

JOSEF LHEVINNE TO OPEN SEASON

Russian Pianist Will Appear
November 13; Has Gained
Fame in Europe and America

ANNA CASE TO SING DEC. 7

Two Other Great Artists and Concerts by Glee Clubs and Orchestra Are Scheduled

Josef Lhevinne, famed Russian pianist, and termed as "the greatest living master of the piano," will open the concert season of the University of Oregon Tuesday evening, November 13. Lhevinne has appeared extensively in Europe and in many of the large cities of the United States where his success has far surpassed all expectations and his future promises to be even more brilliant than his past.

Anna Case Is Next Number

The next concert will be given December 7 by Anna Case, one of the first American singers, having received training only in America, to win recognition. She triumphed over the stern tradition that foreign training is necessary, and has become one of the foremost singers of her time. Miss Case is a beautiful woman possessing a wonderful clear soprano voice. She has been very successful, but her song recitals are unsurpassed, for it is then that she displays at its height all the artistry of her voice and the charm of her personality.

Famous Violin Celloist Coming

Another concert which is being greatly anticipated is that of the Belgian artist, Jean Gerardy, on March 26. Gerardy is considered the master of the violin. Six years ago while on a tour he established himself permanently in the hearts of the American public, but it is said that the Gerardy of today even surpasses the Gerardy of six years ago. His four years of active service in the world war, and the two years he spent in rest and study have worked wonders in the further development of the great Belgian master. He is said to be artistically a genius, and personally fascinating.

Vescey Will Play March 23

Herec Vescey, who holds an exalted position among the violinists of the day, will appear in concert Tuesday, April 22. He is not only a supreme violinist, but a gifted composer of great ability as well. Vescey was born in Buda-Pest on March 23, 1893, and at the age of six commenced violin study under his father. His amazing mastery of the violin astounded all the musicians who heard him, and the sensation he created by his first public appearance in Berlin was not unlooked for. He first appeared in America in 1907 as a child prodigy, and the finish and maturity of his playing was greatly marveled at. Several years later he again came to America, but as the matured artist. He met with an overwhelming success, and his present tour is proving even more successful than those of previous years.

Glee Clubs and Orchestra Featured

The Women's glee club, the Men's glee club and the University orchestra are also three important factors on this year's program of entertainment for Oregon students and people of Eugene. Only the highest type of musical programs are going to be featured by these organizations. John Stark Evans, director, has planned several excellent concerts which will feature the combined glee clubs.

The University Symphony orchestra is under the direction of Rex Underwood.

G. H. Godfrey Will Represent Campus Chapter of S. D. C.

George H. Godfrey, a junior in the school of journalism, is the delegate to the Sigma Delta Chi national convention from the campus chapter. He leaves Eugene either Sunday or Monday, and will arrive at Minneapolis, Minnesota, by November 18. This convention of men's honorary journalism fraternity will be in session on the 19th, 20th and 21st. Last year the representative journalists gathered at the University of Kansas, but the University of Minnesota claims it for this year.

Representatives of the 38 active chapters and 8 alumni chapters will be present, together with the national officers of the fraternity, the governor of Minnesota, and the mayors of St. Paul and Minneapolis.

The University of Toronto has recently petitioned for membership, and it is expected that the group will be recognized in time to send a delegate to the convention, Mr. Godfrey said. With the admission of the Canadian chapter, the fraternity will assume international proportions.

Mr. Godfrey will go east by the southern route through California and Utah, returning the northern through Spokane. He expects to stop in some of the larger cities on the way and look over the newspaper field in various places.

JOSEPH W. HALL WILL GIVE ASSEMBLY TALK

'The Melodrama of China' Title of Speaker's Address

Today Oregon students are being offered a rare privilege—the privilege of hearing Joseph Washington Hall, or Upton Close, as he is better known, lecture on "The Melodrama of Modern China." Mr. Hall will speak before the students at the assembly at 11 o'clock in the Woman's building.

This is a lecture depicting Mr. Hall's own adventures and experiences during his seven years' stay in China as English secretary to General Wu. The lecture is said to be an intensely interesting and fascinating account of the happenings of modern China, told by a man who himself figured in many of them.

Provinces Are Visited

Mr. Hall's journeys have taken him into 14 provinces of China, Mongolia and Siberia and among all classes of society in these countries. That his experiences have been both varied and exciting is shown by thrilling phases of Chinese development which he has witnessed and frequently participated in.

When he arrived in China, the dictator, who had betrayed the revolution, was losing his power, and China was consequently in more than the usual chaos.

