SUCCESS IS LIFE FAITHFULLY LIVED SAYS E. B. PIPER

Editor of Oregonian Declares an Absorbing Interest in Profession Needed

BELIEF IN WORK IS URGED
Ramah Iler Given Scholarship at Assembly; Glee Club Member Sings

"Success, for you or for me, is a useful life faithfully lived," was the definition given by E. B. Piper, editor of the Portland Oregonian, in an address before the associated students yesterday in Villard hall.

"It is not itself either an achievement or a fact," continued the speaker. "Success is a method of living so pursued that it brings to the one who practices it, comfort, happiness, convenience; all growing out of the performance of a duty faithfully done."

"The prescriptions for success are pretty much the same: industry, adequacy, thrift, honesty, competency, and a measure of ability. But all those taken into consideration, the thing that I think is the greatest element necessary for success is a most absolute and compelling interest in the work one sets out to do."

"You must desire to excel in the profession you have chosen, and you must have that desire because you are interested in that thing," emphatically declared the editor.

Professional Ideals Shown

Mr. Piper has himself shown this powerful interest in his profession. The sincerity of his words ring with experience. He has spent 45 years in various kinds of newspaper work, having commenced his professional duties at the age of 13 in the office of the States Rights Democrat. And that that element has played a part in his success is evident in the dynamic force of his personality, is expressed in the energy and enthusiasm of his being.

"There never was a lawyer, a doctor, or a preacher who achieved success unless all his life he lived the thing, the occupation which he was going to fill," declared the speaker. "I never knew a man who was successful who was lazy, indifferent, hoity-toity or apologetic about his profession. The man that doesn't believe in his work, who doesn't live his profession and practice it, isn't worthy of much consideration and he doesn't get it."

Public Service Praised

The conspicuous successes are those persons who have impressed the world with their merit and valor including great patriots, executives, chemists, inventors and others who have been noted for great public service, the speaker pointed out.

"But success for you and for me," he repeated, "is a useful life faithfully lived. That is all there is to it and the whole of it. I should say that you will be a success if after you leave this institution you go to your homes, follow your respective professions, marry, rear families, learn a little every day, both in charity and knowledge, give your contribution, however small it may be, to the world, and thus keep the love of your family, and the respect of your neighbors and of your state."

Oregonian Service Mentioned

For the past 14 years he has been editor of one of the first dailies established in the western country, a daily which is recognized favorably in the east as well as the west.

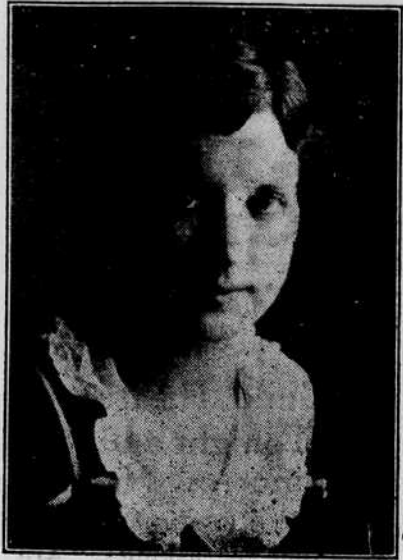

Preceding Mr. Piper's address, Miss Joanna James sang two solos, "My Destiny," by Kennedy and "The Star" by Rodgers.

In behalf of the Beta chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, women's honorary commerce fraternity, President P. L. Campbell presented the $50 scholarship to Miss Ramah Iler, who was selected as the best all around girl in the University school of business administration.

Phi Theta Kappa Elects

Phi Theta Kappa, women's commerce fraternity, yesterday pledged seven women, majors in the school of business administration. Five of those taken into the fraternity are sophomores, and the other two freshmen. Those named yesterday are: Katherine Kearns, Ellen McClellan, Louise Inabnit, Tolicie Heaston, Mary Hathaway, Mabel Armitage and Gertrude Hill.

FRESHMEN AND ROOKS ARE TO PLAY TODAY

Babes Out for Two Victories to Avenge Defeats

Some real baseball is in prospect for campus fans today when the frosh nine clashes with the Aggie rooks in the first of the final two game series between the two teams. The game is billed for Cemetery Ridge at four o'clock. A second game is scheduled for tomorrow.

