

GREATER OREGON LEADERS NAMED

Randall Jones Appointed Head of Committee for 1923-4; Unique Purpose is in View

AIM TO INCREASE QUALITY

Oregon Booklet Will be Sent Out to High School Seniors Explaining College Life

There is a popular fallacy in the minds of a great many people throughout the state that the purpose of the "Greater Oregon" movement has been to secure a larger number of students for the University. In announcing the appointment of this year's Greater Oregon committee, Claude Robinson, president of the Associated Students, desires to stress the fact of the real meaning of the plan. Quality and not quantity in freshmen classes is the thing that will give the University the prestige that she requires.

Jones is Chairman

This year's Greater Oregon committee includes Randall Jones, chairman; Winifred Graham, Frances Simpson and Rodney Keating. There is to be a unique purpose this year, in the form of an experiment. The committee intends to publish a booklet for high school seniors, giving the sort of information that is not included in the catalogue but which every prospective student wants to know.

In the University catalogues of the high school libraries, the pages which are the blackest and the most thumb-worn are the few which deal with the student life. What the high school seniors want in the line of information is not all courses and hours, the committee believes, but an idea of what their life at Oregon will be like.

Booklet is Planned

What one should really get out of college life, the realization that the scholastic ideal is the thing of primary importance, the common sense view of college, ways of dress, student body activities, social possibilities, campus customs and traditions, this is the sort of thing that the prepper can never get enough of, and it is the sort of thing of which he has least. Therefore the committee plans this booklet. It is to be written very carefully and put in the hands of high school seniors all over the state, with the ultimate purpose of drawing the right sort of prepper to the Oregon campus.

The committee also plans to send speakers to the various high schools of Oregon during the vacation periods to give a first hand description of Oregon, its plans and ideals.

PHI DELTS WIN FROM KAPPA DELTA PHI 20-5

Phi Gamma Delta Team Beats Sigma Pi Tau With 21 to 9 Score; Two Games Scheduled for Today

The Phi Delta Theta basketball team defeated Kappa Delta Phi yesterday afternoon in the do-nut league 20 to 5, in a game which was much closer than the score would indicate.

Both fives used a fast, dribbling, clean passing offensive, which was marred at times by unnecessary roughness. The Phi Deltas had a slight edge and found the basket with greater regularity than did their opponents, thus accounting for the one-sided score. Gerke and Hobson starred for the Phi Deltas, while Tetz and Hermanson played well for the losers.

The Phi Gamma Delta team had little difficulty in winning from the Sigma Pi Tau hoopers in the first game yesterday, 21 to 9. The losers tried valiantly but were outclassed by the Fijis, who held the lead throughout the game. Schmeer and Flynn played nice ball for the winners and Houser was the outstanding player for the losers.

The games for today.

PRESIDENT CAMPBELL TO SPEAK AT FORUM LUNCHEON

On November 19 President P. L. Campbell of the University will be the speaker at the weekly luncheon of the members' forum of the Portland chamber of commerce at their club by the request of their chairman. This date will be significant as it comes during "Education Week" in Portland when special emphasis is to be laid on educational topics in the meeting of this group. President Campbell's subject will be "American Education."

Frosh Wipe Paint Off Senior Bench With Green Lids

"Whack, whack, whack," resounded the senior paddles as the frosh ran the gauntlet yesterday noon in front of the library after each little one had helped wash some unruly green paint off the beloved senior bench with his precious lid of green.

Some enthusiastic and original (?) babes Tuesday night attempted to show their artistic ability by decorating the famed bench with the color of freshness. The senior ceps were apparently pleased with the attempted masterpiece and to show their appreciation they fostered the noon massacre. The frosh were lined up, given a can of gasoline, and told to "go to it." After each had done his bit the only means of escape was down between two lines of wild eyed seniors with waiting paddles.

The freshmen, to show their delight, immediately gave a rousing yell for the guiding and fatherly seniors, and finished the occasion with several real varsity yells. Of course the frosh were not original enough to think of the cheers, so credit for that goes to the seniors along with the credit of correcting the erring youngsters.

