WOMEN'S TEAM TO MEET U. OF C. CO-EDS TONIGHT

Forensic Schedule for Year Will be Ended; Audience to Act as Judges

RUHR SITUATION QUESTION

May Fenno, Lurline Coulter to Represent Oregon; House Canvass Planned

Tonight when the University of California women's negative debate team contends with the Oregon women's affirmative, every University student and all others interested in the event will have the opportunity to vote for the team which they consider has put up the best arguments. The debate is scheduled for 8:30 p. m., in Guild hall and the subject for argument will be "Resolved that France was Justified in her Occupation of the Ruhr."

The contest will be the last one of the year for both the men's and women's Varsity debate teams. In order to stir up campus interest over the event, a group of students enrolled in the public speaking department will organize a "Flying Squadron" and will visit the houses on the campus during the lunch hour today.

The question of the Ruhr situation is one that has been in the minds of all world thinkers, and there is a great feeling among those giving the subject deep thought that much of Europe's history for the next 50 years or so will depend on the outcome of the occupation. It is unquestionably accepted by many world leaders that the invasion of the Ruhr will decide who really won or lost the great war.

Three Debaters Come

The California team will be composed of Marion Harrison and Violet Lercara with Juana Allraam as alternative. All three debaters are rated by critics as being capable of putting up a good argument. California, through the inspiration of Arnold Perstein, her forensic coach, has been the leader in progressive debate on the coast this year. The institution has gone into debate more for debate's sake, disregarding the object of winning or losing. The audience-decision plan which will be used tonight is only one of the progressive steps taken by California to place forensic activities on a better footing. Berkeley has used the no-judge system with success for some time.

Lurline Coulter and May Fenno, Oregon's two most experienced women speakers, will uphold the affirmative side of the question tonight. The debate tonight will be the last contest in which Miss Fenno will compete for the Varsity debating squad for two years. At the debate held at Seattle the first part of the term, in which Miss Fenno participated, Washington critics declared that she was the best woman debater Washington had heard speak, and was the most eloquent individual speaker on the platform that night.

Spirited Contest Expected

Miss Coulter has been a member of the Varsity squad for three years, and as a result of holding the position for that length of time will be given the debate shield this year, which is awarded to those women who have taken active part in debate work for three years. Forensic critics say that both women go into the debates as if for enjoyment and will give a spirited contest tonight as they are both good talkers. Walter C. Barnes will act as chairman and Joanna James will sing a solo.

Preceding the California-Oregon women's contest, the high school debate finals of the state will be staged. Astoria and Pendleton will be represented. Both high schools won all the preliminary debates in the state league. The question to be contested will be "Resolved that the United States should adopt a Policy of Ship Subsidies." A. C. Strange of Astoria will act as chairman, while Dean E. C. Robbins of the University school of business administration, Prof. C. D. Thorpe of the public speaking department, and Robert Prescott, former debate coach of the University, will act as judges.

Debate Title is Up

The event is a part of the Junior Week-end program and the school winning the debate will hold the state championship debate title for the coming year. Astoria will have the affirmative and Pendleton the negative side of the question.

VISITORS MAY GET ZEROS

Several students from one of the state high school will be unable to attend Junior Week-end festivities here as a result of a faculty ruling that all students who attend either O. A. C. or Oregon Junior Week-ends will be given zeros for their absences.

SENIOR COPS TO RULE ON FRIDAY

Oregon Traditions to Be Guarded Well

Don your old clothes Friday morning, for the Senior Cops will be parading on the job to see that you do. It is the solemn duty of this august group to cooperate with Junior Week-End officials in seeing that every tradition is upheld, and that all things go as they should. These warriors of '23 garbed in their corduroys, their big scarves, and their batting sticks in hand, and with their bright silver stars glistening are going to officiate at the Frosh-Soph tug-o-war, and at the burning of the green. They also warn would-be tradition breakers that the Senior fountain is all in readiness and they the Senior Cops are in readiness to officiate there.

