

FRIDAY'S EMERALD TO BE YEAR'S LAST

Staffs to Celebrate Finish of Work with Banquet at Hotel Osburn

The Emerald will be "put to bed" for the last time next Thursday night and on Friday morning the 16-page special edition will complete the files of the 1922-23 campus daily. On Friday evening at 6:30 in the Hotel Osburn all members of the business and news staffs of the Emerald and a few invited guests will celebrate the termination of the year's work with a banquet—a banquet which is a very important affair in the lives of the campus journalists.

Yesterday afternoon the list of staff members and invited guests, the majority of them former members of the staff, was placed on the bulletin board in the journalism building. This list indicates that approximately 100 students and faculty members will attend the annual banquet, over which Dean Eric W. Allen, of the school of journalism, will preside as toastmaster. Speeches will be made by the editor, the editor-elect, the new and old business managers, members of the journalism faculty, and other students in the department. President Campbell, who takes pride in the fact that he was once a newspaper worker, will address the assembled Emerald group.

One of the features of the banquet will be the awarding of Emerald emblems—the coveted "O"—to 13 members of the reportorial staff and to five members of the business staff. Term prize winners in the various contests will also be made known at this time.

The entertainment committee for the banquet has reported that members of the University glee club and students from the school of music will entertain between courses with song and music.

A referendum vote taken yesterday by the journalists made it clear that campus newspaper folk favor a "no date" affair, and consequently the lottery proposal was heaved overboard. A notice tacked on the bulletin board stated that "dates" would be frowned upon by those in charge.

Monte Byers will edit the miniature Emerald, which will be distributed at the banquet. Following is the committee making arrangements for the banquet: program, Phil Brogan, Freda Goodrich, Margaret Vincent, Art Rudd; banquet Emerald, Monte Byers; invitations, Jeanne Gay, Edwin Fraser; music, Geraldine Root, Junior Seton.

COMMITTEE REVIEWS FACULTY RESEARCH

search work. In the past, experiments and investigations were carried on without the assistance of the University, but the individual workers were handicapped by lack of funds. This situation would have prevented the completion of many important investigations. The administration established a yearly budget, extending funds to encourage investigations. The grants are limited to those persons who are financially unable to carry on the expensive work. A person who is financially able to carry on the work is not eligible to receive grants from the University.

Dr. E. L. Packard, chairman of the research committee, stated that the completed lists of papers published would not have been possible without the grants. Much of the work would have been impossible.

Definite Results Found

"Certain of the projects have yielded definite results. Some are so planned as to extend over a length of time. It will be some time before this work is rounded out," he states.

Important projects are under investigation by Drs. A. E. Caswell, R. A. Clark, E. S. Conklin, H. R. Conklin, B. W. DeBusk, C. A. Gregory, E. T. Hodge, W. E. Milne, E. L. Packard, E. Thorstenberg, H. B. Torrey, R. H. Wheeler, R. J. Williams, F. G. Young, Dean Colin Dymont and Professors H. R. Douglas and F. L. Stetson.

These will be published later. The research committee is composed of J. D. Barnett, W. E. Milne, H. D. Sheldon, H. B. Torrey and E. L. Packard, chairman.

HIKES AND PICNICS ON SUMMER'S SCHEDULE

Athletics and Tournaments for Both Men and Women are Planned for Short Course Session

The summer school recreation program, though not yet definitely arranged, has been tentatively scheduled. Hikes and picnics will form a great part of the activities, and both men's and women's tennis tournaments will be held. Indoor baseball, croquet and horseshoes will not be omitted, and both swimming tanks will be open.

On the first Saturday after the summer session has commenced, a get-together picnic will be held in a nearby place, probably Hendricks Park. The next Saturday there will be an all day hike to some point near Eugene, probably to Baldy, Spencer or the Coburg Caves.

