men were Russ Gowans and Art Rosebraugh.

Headen Metcalf led off with a fast pace in the race for junior men on the student council, and easily maintained a safe margin throughout the counting. His partner on the council is Milton Brown, who took the office with a small lead over Thomas Crosthwait. Others out for the office were Herbert Brooks and L. E. Angell.

Bob Mautz romped into the office of sophomore man with over a three to one lead over Lea McPike. Jack Myers will lead the rosters next fall, being chosen Yell King, by a strong vote over Ted Baker.

A large crowd of students filled the east entrance of Villard hall as early as four o'clock, when first returns were posted on the bulletin board. Bulletins were posted every hour, but many of the watchers grew tired and dropped out as the winners in most cases seemed certain by nine o'clock.

The counting was quite slow, final results not being available until midnight. It is estimated that an unusually large percentage of men voted this year, the number as computed from the checks on the voting list being 815. The percentage of women who attended the polls was not so high, 780 being the figure given.

Thirty-three students were disqualified from voting due to non-payment of registration and laboratory fees. There are 2400 students now registered in the University.

Although the polls were crowded between classes, the voting was quite steady throughout the day, until they were closed at three o'clock. The chairman of the election committee was Dick Sundleaf.

Percy Locey Elected President at O. A. C.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, May 9.—(Special to The Emerald)—Percy Locey, of football fame, was elected president of the O. A. C. student body by a safe majority, according to advices received here last night. Locey captained last year's football team and needed but few credits to graduate, but expects to return for the full year as a result of the election.

Elvin Hoy will edit the Barometer as a result of yesterday's election. Howard Lewis was chosen for the office of vice-president and Florence Graydon for secretary. Brady Montgomerly will succeed Lyman Cooley as yell leader.

Y. W. C. A. LUNCHEON TODAY
Members of the council, cabinet and advisory board of the University Y. W. C. A. will meet at the Anchorage for lunch today, at which time Dr. H. L. Bowman, of Portland, will make an address. Those attending the luncheon are asked to go immediately to the Anchorage from the assembly.