Still smarting over the two defeats handed them by the Corvallis babes in the first games, the freshmen are in a determined mood and it is likely that the rooks will have a tough proposition to go up against today and tomorrow. In the contests at Corvallis the rooks won both by the narrow margin of one run, each time after the frosh had apparently thrown the game away and then staged a threatening rally that almost brought it back. Today there will be no "blow-up" says Captain "Cutie" Slade, in charge of the squad during the absence of Coach Bohler. The rest of the nine are in the same mood, which makes it appear that the babes will put up a good game.

This does not gainsay the fact that the O. A. C. freshmen have a strong nine. The rooks are a hard bunch to beat and it is likely that they are just as determined as the frosh to cop these last two games and make it four straight. Reports are that they have yet to lose a game this year. "Big Six" and Coleman, the latter a brother of Ralph Coleman, O. A. C.'s baseball coach, are their best bets in the box. Both are big right handers with lots of smoke. Each went well on the mound in their two previous appearances against the freshmen and they are likely to twirl in the games here.

For the frosh, Fred Harrison is likely to draw the pitching assignment today with Lefty Carson bearing the burden tomorrow. The rest of the lineup will be: Bliss, catcher; Scriptures, first base; Bittner, second base; Slade, short; Hobson, third; Terrill, right; Frame, left; and Carson, center. Frame the heavy hitting fielder, is not in the best of condition and may not play. If he does not start either Toole or Mills will work in left field.

EDGAR B. PIPER PAYS TRIBUTE TO UNIVERSITY

Closer Observation and Acquaintance with Students Changes His Idea of State Training Value

At the luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday noon, when he was introduced by President Campbell, Edgar B. Piper, paid a tribute to the useful work done by the University of Oregon in the training of young men and women for service to their communities and to the state.

Mr. Piper, himself a graduate of a privately endowed university, confessed to having been at one time, skeptical of the value of the training given in the state institutions. A close acquaintance with the workings of the University and other institutions of higher learning in this state, and closer observation of students, had, he said, changed his idea on the subject. The graduates of the University, he asserted were making good in positions of leadership in their communities. The statement of his friendship for the institution was greeted with an outburst of applause by the assembled business and professional men.

O. A. C. EXERCISES JUNE 4

The 54th commencement of O. A. C. graduating exercises will be held from June 1 to June 4 in Corvallis. Dr. Thomas Jefferson Villars, pastor of the White Temple in Portland, will make the baccalaureate address and Dr. Rufus Bernhard Von Kleinsmid, president of the University of Southern California, will make the graduating address.

POSTER ATTRACTS GUILD HALL FANS IN BROXOPP PLAY

Vern Fudge, as Leading Man, Ably Interprets Traits of Advertising Genius

SWANSON ACTS PART WELL
Queer Clothes, Unique Signs and Quaint Humor Add to Charm of Comedy

The curtain opening upon a curious interior scene in which "Spallow's Suspenders Suspend" on a huge advertising poster immediately caught the eye of the Guild hall fans in the first performance of Milne's three act comedy "The Great Broxopp" last night.

Modern society and business life was the theme of the play in which the Great Broxopp, an advertising genius, works his way out of poverty and makes his name famous by hitting upon the phrase, "Broxopp's Beans for Babies" in an opportune moment, applying it to an ordinary baby food, filling the country with advertising posters and finally tending the plot in a queer way by his affection for the work.

Vern Fudge played the part of the Great Broxopp, whose philosophy of life might be summed up in his most frequent quotation, "It's going there, not getting there, that counts," in an altogether amusing and charming way. The interpretation was as fine as Fudge's always are, though he has played in many more congenial parts, Kate Pinneo, also noted for her comedy parts, extremely hard to surpass in the work she has done along those lines on the campus, played the part of Nancy, the adoring wife of the Great Broxopp, whose part it was to believe in, to coach, and to worship.

