

SHIELDS GIVEN COACHING PLACE

Former Football Star Is Made Assistant To Huntington; Will Coach Second Team

ATHLETIC BUDGET PASSED

Permit Is Granted Women's League to Control Concessions for Year by Council

Archie Shields, well known Oregon grid star was appointed assistant to Shy Huntington and Bart Spellman on the varsity coaching squad and Bob Earl, one of last year's frosh coaching staff, was given his old position at a slight increase in salary at the first meeting of the executive council for the University year 1923-24, last night.

Earl Will Assist
Shields will have supervision over the second team in varsity practice. His years of work under the Oregon coaching system will make him a valuable addition to the staff, in the opinion of campus fans. The appointment of Earl to assist with the freshmen became necessary because of the large numbers of aspirants for berths on the yearling nine. Williams and Reinhardt had too much to do to take care of the 70 frosh who are out and it was thought the addition of Earl would do much to keep interest awake among the men of '27.

The annual football budget for the year was discussed and passed. The budget calls for the expenditure of $30,260 and estimates that the income will be $32,950 from ten games.

Big Return Expected
Discussion of the Oregon-O. A. C. game brought out the fact that the Oregon grandstand holds more spectators than that of O. A. C. General admission for seats will probably be $1.50 this year and $2.00 and $2.50 for grandstand seats. This is compared to a set rate of $5.00 which is being charged at many California games. It is estimated that the Homecoming classic will bring $11,500 into the A. S. U. O. coffers. This is expected to be the greatest revenue getter. The Stanford game estimate of $10,000 is next.

Football Self-supporting
The returns from the football season did not include any money from student body tickets. "Football is self supporting and funds from student body tickets will be diverted to other activities," said Jack Benefiel, graduate manager, in explanation.
Georgia Benson, president of Women's league, asked that the league be permitted to sell food at football games. It was voted to allow food to be sold from booths. Francis Altstok and Phil Ringle will manage the sale. The league was also given the food concession for the baseball season next spring.

Professor H. C. Howe told the council of the recent coast conference meeting in Portland.

SMOKER DATE CONFUSED ON SOCIAL CALENDAR

Due to a mistake in the social calendar the "Y" smoker, scheduled for Friday night, the 5th, will not take place. This affair was confused with the all-men's smoker held at the gymnasium last Friday night.

PLEDGING ANNOUNCED

Phi Sigma Pi announces the pledging of Harold Kirk, of Oregon City.
Chi Psi announces the pledging of Ben Lombard, of Portland.

LETTERS OF DEAN ALLEN FROM EUROPE COLORFUL

Letters full of the atmosphere and local color of the famed chateaux country of the Loire in France have been received recently by their Eugene friends from Dean Eric Allen, of the University school of journalism, and Mrs. Allen who are spending several months abroad. According to all communications the Allens are especially enjoying their visit in France. They are making their headquarters in Paris and are taking numerous trips into the country.

In a letter received by Mrs. Charles Elliott, of Eugene, Mrs. Allen's mother, a complete itinerary of the trip was given. From Paris the Allens plan to go to Marseilles, Genoa, Verona, Padua, Venice, Florence and the week from October 20 to 27, they will spend in Rome. During their visit in Paris, Dean and Mrs. Allen dined with Dorothy Collier, last year's campus Y. W. secretary, Jeanette Calkins, for

Statue is Made By Art Student

An 18 inch study for a proposed monument to the memory of Til Taylor, former sheriff of Pendleton, was done this summer in sculpture by Ivan Houser, a sophomore in the fine arts department. The memorial to the man who was shot while attempting to stop escaping prisoners was exhibited at the Pendleton roundup this year.

Houser, who is a Pendleton boy, was a personal friend of Taylor's, and familiar with the sheriff's character on horseback. The statue is an equestrian one, with the westerner in cowboy costume.

The ultimate memorial, possibly 25 feet high, will be worked out to the last detail. Houser has done a large study of the head by itself from numerous photographs and from memory.

"My model for the horse was as good as I could have hoped," Houser said. He picked a spirited one, but declared that the livery barn variety was not like the horses of eastern Oregon. For the large statue Taylor's favorite pony will be used.

Houser is now acting as a personal assistant to Avar Fairbanks, professor of sculpture. He is a member of the Sculpture club, and of Sigma Pi Tau.

LEAGUE PLACES DRAWN IN DO-NUT BASKETBALL

Season Will Open October 15; Fewer Games Arranged

Men's do-nut basketball season will open October 15, and there will be four leagues in the inter-fraternity schedule, it was decided at a meeting of athletic representatives from the campus organizations held in the gymnasium last night. Virgil Earl, athletic director and Hank Foster, who will have charge of the schedule this year, were present and aided in outlining a program that will lessen the number of games this year without depriving any team of a fair chance in the competition.