The senior bench was not built to be eternally decorated—it is a thing to be respected—a thing to be looked forward to with high hopes.

Y.M.-Y.W. MIX FOLLOWS RALLY PARADE FRIDAY

Vaudeville and Scandal Sheet Featured in Program

The rally parade, which will be followed by the Y. M.-Y. W. mix at the armory, will leave the library at seven o'clock Friday evening, and go down Thirteenth from the campus to Alder. The procession will then pass down Eleventh to Willamette, headed by the University band.

The team will be on the stage at the armory, and Shy and Bill will make short talks. The rally at the armory will be short and snappy, being scheduled to last twenty minutes.

The mix, following the rally, is the only all-university, no-date, no-dance affair of the year.

According to Doug Farrell, general chairman, there will be plenty of excitement during the evening. There will be a ten-cent admission charge to defray expenses. Six stupendous vaudeville acts are being planned by campus talent. The Sigma Delta Chi neophytes will publish a scandal sheet which will come out during the evening.

It is rumored that many campus secrets will then be exposed for the first time. Food will be dispensed during the evening. Music will be furnished by a dance orchestra and the University band.

ANDREE PELLION TALKS AT LE FOYER FRANCAISE

Beauties and Curiosities of Native Country Described by French Student at Meeting

Mlle. Andree Pellion, French student in the University, was the principal speaker at an open meeting of Le Foyer Francaise in the Y. W. bungalow, Tuesday evening. Mlle. Pellion in her address described her home in France, emphasizing things of interest to Oregon students. Attendance at the meeting totaled 27, which, Beatrice Towers, president announced, is seven more than usual. Fredericks Schilke, a member of the glee club, sang two French songs. Miss Pellion then talked of her home in Le Mans, in the department of Sarthe, the southern part of Normandy. She described some of the curiosities of that section of the country among which are the remains of feudal castles, so old that only the lower floors can be still explored. She mentioned the druid stones, oddly shaped rock formations that are centuries old. One of the spots of beauty around La Mans, she said was the Moncelle Alps, cliffs and hills of remarkable beauty. The Le Mans cathedral, with its fine sculpture work was also described by Miss Pellion. One of the quaint superstitions of which she spoke, center about a river which runs through the town. The river has stepping stones in it and it is said that if one passes over the river by these stones without getting his feet wet, the person will be married within the year.

After Miss Pellion's talk, French games were played which involved a certain amount of French conversation. The meeting closed with the singing of the "Marseillaise."

'THE HOUR HAND' TO BE REPEATED

Folk Opera by Anna Landsbury Beck to be Produced During Next Term for Second Time

PORTLAND VISIT PLANNED

Ruth Akers and Dick Adams to Sing in Leading Parts; Other Roles Taken by Large Cast

"The Hour Hand," a folk opera by Anna Landsbury Beck, of the school of music, is now under process of reconstruction for the purpose of reproduction during the winter term. It is to be given in Portland as well as in Eugene.

"The Hour Hand," was very successfully presented on the campus last year, critics say and it is thought by those interested, that the campus will again support another production of the opera. There have been many students who did not attend the performance, and many have expressed their desires to attend the coming production.

Former Student Reorganizing Score
Mr. Charles M. Runyan, former University of Oregon student, made the original orchestral arrangements, and he is now spending a great deal of time reorganizing the entire score. He composes in a charming and original manner, and recently wrote two new trios, which are said by Mrs. Beck, to be delightful. Mr. Runyan is also taking charge of the orchestral rehearsals, which are in progress.

Henry Sheldon, a student in the art department, will again take charge of the scenery. Sheldon worked last year under the direction of Miss Kerns, of the art department, who also gave much of her special attention to the work.

The scenery was constructed in the auditorium of the music building, and has been carefully preserved. Sheldon will superintend the resetting of the scenery, and will tend to the retinting and redecorating.