Arrangements have been to reserve a special section of the bleachers at the ball diamond for these seniors when they parade out to see the ball game. Let it be known also that no one but a Senior is to appear on the campus with a mustache. If any one else does appear with a mustache, it is said he had better scramble off the campus. Last but not least, the final warning is that the Senior Cops are to be first in line at the Campus Luncheon.

JUSTICE ADMINISTRATION TO BE ASSEMBLY TOPIC

Dean Hale of University Law School Will Lecture

"The Administration of Justice," is the topic which W. G. Hale, dean of the School of Law has chosen for his address at Assembly in Villard Hall this morning. Dean Hale is recognized as one of the best speakers among the University faculty members and this is the first opportunity that all students on the campus have had to hear him for some time.

A violin solo by Gwendolyn Lampshire, of the School of Music, will open the assembly and an invocation will be given by Reverend W. H. L. Marshall of the Congregational Church of Eugene. Following this, Dean Hale will speak to the students on the question of what, in his opinion, should be the public attitude toward the administration of justice and he will point out the responsibility of the administrators to the public as he sees it. With his years of experience as an instructor in jurisprudence and after continual contact with actual court proceedings during his career as a lawyer and professor, Dean Hale is well fitted to deal with his subject.

In his discussion he expects to repeat several points made in the recent address on the campus by President E. O. Holland, of Washington State College on the "Majesty of the Law." Those who heard Dr. Holland will therefore be interested to hear wherein Dean Hale disagrees with his contemporary and in any case his audience may expect a clear and thorough discussion of the duty of the public in upholding the administration as well as a lecture on the judicial aspects of the law.

Dean Hale has held his present position at the head of the law school for three years. He is a native Oregonian and has practiced for five years in Portland since his graduation from Harvard Law School. Previous to coming to the University, he had ten years training as a professor of law in that department of the University of Illinois. He claims Oregon as his home, however, and is a member of an old pioneer family of this state.

CONTEST TIME EXTENDED

June 30 is Final Date for Handing in Copy for Laemmle Scenario Prize

The time limit for the Laemmle National-Wide Scenario contest has been extended from May 15 to June 30, 1923. The contest is open to all college and university students. A $1000 scholarship is to be given to the student submitting the best scenario, besides $1000 to be given to the institution at which the winner is a student. In addition to the scholarship and the sum given to the college, not less than $500 will be paid for the prize-winning scenario and any others which may be accepted.

All scenarios are to be written in short story form. W. F. G. Thacher of the school of journalism has all the particulars concerning the contest.

SENIOR COPS

All men of the glorious class of 1923 are asked to report at the Senior Bench promptly at 8 o'clock on the morning of Friday the 18th before the tug of war. Dust off the star, put on your sombrero, grab a paddle and your six-shooter and come prepared to mete out justice on this our last stand for the honor of Oregon's traditions. Be there, Senior.

TEAM READY FOR OREGON-O. A. C. DUAL TRACK MEET

Arrangements Almost Made; Staff Joints May Hinder Varsity's Chances

AGGIE SQUAD IS LARGE

Total of 34 Men in Lists of the Opponents; Three Will Enter Each Event

With preliminary arrangements practically completed and indications of sunshine and fair weather, everything is in readiness for the crack of the starter's pistol for the annual Oregon-O. A. C. dual track meet on Hayward field tomorrow afternoon. Outside of several staff joints among some of Bill Hayward's quarter-milers, the men who will tote the lemon-yellow are in good shape.

Hardenburg, Risley and Rosebraugh are the speedsters whose fleet legs are not in the best of condition. These three men were injured slightly by running when the track was hard and dry. The cinders were thoroughly sprinkled Wednesday night with a large fire hose, however, which has made it easier on the runners. Oregon's showing tomorrow hinges a good deal upon whether these three men are back in shape.

The rest of the squad that will contend with the Aggies are reported to be in good condition and ready to put out the best that is in them.