The representatives agreed that the schedule last year was a bit heavy and lasted well up to the Christmas holidays, so the four league program was passed upon favorably as a solution to the difficulty in that it would shorten the season.

This year in each league the competing teams will play round robin for the championship of their respective leagues. Then the two highest teams in each league will be formed into the upper division league with eight teams, to compete for the do-nut championship via the round robin route.
The remaining teams will remain in the lower division and compete for places which will have a marked effect on their general do-nut standing. This arrangement will call for about 80 games.

Drawing for places in the respective leagues resulted in the following arrangement:

League A—Alpha Beta Chi, Friendly Hall, Kappa Delta Phi and Phi Delta Theta.

League B—Kappa Sigma, Phi Gamma Delta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Chi, Sigma Pi Tau.

League C—Bachelorion, Delta Tau Delta, Delta Theta Phi, Oregon Club, Sigma Nu.

League D—Alpha Tau Omega, Beta Theta Pi, Phi Kappa Psi, Chi Psi, Phi Sigma Pi.

A complete schedule will be worked out by Hank Foster and posted in the gym Friday. This will include the first round only of the four leagues. The same eligibility rules as last year are to be recognized and a copy will be sent to each organization. The representatives agreed to give power of final arbitration to the management, however, in case of a disagreement.

LARGE TURNOUT AT ASSEMBLY URGED

Perfect Attendance Expected for Student Body Meeting in Woman's Building at Eleven

GLEE CLUBS TO GIVE SONGS

Panoramic Picture of Faculty and Students Will be Taken Immediately Following Hour

"We want to have a 100 per cent attendance at the student body assembly tomorrow, just to see what it is like to have all the students together at one time," said Karl W. Onthank, secretary to the President of the University. "We have nearly 2200 students registered and with 200 faculty members, the Woman's building ought to be pretty full."

Immediately following the assembly, a panoramic photograph of the faculty and student body will be taken. With the Woman's building as a background, the group will stand in a semicircle between Susan Campbell and Hendrichs hall. The Oregon Knights will arrange the grouping of the picture and with the promptness of all, the work should not take more than five minutes.

President Will Speak

President Campbell will give an opening address on "The University—An Opportunity." He will then present Claude Robinson, President of the A. S. U. O. who will talk on student work. Georgia Benson, President of Women's league will then speak, followed by Mrs. Virginia Judy Esterly, Dean of Women.

Preceding the speeches, an invocation will be given by the Rev. H. W. Davis, new inter-church pastor of the University. The glee clubs will sing the "Star Spangled Banner" and the "Oregon Pledge Song" and at the conclusion of the assembly, the entire student body will sing the "Alma Mater."

The Oregon Knights will act as ushers for the assembly. The faculty will enter in a procession from the sun-room to a march by the orchestra. They will sit in the left hand section facing the platform. The seniors will occupy the front center section and the juniors the right front section. The sophomores will sit behind the juniors and seniors and the freshmen girls will fill in behind the faculty. The freshmen "men" will occupy the gallery.

Seating Changed

It has been suggested that in order to facilitate the seating, the juniors and seniors enter the building from the front by the northwest entrance; the sophomores and freshmen will use the northeast entrance and the faculty and freshmen women will use the southeast door. This will save a great deal of unnecessary confusion.

CHANGES MADE IN STAFF

Several Vacancies Filled By Former Assistants

A number of changes made in the University library staff since last spring are reported by M. H. Douglas, librarian. The position of reference librarian, formerly filled by Mary B. Humphrey, will be taken by Mrs. Marion P. Watts who was assistant last year. Miss Evelyn Foster is transferred from the reserve desk to the reference department where she will assist Mrs. Watts. Alice Gardner, formerly stenographer in the school of business administration, will fill the vacancy left in the reserve department.

Bernice Rise and Harriet Hudson, formerly student assistants, are remaining on full time this year. Miss Rise is taking the place of Mary Moore, who is now in charge of the high school library at Medford. Melba Williams, also a former student, is assisting for part time in the reserve desk. The order department is to be under the management of Miss Emma Stephenson, graduate of '19 and formerly assistant reference librarian at the University of Minnesota.

Vacancies on the list of student help are being filled by Andrew Karpenstein, Floyd McKarlson, Hazel Borders, Francis Rose, and Julian Smith.

