

SOCIETY

By Catherine Spall

Social affairs have received an impetus due perhaps to the fact that but two week-ends remain that are open to such events before the examinations. House picnics are many, however, the informal dance that has been so popular during the entire school year continues to be in favor, also. After a lull in the number of engagements announced on the campus comes the news of several that are made known during the week.

With ludicrous costumes which included nearly every character from story books to cowboys, pirates, Spanish señoritas, country swains and lassies, the freshman class of the University held a gay informal dance at the men's gymnasium Friday evening. Despite the fact that there were no decorations, the riot of color that the costumes furnished lent a festive mien to the occasion. Tag dances, Paul Joneses, and refreshments which consisted of pie a la mode, characterized the affair.

The list of patrons and patronesses for the event included President and Mrs. P. L. Campbell, Dean and Mrs. John Straub, Professor and Mrs. Frederick Dunn, Miss Mary Perkins, Dean Grace Edgington and Gerald Barnes.

Little slips of paper on which were printed the words "Extra, Extra," in the form of a miniature newspaper were the means of announcing the engagement of Miss Beulah Wright, '24, of Portland to Kenneth Youel, '23, of Silverton. At the dinner hour at both the Delta Zeta house and Phi Kappa Psi house these slips were distributed to the members of the houses, to which each is affiliated. After the dinner the fraternity brothers of Mr. Youel went to the Delta Zeta house where were served individual cakes covered on one side with red and green icing, the colors of the fraternity, and Greek letters, and on the other side the sorority's colors of pink and green were used in the icing with the Greek letters of the sorority. Miss Wright is a junior majoring in the department of English literature. Mr. Youel is the present editor of the Emerald and on the student council. Besides being a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, he is a To-Ko-Lo, a member of Hammer and Coffin, Sigma Delta Chi, and Friars.

Sigma Upsilon, national honorary fraternity for men writers, entertained with a dinner dance at the Anchorage Saturday evening. The color motif of yellow was artistically carried out in the spring flowers which decorated the rooms and the tables. The programs and favors were cleverly combined in the little leather bound volume of verse in which was contained the program. For the feature dance Frank Wright sang. Acting as patrons and patronesses on the occasion were Professor and Mrs. W. F. G. Thacher and Professor and Mrs. Melvin Solve.

Coming as a surprise to their campus friends was the announcement of the marriage of Beatrice Fraley, ex '24, to John S. Moore, ex '21, at Marshfield. Miss Fraley, who is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Fraley of Eugene. Mr. Moore is the son of George W. Moore of Berkeley California and is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

Mr. Moore returned to Bend directly after the wedding to look after his business interests there where he is employed by the Moore Mill and Lumber company. The couple plan to take a wedding trip to California, Nevada and other southern points.

Gamma Phi Beta underclassmen were the hosts for the upperclassmen at an informal dance at their residence Friday evening. Lupine and wild roses were interestingly combined to form the decorations about the rooms. The programs were of brown with the letters of the sorority embossed in gold upon them. Patronesses were Mrs. C. D. Rorer Mrs. O. E. Potter and Mrs. George H. Reed.

Word has been received on the campus of the marriage of Faye Harris and George W. Wilmot at Pittsfield Mass. on May 21. Miss Harris and Mr. Wilmot attended the University of Oregon in 1920. Both were members of the class of '23. Miss Harris is an Alpha Phi sorority girl and Mr. Wilmot a member of Sigma Chi fraternity. They plan to make their home in Hartford Conn.

Miss Marie Leghorn of Seattle national registrar of Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity who is an interesting visitor on the campus this week is being feted at a number of affairs. She is accompanied by Mrs. G. S. Morrel of Seattle, province vice-president of the fraternity who is also the inspiration for several social functions.

Monday afternoon the active members of the fraternity will give a tea in honor of Miss Leghorn. The Alumni hall of the Woman's building will be the scene of the affair. Included in the list of guests are the house chaperones, women of the faculty and faculty wives, representatives from the various sororities and town alumnae of the sororities. Tuesday the Eugene Alumnae Association of the fraternity will give a luncheon at the Anchorage with Miss Leghorn as the motif.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Eva Russell, daughter of C. E. Russell of Eugene and Edward J. Irwin, '25, of Portland, which will be an event of June 14 at the Methodist Episcopal church of this city. The bride-elect is being entertained at a number of affairs prior to her marriage. She is a sophomore in the University, majoring in the department of physical education, and is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority. Mr. Irwin, who is well known, attended the University during the fall term and will be remembered as the treasurer of the sophomore class at that time. He is a Phi Kappa Psi fraternity man.

Friendly hall was the scene of a very attractive affair Friday evening when the men of the hall were hosts for an informal dinner dance. Around the entire room was a chain of spring flowers combined effectively with greens, which was gracefully scalloped to form an interesting border. At intervals on the chain were dainty baskets of flower. Professor and Mrs. Roland Miller and Mrs. Edna Datson were the patrons and patronesses for the dance which 25 couples attended.

Mrs. Mildred Giffen was the inspiration for the farewell luncheon which members of Alpha Xi Delta were the hostesses Saturday at their residence. Lupins and California poppies were used to form the attractive table centerpiece, and hand-painted cards marked the places of the guests. Covers were laid for 30 which included house chaperones and a number of women connected with the University. Mrs. Giffen expects to have shortly for a visit in Iowa, but will return in the fall.