When the Japanese penetrated into Shantung, Mr. Hall sent out the first confidential and press reports upon the Japanese plan to seize the province. So precarious was his position as such a correspondent that he found it advisable to write under a pen name. An editorial error prompted him to adopt the name of "Upton Close," and he still retains the name when writing for publication.

Student Revolution Staged

In 1919, the so-called "Student Revolution" took place in Peking, and his part in it can perhaps be best expressed by his own statement that he limited his activities only in so far as they conflicted with his personal belief that a "reporter is little good if he does not live to tell his story." This same revolution is said to have not only saved China from Japanese control, but also saved America from the danger of Japanese possession of the resources General Wu, to whom Hall was secretary, is characterized as the greatest

SCHEDULE IS MADE FOR DONUT DEBATE

Fifteen Men's Organizations to be Represented; Women Enter
10 Groups for Contest

FINALS ARE NOVEMBER 27

Adoption of Severance Tax on Timber Is Chosen as Subject
For Intra-Mural Contests

The do-nut debate schedule for both the men's and women's leagues, was announced last night. Fifteen men's organizations and 10 women's groups are listed to enter the campus contests.

The men will hold their debates on November 14 and 15. The women will debate on November 20 and 21. The finals within each league are both scheduled to come off the Tuesday following Homecoming, November 27. The final contest between the winners in the women's league and the winners in the men's league to determine the campus championship, will not be held until the latter part of the term.

Question Is Selected

The question to be argued this year is, "Resolved: that the state of Oregon should adopt a severance tax on timber." At a meeting of forensic heads last night, it was decided that all constitutionality of such a law was conceded, and that, therefore, all doubt as to its constitutionality would be eliminated in the doughnut debates.

The contests will be held in the Oregon and Commerce buildings, and will start promptly at 7 o'clock. Faculty members will act as judges.

The schedule of debates is as follows:

Y. M. ADVISORY BOARD CHANGES ORGANIZATION

Five Faculty Members Elected; Group
Will Cooperate With Churches in Securing Speakers

The Advisory Board of the Y. M. C. A. underwent a change Tuesday when it met at dinner at the Anchorage and changed its name and elected five faculty members to its membership. The board will now be known as the Board of United Christian Work of the University of Oregon. Newly elected members were W. E. Milne, A. B. Stillman, John Siefert, Warrea D. Smith and Roger Williams, the last two mentioned to fill the positions left vacant by H. E. Douglas and Justin Miller.

The Board of United Christian Work, as it now stands, will include boards of education of the Baptist, Congregational, Christian, Methodist, Episcopal and Presbyterian churches. The Y. M. C. A. will be one of a group of cooperating organizations under direction of the board.

Mrs. Henry Davis, in charge of halls of residence on the campus, has been elected director of this united work. She reports that the following speakers have already been obtained for this year.

Dr. J. B. Oliver, Hangchow, China, student secretary for China, will be here sometime during November. Dr. Harold Bowman, Portland; E. T. Colton, recently from Russia, and J. Stitt Wilson, well-known veteran student lecturer, who was on the campus three days last year, have been secured for later dates.

Election of officers of the board was postponed till next month. Reports were received from the general secretary and from Mrs. Charlotte B. Donnelly.

HOLIDAY GRANTED FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Faculty Approve Petition of Student Council; Ready
Cooperation Is Expected

SPECIAL STUNTS PLANNED

Prominent Alumni of Oregon and Stanford Will Speak at Big Rally Friday Night

In response to a petition of the student council, the faculty voted last night to grant Friday afternoon as a holiday. Because of the large number of students who would be prevented by afternoon classes from reaching Portland for the rally and the noise parade, this action was deemed advisable.

The faculty hope that the students will respond to the action with good spirit and will be back to a one hundred per cent attendance at Monday classes. Student body leaders, interviewed yesterday, expressed the opinion that the students would gladly cooperate with the faculty in this matter and return for Monday classes.

Special Train to Run

In accordance with this new plan, a special train will be run by the Oregon Electric railway at 1:15 Friday afternoon, to reach Portland at 4. Some students plan on going to O. A. C. to the frosh-rook game before coming to Portland for the Stanford clash. Jack Myers, yell king, announced yesterday that there will be a yell leader at Corvallis for the babes' game.

The Portland festivities will begin with the rally for men at the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club. It is requested that there be no hobnails at the rally out of respect to the floors of the clubhouse. Lyle Brown, ex-yell leader of Oregon, will have charge of this rally. Prominent alumni from Oregon and Stanford will speak. The yell staff will be active in making the meeting a live one.

