RUDD ANNOUNCES EMERALD STAFF

Monte Byers Appointed Sports Editor; Ted Janes Named as Associate Managing Editor

HOWARD TO HEAD SUNDAY

Further Additions to be Made in Two Weeks; Rudd Edits Sunday and Daily Editorials

First staff appointments to the Emerald are announced today by Arthur Rudd, editor, after a conference with the editorial board. Further appointments will be made within two weeks, with a complete reorganization of the staff every six weeks.

Ted Janes, University correspondent for the Oregon journal, has been named associate managing editor, and will have supervision of the night editors.

The positions of day editors will be filled by Taylor Huston, Velma Farnham, Margaret Morrison, Rosalia Keber, Marion Lowry, and Junior Seton.

Night Editors Named

Those named as night editors are Rupert Bullivant, Douglas Wilson, Jack Burleson, Walter Coover, and Lawrence Cook.

The sports staff will be headed by Monte Byers, with Bill Akers and Kenneth Cooper assisting as writers.

A separate directorate will have charge of editing the Sunday issue, under the direction of Don Woodward, managing editor of the daily. The regular daily staff of writers will be used, a list being printed each Sunday naming the contributors to that issue.

Clinton Howard, as Sunday editor, will head the staff. Al Trachman is named assignment editor and will have charge of gathering material for the issue. Leonard Lerwill will be at the desk as daily editor and George Belknap will be night editor.

There will be no separation between the editorial pages of the daily and Sunday issues. Both will be directly under the supervision of Arthur Rudd, editor.

Fraser Heads P. I. N. S.

The Pacific inter-collegiate news service editor will be Edwin Fraser. Associate editor of the P. I. N. S. service will be Ben Maxwell. Exchanges will be headed by Pauline Bonduant as editor. Norborne Berkeley will be associate editor of exchanges.

Twenty-two reporters have been named on the news staff. These were chosen on the excellence and quantity of work turned into the Emerald during the past weeks.

Those appointed are: Geraldine Root, Margaret Skavian, Norma Wilson, Henryetta Lawrence, Jeanne Gay, Catherine Spall, Lester Turnbaugh, Georgianna Gerlinger, Webster Jones, Margaret Vincent, Phyllis Coplan, Katherine Kressman, Frances Sanford, Eugenia Stickland, Frances Simpson, Katherine Watson, Velma Meredith, Mary West, Emily Houston, Beth Fariss, Marian Playter, and Helen Reynolds.

Further additions to the news staff will be made from time to time as the reporters trying-out prove their ability.

Munly Makes Appointment

A special staff of feature writers will be created later in the year, to give mention to those showing marked ability as reporters or special writers.

One more appointment made by Leo Munly, business manager of the Emerald, is the naming of Alan Woolley as assistant circulation manager.

The new masthead will be run in the Wednesday issue.

Senior Men Ready for Thrills and Excitement of Leap Week

Hear ye! All you wearers of the ten quart hats and the excuse for a labial adornment. This is the week of weeks, when the male element of the class of '24 comes into its own and struts about in its brightest raiment for the weaker sex to give the once over and choose according to its taste.

'Tis leap week, men, and you should be just as excited as, when a child, you hung the stockings over the mantle and waited for Santa to slip you the surprise. Now you sit by the phone and wait for the ring and then you grasp the listen handle and gurgle, "A senior, where do we eat, and what dance do we take in?"

Men of '24, prepare for one three-day course of joyous festivity when the femininity of the clan will spend its

Japanese Alumnus Will Help Rebuild Devastated Areas

"If my services are required I shall be glad to aid my country," said Jo Tominaga, Japanese citizen and former Oregon student who stopped here Friday on his way back to Japan. Mr. Tominaga graduated with the class of 1916, after making a brilliant record in architecture.

Since his graduation he has been in France in the army, and in New York City, connected with the architectural firms of McKim, Meade and White, and Helmle and Corbett. Now he is going back to aid his stricken countrymen in rebuilding the devastated areas. He will visit a sister in Osaka, and is anxious to hear word of his sister and brother-in-law in Tokio. He does not know whether they escaped the earthquake or not.

