

DIRECTOR WRITES DRAMATIC STORY

Powers of Extension School
Has New Tale Accepted

LOCAL SETTING FEATURED

Author Has Had Many Works
Taken by Magazines

Alfred Powers, director of social welfare and visual instruction in the extension division, has a story published in the October issue of the St Nicholas entitled "The Vanished Riders."

Mr. Powers has had several stories published during the past year.

The setting of "The Vanished Riders" is in the Umpqua canyon between Jacksonville and Roseburg. The plot describes the manner in which two boys outwit a group of hostile Indians by reversing the shoes on their horse's feet. The incident is an actual happening and the atmosphere created by Mr. Powers converts the plot into a very likeable story.

Other stories written and published by Mr. Powers include "Marooned in Crater Lake," "The Hickory Bank," "Robinson Crusoe of Oregon," "The Dinner Call," and "Three Barrels of Water." The October Century Magazine says of "Marooned in Crater Lake," "Many of our readers will remember it, for it was unusually interesting and exceedingly clever." This story told how two boys constructed and flew a kite, thus attracting attention and saving their lives when they had been marooned.

The "Hickory Bank" is now being used in a fourth reader in the New York City and some New England public schools.

"The Dinner Call" is as fascinating as the rest. It deals with a girl who has been left alone in a cabin in the Indian country. She prevented an attack by a band of Indians when she set the dinner table for four persons and blew the dinner horn as if summoning someone to eat. This also is an actual happening.

Mr. Powers expects to publish the stories in a series, forming a collection of youthful adventure stories in Oregon.

VESPER PLANS ANNOUNCED

Armistice Day Will be First Service;
Speaker to be Secured

The first Vespers service for this year will probably be held on Armistice Day, November 11, according to the tentative plans made at the first meeting of the committee recently. Other possible dates will be Christmas services on December 16, January 13, February 10, Easter music on March 9, April 13, and Mother's Day services on May 11.

It is hoped that the Methodist church can be used for the services again this year. Arrangements are now being made for securing speakers for each of the services.

The committee appointed consists of three faculty members, John Stark Evans, M. H. Douglas, and Prof. E. E. DeCou; three student members, Aubrey Furry, Beulah Clark and Florence Buck; the Y. W. C. A. secretary, Miss Florence Magowan and the Y. M. C. A. secretary, Mr. Davis.

A. S. U. O. OFFICES MOVED

Regular Hours to be Kept by President,
Secretary, and Manager

The offices of the student body officers have been moved to the old journalism shack this year. A great many students have been wandering around hunting the offices during the last few days, according to Claude Robinson, student body president.

The officers keep regular office hours, daily, and a knowledge of their schedule will prevent a student from waiting. The president of the A. S. U. O., Claude Robinson, and the graduate manager, Jack Benefiel, will be in their offices from 10 to 11 a. m. every day except Saturday and Sunday, and from 3 to 4 p. m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Marcella Berry, A. S. U. O. secretary has her office hours from 1 to 2 p. m. every day but Saturday and Sunday. These hours will be strictly kept, Mr. Robinson declares, so that students may be sure of finding the officers there at those times.

turned in, according to Hank Foster, who has charge of the basketball tournament this year. He urges that they be handed to him right away. Only seven men can be given credit and these seven must be members of the team—the first team and two substitutes. Physical ability men can sign up for basketball beginning next Monday but they must sign up within a week.

Under the management of Henry Foster, the do-not basketball tournament promises to be of even more interest than it was last year. Every afternoon and evening the basketball courts are filled with embryonic hoopsters. With high school stars on many of the teams and the old men in others the ratings may be upset and the weak teams of last year come out strong this year.

The meeting of the intra-mural sports committee held Thursday was the first since 1921. The committee is composed of Dean Bovard, Virgil Earl, Bill Hayward, Shy Huntington, Harry Scott, Henry Foster, and Edwin Fraser.

RECEPTION TO BE GIVEN FOR UNIVERSITY STAFF

Mrs. Virginia Judy Esterley, dean of women, Mrs. Murray Warner, donor of the Warner art collection, and Miss Florence Magowan, Y. W. C. A. secretary, will stand in the receiving line with Dr. and Mrs. Campbell at the president's reception at the Woman's building, Saturday night. This is the annual reception given by President Campbell for all the members of the University staff. The reception will start at eight o'clock.
