Cut the Board Bill

One of the hobbies of President Campbell has been the encouragement of more living organizations among the students of the University. One of the chief matters of interest to the President has been the observation of the welfare of the established organizations. Because of the mass of business which requires the attention of the executive, the task of developing cooperation among the various organizations has been delegated to Dean Walker, new director of the student loan fund and student adviser.

It is Mr. Walker's idea that great advantages will accrue from the comparison of the experiences which these living organizations, particularly the fraternities, have with marketing and supplying food to their members. He will endeavor to secure the interest of the fraternity heads in a movement to act together in matters of gathering data and statistics which will reveal the ups and downs of fraternity management.

It is felt that the organizations are at a disadvantage, having, as a rule, to suffer a change of internal administration each year. A permanent official is in a position to study more thoroughly the problems of the house manager and determine how an ultimate saving to the individual may be brought about. It is certain that board bills in the various organizations reach different figures. Through investigation, the methods of management can be made public for the benefit of all concerned. The organization which has successful management and inexpensive board may thus show the others how it is done.

The plan is a commendable one. University regulations permit the student living committee of the faculty a quasi-supervision of the affairs of student living organizations. The faculty, of course, does not intrude in purely organization affairs. Such is not the plan at present. As the idea stands, all living organizations will reap mutual benefit if they accept the plan as conceived and enter into the spirit of cooperation.

Girl Rooters Wanted

At 3:30 today Oregon women are invited to visit football practice on Hayward field. Bill and Shy think that the presence of the fair ones will stimulate their husky proteges to nobler effort. The showing of the men at the first rally was discouraging, not to say disgraceful. The thundering thousand were replaced by a mere handful of loyal rooters who braved the rain to show the team and coaches that they were behind them. Let the girls set the example today.

"ARMED CAR" AT CASTLE

A picture that will delight everyone who sees it opened a three days' engagement at the Castle theater Monday—today last day. It is Goldwyn's first King Vidor production, "Three Wise Fools," fashioned by the director himself from the successful stage play by Aulin Strong as produced in New York by John Golden and Winchell Smith. This comedy drama had a three-years' run on the speaking stage.