Noise Parade Is Feature

The noise parade after the rally will be the big event of the celebration plans. Oregon will have the keys of the city and the parade will be led by the police and officials of Portland. Like the campus Homecoming parade, this parade will be characterized by noise machines from the men's houses.

The parade out to the field, at 12:30 Saturday, will be a success only if every student turns out for it. The parade starts from the Imperial hotel.

Stunts Are Colorful

Special stunts are being planned by both Stanford and Oregon for the game. There will be a serpentine between halves by the Oregon students and the chant will be sung. The Stanford alumni are going to put on a mock football game. A football team dressed in women's clothes will pass and kick and crash the line in approved style. The Oregon alumni are also planning a stunt which they refuse to divulge until the game. The yell staff of the University are working on several stunts for the game, outside of the serpentine and chant, but these plans are not yet complete.

The girls in the Oregon section are to be equipped with colors and will take part in a singing stunt, featuring Oregon songs.

The Meier & Frank company of Portland are donating megaphones for the game. These megaphones will be distributed among the rosters and will be printed with Oregon songs and yells.

A large crowd of students are expected to be in Portland for the weekend. A big attendance at the rallies as a result is the hope of the yell staff and committee.

FIRST DAYS OF WEEK BUSIEST AT LIBRARY

Monthly Circulation Shows Decided Increase Over Last Year; Many
New Books Purchased

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday are the busiest days at the library. On Thursday business slows down a little for the usual lull of Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

An average of 300 books a day were drawn from the library during the month of October. For the entire month there were 9,299 circulated, 6,447 of them for home use. An increase of 20 per cent has been made this year over the record of last October. The average at that time was only 7,690 for the whole month, with 4,947 for home use. Popularity of home reading books increased 1,500 or 33 per cent, according to these records.

Not only is circulation growing, but new books are being added at various times during the year. Last year from October to July there were approximately 6,460 new books added.

Y. W. C. A. to Have Gobbler Tea Room at the Bungalow

Today the doors of the Y. W. C. A. bungalow will be thrown open to the populace of the University campus for the grand opening of the "Gobbler" tea room at 1 o'clock sharp. And such an opening as it will be. There'll be hot fudge sundaes, mince pies, pumpkin pies, tea and sandwiches, and cinnamon toast for sale, and all at prices that will suit any student's economical tastes.

But it is not going to be only a buy, eat and pay entertainment, for there is to be an extra special musical program. Mary and Katherine Inwood will give selections on the violin and piano, Irene and Mary Burton will also play violin and piano pieces, Joyce Johnson will play a violin solo and Ruth Cochran will give a piano solo.

The tea room is offering the entire student body a chance to help raise funds for the infirmary library, and to help in buying the current magazines and papers for use in the infirmary. For this reason the committee in charge of this afternoon's entertainment urges everyone turn out and do his or her bit towards a good purpose. The tea room will be conducted from 1 until 6 o'clock, and it is felt that these hours will give every student ample opportunity to take in the affair.

PRACTICE SEES SAX WORKING AT QUARTER

Chapman Absent Due to Death of His Mother Yesterday

Owing to the death of his mother, Harold Chapman, quarterback and brains of the University of Oregon football squad this season, did not work out with the squad last night. Whether or not he will be in the line-up when the varsity meets Stanford on Multnomah field next Saturday is not known. In the emergency that he should not participate, Moe Sax, right half-back, will fill his shoes.

The importance of Chapman's absence in the Webfoot-Cardinal game cannot be overestimated. It is largely through Chapman's generalship that the varsity rates what she does in conference standing and his absence may mean a shake up in the entire lineup before the coming battle.

Practice on Hayward field last evening consisted of a short but vicious scrimmage. Sax was calling signals for the varsity, during Chapman's absence, and the manner in which he threw the varsity against the second stringers shows that he has the same ability at generalship as he displayed when he piloted the Washington State eleven two years ago. Regardless of the fact that the varsity line contained several subs, it showed unexpected offensive power.

Wilson was stationed at center and Shields at tackle. Bert Gooding was working the other tackle. Gooding was prominent last season for his good defensive work, but has not found himself this year. Dick Reed, 220-pounder, has been shifted to end. Reed is a hard, fast tackler. Anderson and Kirtley worked in the backfield. Kirtley seems to have recovered from the several injuries received in the Whitman game and was running through the second-team line with his old dash.

MEETING OF WOMEN'S LEAGUE TO BE HELD AT VILLARD TODAY

The regular mass meeting of the Women's league will be held in Villard hall today at 5 o'clock. In addition to the regular business of the league, both Dean Dymont and Dean Esterly will make short talks, and Jean Harper will play a piano solo.

