

FACULTY GRANTS HALF DAY MONDAY

Regular Classes Scheduled for Morning; Program Will be Given During Afternoon

PETITION SIGNED BY 1,100

President Expresses the Hope That All Students Will Give Loyal Support to Decision

There will be a half-holiday the afternoon of Monday, November 12, but classes will be held as usual Monday morning, according to a statement issued by President Campbell late last night, after a conference with American Legion officials.

This action seemed to the administration and to the Legion officials to be the most expedient way of getting around a complicated problem—that of properly observing the spirit of Armistice day and yet not causing a too serious break in the school routine in a month which is much broken up by Homecoming activities and Thanksgiving holidays.

Legion Favors Half Day
The Legion felt that the students should take part in some sort of Armistice day observance, and feared if a holiday were granted all day Monday, so many students would remain in Portland that any celebration of the day in Eugene would be lacking in college participation. The administration felt that if the students were given a vacation all day Monday, they would probably return to the campus so late Monday night that Tuesday's classes would suffer.

With the granting of the half-holiday Monday, fitting observance may be made of the day, as the Vesper services to be held at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon will be in the form of a memorial to soldiers who lost their lives during the war, and a program will be arranged for Monday afternoon will celebrate the day of victory.

With such a two-fold observance of the day, it is expected that ex-service men who were responsible for the circulation of a petition to provide time to fittingly observe the day, will find their wishes complied with. The petition contained about 1,100 signatures of University students at the time the administration, and Legion officials took the matter up.

A complete program for Monday afternoon will be formulated in time for publication, probably in the Sunday Emerald.

President Gives Statement
President Campbell's statement as given to an Emerald reporter at a late hour last night is:

"In view of the fact that the fall term is much broken up by Homecoming and Thanksgiving, it has been thought best to ask the students who have petitioned to have Monday made a full holiday in recognition of Armistice day to join with the faculty in minimizing the break in regular work by heartily supporting a half day of recitation Monday forenoon and then joining with the Eugene post of the American Legion in Armistice day exercises in the afternoon. The members of the post have asked for such a joint program. The Vesper service Sunday in which the University and the members of the Legion join will be in the nature of a memorial service.

"The exercises Monday afternoon will be more in the nature of a celebration at which it is hoped that Colonel Leader, who was in charge of the military training on the campus during the war period, will be one of the speakers. The Legion will probably also put on a matinee dance.

Court of Swat Holds Session - and Bailiffs Do Their Stuff

The high court of Swat held forth on the library steps yesterday morning with Justice Sax presiding, seconded by several husky armed bailiffs from the ranks of the Order of the "O."

Several refractory members of the Secret Order of the Green Turban were hauled before the midget bailiff and received punishment for various crimes, varying from the misdemeanor of carving the verdant headpiece to the gross felony of stating that Oregon traditions be relegated to the hottest portion of the hereafter.

With stern countenance the justice hauled the culprits before him, read the charge, passed judgment himself and held on high the digits of the right flipper, indicative of the punishment to be meted out. From the roster of bailiffs one of those worthies stepped out, doubled the culprit at the customary forty-five degrees and dealt

HOUSE ON DOVER ROAD SETTING OF NEXT PLAY

Betty Robinson to Take Lead in Mask and Buskin Comedy

A house on Dover road dedicated to persuading eloping couples of their follies, and Latimer, a wealthy old bachelor who runs the establishment mainly for his own amusement, are the beginnings of the plot for Milne's "Dover Road," the Mask and Buskin play for the fall quarter.

Betty Robinson will play the woman's lead, opposite Darrel Larson and Ted Baker, while Kate Pinneo, famed for her comedy roles, will furnish merriest and amusement in her own inimitable style opposite Dave Swanson.

Ted Baker will act as manager for the play which will be staged at the Heilig theater Monday, November 19, under the direction of Fergus Reddie. It is planned to bring scenery for the set from the Heilig in Portland.

The plot is a comedy with many clever lines, amusing situations and likable characters. It has snap and dash, and made a success when played in New York.

Mask and Buskin is the campus chapter of the National Collegiate Players. It is the custom of the organization to produce at least one play during the year, sometimes more. "Come Out of the Kitchen," played last year at the Heilig, with Lorna Coolidge in the lead, was one of the most successful plays the group has produced.

