

OREGONAS TO BE GIVEN OUT FROM BOOTHS THURSDAY

Manager to Circulate Books From Windows 14 and 15 of Ad Building

PRICE LOWER THIS YEAR

Extra Copies Will be on Hand for Those not Having Placed Orders

Evidence that another year in the life of the University and its students has rolled by, and is now history, is presented by the announcement of Velma Farnham, editor of the 1923 Oregona, that that book will be ready for student distribution Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The polls of distribution will be windows 14 and 15 on the second floor of the Administration building.

"We have tried faithfully," was the message Miss Farnham gave to the student body on behalf of the staff, "to typify Oregon life of the past year, and to crystallize in a permanent, valuable, historical form, events which will be nearest and dearest to the hearts of the present generation of students when they remember those days at Oregon." The entire staff has worked hard and without any let-up whatsoever on the book, but the pleasure of the work has made us forget the hard grind. I am grateful to the students of the University for giving me the privilege of editing such a book as this, and I now turn my work back to them, hoping that it will be in every way satisfactory."

Cost is Less
The cost of this year's Oregona according to Miss Farnham will be $4.50. This is 25 cents lower than last year's edition of the book, and the difference is attributed to the fact that this year's volume "got the breaks" in better contracts and labor conditions. According to Miss Farnham the Oregona has been self-supporting for the past three years and each year has been slightly less expensive than the previous year.

A few extra copies of the Oregona will be held for sale at the distribution offices for those who were unable to turn in regular orders in advance. As a celebration of the completion of their work, the staff of the book, together with two past editors, the editor-elect, and invited guests of the campus, gave a dinner dance at the Anchorage, a week before the release of the volume to the general campus. A feature of the party which has come to be an annual affair, was a large cake baked in the form of a large book, the top being composed of a replica of the cover of the present edition of the year book.

EMPLOYEES TO FORM TEAM

Those on University Payroll to Enter Independent Baseball League

The U. of O. employees intend to a baseball team in an independent league to be formed in Eugene. There are five other teams in the league besides the University team and although it was the desire of the University squad to gain admission to the twilight league of Eugene, this league already had its full quota of teams and it was found necessary to form another. At the end of the season, the winners in each league will play, the winners of the other for the championship title.

Anyone connected with the University with the exception of paid athletes, is extended an invitation to try out for the team. First practice will be held tonight at 5 o'clock.

Doom of Fraternities Sensed by Editor of Denunciatory Sheet

"The fellow who can talk easily, dress well and make good with the girls is not infrequently considered more desirable than one who has intellectual ambitions and sterling moral qualities, but who is less characterized by social finesse."

"It seems that fraternities do have ideals, but in order to be a good fellow and a popular member one must necessarily violate them one and all."

Thus reads an eight by five-inch yellow pamphlet that is being left on the threshold of the men's letter organizations. The booklet informs the members of the passing of fraternities and accuses the Greek letter organizations, in denunciatory language, of improprieties, of immoralities, and failure to fulfill the high ideals of university life.

MEMORY LAPSES HIT PROFESSORS

Students Not Only Ones to Err in Checks

Shades of a no-fund check!—or the tale of an offender, who wasn't a student.

A University of Oregon professor, who is also on the lists as a student for the payment of registration fees, walked into the registrar's office not long ago and asked for a "Captial National bank check." On being told that there was no such bank in Eugene, he said, "Well, name over all the banks and perhaps I can remember the name of the one I have my money in."

The sequel to this little tale is not yet forthcoming. For the sake of the honor of the University, it is to be hoped he wrote a check on the right bank. Otherwise—well, murder will out!

And, sad to relate, he is not the only absent minded professor on the campus, for not long ago a check was received at the registrar's office on which the figures 98c were written; but underneath, the professor had written "Ninety-eight dollars."

It would therefore seem that educational folders for the faculty would not be out of place.

NEXT GUILD HALL PLAY IS HILARIOUS COMEDY

"The Great Broxopp" to be Given May 25, 26 and 27

"The Great Broxopp," with Kate Pinnone, Vern Fudge, Elizabeth Robinson, and David Swanson in the leading roles, and a selected group supporting them, will be produced by the University Company three nights, beginning the 25th of this month.