Leading Roles Selected

Ruth Akers, well known soloist on the campus, will sing the soprano lead, and Dick Adams will have the tenor lead. Others in the cast will include William Kidwell, The Old Clockmaker; Edward Sox, Heinrich, The Austrian spy; Bernice Meyer, The Wine girl; Mildred Berkeley, The Cheese girl; Robert McKnight, The Jovial tyrant; Charles Dawson, Zwing, The cow-herd; Rose McGrew, Gertchen, The innkeeper's daughter; Jack High, Albricht, The clockmaker's apprentice; Dale Cooley, Peter; Felix Ramsey, Theodor; Henry Karpenstein, Frederick, an Austrian messenger. Others who will sing in various capacities, as village maids, swains, dances and village musicians are: Mabel Madden, Katherine Flood, Augusta Hamilton, Alice Baker, Marion Horsfall, Helga McGrew, Edna Nelson, Dorothy Poill, Neva Service, Arthur Gray, Ted Larson, Simion Muller, and Jimmy Leek.

Frau Kessler, the Inn Keeper, and Reginald Montague, the Englishman, have not as yet been definitely selected.

Mrs. Beck Praises Support

"The success last year of the opera was due to the loyal support of my many friends among the students in the school of music, said Mrs. Beck yesterday and outside friends who gave their untiring efforts at any and all times. I want to take this occasion to thank them, and assure them there is not a single instant when I do not remember their kindness and interest. Without this active support the production would have been impossible."

GRADS RESERVE SECTIONS FOR GAME AT HOMECOMING

An evidence of the widespread interest that is already aroused in the annual Homecoming celebration on the campus this year is the fact that two classes of graduates have already reserved special sections in the grandstand at Hayward field for the classic battle with O. A. C. Members of the classes of 1893 and 1913 and their families will sit together in special sections according to this arrangement.

IDAHO ALUMNI WILL GREET FOOTBALL TEAM AT TRAIN

A request that all alumni of the University of Idaho in Eugene be on hand to welcome the Idaho football team when they arrive at the S. P. station here next Friday at 12:00 p. m. has been made by Idaho alumni welcoming committee. This committee composed of Idaho graduates consists of Mrs. Constance Hitchcock, Miss Gertrude Stevenson and A. A. Rogers of the First National bank.

DR. REBEC TO GIVE TALK ON OXFORD

Assembly Lecture to Include Discussion of Educational Life in Foreign Countries

SORBONNE VISITED ON TOUR

Impressions of European Life and Point of View Will be Compared With American

"Oxford" will be the subject of the assembly address to be given this morning by Dr. George Rebec, dean of the graduate school of the University, who has recently returned after a year and a half of travel abroad where he spent the greater portion of his time at this great English institution. The University faculty and students will have their first opportunity to hear Dr. Rebec since his absence, and his familiarity with the University of which he will speak assures an interesting and vivid account of his recent impressions of it. During his visit there he attended a number of lectures and became thoroughly acquainted with its life and atmosphere.

Religion to be Discussed

The address will include a description of Oxford as it appears to an observer at first, according to Dr. Rebec, and he will then go into the important phases of its educational system, methods of instruction and study, organization and government among faculty and students, student life, and the influence of this representative English University on all modern higher education. "Oxford Spirit," from the intellectual standpoint, freedom of thought at Oxford, and its attitude towards present day thought, social customs, political and religious questions, will all be noted in Dr. Rebec's observations, so that his hearers may expect a panoramic view of his impressions of it as a whole as well as its interior aspect. It is possible that he will make suggestions as to points of difference in the English educational system and that of this country and indicate where, in his opinion, the American system could profit by the example of its contemporary across the Atlantic.

Visits Foreign Colleges.

During his travels Dr. Rebec visited a number of foreign Universities, and spent some time at the Sorbonne in Paris, where he met a group of the modern French philosophers. His longest sojourn however, was at Oxford, and his acquaintance with the leading men of letters who gather there from all over the world gave him unusual opportunity to compare modern aspects of learning. In the time that is allowed he will try to give to the student body a picture of this part of his observations and a conception of the process of learning as he found it in England.