Other members of the cast for "Dover Road" are Virgil Mulkey, Betty Belle Wise, Wenona Dyer, Paul Krause and Barney McPhillips.

BACTERIOLOGY CLASS STUDIES SANITATION

Modern Creamery Sanitation Methods
Explained to Students; Ice Cream
Given as Refreshments

The class in sanitation of the department of botany and bacteriology, accompanied by Professor Alfred R. Sweetser, made a visit to the Eugene Farmers' creamery Tuesday to study the methods and work of the company.

How butter is made, the manner of putting up milk, the making of ice cream, and general organization and methods of work were explained by the manager of the creamery. Sanitary precautions, as the students of the class are now studying milk sanitation, the visit was a very instructive one, giving them an excellent idea of a systematic, sanitary, up-to-date creamery.

In conclusion samples of ice cream were given as demonstrative refreshments and the enlightened party returned home.

HISTORIC BOOKS SENT TO UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

Volumes Published in Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries Included in New Collection

Several interesting old volumes have been received recently by the library. Most of these old books which are worn by use were published in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries.

Among the collection is "Principia Mathematica," by Des Cartes. It is in two volumes and was published in 1659. "Elements of Algebra," by Euler, published in 1797 in London, "Elements de Geometrie," published in Paris in 1775; "Trigonometria Britannica," in 1633; "Auctores Mythographi Latini," 1742, and a book of Latin published in Germany in 1749 are in the collection. A bound copy of "Life Illustrated," a New York newspaper dated 1867, has been received also.

Six new card catalogue cases, each containing 15 tray sections, were installed in the library this week. Catalogue drawers had been greatly crowded before the additions were made. Now a general expansion of all the list cases will be made. The new card cases were made by the library bureau firm and match those already in use.

PORTLAND IS MECCA OF MANY STUDENTS

Y. W. C. A. DRIVE WELL SUPPORTED

Delta Omega, Pi Beta Phi and Thacher Cottage Respond With 100 Per Cent Reports

CAMPAIGN IS PROLONGED

"Judging from the reports which have come in so far, Oregon women are making a pretty general and generous response to the drive," said Miss Florence Magowan, campus Y. W. C. A. secretary, in speaking of the finance campaign which the organization is putting on this week. "We have complete returns from three houses, and in each case they subscribed 100 per cent. Favorable but incomplete reports have come in from ten other houses, and only seven have sent in no report at all."

Houses which have responded with 100 per cent reports are Pi Beta Phi, Thacher cottage and Delta Omega. In the case of Delta Omega, the money was all turned in before the actual drive began. Houses from which partial returns have been made are: Alpha Phi, Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Xi Delta, Chi Omega, Delta Gamma, Gamma Phi Beta, Kappa Alpha Theta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Sigma Beta Phi and Susan Campbell hall.

$500 Turned In

The total of money turned in to date is somewhere around $500. Although the goal of the drive is $1,600, the returns indicate that it will probably be reached, as the drive is more or less prolonged despite efforts of the committee of which Luella Hausler is chairman, to make it concentrated. Town girls present a problem, for it is difficult to reach them, and necessarily that fact makes the campaign take a few more days than it otherwise would. However, the town girls are responding well, under the direction of Cecile Johnson.

Uses to which the money in from the drive will be put as enumerated in the budget for 1923-24 are: national pledges, World Student Christian Fellowship society fund, salaries, bungalow upkeep, printing, office supplies, social affairs, speakers, conventions and miscellaneous fund.

Town Women to Aid

Last spring prominent Eugene women who were interested in the Y. W. C. A. volunteered to raise $1,500 among themselves. This amount was pledged almost entirely by the town and faculty women and faculty members' wives. Payment on the pledges is being made at the present time.

Returns from the seven houses which have not as yet reported are desired as soon as possible, so the drive can be brought to a close, as it has been running since Tuesday and finance committee members are desirous of closing the matter with as much dispatch as will enable them to reach all campus women.

The finance campaign is entirely separate from the membership drive which is also being carried on now, for membership in the organization does not necessarily imply financial support, and, conversely, financial support does not automatically make one a member.

BLEACHERS BEING COVERED

North Arc at Hayward Field Will Have Roof by Homecoming Time

A new cover over the north arc of bleachers on Hayward field is now being constructed and is expected to be finished by Homecoming. The estimated cost for the construction is $2,500. The contract was awarded to Earl Drew.

