MORE THAN 60 FROSH REPORT FOR FOOTBALL

Nearly Twenty-five After Backfield
Positions. Some Good Punters
And Passers Are Out

Over 60 freshmen were out for the first official football practice, Monday afternoon. Although preliminary practice has been going on during the past week only about 30 men have been out. The chief purpose of the work during the week has been to get the men in condition. The work consisted of blocking, punting, and falling on the ball. The first scrimmage will be later in the week when the squad gets organized.

"Baz" Williams will have charge of the line and Bill Reinhart, the backfield. Close to 25 men are trying out for backfield berths, and judging by the way some have been showing up in punting and passing it will be difficult to keep them off the team.

The team this year will not be exceptionally heavy but well balanced. A heavy schedule has been outlined for the yearling aggregation which means that they will have to work throughout the season. The freshman teams of other colleges and prep schools have from one to three weeks more practice than the frosh squad. Coaches Williams and Reinhart will probably put the team through still practice as soon as the squad is picked. There are too many out now to start real work.

played worlds of fight and a rudimentary knowledge of the game that a few weeks of hard work will build into real varsity ends, claimed the coach. Vic Risley and Frenchy DuPaw are two others who were tried out at end and they bid fair to give both Mautz and Williamson real competition for the permanent berths at the ends of the line.

All Isn't Praise

All wasn't praise for the struggling candidates. After relieving one dusty lineman Bart was heard to say, "Now don't feel bad because I took you out, I wanted to give another man a chance. You were going good. All you did wrong in that last play was: you were off side, you didn't pivot, you cut inside the tackle and you hit the wrong man. Other than that you were all right." That varsity aspirant was heard to remark, "Being a football hero has its depressing moments." Coaches Huntington and Spellman both said they were pleased with the fight the team displayed and especially with the fact that they were going as strong or stronger at the finish than at the start, in spite of the dust and heat. "The next two weeks will be devoted to real football fundamentals, now that we have that game off our mind," Shy told the men. The next conflict for the varsity will be October 13, on Hayward field with the team of Pacific University furnishing the opposition.

SINGERS WILL TRY OUT FOR GLEE CLUB PLACES

All men, new and old, are invited and urged to appear at Music hall on Wednesday, October 3, for the annual tryouts of the men's glee club. A great year is in store for the organization if present plans and prospects materialize, for with several old men of note back for duty and an equal number of new singers entering the university, a near-perfect club should result.