An English comedy, subtle, amusing, full of clever situations, it will probably be one of the funniest plays attempted by the players. It is unusual also in the fact that there are four leads of equal importance. The whole thing is well-rounded technically, and not at all lacking in character delineation.

Broxopp, the real hero of the play, is a very sincere, frank old fellow who has a gift for thinking of euphonious selling slogans, and is as proud of his brain children as if they were new versions of "Paradise Lost." He gets on well as long as his adoring wife continues to think his slogans as wonderful as she thinks him. But when his son has finally grown, gone to Eton and Oxford, fallen in love, and has become sensitive about "Broxopp's Beans for Babies" ad which contains his baby picture, the genial old Broxopp is disturbed.

How he goes about undoing the unwelcome publicity which his son has received at his hands, and how he discovers happiness in the end is a long story on which the plot hinges.

There is one character in the play who is a real treat and that is Iris, the son's fiancée. She is an honest girl, and that is quite a phenomenon. Incidentally she is a joy to old Broxopp's heart. She has a sense of humor that is delicious and it saves many situations.

The whole play attains the high standards set by Guild hall for itself in the past year and speaks well for the Company which is attempting it.

HALE TO SPEAK IN PORTLAND

Dean William G. Hale will address the senior class of Lincoln high school in Portland June 11. His talk will be on the University and what is offered in the different departments. The memorial address at Silverton will also be given by Dean Hale on May 30.

Service in Memorial Day Ceremonies Will Be Optional with Men

About 70 per cent of the men taking R. O. T. C. drill have put in their required number of hours and are through with the work for the year, says Colonel Sinclair. After drill next Tuesday the military work will be practically suspended, although there will still be a few men who will have hours to make up. Many men took advantage of the opportunity before the inspection last month and attended the extra periods scheduled, for which they received credit.

The R. O. T. C. band has been asked by the American Legion to supply music for the Memorial day services. Plans for the day are not mature yet, and it has not been decided whether the cadets will turn out for the parade. If they are needed by the patriotic organization in charge, it will be up to the men to decide whether to respond, Colonel Sinclair states.

ATHLETES FINISH LAST TRYOUT FOR O.A.C. TRACK MEET

Final Preparations for Junior Week-end Contest with Aggies Are Made

FIELD MEN ARE SELECTED

Chosen Officials Are Asked to Report Thursday to Get Their Instructions

Preparations for the premier athletic event of Junior Week-end, the Oregon-O. A. C. track and field meet scheduled for Friday afternoon, were practically completed, yesterday when Bill Hayward ran his athletes through the final tryouts to decide who will represent the Lemon-Yellow. Officials for the big dual affair were also selected.

In order to get the officials acquainted with their duties during the Friday competition, Bill has asked that they all report on Hayward field by 4:30 Thursday afternoon for final instructions. The veteran coach is particularly desirous that every one report so that each official will be fully informed as to the part he is to play, thus insuring that the meet will be run off in fast time with no hitches in the proceedings.

Track Men Are Picked

As a result of yesterday's tryouts the men who will wear Oregon's colors were picked in every event except the javelin throw. These will be selected either today or tomorrow. The varsity representatives and their events are as follows: 100-yard dash—Larson, Oberteuffer and either Rockhey or Breaker. 220-yard dash—Larson, Oberteuffer, Lucas, Hardenberg. 440—Risley, Rosebraugh, Hardenberg. Half-mile—Kays, Peltier, Burton. Mile run—Curry, Beattie, Humphrey. Two-mile—Keopp, Whitcomb, Winther. High hurdles—McKinney, Hunt, Bowles. Low hurdles—McKinney, Hunt, Bowles. High jump—Spearow and Stivers. Broad jump—Spearow, Bowles, Stivers. Pole vault—Spearow, Phillips, Bowman.

Shot-put—Starr, Byler, Johnson. Relay—Risley, Rosebraugh, Hardenberg, Lucas. Although no tryouts were held for the javelin event this will probably be taken care of by Cappell, Byler and Starr.