On the Saturday of the third week, the students will start early in the afternoon and hike to some point up the MacKenzie, and will have a picnic supper there. On the fourth week-end will come the big three day hike. Starting Friday afternoon, the hikers will go up the MacKenzie to some point between the Belknap and MacKenzie bridges and camp. The next morning, the party will climb Castle Rock, and Sunday morning a visit will be made to Foley or Belknap springs, and the return trip to Eugene will be made Sunday afternoon.

The last Saturday of the summer session, there will be a picnic at which the prizes for the different tournaments will be made, and the deans of the various schools will make announcements for the fall term.

At the Portland session, plans are being made for extra-curricula activities which include a reception for all summer school students, an all day boat trip on the Columbia, a dinner for the women, and one for the men, and a summer school play, besides various breakfasts, picnics and hikes for different smaller special interest groups.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION PUBLISHES MAGAZINE

Paper to be Distributed Among High School Teachers; Contents Based on Educational Experiments

Another University publication entitled "The High School," has made its appearance in the form of the June edition of a 16 page magazine. It is being put out by the University school of education in the interests of secondary education, this issue dealing particularly with the subject of modern languages.

This number which was in direct charge of H. R. Douglass, of the education faculty, one of the three members of the board of directors, is only the beginning, Mr. Douglass said. The magazine will probably be published about five times during the next school year and as time goes on the editions will be increased in size reaching about 24 to 32 pages. It will be distributed among high school teachers, principals and superintendents of Oregon, although there will undoubtedly be others on the mailing list when its value becomes known. Already there are some educators in other parts of the Northwest, who have asked to receive the magazine.

The contents for the most part will be based on the results of experiments in the University high school, although other phases of education will be taken up, such as reviews of useful books and publications, selected biographies on topics of interest, and news notes about people connected with the education department. It also aims to stimulate interest in matters of this kind throughout the state so that teachers will make contributions of the results of their experiments.

Mr. Douglass said he had been working on this plan and idea for some time, but that it was only recently that an appropriation for this purpose was made. He will have a leave of absence next year and regrets that he will not be here to aid in promoting the plan. F. L. Stetson and H. D. Sheldon both of the education faculty and of the Board of Editors of the magazine will carry on the work.

The main article in the June edition "Foreign Language Instruction by Phonograph," was written by Edith Pierce, head of the foreign language department of the University high school.

WIT BATTLE IS BUT TWO WEEKS OFF

of the frivolous maids to such an extent that dear Georgie gets only six dates this week. Such sacrifices to the noble causes of education are seldom appreciated by the high potentates who peruse the blue books. In fact they are distinctly heartless when one does not know that the tertiary formation was the home-plate for the frisky quadrupeds, and that Peel repeated the corn laws so John Barleycorn could trade freely.

One can never understand why a formula should be presented when one defines "dew" so concisely. The earth so this unluckily manuscript read, revolves 365 times on its axis in one hour. On a warm June day, becoming overheated, it perspires freely, thus causing dew. And a flunk was the result.

But even if the gruesome marauder of failure becomes too evident, one may follow our estimable Dodo's advice and choose:

"Once to every college woman Comes the moment to decide. In the fight for grades or frat pins, Will she think or be a bride."

MONITOR TO APPEAR SOON

Special Extension Division Issue Will Cover Oregon's Resources

A special extension division Monitor, using the papers read at the short course given for commercial club secretaries, will soon be out, according to Miss Mozelle Hair, editor of the Monitor.

Practically all of the papers deal with the resources in Oregon. Among the articles are one by President Campbell on "The Needs of the University as an Effective Factor in State Development," and another by A. L. Lomax of the school of business administration on "The Relation of Inland Towns to Foreign Trade."

This number of the Monitor will be distributed to commercial club secretaries beside the regular extension division mailing list.

HYGIENE WORK IN OTHER SCHOOLS TO BE STUDIED

Dean Bovard to Visit 36 Institutions in Southwestern and Western Parts of Country

As a special representative of the Association of American Universities, Dr. John F. Bovard, dean of the University of Oregon school of physical education, will study the work in hygiene undertaken by the universities, colleges and normal schools in the Southwest and the section west of the Rockies, beginning his investigation Friday at the Washington State Normal at Bellingham, Washington.