SEND HOMECOMING BIDS NOW URGES CHAIRMAN

Personal Invitations Best Method of Insuring Largest Number of Alumni, Says Rockkey

The chief means of securing the largest possible number of alumni for Homecoming is through personal invitation, says Haddon Rockkey, Homecoming chairman. This is of course not the only method of publicity that is being used but it is the most effective one.

"Individuals and living organizations should begin at once to urge the attendance of their alumni," Rockkey declares. This is the time to start, he feels, in order to assure a timely invitation to all.

Letters of invitation have been sent out from the office of the student body and the Homecoming chairman, from President Campbell and from the alumni secretary. "Old Oregon," also issued an invitation through its pages, but nothing carries the weight of a personal invitation, Rockkey believes. Letters from individuals and organizations should be in the mail this week surely, he says.

FROSH TO REPORT AT LIBRARY STEPS FOR PADDLING SESSION

Coy Co-eds May Learn Intricate Grid Technique

"The sweet young thing" at a football game is said to cause more entertainment for the spectators than the team itself. Especially when she begins to make audible comments on the playing of the various men and gets mixed up on her terms.

In order to do away with this ignorance, the University co-eds have decided that they ought to be enlightened upon the subject, and to this end have enlisted the services of Shy Huntington, Bart Spellman and Virgil Earl, who will act as instructors in the gentle art of playing football.

The three men have been equipped with date books and are said to be eagerly awaiting dinner invitations to the women's houses, at which time they will give free instruction. Already Hendricks hall has had its first lesson and the young ladies are said to be going around with an all-knowing air when football is mentioned.

The next time the student body assembles to watch Oregon's men "tear through that line," the ladies will be out in full force as usual, but instead of making their usual inane remarks, they will brilliantly comment—"Ah, what a remarkable touchback that was," or "Who is that brilliant young fullback, my dear?" His playing is unusually fine!

Yes—in truth, it will be a great day for the ladies!!

VARSIITY WORKS LONG AFTER SUN GOES DOWN

Latham Kicks 45 Yard Average; Several on Injured List

Last night's scrimmage continued until long after the sun had dropped behind the hills and then the coaches gave the varsity a period of signal running before they sent them to the showers. It was a hard scrimmage with a revamped line for the first squad.

Mills and Reed spent yesterday in the infirmary but Bill Hayward hopes to have them in shape in time for the game next Saturday. Coach Spellman worked Gene Shields at left guard and Cogs Campbell at tackle in Reed's place. Bert Gooding who has been understudying Reed is temporarily out of the game with a slight injury. Risley and Ed Kirtley were also kept out of the scrimmage last night because of ailments.

The line did not seem to be working with the same dash it displayed this time last week; but perhaps that was due to the absence of some of the regular linemen. Coach Spellman explained the scrimmage frequently to the opponents of the finer points of removing an opponent. Sinclair's work of passing from the center position shows vast improvement over his work last week.

In putting practice tonight Hunk and Chappie were getting away some of the best kicks of the season. Hunk's boots were easily averaging 45 yards, and coming down with the sullen twist that worries safeties. Fitzky, of Idaho has a reputation of being one of the best booters in the conference this year so there will probably be a pretty duel Saturday.

This is the time of year that Bill Hayward does his worrying and working; but even though several of the best men on the team are reporting to Bill nightly he has the most of them working and is doing his best to get the rest in shape as soon as possible. Proper food, steam, sleep and plenty of exercise are Dr. Hayward's usual remedies.

The hard work for the game is over now and the team will spend the next two practice sessions in ironing out the rough spots discovered in last night's scrimmage.

IMPORTANT MEETING CALLED FOR 1924 OREGANA STAFF

An important meeting of the 1924 Oregon staff will be held this afternoon at 5 p. m. in the editorial room of the journalism building. It is absolutely essential that all staff members be on hand, according to the editor, since important business relating to the compilation of dummies for the book will be in order. Staff members unable to attend must notify Freda Goodrich, 1307.