PHI THETA KAPPA HEAD VISITS CAMPUS ON TOUR

Anna E. Hall of Denver, Colorado, supreme president of Phi Theta Kappa, national honorary commerce fraternity for women, was a guest on the campus Tuesday afternoon and evening. Mrs. Hall will also visit the Corvallis chapter, from where she will continue her usual northwestern tour of inspection. A dinner at the Anchorage was given in honor of Mrs. Hall by the members of Phi Theta Kappa.

Four Seniors Candidates for Rhodes Scholarship

Qualities of Manhood, Force of Character, Leadership, and Physical Vigor Essential to Election

Within five days the University of Oregon's candidate for the Rhodes Scholarship will be selected. Four seniors signified their intention of coming up as candidates for the scholarship, according to a statement made after the meeting of the University's committee on selection which met late yesterday afternoon to discuss the aspiring candidates.

Claude Robinson, a senior in economics, Arthur Rosebraugh, a senior in law, Clinton Howard, a senior in journalism, and Meryl Shaver, a senior in philosophy, are aspirants for the honor, although other students interested may still contend for the selection.

The scholarship is to Oxford and amounts to 350 pounds a year, or approximately $1700. It is tenable for three years.

On the evening of October 8, the University committee on selection will summon by appointment those students who have declared their intention of coming up for selection. At this time the informal preliminary verbal examination of the candidates will be held.

The central state committee will meet in Portland on December 8, all representatives chosen by the various colleges in the state, to select the Rhodes' scholar. It is to that meeting that the University's candidate will go to be further examined. The University is entitled to send five men to the Portland meeting, but will in probability send only one or two.

Other colleges in the state which in former years have sent candidates to the central committee are O. A. C., Reed college, and occasionally some denominational college in the state.

The qualifications for a Rhodes' scholar specify that he shall be a male citizen of the United States, unmarried, between the ages of 19 and 25, and have completed his sophomore year in college. The selection is based on qualities of manhood, force of character, leadership, special ability in a particular line, and physical vigor as shown by interest in outdoor sports.

Formerly Grook was a necessary requirement, but there is no restriction at the present time on a candidate who has had no studies in the classics.

The successful University candidate will be announced after the preliminary examination, October 8, and if elected the successful Rhodes' scholar on December 8 in Portland, he will enter Oxford in October, 1924.

Selections are held two consecutive years after the intervention of one year, and as last year was an intervening year, no choice was made at that time.

Kirby Miller of the University was the selection in 1920. In 1921 Reed college produced the successful scholar.

Dr. George Rebec heads the University committee on selection. Other members are Dean Colvin V. Dymont, and Prof. Donald Barnes. Mrs. George Fitch is secretary of the committee.

RECREATIONAL SPORTS ARRANGED FOR FACULTY

Physical Education Instructors To Supervise Work

The physical education department has arranged to make this year the biggest so far in the way of providing more recreational activity for the faculty of the University. By the payment of a fee of two dollars for a locker, at the business office, the faculty will be entitled to use of the department and its instructors, and will have the same instruction and privileges of regular enrolled students. With the completion of the new tennis courts this form of exercise will be most popular it is thought. If there is enough demand a part of the courts will be reserved for faculty use. It is planned to have an inter-faculty tennis tournament before the rainy season starts.

Last year the classes were so popular that the members came every day instead of the scheduled three times a week. This year the schedule will be every day in the week except Saturday and Sunday. Approximately 35 per cent of the faculty were in some sort of activity under the physical education department. The most popular sports being soccer and volley ball. This year instruction will be given in volley ball, handball, swimming, boxing, wrestling, basketball and tennis. Groups will meet every day after four o'clock, or if prevented from meeting at that time, at any hour in the day at regular class hours.

"Systematic exercise is absolutely necessary to good health" said Prof. H. A. Scott, in speaking of the value of faculty physical education. "It gives the faculty an opportunity to meet in friendly competition and gets the members on a plane of play and fun; and is what the department strives for."

W. A. A. TO HAVE HANDBOOK

Volume Intended to Make New Students Familiar with Activities

The W. A. A. handbook, a new publication of the Women's Athletic Association, will make its first appearance on the campus the latter part of this week. It is being published primarily for the purpose of familiarizing new students with the activities of the organization, and for stimulating interest in athletics on the part of University women.

The cover of the handbook is blue, with gold lettering. The contents include pictures and accounts of women's sports, a code of sportsmanship, and explanation of the point system, and the constitution and by-laws of the association.