Swanson Gains Prominence

Dave Swanson, looking and acting the part of an "Eton and Oxford" son, did some very fine acting as Jack, the son of the Great Broxopp who strenuously objected to having his baby portrait decorate the glaring and inartistic posters which advertised the objectionable baby food. Dave Swanson is a sophomore in the company, and has been rapidly gaining prominence in his work.

The main reason for the objections which Jack raised in regard to the baby pictures and other features of the advertising campaign put on by his father, might be found in the person of Iris, his fiancée, the role played by Elizabeth Robinson, who made a sweetheart of amazing loveliness, great charm, but more than all, a keen sense of humor and a heart that found room for old Broxopp, funny tie, queer hat, beans and all. Miss Robinson portrayed cleverly this girl who takes the tangled threads of their romance into her hands and with a word, a joke and a smile, straightens out everything.

Cast Play Parts Well

Ed Keech plays the part of the English lord who is Iris' father, and all of Guild hall rejoices to see Ed once more in a Lord part, his special talent seeming to lie in that direction. His acting ability and voice quality make him a desirable person on the stage.

Joe Clark did some clever acting in the part of Ronny, an English fop, who proves a very amusing element of the play. His work in Guild hall has always been marked by an individuality and excellence.

Star Norton as usual deserves the maximum of commendation in her role. She is perhaps the best the company has to offer when there is a character part to portray as she recently demonstrated in the part of "Effie" and again in the present part of a female reporter.

The entire cast was good, too long to comment on each one and the play itself is different, unusual and clever.

FROSH PARTY IS TONIGHT

Members of Class of '26 Will Frolic in Men's Gymnasium at 8 o'clock

The Frosh Riot, the "biggest and best" event of the year for the first year class, will be staged at 8 o'clock tonight in the Men's gymnasium. Every freshman is expected to be on hand for the party, dressed in old clothes.

Good eats are promised by the refreshment committee, and it has been stated by the same body that something besides punch will be served for the noisy rioters to drink.

Patrons and patronesses for the event are: President and Mrs. P. L. Campbell, Dean and Mrs. John Straub, Professor and Mrs. Frederick Dunn, Miss Mary Perkins, Miss Grace Edgington and Gerald Barnes. Freda Runes is general chairman of the party.

POSTURE FOLLIES GIVEN IN WOMEN'S LEAGUE MEETING

Stunts Portraying Corrected Co-eds Carriage Include Feature Song

PRIZE WINNERS ARE NAMED
Frances Habersham's Posters Depicting "Hump Family" Ranked First

Women's League mass meeting yesterday afternoon in Villard hall was given over entirely to the promotion of the posture drive now being conducted on the campus. An excellent program had been arranged by Mildred LeCompte, assisted by Lucile Brandstetter, demonstrating poor posture in every conceivable manner.

The first stunt, the "Rag Doll Posture Dance," was the story of a little girl, who had been presented with a new rag doll. The dance depicts her distress and attempts to make the doll stand up correctly, but all in vain, for at the end of the dance the doll was as "slumpy" as ever. Dorcas Conklin and Wilma Chatin were the principal characters.

"Ode to Posture" Given

Muriel Meyers and Dorothy Parker, as two extremely growsome and bony skeletons, "took off" foolish human beings, who know no better than to slouch and hump, in their skit an "Ode to Posture." "The Posture Follies," decidedly the hit of the afternoon, was a miniature fashion show, illustrating how good-looking clothes may be ruined by persons who think they look well with shoulders raised high, or back curved in, and like misplacements. Joy Johnson, in golfing outfit, Katherine Lyons in a street suit, Nan LaRoche in sport clothes, Katherine Jane Seal in an evening gown, and Isobel Stuart, Gladys Noren, and Mary Anne Hansen in stunning dinner gowns, were the "models" coming on the stage in all manner of incorrect poses, but retiring according to the rules of perfect posture. An interpretive song, with a verse describing each character, was sung by Gwladys Keeney.

Prizes are Awarded

Preceding the program, prizes for the best postures for the posture drive were announced. The first prize was won by Frances Habersham, whose group of four posters introduced the "Hump Family." Mildred LeCompte won second prize, and Esther Pike third. It was announced that a bronze plaque is to be presented to the house having the largest number of girls with perfect posture, by the gym department. Avar Fairbanks of the Art school, is now at work on the plaque.