He will be at the University of Washington Saturday and Monday; the State Normal at Cheney, Washington, June 12; Washington State College at Pullman, June 13 and 14; and University of Idaho, June 15. He will also visit the Idaho State Normal at Lewiston.

The president's committee of 50 of the Association of American Universities desires to stimulate the development and extension in the higher institutions of learning, of facilities for instruction and training in hygiene. Before presenting a definite outline of work of national scope, surveys of all institutions of the country is desired. The work is being carried on in different parts of the country by health and physical education experts.

Dean Bovard will visit 36 institutions. He will survey the California and Nevada institutions in the summer and the Southern California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas institutions in the fall. He will interview the presidents of the institutions, instructors in hygiene, directors of health service, and of physical training and other instructors.

Dr. Herman N. Biggs, health commissioner of New York State, and Dr. William F. Snow, general director of the American Social Hygiene Society are leaders in the work.

ORCHESTRA GIVES CONCERT

Complimentary Program is Given Portland Audience in Lincoln Auditorium

Last night, the University symphony orchestra under the direction of Rex Underwood, of the school of music, made its first appearance in Portland, giving a complimentary concert in the auditorium of Lincoln high school.

Soloists with the orchestra were George Paynter Hopkins, pianist, and Alberta Potter, violinist. Mr. Hopkins played Saint-Saens "Concerto in G minor," accompanied by the orchestra and Miss Potter gave "Fantasy Appassionata," Vieuxtemps. The entire program was made up of compositions which have been heard on the campus at various times, the program being the same as the one given at the home concert of the orchestra, with the exception of Friml's "Firefly." In place of this the orchestra gave Brahms' "Hungarian Dances Nos. 5 and 6." Selections from the operas, "Carmen" and "Pagliacci" were also given.

Considerable interest was evidenced in Portland before the concert because the orchestra had not played there before, and musicians there were anxious to learn of the abilities of the orchestra, and of its director, Rex Underwood. Arrangements for the concert were made by Mrs. H. H. O'Reilly, of Portland.

JUNIORS HAVE LOTTERY FOR SENIOR BREAKFAST

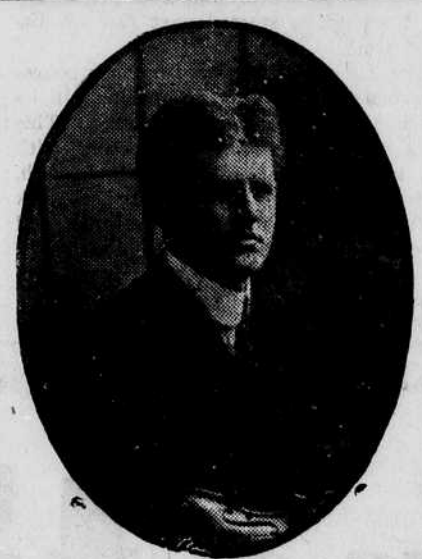

Tenth Annual Affair to be in Woman's Building June 16; Thursday Last Day for Buying Tickets

Every junior woman, who is a member of the Y. W. C. A., is urged to go to the Bungalow and draw in the lottery being conducted there, a name of a senior woman, whom she will take to the senior breakfast which will be given by the Y. W. C. A., on Saturday morning, June 16, in the Woman's building in honor of all senior women. It is essential, according to Bernice Meyers, chairman of the breakfast committee, that the junior women draw the names and get the tickets by Thursday night.

The tenth annual senior breakfast will be held in the sun parlor of the Woman's building at 8:15 a. m., on June 16. Until the Woman's building was finished the affair was known as Mrs. Campbell's May morning breakfast as it used to be given at the home of Mrs. P. L. Campbell. But as the graduating class increased it was found necessary to meet in a larger place.

At the breakfast a week from Saturday there will be a special musical program, and a number of informal speeches by those women present.

The annual senior service which is also given by the University Y. W. C. A. will be held under Condon Oaks on the morning of Sunday, June 17. This will be the last general meeting of the Y. W. C. A. for the year.