While it is probable that the east bleachers will be preferred on nice days, the new cover will afford a dry place to sit on wet days.

MANY OLD GRADS PLAN TO RETURN

Homecoming to Have Novel Features, Says Rockhey; Committees Well Organized

MORTAR BOARD TO PLEDGE

Plans for Homecoming are going on apace with a larger percentage of old grads coming back this year than ever before, says Haddon Rockhey, chairman of the committee.

Perhaps the persons who will come the farthest to witness the annual Oregon-O. A. C. game are Judge Charles E. Henderson and his daughter, who are traveling all the way from Indianapolis. Judge Henderson is a graduate of the class of 1893.

The publicity committee of which Doug Farrell is chairman, has also received acceptances from Governor and Mrs. Walter M. Pierce, Superintendent and Mrs. J. A. Churchill, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar B. Piper, Bishop and Mrs. Walter T. Summer, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Gerlinger, and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Colt of the First National bank of Portland.

Cup Is Offered

The noise parade, which promises to be as noisy as ever, will have some unusual features, according to Eddie Edlunds, chairman. A cup will be offered again this year to the men's house which produces the loudest noise-making instrument, money expended not to exceed $10. Each house must furnish its own conveyance for noise-making machines, says Edlunds. For the past two years, Bachelordom has carried home the trophy, and there is no doubt but what the bachelors will be out to excel again this year in order to balance up their mantelpiece by having a cup in the middle.

Class donations of $50 each, to be used for fireworks during the parade, are being turned in to the committee. The senior class has already given its money while others are expected as soon as class meetings are held.

Absolutely the biggest bonfire ever built is promised by the enthusiastic freshmen, and according to Jack High, who is supervising the work, the organization is better this year than ever before.

Material Is Gathered

Already a great deal of material is on the grounds and plans have been worked out which will insure the presence of every freshman to help build the fire. Freshmen girls are also said to be super-enthusiastic over their part of the work, that of providing hot coffee and doughnuts for the hungry frosh, and that, if nothing else, should insure a hundred per cent attendance. Work will start on Thursday noon preceding the Friday of Homecoming, and at that time all material will be on hand so that the construction can proceed more rapidly. An annual feature of the campus luncheon, which will be staged this year, as usual, is the pledging to Mortar Board, senior women's honor society.

Old Grads to be Pledged

Every year the members of the organization march through the crowds, dressed in cap and gown, and pledge new members. The society, which was formerly a local organization known as Scroll and Script, was installed last spring on the campus and will at this time take in to membership all returning grads, who were members of the local organization, and who have become automatically eligible to membership in the new national.

Initiation for those elected will be held on Sunday morning following, when a breakfast will be given at the Anchorage for all new and old members.

GODFREY SPEAKS ON NEWS

BEFORE HIGH SCHOOL CLASS

George H. Godfrey, major in the University school of journalism, who covers Springfield news for the Morning Register, gave a 20-minute talk before the junior English class of the Springfield high school Wednesday afternoon on the choice of news and the construction of news stories. He urged the students to write news as if it were to be read by a person in a great hurry.

Grid Battle Between Oregon and Stanford Draws Interest North

Noise Parade to Follow Rally at Multnomah Club
Tonight at 9:30; University Alumni Work to Insure Success of Affair

By KEN COOPER.

On to Portland.
That will be the battle cry this afternoon when the University moves to the City of Roses for the week-end to view the Oregon-Stanford game and to take part in the rally and festivities appertaining thereunto. Southern Pacific, Oregon Electric, Henry Ford Limited! Every north-bound mode of conveyance will be jammed to the gun'ales with students who are anxious to be on hand when the crippled varsity either stacks the cards or gets put definitely out of the race for the coast grid honors.

FROSH-ROOK CONTEST TODAY ON BELL FIELD

Aggie Squad Reported Heavier Than Local Yearlings

This is red letter day in the lives of some three dozen freshmen football warriors. Today Coach Williams and his doughty gang of gridsters invade the Aggie stronghold for the annual clash with the Rooks.

In going against the Corvallis yearlings, the freshmen run up against the heaviest aggregation they play this year. Comparative scores from the Columbia contests give the Rooks a seven-point advantage, but this means little when the go this afternoon is considered. Comparative scores are forgotten and the game becomes a miniature of the Oregon varsity and the Aggie homecoming clash.