Orange, green, blue, purple and red were combined in the color scheme for the informal dance with which Sigma Pi Tau entertained Saturday evening at their house. The motif was effected by a large tree in one corner with its spreading branches on which were strung myriads of multi-colored lights. The unique programs which were a clever combination of 14 triangles had covers of a leather effect with poppies on them further executing the color scheme. An idea had been worked out whereby the program of dances was a lottery arrangement. Professor and Mrs. Eiler Brown, Dr. and Mrs. William Savage, Dean and Mrs. Eric W. Allen, and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Calkins comprised the list of patrons and patronesses.

Ray Bethers, former student in the University, has announced his engagement to Lady Mae Sibley of England. Lady Mae recently left her home in London to visit this country to gather material for a book on "The Civilization of America." She has a large country estate in Surrey county, England.

Mr. Bethers was an editor for last year's Oregon and is a member of the Lemon Punch staff and of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. He is now employed as a commercial artist in San Francisco. Mr. Bethers and Lady Sibley, after their marriage expect to make their home in San Francisco.

The concert given by the University of California Glee Club Saturday evening at the Eugene armory, was one of the most delightful events of the week. The program consisted of songs, dancing, stunts, and a ten-piece band. Every member of the club is an artist and the men have been enthusiastically received not only in the United States, but throughout Europe and the Orient. An informal dance followed the concert.

Edna M. Thornber announced her engagement to Preston L. Adkins of Astoria last Thursday. Miss Thornber is a junior in the education department and a member of Samara. Mr. Adkins is a student of electrical engineering at Oregon Agricultural College.

"The Hour Hand," folk opera composed by Mrs. Anna Landsbury Beck of the University school of music, which will be produced at the Heilig theatre on Thursday evening, is a smart event of the coming week that is being eagerly anticipated. The opera is based entirely upon Swiss folk music and folk lore, much of which was collected in Switzerland last summer by Mrs. Beck during her European tour. Musical talent of the University men and women is being utilized in the operetta.

An exquisite basket of moss roses concealing dainty missives for the Tau Nu girls, telling of the engagement of Bertha McGuire to Roland Burghardt of Portland, was placed on the table at the Tau Nu house Thursday evening. Miss McGuire is from Eugene and majors in history. Mr. Burghardt is in business in Portland.

Due to the holiday on Memorial day several organizations have scheduled dances on Tuesday evening. Among these will be the sister dance which Beta Theta Pi will give at Ye Campa Shoppe, and the informal dance of Kappa Sigma fraternity which will be an affair at their residence on that evening.

pay for their treatments, and has cured them of the scourge of glasses. Patients have come from various sections of the country—and departed so completely satisfied that they sent their friends to secure the same relief. In explaining the process of gathering the data necessary to complete her discoveries, Dr. Ingham said that more than 30,000 people had been examined. She also told how she had traveled to all the leading specialists in the country—wherever a new discovery had been made she had gone—and gathered the necessary facts, which has enabled her to make a success of this work.

She explained that the primary object of her work was to teach people to take care of themselves and make the need for glasses obsolete. Glasses lower the vision from the very beginning of their use and this lowering is only met by The work undertaken by the Institute is a constructive work, a work that will free people from this affliction which is becoming so general through the abuses seemingly made necessary by our advancing standards of civilization.

"It's our ambition to make Oregon the first state in the Union where the children wearing glasses is seldom seen" explained the Doctor and in conclusion said the work of pioneering in a new field is extremely interesting and there is room for many more to enter.

Business Men, by Gosh

all of its divisions; nor are these divisions of equal importance. But whether combined or separate, the managerial aspects of the business still exists and must be mastered by the general manager.

"The education for business management rests upon a knowledge of first, economics, which deals with the social aspects of production, exchange, distribution and consumption of goods and service. Then the manager should be acquainted with the liberal arts, which gives the manager a historical point of view and an appreciation of social progress. Then of course he should have an understanding of law, which protects the rights and limits the activities of every business manager; and it goes without saying that he should have a knowledge of technical business procedure."

It seemed that Dean Robbins had an appointment which was due about an hour back, so the reporter prepared to back-water and leave. "It's a hard life, this journalism business," he mused aloud, "I've almost got a notion to try and make a change for the easy chair of a business manager!"

It isn't bad at all," the Dean asserted complacently, "I worked on a newspaper for two years."

"Is that so? What newspaper was it?" The newshound was really interested now.

"The Cedar Rapids Gazette. After I graduated from the University of Iowa, I worked on the paper for two years, after which I left and went back for my master's degree."

"Did you also get your doctor's degree at Iowa?"

"No, I received that from Columbia."

"Well, you certainly have shown me what business administration is, and I want to thank you for your time and trouble, Dean Robbins." And the reporter made for the door.

"Just one more moment! You might mention in your story that we have a bureau of business research and a graduate school!"

"All right, I will," assented the reporter.

"Goodbye."

"Goodbye."

Robinson Crusoe's Cruise

would have been more enjoyable if he might have had the Rainbow to prepare his meals.

For your own cruise—whether it be a voyage up the river or an all-day hike, you should have the Rainbow prepare a picnic lunch. Or—if it be a journey home from Dreamland or a show, it should not end without a stop at the Rainbow.

Every trip, long or short, needs the ideal ending of delicious fountain confections or a good meal. The Rainbow excels in these—and in quick service.