He is also planning to visit the graves of his parents. The trip to Japan had been planned earlier, by way of Europe. Since the disaster, however, he is going direct, sailing from Seattle on the S. S. Shizuoka Maru.

He could not resist stopping over in Eugene to see Miss Camilla Leach and others of the architecture department who were "my friends on the campus," he said.

Mr. Tominaga is especially interested in city-planning, having worked on the construction of the Bush house in London, and devised a new system of traffic regulation for New York City that is being seriously discussed in architectural circles in the East.

PHI DELTA AND SIGMA CHI

WIN TWO DO-NUT GAMES

Friendly Hall and Kappa Sigma Lose First Contests

The do-nut basketball season snapped to a start yesterday afternoon when the Phi Deltas bowled the Friendly hall boys for a 15 to 10 victory and the Sigma Chi's walked to a snappy finish of 17 to 13 over the Kappa Sigs.

The first game was rather slow, both teams showing, by the numerous personal fouls and bad shots, a lack of practice. Tim Sausser gave Friendly the edge in the first half of the game with two baskets, but the Phi Deltas clouded up in the last half and rained shots through the basket to a good finish. The lineups were:

Friendly Hall—Woods, C., Sausser, R. F., Benson, L. F., Sayre, E. G., Napier, L. G. Reed substituted for Napier in last half.

Phi Deltas—Tuck, C., Hobson, R. F., Gerkie, L. F., Watson, F. G., Murphy, L. G.

The Sigma Chi and Kappa Sig game which immediately followed was fast except in a spot here and there where the Kappa Sigs were prone to have a little futile passing practice. The first half was a toss up, the half score being 10 to 9 for the Sigma Chi.

The Kappa Sigs lost their thunder in the second half and the Sigma Chi walked away with a score of 17 to 13. Rhinhardt and Palmer took the honors.

The lineups were:

Sigma Chi—Palmer, C., Stoddard, R. F., Rhinhardt, L. F., Burton, R. G., Ringle, L. G.

Kappa Sig—Ocherburg, C., Johnson, R. F., Fraser, L. F., Pierson, R. G., Leak, L. G. Byers substituted for Johnson and Johnson for Pearson.

LESTER TURNBAUGH CHOSEN TO ASSIST IN ORGANIZING

William Osgood, president of the student volunteers, has chosen Lester Turnbaugh to assist him in organizing the students of this campus. A meeting of all student volunteers on the campus will be called in the near future to elect officers. Mr. Osgood is from Linfield college and has charge of the work throughout the state.

shackles freely upon its choices from the ranks of the manly herd. For three years the women have waited for this opportunity and now it is here and when the coin of the realm is considered, they have set the sky as the limit.

Beginning with the senior open house, when the fair ones scamper from house to house and are received by the all-high nobles, there will be no let-up in the festivities, which include—well, we don't know, but they will be good, for the ladies of '24 have always been the best little entertainers.

The dates will soon be burning the wires and it is rumored that several of the boys have dates already. Hurry up, women, and call 'em up, but maybe you had better wait until open house and then breeze around and give the eligibles the once-over.

SIGMA XI REQUIRES RESEARCH THESIS

Washington, Stanford, Idaho and California Also Have Chapters on Pacific Coast

NEW OFFICERS ARE CHOSEN

Charter Given Unanimously; Fraternity in Unique Place Among Honor Organizations

Sigma Xi, national honorary science research society installed at the University of Oregon last June, holds a unique position in college honor societies, in that it admits to its active membership only those faculty members, post graduates and seniors who have published some piece of research work, and to associate membership, those who are especially interested in research and who contemplate future publication.

Oregon was unanimously granted a chapter at the national convention of the society held jointly at Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, last December. There are twenty-seven members in the Oregon chapter. A meeting will be held tonight to outline plans for the year.