Mary Jane Hathaway is in charge of editing the publication, having completed the work begun last year by Margaret Alexander, who has not returned to the campus.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT IMPROVED THIS YEAR

Colds Not Dangerous Yet, Says Dr. Livingston in Report

There is no serious epidemic of colds threatening the campus at this time, according to Dr. W. K. Livingston, head of the University health service. The fact that many students have colds is a condition which is consistent with the weather and the excitement and strain of registration week, said Dr. Livingston. He also stated that students could assist the health service in its operations by coming for early treatment and advice. By doing this they would not only relieve the congestion of work for the staff of the department, but they would save much of their own valuable school time as well. A fee of one dollar is now asked for night calls.

During the past summer there was much improvement made in the clinical equipment of the health service, and every effort is being made by the staff of the department to serve the students to the limit of its capacity, said Dr. Livingston.

Dr. W. E. Savage, who was on the staff of the health service last year, has gone to Portland to practice, and Dr. John Huston, graduate of the University of Oregon medical school, has taken his place. Miss Ruth Harvey, who acted as record clerk at the dispensary last year, has resigned to take up academic work at the University, and her place with the health service has been taken by Miss Mary Hudley from the Massachusetts General hospital at Boston.

CLASS ADVISERS CHOSEN

New Method Is Adopted by Council To Maintain Faculty Sponsors

A new method was adopted yesterday for the maintenance of faculty advisers for the student body classes at a meeting held in President Campbell's office between the University administration and the presidents of the senior, junior, and sophomore classes.

It was decided to have a permanent adviser for each class, instead of the present system in which the advisers are carried along from year to year.

In this way the senior, or junior, or other class faculty members would be conversant with the duties of the class to which he had been assigned and would be of greater value to the officers who could hear first hand the experiences of the preceding class, and so be able to avoid many costly mistakes.

FIVE FULL TEAMS PLAY FROSH BALL

Good Material Drills Daily On Kincaid Under Direction of Williams, Rinehart and Earl

ALL COACHES KNOW GAME

Beef and Willingness Assets to Successful Eleven This Year Season Prediction not Ready

With more than five full teams from which to select a group to represent the green cappers on the gridiron, Coaches Baz Williams, Billy Rinehart, and Bob Earl are drilling away each afternoon on old Kincaid field. The material for this year's freshman team looks as good as that of last year and that is saying quite a good deal considering the strength of the yearlings then.

Williams Back

Baz Williams, a three-year letterman who turned out such a successful freshman squad last year, is back on the job again this year and is teaching the same tricks that he learned in the days of Hugo Bezdeck. Assisting him this year are two other Oregon stars of other days, Billy Rinehart and Bob Earl. Rinehart, or "Rino", as he was called in "them days that has gone forever", played quarter for the Lemon Yellow for several years and after graduation played under the colors of the Multnomah Club. Incidentally, it was during this time that Billy had a big hand in giving his alma mater the only trouncing that it has ever received on Hayward field. He is now centering his attention on the freshman backfield aspirants.

Bob Earl, the third of the trio, played his collegiate football in the days of the S. A. T. C. Last year he returned to the campus to don the baseball cap that is symbolic of the Oregon coaching staff. This year he is doing his stuff for the freshman line-men.

Season Still Early

While it is a little too early in the season to make any bold predictions as to the outcome of the freshman tilts or as to the probable personnel of the team, it is safe enough to make the old showman statement that they will make it tough for their opponents. If beef and willingness have anything to do with it, however, it looks as if the freshman team of this year will duplicate the performance of the youngsters of '26.

A. S. U. O. OFFICE MOVED

Old Shack Also House Headquarters For Physical Education

Headquarters of the school of physical education, formerly located in the "Ten Million Dollar Shack," behind Johnson hall, has been moved to the one-story frame building occupied last year by the school of journalism. The old journalism "shack" was remodeled inside this summer to supply needed office space.

Jack Benefiel, graduate manager, and Claude Robinson, president of the Associated Students, have also moved their offices from the building erected to hold the headquarters of the endowment drive. They too can be found in the old "shack."

Since the school of physical education, the graduate manager and the president of the Associated Students have moved out, the gift campaign headquarters have expanded. It occupies all the space in its building, except the one room still used by the alumni secretary.

The editor of the Emerald is still domiciled in the old shack, however, and an extra room which has been left vacant, is to be the future home of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalistic fraternity.

GRADUATE OF 1897 DIES

Prominent Attorney On One Of First U. Of O. Football Teams

Lee M. Travis, graduate from the University in 1897, and an attorney in Eugene for 22 years, died at his home in Eugene Monday afternoon.

Mr. Travis while on the campus played on one of the first football teams organized at the University. He also held the long distance championship for walking which was a very popular sport at the University at that time. During his lifetime Mr. Travis was prominent in Oregon law and politics.

Fredericka Travis, junior at the University is a daughter of Mr. Travis. Funeral services will be held at the Veatch chapel this morning.
