

MANY ASK ABOUT SUMMER SCHOOL

Prospects for Enrollment in Both Portland and Eugene Sessions are Good

Requests for information regarding the summer school have reached considerably over one thousand, and have come from all parts of the United States as well as from Canada and the Hawaiian Islands. The states, excepting Oregon, with the best representation of inquiries are Washington, California and other adjacent states and a group of middle western states including Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota and the Dakotas, but quite a few have also come from New York, Massachusetts and other extreme eastern and southern states.

In addition to these requests for information, several hundred prospective students have already indicated that they intend to enroll for summer school either at Eugene or Portland. Portland seems to be chosen by the greater number, although the advanced and graduate students indicate a preference for Eugene. Statements already received indicate that practically all parts of the state will be represented this summer, and that there will also be a substantial enrollment from other states.

Among representative students who will be at the Eugene session are: Superintendent G. W. Ager of Bend, Raymond E. Baker, acting president of Albany college, Superintendent Prentiss Brown of Baker, Principal W. H. Buxton of Bly, Principal Roy E. Cannon of Gresham, Ruth T. Chase of Omaha, Nebraska, C. L. Conover of the Pacific College at Newberg, Mable Davenport of the Lincoln high school, Principal Lloyd Gilmore of Dayville, Miss Stella Hahn of Walla Walla, Principal Edgar R. Means of Colton, Wm. C. McInnis of Hendricks high school, Eugene, Principal Leo Cossman of North Bend, Superintendent Cecil F. Robe of Freeman, Washington, Superintendent A. C. Stanbrough of Newberg, and V. E. Storli of Spokane college, Spokane, Washington.

The following are a few of those who have decided to attend the Portland session: Anna H. Anderson of Minneapolis, Minnesota, Superintendent Claude A. Arhart of Linnton, D. M. Higbee of Winton, Cynthia Hornbrook of Walla Walla, Washington, Principal O. B. Kraus of Beaverton, Francis Sharp of North Bend, Principal LeRoy B. Peekham, Fort Jones, California, Mary Walsh, Vancouver, Washington, Superintendent Will E. Wiley of The Dalles, J. S. Wright of Tacoma, Washington, Margaret McCullough of Oregon City, Irene Bagby of Klamath Falls, Principal K. R. Blakeslee of Cascade Locks, Alma Bowman of Andrews, C. J. Davis of Gresham, Flo Gillilamb of Fossil, Dorothy Green of Lincoln, Nebraska, and Vernon P. Jenkins of Corvallis.

SPIRITUAL EVOLUTION IS BACCALAUREATE TOPIC

Dean Edward Ellery to Give Sermon at Services in Methodist Church, June 24

Plans for the baccalaureate service during commencement this year have been completed, according to information from the president's office. Dean Edward Ellery, of the Union College, Schenectady, New York, will give the sermon on "The Spiritual Evolution of Man." This will take place at 11 a. m. June 24, in the First Methodist church. Dean Ellery, who is national secretary of Sigma Xi, will be on the campus for the purpose of helping install the Oregon chapter of that society on June 22, and will remain here to give the sermon on Sunday morning.

Music for the baccalaureate service is in charge of John Stark Evans of the school of music. The University's Men's and Women's Glee clubs will sing, "Lead Kindly Light." Besides the chorus work this number includes a tenor solo by Roy Bryson. Aubrey Furry will also be heard in a solo, and the Men's Glee club will give Kipling's "Hymn Before Action," by Baldwin, with organ accompaniment.

BUSINESS COLLEGE POPULAR

The Eugene Business College shows an enrollment of twelve University students who have been taking part time work there during the year. Shorthand and typing are the most popular subjects among the University students with a few taking up bookkeeping. The enrollment from the University in the Business College for the past year shows a slight increase over last year's.

