

WOMEN'S INTRA-MURAL BASKETBALL STARTING

Teams Put in Two Leagues; First Game Yesterday

Women's do-nut basketball season started yesterday, after a three-week period of practice. The leagues have been formed and the schedule for all the games is now arranged, Florence Baker, head of basketball, reports.

The formation of the leagues is as follows:

League 1—Thacher cottage, Chi Omega, Hendricks hall, team 1, Alpha Omicron Pi, Susan Campbell hall, team 2, Alpha Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Gamma Phi Beta, Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Alpha Theta.

League 2—Hendricks hall, team 2, Oregon club, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Xi Delta, Susan Campbell hall, team 1, Alpha Phi, Delta Gamma, Alpha Delta Pi, Delta Zeta.

The first games of the season were played yesterday between Thacher cottage and Kappa Alpha Theta of League 1; and Hendricks hall, team 2, and Alpha Xi Delta of League 2.

The games scheduled for today are Hendricks hall, team 1 vs. Chi Omega of League 1; and Oregon club vs. Kappa Kappa Gamma of League 2.

The schedule for the rest of the week is as follows:

Wednesday, October 31,—League 1, Susan Campbell hall, team 2 vs. Alpha Chi Omega; League 2, Susan Campbell, team 1, vs. Delta Zeta.

Thursday, November 1,—League 1, Delta Delta Delta vs. Gamma Phi Beta; League 2, Delta Gamma vs. Alpha Delta Pi.

Friday, November 2,—League 1, Pi Beta Phi vs. Alpha Omicron Pi; League 2, Alpha Phi vs. Hendricks hall, team 2.

Houses entering teams must be up on their practices before their first game. Every girl must have at least six practices to her credit before she can play in a do-nut game.

All the games will be played at 5:00 o'clock in the women's gym. Emma Waterman of the women's physical education department will referee the games.

CAT AND CANARY TO BE SHOWN AT HELIG TONIGHT

One of the elements of "The Cat and Canary," which Kilbourn Gordon, Inc. will present at the Heilig theatre tonight is the youth of the characters. The outlook provided makes for the charm of the drama and John Willard, the author, has provided, in the story, a yarn sufficiently shocking to need a good deal to set it off, so that the nerves will not be overstrained.

FILMS OF OREGON-IDAHO GAME TO SHOW AT REX

Pictures Are in Weekly News Reel Taken by Oregon Journal Staff; First Showing in State

A moving picture film which should be of special interest to the Oregon body is the picture of the Oregon-Idaho game which is being shown at the Rex theatre today and Wednesday.

The film, more than two hundred and fifty feet in all, was taken for the Rex management by their Webfoot Weekly photographer, who "shot" all the most important Oregon-Idaho plays and many scenes of the crowds in action during the nerve-straining contest. Immediately at the close of the game, the film was speeded to Portland for development and printing and is scheduled to arrive early today for presentations today and tomorrow at the Rex.

The Webfoot Weekly, which, as the name implies, is an Oregon product, is a special news reel, made each week in different parts of the state. The weekly is edited by the Webfoot staff of the Oregon Journal of Portland, who are cooperating with the Rex management in photographing "pictorial news" locally, as well as state wide. William Cornwell, of the staff directed the scenes taken throughout the game last Saturday.

GUILD HALL PRODUCTION TO APPEAR THIS WEEK

"Green Goddess" is Scheduled for Wednesday Night

The first showing of "The Green Goddess," the initial University company production of the year will be tomorrow night in Guild hall at 8:30. The play will run three nights. Running in New York on the legitimate stage, as well as being successfully shown on the silver screen, the play will be of great interest to the Guild hall fans who will welcome the opportunity to compare the achievements and the limitations of the local group, it is predicted by several old friends of the company.

Charlotte Banfield, who carried the work of the University company to a high level in her several interpretations last year, will play the only woman's part in the play. Darrel Larsen, whose last year work will be chiefly remembered in his portrayal of the difficult role of Esteban in "The Passion Flower," will play the extremely interesting character of the Rajah of Rukh, a past master of the art of refining cruelty to a tortuous extreme.

The setting of the story is in a little kingdom called Rukh, in the heart of the Himalayas, the ruler of which is an enigmatic, revengeful, cruel Hindu, with the shining polish of an Oxford education and superior mind, tastes, and habits.

The three English people of the play are wrecked in an airplane just outside the small kingdom, and, to the fanatical native, it seems that they have been sent by the Gods to take the place of the three royal princes of the kingdom who have been taken by the English and are to be put to death. Ruled by the Green Goddess, they demand a life for a life and are relentless. To them the English are the swaggering lords of creation and to see some of them pay the price is their great desire. The adventures of the three prisoners who are treated as guests in the house of the Rajah are varied and interesting. The play is tense throughout but is above the level of melodrama.

STUDENT MAIL UNCLAIMED

Inability to Correct Wrong Addresses is Main Cause of Trouble

Mail for students whose addresses are unknown is still being held at the University depot. Some of it has been at the post-office since the beginning of the term. The addresses of the students cannot be verified until the student directory is published. Until then, the post office authorities urge those who have not received mail to come to the University depot behind the household arts building.

Last week two University men came to the depot to find out why they had received no mail since their enrollment in the University. Their mail, because of their unknown addresses, had been kept at the depot.

Students may leave their addresses at the depot and facilitate the delivery of the mail, states Mr. Felix Landrum, who is in charge.