All Women's League business was postponed until the last meeting of the term, to be held the second week of June, when the new president, Georgia Benson, will take the chair for the coming year, and all other officers will also be formally installed.

SIGMA NU FRATERNITY WILL HAVE NEW HOME

Construction of Building Will Start This Summer; Cost Estimated Is $35,000 to $40,000

Construction work on a new home for the Sigma Nu fraternity, valued at from $35,000 to $40,000 will be started this summer according to information received from the fraternity Wednesday. Lawrence and Hofard, Portland architects, are at present drawing up the plans for the building. The lot on East Eleventh Avenue, next to the Kappa Sigma house has been purchased for the site of the new home.

As the plans are not yet finished, it is not known just what style of architecture will be used, but it is probable that the house will be of the colonial type. It will be large enough to accommodate 35 men.

The fraternity recently sold the house at the corner of Eleventh and Pearl streets where it has been established since 1906. This house is old and too small for the present number of men, although it was remodeled in 1915. The organization has owned the house ever since moving into it, until about a month ago when it was sold. The fraternity will continue to occupy its present quarters until next winter, when the new building will probably be completed. One of the features of the new house is the fact that it will be considerably nearer the campus.

Sigma Nu was organized in October 1900, the first national fraternity on the Oregon campus. The national organization is one of the oldest and largest of its kind in the United States, being fourth in size with 88 chapters. It was established in 1869.

THREE GAMES PLAYED IN DO-NUT BALL SERIES

Phi Sigma Pi, Beta Theta Pi and Delta Tau Delta Win

In a very exciting game the Phi Sigma Pi ball team defeated the Kappa Delta Phi aggregation by the score of 13 to 3 Thursday afternoon on the University high school diamond. The Phi Sigma Pi's started their game with 9 runs at their first time at the bat and were able to keep far in the lead of their opponents during the entire game.

Fielding errors on the part of the losers accounted for most of Phi Sigma Pi's runs. Bullock, pitching for the losers, was hit comparatively few times but was lacking in support.

Green, who relieved Cooper in the first part of the game as a pitcher had a lot of stuff on the ball and succeeded in striking out 10 men in the game, while he was backed up in good style by Shontz, the Phi Sigma Pi catcher. The game was slow and uninteresting with few hits and many errors. The winners were superior in all parts of the game.

Beta Theta Pi team yesterday defeated the Sigma Nu nine to the tune 8-7 in an early morning game played on the Varsity field. The game was ragged and filled with errors. This makes the second victory for the Beta team with one defeat against them. The batteries were: Beta Theta Pi—Foster and Phillips; Sigma Nu—DePaul and Lawrence.

The game played at six p. m. on the Varsity diamond was won by the Delta Tau Delta team from the Alpha Beta Chi's by the score of 7-2. This game was marked with many errors and 14 hits. Gowans pitched for the winners and Farrell received. For the Alpha Beta Chi's, Martinson did the twirling and Cole caught. Gowans and Jost of the Delta team each swatted a homer.

OREGON LOSES TO W. S. C.

Washington State College, Pullman, Washington, May 24.—(Special to the Emerald)—The University of Oregon's baseball squad lost the second game of the series this afternoon to Washington State College by the score of 19 to 8. The contest was featured by the heavy hitting of the Cougar nine and by two home runs by Collins and Cook of Oregon. Brooks, pitching for Oregon, allowed a total of 15 hits, while Oregon garnered 8 hits from W. S. C.'s pitchers, Ruley and Meada.

Box Score	B	H	E
Oregon	8	8	9
W. S. C.	19	15	2

Batteries: Brooks and Cook; Ruley Meada and Bray.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Little slips of paper on which were printed the words "Extra, Extra," in the form of a miniature newspaper were the means of announcing the engagement of Beulah Wright of the Delta Zeta house to Kenneth Youel of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. These slips were distributed to the members of the houses at the dinner hour. Miss Wright is from Portland and Youel is editor of the Oregon Daily Emerald and comes from Silverton, Oregon.