Chapter, Science Club at First

The Oregon chapter was originally the local science club. Officers in the society are Dr. A. E. Caswell, of the engineering department, president; Dr. G. E. Burget of the University medical school at Portland, vice-president; Dr. H. B. Yocum, of the zoology department, secretary; and Dr. H. R. Crossland of the psychology department, treasurer. There are two boards of electors; the members of one serve for one year and the members of the other for two years. Those who are on the board for one year are Dr. H. B. Torrey of the zoology department and Dr. E. S. Conklin of the psychology department. Those on the two-year board are Dr. O. F. Stafford of the chemistry department and Dr. A. L. Packard of the geology department.

Eastern Men Install

Other western institutions having chapters of Sigma Xi are University of Washington, the University of California, the University of Idaho and Stanford University. At the installation of the Oregon chapter last June, Professor Henry B. Ward of the University of Illinois and national president of Sigma Xi, and Dean Edward Ellery of Union college, Schenectady, New York, officiated.

The twenty-seven charter members of the local chapter are William F. Allen, Robert L. Benson, Albert E. Caswell, Edwin T. Hodge, Samuel C. Kohn, Earl L. Packard, Frederick S. Shinn, Warren D. Smith, Orin F. Stafford, Herbert G. Tanner, Harry B. Torrey, Harry B. Yocum, Roger J. Williams, Anne Hardy, Hazel Hauck, W. P. Boynton, George E. Burget, E. S. Conklin, H. R. Crossland, H. D. Hoskins, Olof Larsell, E. H. McAlister, W. E. Milne, Harold B. Myers, H. J. Sears, R. H. Wheeler

WOMEN TO ELECT OFFICER

Vice President of League to be Chosen Today by Special Ballot

The special Women's league, election for the purpose of selecting a vice president, will be held today from 10 to 2 in front of the library. The candidates for the position are Gwladys Keeney and Virginia Pearson, both of whom are very well known on the campus.

Every woman in the University belongs to the league and every member is urged to vote at this election. The teas given by the league at the Woman's building every Tuesday afternoon during the year will begin Tuesday, October 23. These teas are for the purpose of bringing the women of the University together and are of a very informal nature.

CO-OP MEMBER RESIGNS

Ben Maxwell Says Lack of Knowledge of Management is Reason

Ben Maxwell, associate P. I. N. S. editor of the Emerald and University correspondent, is no longer a member of the board of the Co-operative store. The only reason which Maxwell would give for his action is that he knows so little about the internal workings of the Co-op store, that he could not defend it if it were attacked. He also authorized the statement that student misunderstanding concerning the store had something to do with his resignation.

OLD STYLE ROOTER CAPS MAINTAINED

Headgear Sold at Co-op is Not Official One, State Myers, Robinson and MacGregor

OREGON KNIGHTS MISLED

Oral Agreement With Students Declared Unauthorized by A. S. U. O.; Money Refunded

The official rooters' caps of the A. S. U. O. are the old style headgear with the "O" in front and the tassle on top.

(Signed)

JACK MYERS, Yell King.

The above statement by Yell King Myers was authorized yesterday afternoon by Claude Robinson, student body president, after considerable complaint had been received at A. S. U. O. headquarters because of the appearance of a bunch of new "gob" rooters' caps which were recently put on sale through the Oregon Knights.

New Hats Sold

Ed Tapfer, president of the Knights, said that he was given to understand by the Co-op, which owns the caps, that they had been passed upon by the student body. After a number of the new headpieces had been sold, he was informed by Claude Robinson, student body president, that no such authorization had been made, and the sale was called off and some money refunded. John Mac Gregor, ex-president, has denied that any action had been taken one way or another by last year's student council.

Student Approval Verbal

The misunderstanding is thought to have arisen over the fact that the new caps were submitted to a number of prominent students, who agreed orally that they "were all right." The objection registered at A. S. U. O. headquarters was that the management of the Co-operative store overstepped its rights in calling the caps official ones.

It is thought likely that the new headpieces will be considered at a later date for adoption and it is not at all improbable that they may be adopted, according to Myers. It was felt that for the sake of uniformity the old style caps had better be maintained for the rest of this year.