Bill Not Optimistic

On the whole, however, the dope is none too favorable for a Lemon-Yellow victory, and Hayward is far from optimistic concerning his proteges' chances. According to the veteran mentor the Varsity is weak in the hurdles, the javelin, the half-mile and the relay, all events in which Dad Butler's proteges are decidedly strong. "We have an even chance to capture the field events, the sprints, the mile and the two mile," said Bill yesterday, "although we are lacking in consistent second and third men. Our relay team has been hard hit by the failure of Covalt to turn out since the Washington Relays last month and this necessitated a complete change of plans. But there is always a chance of the unexpected occurring."

The lack of good second and third place men has been the Waterloo of Oregon track teams for several years past. Last year the Lemon-Yellow took seven first places against the Aggie five but lost the meet through failure to capture a sufficient number of second and third places.

New Men Important

In 1921 it was the same story. Oregon's chances tomorrow apparently hinge on the performances of the new men in the hurdles, the javelin, and the half mile, as well as the showing in the lettermen in the field events. Ralph Spearow, high point winner—in most of the Varsity meets last year has been topping the bar at 13 feet several nights lately and doing the jumps with good marks so that he is expected to capture a goodly share of points. Captain Ole Larson and Oberteuffer, the Varsity speedsters, will make the Aggie sprinters go the limit to win and both can be counted on for several markers. Others whose calibre is known are Koepf in the two-mile, Peltier and Kays in the half, Rosebraugh, Risley, Hardenburg and Lucas in the 440 and 220. The rest of the squad, with the exception of Bowles in the broad jump and Phillips in the pole vault, are practically all "dark horses" and just how they will perform is a conjecture.

Aggie Lists Long

Certainly it seems that the Aggies have no lack of material this year.

1923 OREGANA OUT TODAY

New Year Book to be Distributed from Registration Windows at 10 a. m.

"The biggest and best" Oregana ever published will appear on the campus tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock according to the business management. "Come early so you can be at the head of the line" is the word which the managers wish to put over to the waiting multitude.

Checks should be made out to the "1923 Oregana" and where a previous deposit of $2.50 has been paid, a $2.00 check will entitle the bearer to the year-book. No n. s. f. communications accepted. The windows in the registrar's office where class dues are paid, will be opened for the distribution.

There are around 75 checks which have not been signed for, according to Jason McCune, business manager of the publication, and these will be given out to the earliest comers.

Oregon Prepares to Greet State High School Guests

Class of '24 Labors Diligently to Complete Plans for Friday and Saturday; Canoe Fete Entries Announced

Hundreds of enthusiastic juniors armed with hammers, pliers or loaded with bright ideas for Oregon's greatest Junior Week-end are at work today on the bleachers, at the armory or the campus getting things in shape to greet the "prepper" crew that is soon to begin its invasion of Eugene.

Every living organization on the campus has from 10 to 50 guests coming and between building canoe fete floats, assisting with the general Junior Week-end plans, getting houses in shape for visitors, Oregon students are probably the busiest group of people in the state today.

Every guest is to be registered. A booth will be opened in the Ad building this afternoon with Pat Ireland in charge. "Prepper" tickets will be issued to those signing the guest book. Organizations are warned that unless their charges are signed up and given tickets they will have to pay for them at the various events of the week-end.

Although it is imperative that all juniors put in every spare hour possible on the armory today, beginning at 10 o'clock, the following names have been drawn to appear without fail: Wilson Gaily, George Gardiner, Edwyn Garfinkle, Richard Ginn, Jean Goodrich, Maurice Gourley, Maurice Graff, Prentiss Gross, Harold Grunland, Michael Hager, Elmer Hardenburgh, Ray Harlan, John Hilary, Verden Hockett, Harold Holdman, William Hopkins, George Horsfall, Ivan Houston, Clinton Howard, Frederick Howard, Donald Huntress, David Husted, Clarence Irwin, Ted Jones, Lyle Janz, Carl Jaquet, Frank Johnson, William Johnson, Terry Johnson, Ward Johnson, Fred Junkin, Harold Karo, Andrew Karpenstein, Henry Karpenstein, Ed Koelar, Charles Kenyon, T. Kurasinge, Bob Lane, Darrell Larsen, Hunk Latham, Fook Tai Lau,