No records were broken in the tryouts but the showing as a whole indicated that the Aggies will have stiff competition Friday, especially in the sprints and the jumps.

Officials Are Chosen

The officials who have been selected for the meet and whom Bill is anxious to have report on Hayward field tomorrow are as follows: Referee—T. Morris Dunne of Multnomah Club. Honorary referee—Colin V. Dymont. Inspectors—J. A. Murray, J. D. Howe, and W. F. G. Thacher. Scorers—Victor Bradeson and Paul Schultz. Clerk of the course—Leith Abbott. Announcers—Haddon Rockhey and Dick Sundeleaf.

Marshals—George King, George Bohler and Shy Huntington. Physician—Dr. W. K. Livingston. Press Steward—Ep Hoyt. Starter—George W. Philbrook. Judges of the finish—W. D. Smith, E. Hodge, Hank Foster, Jack Benefiel, R. Rutherford, Glen Walkley. Timers—Dean Bovard, Harry Scott, Gerald Barnes. Field judges—L. Dunsmore, Rud Brown, Ed Edmonds, Hal Chapman, Tiny Shields.

RUSSIAN COLLEGE LIFE STORMY

Declares American Observer

What would you think of a University which did not educate its students along the lines of the chief problems of the country to which it was native? What is the use of an education which does not really educate along vital lines, and which is restricted and hampered at every step? Such is the sorry tale told of the Russian colleges by George M. Day, secretary of the Pacific Coast Division of the Student Christian Foreign Friendship movement of the Y. M. C. A., who is visiting on the campus until Thursday morning. Mr. Day was in Russia from 1909 until 1917, and during this time he attended the University of Petrograd as an "auditor" student.

The career of the Russian University life under the czarist regime, under the more moderate Kerensky rule, and under the earlier and later stages of the soviet government has been stormy, to say the least. Fought by the church, suppressed by the government police, under despotism, the student class in Russia was again

Once again Junior Week-end is here. Tomorrow afternoon at 4:00 o'clock a tennis meet between the Oregon frosh and Salem high school opens the busiest week-end of the year for Oregon students. Hundreds of "preppers" from all parts of the northwest will begin coming in tomorrow noon and by Friday noon every living organization on the campus will be full to the doorways with wide awake youngsters "anxious to see Oregon."

Reports at last night's meeting of the directorate indicate that plans are well in hand. Heavy demands on Juniors' time will be made all week-end and Doug Farrell, chairman of the committee, urges that members of the class of '24 remember this in making their plans for the next few days.

Junior Meeting Tonight

Tonight at 5 o'clock a Junior class meeting has been called by Jimmie Meek, president of the class, for the purpose of outlining the work which the juniors must do to make the week-end a success. "It is absolutely imperative that every Junior be there in order that this year's Junior Week-end be absolutely a number one," he said last night. Committees for the coming class elections will be appointed tonight and a short discussion of a possible Junior dance is also scheduled on the class meeting program.

Knut Dignerness, Frank Dorman, Jean Du Paul, Vincent Engeldinger, Alfred Erickson, Arthur Everett, Cecil Fargher, Henry Foster, Donald Fraser, and Armand Fuchs have been drafted for work on the blachers at 3:15 this afternoon. Practically every member of the junior class will be needed either at the armory or on the bleachers is the edict the class officials announced last night.

New Event Scheduled

The newest Junior Week-end event, the water carnival, has included on its program a 50-yard dash between the frosh and the varsity; class canoe races (men and women); spring board and high diving; tub race; girls 50 yard race; back stroke race; tilting contest; novelty canoe race; and relay race. Lyle Palmer is chairman on this feature, which is scheduled for 10:30 Saturday morning. It promises to be one of the most interesting parts of the entire program as some of the best swimmers in the state are slated to take part.