STUDENT BODY PICTURE MAY NOW BE ORDERED

Prints in Two Sizes Procurable This Week Only; Campus Panorama Also Photographed

The first prints of the student body picture, which was taken after the first assembly of the year, have been received on the campus and, in the opinion of student body officials, it is the best group picture that has ever been taken of Oregon students. There are about 1800 people in the group and practically every face is distinct.

The picture was taken by photographers from Los Angeles, and officers in the gift campaign plan to use it in their publicity work. The background with its clear reproductions of the two women's residence halls and the Woman's building furnishes an attractive view of the campus.

Students will be given an opportunity during this week, only to order the picture. Everett Ogle is in charge of the sale and has appointed men who will go to the houses to take orders. The pictures come in two sizes, one about four feet long and eight inches wide which is offered for $1.50 and the smaller size about half that long which costs $1.00. During their stay on the campus the photographers also took a panoramic picture of the campus which takes in the library, the Pioneer, Friendly hall, a view up Thirteenth street with the men's gym in the background, the sun dial, and the Administration building. Orders will also be taken for this picture.

DEAN ESTERLY TO RECEIVE FOR WOMEN STUDENTS TOMORROW

Mrs. Virginia Judy Esterly, dean of women, will be at home to all women students of the University at her home on Wednesday afternoon, following the custom of her office in receiving students once a week at tea. The hours will be from four to six o'clock. Mrs. Esterly adds a most cordial welcome to the announcement and hopes in this way to become acquainted with many of the girls whom it is impossible for her to become familiar with during office hours. Due to the fact that the apartment of the dean of women in the Woman's building is at present being used during the re-establishment of the Murray Warner collection, Mrs. Esterly will receive at her own home at 667 East 12th street.

Architects Will Have New Style of "Open House"

Evenings which would seem to have the flavor of student life in the Latin quarter in Paris, are looked forward to by the architects' club on seeing a bulletin posted in the new drafting room. It states that there will be club night at the W. R. B. Wilcox house every Wednesday night, open to any and all members.

"If you have anything to say come there and say it," reads the little notice. Those who wish to listen are invited to go and hear what someone else has to say. Those in an argufying mood may call and discuss to their hearts' content.

"If you have a picture to show, a book to read, or a story to tell, spring them there. Tobacco is not taboo. Canned music of a sort is always on tap. There is a kitchen, dishes, and gas stove. Drop in if you feel like it and bring along any non-member friend you have in tow."

Frank Dorman, president of the architects' club says that the members are ready to take timid freshmen of the department under their wings to join in accepting Prof. Wilcox's invitation.

LAW FRATERNITY WILL BE SOLELY HONORARY

New Men's Local Made Up of Old House Members

The local chapter of Delta Theta Phi professional law fraternity which has maintained a living organization on the University of Oregon campus for the past three years last night, by a vote of its chapter members, reverted to the status of an honorary fraternity. The reason given for the change was the impracticability of maintaining the house in view of the small size of the University law school. The custom of the national organization of Delta Theta Phi is to remain a non-living organization except in universities and law schools sufficiently large to warrant the maintenance of a house.

With the withdrawal of the fraternity as a living organization, the house formerly occupied by Delta Theta Phi will be taken over by a newly formed local fraternity. The local has taken the house name of Psi Kappa and will petition a national social fraternity. Psi Kappa is composed almost entirely of members who were living in the house. The charter members, pledges, and officers will be announced later.

Delta Theta Phi announce the election of the following officers for the present year: Dean, J. Mason Dillard; Vice Dean, David S. Husted; Tribune, I. F. Phipps; Master of Ritual, Bert Gooding; Clerk of the Exchequer, Harvey Covalt; Clerk of the Rolls, Armand Fuchs; Baliff, Robert Chrisman.

The local chapter of Delta Theta Phi is known as Deady Senate. It was installed on the campus in 1913 and became a living organization here in 1920. Nationally Delta Theta Phi is one of the strongest of the legal fraternities, having chapter at practically all of the larger law schools. There are chapters on the Pacific coast at the universities of Washington, California, Stanford and Oregon. In all, there are fifty-three senates of this law fraternity, thirteen of which were installed within the past year. The national organization was founded at Cleveland law school in 1900. Oregon chapter includes 12 active members.