OREGON KNIGHTS WILL MEET PREPPERS' TRAINS

Members to Meet Tonight for Final Instructions

The Oregon Knights are prepared to be on hand throughout Junior Week-end to serve in any capacity in which they may be needed, according to Ed Taffer, head of the organization. The Knights have planned a busy program, assisting the junior class committees in a number of ways to handle the large number of preppers who will be on the campus over the week-end. They are planning to meet incoming trains during the week-end days and to see that all guests are escorted to their rooms or to the houses or halls where they are to be guests. In this way visitors not being otherwise met will be attended to.

The Knights will manage all of the ushering and sale of tickets for both the Friday and Saturday track meets and will assist at the campus luncheon. They will also serve as guides about the campus for the high school guests during their stay.

Taffer has called an important meeting of the entire organization tonight at 7:30 on the third floor of the Woman's building and it is urgent that all members be on hand, according to his announcement yesterday.

The following committees have been named to meet the trains and to usher and sell tickets at the track meets:

SPEAKING CONTEST OPEN TO ALL LAW STUDENTS

Four Men Have Signified Intention of Participating in Hilton Competition Thursday at 3:30

The Frank H. Hilton speaking contest open to all students in the law school, is to be held on Thursday afternoon in the school of law, at 3:30 o'clock.

Four students, who have signified their intention of trying out for the prize which is offered the winner of this contest, are Howard T. McCulloch, Ralph S. McClaffin, Gladys Everett and M. E. Dickey.

The question which will be discussed will be what students, if any, should be entitled to vote for Eugene county and city officers at the annual elections. This question, though not of great importance here in Eugene, was much discussed in Illinois at the time of Dean Hale's residence there.

Mr. Hilton is a Stanford graduate, and is very much interested in the University of Oregon and the high standards of legal education given here. He therefore took this opportunity of offering University students a worth while try-out. Mr. Hilton is a resident of Portland at present and will be on the campus Thursday to witness the contest. On Thursday morning he will speak to all students of law in the Comtree building at 10:30.

Judges for the contest will be G. F. Skipworth, O. H. Foster and Charles M. Stevens of Eugene.

MUTUAL AID IS TERMED FOREIGN STUDENT NEED

Cosmopolitan Clubs are Study of Visiting Secretary

Mutual education should be the motive back of any student organization affecting foreign students, is the belief of George M. Day, Pacific coast secretary of the committee on friendly relations among foreign students, who is on the campus this week. Mr. Day is here to interest students, particularly those from foreign countries in attending the student conference at Seabeck, Washington, June 15 to 25.

The friendly relations committee is a national organization with secretaries in all sections of the country. Mr. Day, as secretary for the Pacific coast, has his headquarters at Berkeley, California.

"The big problem for any one interested in friendly relations with foreign students in our American institutions," said Mr. Day, "is to arouse American students and show them that they have splendid interpreters of foreign countries right in their midst. American students are too much absorbed in their own little world. They are slow to take on cosmopolitan viewpoints."

"Our relations with these students ought to be a fifty-fifty proposition. Every foreign student ought to be matched with a friendly American. One of our great mistakes," Mr. Day continued, "is to help the boys from across the waters as though our acts were acts of charity. They resent this, and rightfully so. We should give them the idea that we have something to learn from them as well as something to give them."

Mr. Day was also of the opinion that foreign students had their part to play. "Foreign students should try to understand all of American life," he said, "stressing the word 'all.' Students that make their daily rounds between classrooms, the library and the clubhouse, go back to their respective countries with only a partial and distorted idea of the American people."

Considerable interest was shown by Mr. Day in cosmopolitan clubs and their ideals. Having had a great deal of experience with clubs in various parts of the country, he was asked by the president of the local organization to appear before the executive board and consult with its members on cosmopolitanism.

"Special emphasis should be laid on the motto of your club," he said. "Above all nations is humanity" should be constantly before you."