PATTERSON WINS CONTEST

Paul Patterson, speaking on the subject "The Status of Liberty, Her Back to the World," last night won the Tri-State Oratorical contest, which was held at Moscow, Idaho. According to a telegram received late last night by Prof. C. D. Thorpe from the Gem state University town, University of Washington won second and University of Idaho third. By winning this contest Patterson will receive a cash prize of $100.

PAUL SAYRE MADE CLASS PRESIDENT IN CLOSE CONTEST

Election of Senior Executive Proves to be an Exciting Race to Last Ballot

FROSH ELECT STEPHENSON
Light Vote and Easy Margins Decide Officers of Next Sophomore Class

Paul Sayre was elected president of next year's senior class yesterday, by a hair's-breadth margin over Doug Farrell, his nearest opponent. Kenneth Stephenson will pilot the sophomore class next year, having won the presidency by a somewhat larger margin over Floyd McKelson, his nearest competitor for the office.

The junior class election resulted in the following ticket: president, Paul Sayre; vice-president, Henryetta Lawrence; secretary, Helen Ball; treasurer, Ben Reed; sergeant-at-arms, Ray McKeown. A class barber being considered a senior necessity, Lois Pixley was elected to that office.

Contest for President Close

The closest contest of all was that of the senior presidency. Sayre, with 48 votes, was closely followed by Doug Farrell, whose 46 votes held the class leadership in the balance until the last vote was counted. In order to insure against a possible mistake, a re-count was made. Doug Wright and Randall Jones, both defeated candidates, fared with an even closer vote of 34 and 33 respectively.

Henryetta Lawrence easily took the vice-presidency with 96 votes, against 63 for Muriel Myers. Helen Ball was elected secretary by a margin of three votes, which her total of 79 gave her, over Mildred LeCompte, who was given 76 votes upon her nomination by petition the night before. Ben Reed was given 92 votes, over Pat Irgan, 67.

Sergeant-at-arms Four Years
Ray McKeown holds the distinction of having held the office of sergeant-at-arms for his class for four consecutive years.

The sophomore class for next year will be officered by Kenneth Stephenson, president; Katherine Lyons, vice-president; Freda Runes, secretary, and Paul Krause, sergeant-at-arms. Due to the fact that the name of Herman Blaesing as treasurer was not turned in on time to be printed on the ballot, there will be another election, at which an incumbent for this office will be chosen. Rolf Klop was elected, but the second election for this office will be held at a later time, which has not been announced.

Frosh Vote is Light

The freshman vote was light. Less than 50 per cent of the class cast ballots for officers.

The vote follows: For president, Kenneth Stephenson, 89; Floyd McKelson, 66; James Lenke, 58; Fred Martin, 49. For vice-president: Catherine Lyon, 61; Anna DeWitt, 83; Anna McCabe, 69. For secretary: Freda Runes, 116; Adrienne Hazard, 64; Mary Brandt, 62; Marion Bowman, 32. For treasurer: Rolf Klop, 99; Lea McPike, 69; Herman Blaesing, 61. For sergeant-at-arms: Paul Krause, 104; Steele Winterer, 94; Gordon Bennett, 64.

RAMAH ILER GETS PRIZE

Phi Theta Kappa Scholarship of $50 Goes to Commerce Major;

Ramah Iler of Toledo was yesterday awarded the Phi Theta Kappa scholarship of $50, which is given annually to the woman student in the school of business administration.

The scholarship was presented in assembly by President P. L. Campbell in the absence of E. C. Robbins, dean of the school of business administration. The scholarship was awarded on the basis of scholastic standing and student activities. Miss Iler is a resident of Alpha Delta Pi house, is a member of Phi Kappa Theta, women's national honorary commerce fraternity, and of Tre Nu, vocational fraternity.

CANOLIS ACCEPTS PULPIT

Reverend J. Canoles, who graduated from Oregon with the class of '21 has recently received an invitation to the pulpit of the Piedmont Presbyterian church of Portland, and will leave soon to take up his duties, according to word received here yesterday. Mr. Canoles won the Beekman oratorical prize during his last year at the University. For a time he was pastor of the Presbyterian church at Lebanon, but at present is attending the theological seminary at San Anselmo, California.