PHYSICAL ABILITY TEST SCHEDULE IS MODIFIED

The regular physical ability test will be held Thursday at 12 o'clock for those men who signed up for that date. Those who signed up for Friday will have to take the test at 12 o'clock on Tuesday of next week. The Friday test has been postponed until Tuesday, October 30.

FROSH-COLUMBIA TILT LOOKS STIFF

Miniature Notre Dame Bowles Over All Opposition so Far Babes' Strength is Unknown

YOUNGSTERS SHOW ZEAL

Squad Has Been Cut to Two Teams; Little to Choose Between; Center Doubtful

We hate to throw cold water on the parade but it sure looks like the cards are stacked against the freshmen when they tangle with the tough Columbia university outfit here tomorrow.

"Clipper" Smith's miniature edition of Notre Dame has been bowled over all opposition so far, and this opposition has included the Multnomah club's second string outfit and the heavy American legion team of The Dalles. As yet the strength of the frosh squad is undetermined and there is no way of knowing how the youngsters will behave under fire, as the game with Chemawa that was supposed to be in the nature of a practice tilt for the frosh was called off due to the injuries to the Indians.

Babes Like Spartans

The babes have been drilling with the zeal of a troop of Spartan soldiers but there's no use denying the fact that a team playing its first game is under a great handicap if the opponents have a couple of victories tucked in their belts. On the face of things, Columbia's victories don't sound so impressive but when you consider that the American legion outfit of The Dalles has in its lineup such men as "Holly" Huntington, one time Lemon-Yellow fullback, and Ivan Sharp, of Notre Dame, it is easy to see that it takes a pretty fast aggregation to beat them the way Columbia did.

That's what Baz and Bob and Bill, the freshman coaching staff, are up against and if the frosh win tomorrow's argument they're the ones that ought get the boquets. They'll deserve them. The squad has been weeded out till there is just a little over two teams out on the sawdust practice field and between the two there isn't a great deal to choose. There has, however, been a noticeable improvement in the manner in which the youngsters have been keeping their noses to the grindstone and in the last few days their play has been characterized by a snap and a drive that was noticeably lacking in their earlier workouts.

Carl Johnson and E. Jones are the leading candidates at the present time for the regular job in the middle of the line and it is doubtful which of the boys will get the call for Friday's game. Belshaw, Carter, and Lowell Johnson are the outstanding figures in the race for the guard berth while the two tackles will be picked from Stearns, Kearns, and Kjelland. Dill, Brooks, Collins, and Flannigan seem to have a monopoly on the wing positions.

Minnagh Calls Signals

Minnagh has been doing most of the signal barking for the frosh, but he has a good pair of understudies in Harrison and Cash. Agee, Post, Stonebreaker, and Kiminki are the big guns in the battle for the halfback jobs, while Jones or Socolofsky will undoubtedly draw the assignment for fullback.

FACULTY SPORT HEADS NAMED BY COMMITTEE

Questionnaires Mailed to Instructors to Determine in Which Events They Will Enter

The faculty intra-mural sports committee, under the chairmanship of Professor E. E. DeCou, has appointed leaders for the season for the various sports in which faculty members participate. The purpose of the plan, states the questionnaire mailed to faculty members to ascertain the sports in which they are interested, is to stimulate interest in sports and give special aid to those selecting sports.

Seven sports have been outlined and leaders appointed and as soon as the answers are in the fun will start. Interest is keen, and as the tentative plans provide ample variety, it is expected that intra-mural sports will occupy a large share of the interest of faculty members this year.

The following have been appointed leaders of the respective sports: Volley ball, Donald Barnes and Grace Edgington; hand ball, Alfred L. Lomax; basketball, Edwin Hodge and Mary H. Perkins; tennis, Ralph D. Casey and Mrs. James M. Miller; golf, Colin Dymant and Bertha S. Stuart; swimming, Karl Outhank and Mrs. Harry Youcum; horseback riding, Moselle Hair.