Mr. Day offered several reasons why a cosmopolitan club at the University of Oregon ought to be a success. "The school is not unwieldy," he said. "The friendly spirit that exists on the campus in the student body and between students and faculty, is conducive to working up friendly relations with foreign students and making a club with international ideas and ideals a vital factor in student life." The community spirit in a town the size of Eugene and the personal work of Mrs. Charlotte Donnelly at the campus "Y" were also mentioned by Mr. Day as assets in work along this line.

The most nearly ideal cosmopolitan club in the west, in Mr. Day's opinion is the one at Romona College, California. At the University of California there is considerable talk about the possibilities of constructing a club-house in the near future. This Mr. Day believes would be practicable, since they have more than 500 foreign students in attendance.

AGGIE NINE WILL VIE WITH VARSITY IN SERIES OPENER

Game Tomorrow with O. A. C. to Start off Junior Week-end Schedule of Sports

TILTS AT CORVALLIS CLOSE

Beavers Come After Playing Twice against W. S. C.; Coleman is Coach

Junior Week-end will open tomorrow morning at 10:00 o'clock as far as Varsity athletics are concerned, when the O. A. C. nine tangles bats with the Varsity on Cemetery Ridge. The Aggies succeeded in annexing a pair of victories over the local swatters when the two teams met on the Corvallis diamond, and Coach Bohler's proteges are out to even up the series.

It must be remembered that Coleman's crew was barely able to defeat the Varsity in the first contest by a 1 to 0 score and then they drove in the lone tally in the last half of the ninth inning. Tiny Shields held the Corvallis lads scoreless for eight innings and the big boy should be able to duplicate his performance on the home grounds, should he draw the hurling assignment. Shields let the Aggie batsmen down with four hits but at the same time, Young, the Corvallis hurler, allowed but four scattered bingles to the Varsity stickers.

Brooks Shows Well

"Skipper" Brooks, in his two home appearances on the mound, has shown a world of stuff and if he keeps up the present gait, he bids fair to develop into a slabster of real ability. To offset this, however, "Lefty" Baldwin is not delivering the goods in his usual style and of late has been rather wild and ineffective in the pinches.

Tomorrow's game will make the third consecutive game that the Beavers have been in action, for they played Washington State both yesterday and today. Those who saw the Cougars in action on the local diamond can testify that they are not a team that would allow the opponents to get much rest at their expense. There is no gainsaying the fact that the Ags, under the coaching of Ralph Coleman, have put a strong nine in the field this year but the two Aggie victories were hung on their home lot and Bohler's men were playing their first game on the road.

Pitchers May Be Tired

It is probable that either Young or Woodward will perform on the mound for the visitors in tomorrow's battle and as both of these men are reputed to be good reliable pitchers and, unless they are tired out by the Washingtonians, the Oregon sluggers will have their job picked for them.

Thus far, Oregon has a slight edge over the Aggies in athletics for the year, having triumphed over the Orange and Black cohorts on the gridiron last fall and taking an even break with them on the basketball court. The Beavers have taken the lead in baseball and the yearly status of the two school in athletics will be known after this series is run off and the results of the cinder path tourney are made known.

FROSH TENNIS TEAM MEETS SALEM TODAY

Three Men to be Picked from Four Competing for Contest; Van Waters Former Champion

The first event of the Junior Week-end schedule will be run off this afternoon when the freshman tennis team meets Salem High school team on the varsity tennis courts.

The freshman team will be composed of three men selected from the four who have won equal standing in the elimination tournament that has been played since the beginning of the spring term. The men standing highest on the list and who will probably play Thursday afternoon are: Ralph Van Waters, Ed Stevens, Eugene Slattery and Ken Parelius. These four men are the survivors of the elimination tournament conducted by Gerald Barnes who is handling freshmen tennis this year. At the beginning of the tournament fourteen men were playing. The men have shown decided improvement and are expected to show up well in the tournament.

The Freshman team is composed of some capable tennis players. Van Waters was interscholastic tennis champion in Los Angeles. Parelius played for Lincoln High school in Portland in high school meets. Stevens and Slattery are also good men and have shown up well in the tryouts.