Tickets are now on sale for the canoe fete and the prom. Every "prepper" is expected to register at the Ad building soon after his arrival. At that time each will be required to pay 25c for his seat. Tickets are on sale for the prom will be required to pay 25c for their seats. Tickets are on sale for

U. OF CAL'S GLEE-MEN STOP OVER IN EUGENE

Club Entertains Chi Omegas with Songs and Dance

The University of California's Men's Glee club, composed of 19 members and a manager, David Forrest, stopped in Eugene Monday afternoon and evening on their way north where they are giving concerts. The Glee club has toured all of California giving concerts and is playing in Corvallis and Portland, going north to Seattle and will spend two days in Vancouver, B. C., before returning to Eugene May 26. Manager Forrest stated that the club would endeavor to make arrangements to stop in Eugene on its return trip and give either a concert at the Heilig Theatre or a dance and cabaret at the New Armory. All members of the club play one or two instruments in addition to being fine singers.

The members of the club were guests during the evening at the Chi Omega house where they put on their vaudeville stunts, including singing and dancing by different men in the club. According to the Chi Omegas the club has an unusually high type of program and the personnel is composed of men with well trained voices that blend splendidly. During the evening an informal dance took place at the chapter house. The music was furnished by the California orchestra. The entire club will be guests at dinner at the Chi Omega house on their return here.

After returning from their northern tour the club is going east and will sail for Europe where they will tour during the summer appearing in concerts in many European cities. Last year the Glee club visited the Orient where they had a successful trip.

The Californians visited the Oregon campus yesterday afternoon and they expressed themselves as being very much impressed with the campus, its beauty and especially the good spirit and atmosphere of campus life.

SMOOTH WORKING COUGAR MACHINE OUTHITS VARSITY

Washington State Nine Romps Off With Second Game by Scoring 10 Runs to 4

SORSBY HITS LONG HOMER

Heavy Swatting of Northerners Proves Nemesis of Oregon in Later Innings

Timely hitting, fast fielding, and Oregon errors enabled the hard hitting Cougars to claw down the varsity colors for the second time, taking yesterday's ball game by a 10 to 4 score and making it two straight for the series. Every man on the Washington team except Beneke and Sandberg got at least one hit and all except Beneke succeeded in crossing the plate at least once. Sorsby and Svarverud were the big guns in the Oregon offensive, each connecting twice in four trips to the platter. One of Sorsby's blows sailed over the center fielder's head and allowed the little fellow to make the trip around the bags, unmoled.

For the first two innings, Shields had the Northerners eating out of his hand, and when, in the last half of the second, the locals cracked out three safeties for two runs, it looked like an Oregon day. Their lead was short lived, however, for in the very next canto the Staters opened fire and Oregon blew up, and when they came back to earth, three Cougars had romped safely across the rubber.

In their half of the inning, the varsity stickers responded nobly to the plea of the bleacherites and chased in another score, evening the count. The score was made as a result of Sorsby's single, Collin's sacrifice, and an error on the part of the Cougar third sacker. The visitors came back in the first of the fourth and annexed two more runs and from then on they were never headed. The big sticks of Foster, Roberts, Hanley and Bray were responsible for the counters.

Homer Is Spoiled

Washington added two more in the sixth when Johnny Zaepfel pushed one of Tiny's fast ones out half way to the school of education building for three bags. The clout would have easily gone for a homer had it not hit one of the cars parked out in the outer garden. A sharp single by Roberts scored Zaepfel and a single by Cook, after Bray had walked, scored Roberts.

Applequist's men were not content with this lead, however, and in the seventh they chased another run across. In the ninth, they took advantage of the varsity errors and another pair of runs scammed home. Oregon's fourth and last tally came in the eighth when Bill Sorsby collected his four-ply swat.

Washington State left this morning for Corvallis where they will play a two-game series with the Aggies. The

MRS. GIFFEN GOING TO OHIO

Mrs. Bruce J. Giffen, wife of the student pastor, leaves today for Oxford, Ohio, to attend the commencement exercises at Western college there to be held June 6, when she will receive her B. A. degree. Mrs. Giffen attended Western College before her marriage, but has finished her work for her degree while here at the University of Oregon. Mrs. Giffen expects to be away about two months, planning to visit her old home at Hebron, Indiana, after commencement.