Native of Korea Holds Hawaii to Be Perfect in Every Way

"If on the whole earth people had the same attitude as the people in Hawaii, there would be no wars." So says Chi Sung Pil, native of Korea, who is taking his senior year at the University of Oregon.

Mr. Pil spent about a month in Honolulu this summer, the home of his parents for the last few years. And he is quite sure that if there is a paradise on earth it is most assuredly located in Honolulu.

People are assembled there from all parts of the earth, and they "live in perfect peace and harmony," he asserts with genuine enthusiasm. The hospitality of the people is one of the Hawaiian characteristics that he likes best. Many times, the foreign student

FROSH READY FOR GAME WITH ROOKS

Friday's Battle Will be Most Difficult of Season; Babes
Much Lighter Than Rivals

HARRISON HAS BAD KNEE

Victory of O. A. C. Yearlings
Over Columbia Held to be No
Evidence of Their Strength

Last night the freshmen took their last heavy workout in their preparation for the opening battle, which is coming off tomorrow on Bell field at Corvallis. The coaches are cognizant of the fact that the rooks have a powerful line and a versatile backfield and are not taking tomorrow's struggle a bit too lightly. From the reports, it would seem that this will be the hardest game that the youngsters will have to play, harder even than the struggle with the Washington freshmen.

Dope Favors Rooks

The only dope on the two teams, outside of the weight advantage in favor of the rooks, is that the Aggie freshmen beat Columbia University, 14 to 0, while the Oregon babes were able to score but seven points on the Catholic aggregation. There is another angle of these two games that should be brought to light, however, and that is that the Portland outfit had the ball in the rook territory several times and on occasions threatened the rook goal while in their tilt with the frosh, never once were they able to push the ball past midfield.

Another thing that should be taken into consideration is the fact that Wes Schumlerick, who backs up the rook line on the defense, is an ex-Columbia University man and should be thoroughly familiar with Clipper Smith's style of football. So, in spite of the fact that the rook's did not open up to their fullest extent, their victory over Columbia does not look so impressive as it might.

Adolph May Play End

It is probable that Rex Adolph will get a chance to display his wares at end in tomorrow's game. He and Dills are about on a par as far as ability is concerned, but Adolph has quite a superiority in weight, and weight is a much needed thing on the frosh line. The youngsters have not sustained any very serious injuries as yet, although Fred Harrison, the frosh quarter and punter, was not out in a suit last night due to a wrenched knee. He will probably be in shape to work his share of the rook battle.

Indications do not point to a very powerful aerial offense on the part of the Beaver yearlings, but in case they do spring the unexpected, Baz's secondary defense is well trained to smear attempts to score via the aerial route. That they have real line-plugging power cannot be denied and it is altogether probable that they will punch the frosh line for substantial gains. When they get under the shadow of the frosh goal, however, they'll need all of the line-smashing ability that they can muster out.

GEOLOGY HEAD GIVES ADDRESS ON OREGON MINERAL RESOURCES

Dr. Warren D. Smith, head of the geology department, addressed the members of the Eugene Rotary club Tuesday. His talk dealt with the resources of Oregon with particular reference to the mineral resources. During the past summer, Dr. Smith has carried on investigations of the mineral supplies of Oregon and he drew upon the results of the investigation for his optimistic.

Senior Men Indulge in Hectic, Heated, Hair-Raising Stunt

The race is on! And the trophy is to be a trusty weapon of the type modern warfare demands—a glittering new safety razor. It is difficult to give a fair estimate of the number of entering senior men in the annual mustache race, since some of the varieties are so pale and silky.

Yet it is an undeniable fact that some are reaching the basketball stage—five on a side, others the baseball limit—nine on a side, but, oh, wonder of wonders! A few dark and dashing seniors may boast a full-sized football mustache, with 11 on a side and a neat part in the middle.

One senior man boasts that he can hear the wind whistle through his when he walks along in the frosty air. And it's only two weeks old! Some of the men are watching with envious and distrustful eyes the excellent start which Jimmy Meek and Knut Digners have achieved. They are suspected of using some secret potion, as Wenona Dyer, senior class barber, firmly states that the start was fair, all those begun shaved the underclass mix having been shaved off by Katherine Pinnco and herself on that day.

A few men, afraid of being shown up too much at the grand finale, have already shaved theirs off of their own accord, and are pretending indifference to such trivial matters.

It is thought that at Homecoming the jig will be up, and the bushiest, tickliest, most luxurious one selected by a board of competent judges.
