

REGISTRATION TO BE ON NEW BASIS

Students to Enroll for Next Year on September 27, 28 and 29

With the opening of college next fall a new form of registration is to be inaugurated. Registering in courses for the entire year is the new plan, thereby eliminating registration three times a year for the student and a great deal of extra work and red tape for the business office.

Instead of filling out the old familiar yellow card with courses for the term, students will use a new year study program card on which will be listed all the studies to be taken for the whole year. In order to help students by their outlined schedule and original lineup of courses for the year, it is going to cost a dollar to withdraw from any course and a dollar to enter a new one. It is therefore suggested that students fill out their study programs with a great deal of care and foresight under the supervision of their advisers.

Enrollment Dates Set

Registration dates for next year are set for September 27, 28 and 29. Tuesday, September 25, is the date of the freshman English examination, which will be held in Villard at nine o'clock and one o'clock on that day. All freshmen must take this examination before they can have their registration cards filled out.

Classes will begin on Monday, October 1, and on and after that date late registration fees will be payable. Signatures from the faculty for registration cards may be procured Thursday, Friday and Saturday morning until noon. All study cards must be filed by Saturday night with the registrar, after which date late registration fees begin.

Costs Dollar to Withdraw

There will be only ten calendar days allowed each term in which students at the cost of a dollar may sign up in a new course and 21 calendar days each term in which at the cost of a dollar, students may withdraw from classes so that study plans for the year are advised to be decisive at fall registration.

Saturday, September 29, next fall, will be closed day for the rushing of candidates for sororities. Pledging will be Saturday night.

The first faculty meeting of the fall term will be held Wednesday, September 26, in Guild hall.

"BACK TO THE LIBRARY" DRIVE ON FOR VOLUMES

Thespians Instituting Movement for Return of Long Lost Books; Fines Remitted

"Back to the Library" might well be called the name of a movement instituted by the Thespians in cooperation with the University library to have returned to the library all over due books.

The Thespians, an organization of underclass women, have set aside three days this week as the time when all people are urged to bring back books which they have had longer than the allotted period of time.

As a special inducement all fines will be suspended during the three days, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. No questions will be asked by the librarians as to the cause of the late return of any books, the big idea being to have the books returned.

The Thespians, under the management of Velma Meredith, will make personal campaigns in every women's living organization, and the Oregon Knights will do the same thing in the men's living organizations. Two barrels will be placed, one at the Co-op and the other at the library, for a depository for the books, so that anyone who has had a book for so long that he fears to face the librarian may put it in the barrel and have no fear of results.

The plan is not only to urge upon the individual the importance of his returning books for which he may be personally responsible, or for which he has returned those books which may have been taken out by people no longer in school and which were not returned, and are at present counted among the books which are lost, by the library officials. In most cases books are left in the rooms or about the houses where people who took them may have lived, it is believed, and it is these books that the library is especially anxious to have returned. Many books are annually lost from the library by people who take them and use them and fail to return them. An effort is made to collect for all such books, but this is in many cases impossible, and says the librarian, it is better to have the books than the money.

This then is the plan. Hunt up all the books you have that belong to the University library. That done, look around your house for books someone else may have taken out and failed to return. Remember the days, Thursday, Friday and Saturday and settle your account with the library without it costing you anything, is the plea of the Thespians.

FORENSICS TO RECEIVE GIFT

A woman who has asked that her name not be published, but who is a staunch friend of the University, has recently announced she will give a liberal endowment to the public speaking department to be used as the department sees fit. The gift is made for the purpose of stimulating interest among University students for public speaking. It is thought likely, by faculty members in the department, that some of the money will be given as prizes to winners in oratorical tryouts and extemporary speaking contests.

DEAN ASKS OBSERVANCE

Houses are Requested to Omit Parties on Decoration Day

A request that entertainment in sorority and fraternity houses, and halls of residence, be omitted on Decoration day was the purpose of the communication sent to the heads of the men's and women's houses by Dean Grace Edgington recently.

The only limit set in the letter was to "avoid entertainment about as you would if it were Sunday." She goes on to state that on Good Friday this year several groups cancelled parties, and that it would be appreciated on this occasion if a similar concession were made to public feelings, for a good many people regard the day as one of mourning. Dancing would probably offend if done on Memorial Day, Dean Edgington stated in concluding, but picnicking is quite all right.

The Call to Holiday Service

Tomorrow is a holiday. Holidays mean picnics and picnics mean food. Really, it's no end tiresome to prepare a big lunch and then expect to be as gay as a picnic necessitates. Let the Peter Pan make a delectable lunch for you.

Or, perhaps if it's a very large picnic, Walt will go, too. Then you can play until hunger descends upon the gang, and you'll find the keenest sort of a lunch imaginable all ready to devour.

A cup of Java and some pastry, or a sundae, after the movie will be a delightful climax to Memorial Day for those who remain in town. During idle holiday hours visit