ATHLETIC PROGRAM FOR YEAR OUTLINED BY OREGON CLUB

At the Oregon club meeting in the "Y" but last night, Louis Carlson, president, outlined the social and athletic program for the year. "The club," he said, would as usual feature sports, chief among them being basketball. He set next Thursday, the day they are scheduled to meet Delta Theta Phi, as the time at which the final team would be chosen from the fifteen competitors. "We will put all of our energy into one team this year," he said. The club is to have entrants in the cross country race, and they will also enter wrestling contestants.

DEBUSE APPOINTED ON STATE COMMITTEE FOR WELFARE

Dr. B. W. DeBuse, of the school of education, was recently appointed by Governor Pierce as a member of a committee, which is to make a study of welfare problems of the state. Dr. DeBuse was asked to make recommendations as to the most efficient methods of handling these problems with a view of coordinating and standardizing the work of counties in the interests of efficiency and economy. The report was sent to all county judges of the state and all other people interested in child welfare work.

TEAM'S STRENGTH SHOWN IN BATTLE

Pacific Contest Displays Drive On Part of Varsity; Shift in Lineup not Thought Likely

LATHAM READY TO START

Mills and Bailey as Guards Show Development; Ability on Defense Not Yet Tested

The winning of the Pacific game Saturday by the substantial margin of 23 points demonstrated the offensive power shown by Oregon in the Willamette game two weeks ago was not a fluke. Pacific has met some of the strongest teams in the conference and, although defeated by them, has never before this year had as great a score piled up against them.

Although Hunk Latham was not in his accustomed place in the backfield, the smooth working of the combination which Shy used showed Oregon will not have to depend on one or two men for her driving power. Latham was out in a suit last night and will probably be in good shape for the Whitman game next Friday.

No Serious Injuries

There were no serious injuries in Friday's contest and the coaches let the men off with a light workout which consisted of running, punting and signal practice.

In last night's practice there was no shake-up in either the line or backfield, which indicates the coaches are fairly well satisfied with the work in the game Saturday of the combination that started. Al Sinclair, Shields and Fat Wilson are still debating as to who will pass the ball as a regular from the center position. All three worked in Saturday's game and all three were given additional tries last night. A dependable and fighting center is one of the many men who must be developed before the coaches can turn out a champion aggregation.

Mills and Bailey put up Fight

Mills and Bailey came through Saturday's trial without injury and put up their usual fight. More football experience and these men will develop into guards of the Floyd Shields type. They are both lighter than the usual guard, but are fast. Mills' experience as a wrestler has developed his physique and fighting ability so that football seems natural for him. Jack Bliss was forced to miss practice last night, by order of the doctor, but promises to be out in a suit again tonight.

First Rally is Tomorrow

Rousing Send-Off to be Given Before Departure for Pendleton

The first big rally parade of the year will take place Wednesday afternoon at 3:15 to see the team off to Pendleton. All classes will be dismissed and students will congregate in front of the library, where the line will form. The band is to be out to lead the march and all band men will be expected there with their instruments. The rally ends at the depot where the team is to be given a rousing send-off with yells and speeches. The train leaves at 4:12. This game with Whitman at Pendleton is the first conference game of the year.

Y. W. SECRETARY RECEIVES MANY APPLICANTS FOR JOBS

Within the last week many calls have been received at the Y. W. C. A., according to Miss Florence Magowan, secretary, for girls who want to work for their board or their room and board in private homes. Because these calls have come in so recently she has not been able to fill the places, but any girl desiring a place may see Miss Magowan soon in order that arrangements may be made.

DEAN HALE GIVES TALK AT LAW STUDENTS' MEETING

The first meeting of the Association of law school students was held yesterday morning in the Oregon building. Ivan Phipps was elected president for the current year. Dean Hale gave a welcoming address to the students, and Art Rosebraugh spoke on "The Honor System as Practiced in the Law School."