Last night Williams, Rinehart and Earl gave the freshmen a long chalk talk and also an idea of the fight a freshman eleven puts up against their traditional rivals for gridiron honors. The youngsters are fit for the combat. Few injuries have hampered the eleven this year and the first stringers are ready for the whistle that will send them against the Rooks on Bell field.

The Rook line will outweigh the freshman forwards several pounds to the man and with Schulmerick in the backfield, the ball carrying offense of the Aggie youngsters will probably balance the scales higher than the freshman backfield. What they lack in weight they will make up in fight and we know that Baz has instilled some of that fight he used against Pennsylvania and Harvard some years back.

With all his spares on the bench, Williams will be able to send in fresh men at any stage of the game, but it is likely that his first lineup will see most of the fray.

In Harrison, Williams has a brainy and cool-headed quarterback who can run the team well and kick with the best of them. It is likely that he will see service in the game and may start. Some of the men doing duty on the second string look all as good as the regulars and may be injected into the fray if needed.

The squad leaves at 9:00 this morning with the following men accompanying the coaches: Johnson, Carter, L. Johnson, Stearns, Kjelland, Kerns, Brooks, Dills, Adolph, Bellshaw, Officer, McClung, E. Jones, Blake, Collins, Lewelling, Barbur, Farley, Flannigan, Harrison, Minnaugh, L. Jones, Agee, Socolofsky, Post, Vitus, Kiminki, W. Socolofsky, Cash, Stonebreaker, Leavitt.

SHY WILL CARRY 24

Here are the men that will make

The varsity will entrain this afternoon on the Shasta, 24' strong, not counting the coaching staff, Bill Hayward, and the manager. Shy's men put in a tough afternoon of scrimmage last night, battling against Scrap Iron Toole's famous fighting super- varsity. This morning the boys will taper off with a light signal practice to loosen up their joints. By leaving at 4 o'clock this afternoon, the team will arrive in plenty of time to show their faces at the big rally and noise parade, which, according to the advance reports, will be one of the biggest and noisiest affairs of this nature ever witnessed by the good people of Portland.

Two Specials Leaving

The Southern Pacific is running a student special which will leave this afternoon at 1:15 p. m. and in another 15 minutes, or precisely at 1:30 p. m., the Oregon Electric will send another student special in the wake of the earlier train. The trains will arrive in Portland about the same time so take your choice and provide your own excitement till you arrive in the city of rain and roses. After that it is all arranged to have a regular hoe-down, knock-down, drag-out rally and noise parade with the grand prize going to the loyal Oregon student (grad, included) who can rip a few bricks out of the Imperial hotel with his vocal performances.

It is the understanding that all of the students who drive up to the game shall stop off in Corvallis to watch the rucks of our sister institution entertain our freshmen on Bell field. The frosh-rook go is scheduled for 2 p. m. and will probably last about an hour and a half, so that those who wish to see the contest may do so with a clear conscience, providing they are able to herd their gas gondolas over the remaining 80 miles of asphalt in three hours. The frosh will need all of the backing they can get.

Band Leads Rally

Those in charge of the rally knew that students always gather at the brick hotel at the corner of Broadway and Washington, so they decided to start the proceedings from that point. The university band in full regalia with the male element of the student body in tow and will head in the general direction of the Multnomah club. Here, the officials will have the scenery all placed for a huge stag smoker and yell fest. Nothing is barred but hob-nailed boots and the management has made a special request that none of the students wear kicks that will mar the club's gym floor.

The real noise does not start, however, till 9:30 p. m., when the gang leaves the club and starts one of the most stupendous noise parades ever paraded. The alumni are in charge of producing the noise makers and if the reports are true, the parade will make a boiler factory seem the study room in a deaf and dumb school. The noise parade will end the festivities for the evening, but tomorrow at 12:30 p. m., the thunderin' thousands will again gather at the Imperial hotel and again the band will lead the gang to the Multnomah club, but this time the parade will end in the rooting section of the Oregon bleachers. There, you have all of the lurid details of the rally.

ERROR IN STORY CORRECTED

Mr. Henry Davis, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will take charge of obtaining speakers for the Board of United Christian Work, instead of Mrs. Henry Davis, as was announced in the Emerald yesterday.