NEW COURSES TO BE GIVEN IN FALL

Italian Will be Offered to the Lower Division Classes for First Time

Several new courses are to be offered in the curriculum next fall, especially for upper division students. These courses are to be electives for juniors and seniors. Some of the elective courses offered are to be two and three hour courses fall term, five to six hours winter term, and from seven to eight hours spring term. There will also be offered some sequence courses for the year and the various one and two hour courses of interest.

An interesting sequence course planned by the psychology and geology departments is anthropology offered to upper division students. Fall term, the subject will be on the geologic history of man, given by Dr. E. L. Packard; ethnology will be studied during the winter term under Kimball Young, and in the spring the work will be on social anthropology, also given by Dr. Young. Students interested in racial distinctions and racial traits will find the course worth while.

Dr. George Rebec will give a senior course on contemporary civilization. This work will consist of lectures and reading and will enable the student to interpret and evaluate the course of modern events and conditions and give an inclusive human outlook on the world.

In the Romance language department, Italian for first and second year students will be offered. This has always been an upper division study, but will be given for the first time to lower division people. This will make it possible for freshmen to take Italian instead of French or Spanish. In this department, the reading of French historians and French classics will be taught to upper division people.

Girls wanting a one hour course are offered two courses by the household arts and normal arts departments. One of these courses is for lower division people—color and harmony in dress, and for the seniors and juniors a course in house furnishing is to be presented.

Courses in pre-nursing and pre-library work are to be started next fall for the first time.

For the spring term a two hour course in chemistry and its relationships will be given to upper division students. This is a non-technical course dealing with the modern trend of chemical research.

Juniors and seniors looking for work that requires no previous training will find a fall and spring term elective in organized evolution and heredity a good course.

Freshmen will be glad to learn that a three and four hour course in English history will be open to lower division students.

LECTURE DATE CHANGED

The lecture on the Passion Play which was to have been given to Mrs. Anne Landsbury Beck's class in History and Appreciation of Music on Thursday evening will be postponed until some time next week, Mrs. Beck said. The day and hour will be arranged in class Friday. This change was necessary on account of the conflict in student schedules that evening.

MRS. COOPER WILL BE GUEST

Miss Gertrude Talbot will have as a guest this week-end, Mrs. W. A. Cooper of Portland, president of the Portland branch of the American Association of University Women. Mrs. Cooper will be entertained at dinner Thursday evening and at a luncheon Friday, when she will meet members of the Eugene branch of the association.

U. H. S. TEACHER GIVES PICTURES OF ANIMALS

Slides Will Be Made for New Set of Animal Pictures; Film Will be Loaned Out

Mrs. Fred Assenheimer, teacher of geography in the University high school has given the extension division a view of four deer swimming the Umpqua, and a panther picture.

Slides will be made of these for the new set "Wild Animals of Oregon." J. C. Conley, county superintendent of Walla Walla county, has sent several elk photographs. Oregon animal pictures will be gladly received from any one who has succeeded in getting interesting views.

"Alice in Hungerland," is a film recently received by the extension division. It is an interesting drama of life in some of the oldest countries in the world and is available for free loan. The exploitation of Tutankhamen's tomb has given the slides on Egypt increased popularity. The regular set belonging to the extension division has been widely shown and sometimes, to supply the demand, extra slides have been borrowed from the school of architecture and the department of ancient history.

The botany, physics, Latin, history and military department and the schools of business administration and architecture of the University, use films and slides in their instructional work. An account of the visual instruction service of the University of Oregon will be included in a history of visual education, which is being written by Prof. J. V. Ankeney, of the University of Missouri.

The slide and film service on the Eugene campus is one of the oldest in the country, having been started in 1916.

TENNIS

for Everybody

☐ A good friend of the university has made possible the construction of twenty tennis courts for the use of University students—now another friend of the University, The Co-op, makes it possible for all to play on these courts by making drastic reductions in tennis equipment.

☐ To celebrate the completion of the new courts the Co-op will make reductions of 25 per cent on all rackets, cases and racket presses; this will make it possible for all students to own splendid tennis equipment.
