

WORK ON YEAR BOOK PROGRESSES NICELY

December 1st Set as Last Date for Pictures

With December 1 set as a deadline for the acceptance of all material and a definite working schedule arranged, this year's Oregona is progressing nicely, according to Freda Goodrich, editor of the 1924 book.

The working schedule has been made up in order to avoid the last-minute rush which has been experienced in previous years. Under the present plan each member of the staff of 24 members is assigned a certain amount of work along a specific line, for each week, with no time extensions. Each has charge of a particular department.

The book will contain 480 pages, 16 pages more than last year's edition, and is to be sold for the same price. There will be 1600 copies printed. The cover design has finally been decided upon, Miss Goodrich said, and the covers are now being made in Chicago. The order for the paper stock will probably be placed by the end of the week, with some firm in Portland.

Regarding the complaint about poor proofs being received from the photographers, Miss Goodrich said: "There has been no more dissatisfaction this year than usual. There have been some retakes, of course, and I suppose the regular fifty-cent fee was charged for these by the photographers." It is hoped that all these pictures will be in by December 1, she continued, but there will very likely be a few stragglers. The outdoor and group pictures are being taken right along and will be completed according to schedule.

DEAN HALE TO ADDRESS SOUTHERN OREGON BAR

Subject Is Increase in Requirements For Admission; Others Back Movement

William G. Hale, dean of the school of law, has been invited to give an address before the bar association of Josephine and Jackson counties at a joint meeting to be held in Ashland, December 8. Dean Hale has decided to speak on the proposed increase in the requirements for admission to the bar.

At the last meeting of the state bar a resolution was passed directing committees in charge of legal education and admissions to the bar to request the supreme court to change the present admission rules so that at least two years of college work would be required for entrance to the bar, instead of high school work only, as is now the case.

Dean Hale is interested in the movement and has spent considerable time and work on the subject. Officers of the state bar association, Judge F. W. Wilson, of the Dalles, president; and Albert Ridgway, member of the Portland bar association, secretary, have held several meetings with local bar associations in Hood River and in Pendleton to secure their active backing in the movement.

The desire to have the matter discussed by local bar associations through the state is the particular reason that Dean Hale has chosen the proposed measure as subject of his address in Ashland. He has attended several meetings with the officers of the bar association and has cooperated with them in presenting the subject to local bar associations.

DOPE POINTS TO AGS IN CROSS COUNTRY

sity was usually handicapped by lack of third, fourth, fifth and sixth place material.

Robeson is the only veteran from the last year cross country team. Keating and Tetz finished close together in the tryout, Thursday and should make a good showing in the race this afternoon. McColl and Muller are pluggers and may surprise the fans at the finish.

The Aggies will select their men from Welker, Graves, Bartholomew, Mason, Butts, Daniels and Keith. Most of these men have had experience over the long course. Walker has represented the Aggies on the track for two years in the mile and has been returned winner on most every start. Graves is another distance man who has made his letter at the Corvallis institution.

Idaho has a veteran outfit and should figure close up in the final count. Penwell, Hillman, Crowe, Sowder and Wyman are the Vandals who will represent the gem state institution.

The triangle race starts before the game and ends prior to the opening whistle. The teams go one lap on the cinder track, out past the barracks, through the graveyard, south to Nineteenth, east on Nineteenth to Villard, north on Villard to 15, then to Hayyard and one lap around this, finishing at the tape on the east side of the field.

The course is a little better than three miles and good time ought to be made if the going is not too heavy.

ROBERT EARL LECTURES

"Approach" in Insurance Selling is Topic at Business School

"Approach" was the subject of a lecture given by Robert W. Earl, district manager of the Equitable Life Assurance society, when he spoke before the life insurance class of the school of business administration, Tuesday morning. His talk was designed to aid young men and women who may decide to sell life insurance.

"Never try to sell a prospect something that he doesn't need; that will only irritate him," advised Mr. Earl. "Analyze his needs and talk to him in terms of what life insurance will do for him."

"The writing of letters indicating a definite time when the agent will call on the prospect is very effective," continued Mr. Earl, as he suggested and explained several methods of gaining an interview.

F. S. DUNN WILL SPEAK AT CLASSICAL SESSION

Adele Kibre, of Latin Department, on Program of Meeting in Portland

Two representatives of the Latin department on the campus will read papers at the meeting of northern branch of the classical association of the Pacific States, to be held in Portland December 27, 28 and 29. Professor F. S. Dunn, head of the department here, and Adele Kibre, teaching fellow from the University of California, have been selected to appear at that time, when members of the association from Oregon, Washington and Idaho will gather to discuss questions of mutual concern in their profession.

The classical association of the Pacific states is composed of instructors in the classics in all secondary schools and institutions of higher learning on the coast, and is an entirely independent teachers' organization. Its meeting in December has been planned at the same time as that of the Oregon state teachers' association in Portland, in order that its members may benefit by both sessions.

Only the northern branch of the classical association will meet in Portland, and it is before these members that Professor Dunn will read his paper on "Royal Nomenclature in Classical Geography of the Roman Period." This paper follows one which he read on the same topic dealing with the Greek period, at an educational conference in Berkeley, last summer. Miss Kibre's paper will be entitled "St. Augustine's Philosophy of History as Shown in De Civitate Dei."

HISTORIANS WILL HEAR CAMPUS PROFESSORS

Walter Barnes and E. C. Clark Will Represent University at Annual Conference

At the nineteenth annual meeting of the Pacific coast branch of the American Historical association to be held November 30 and December 1 at the University of California, Professors Walter C. Barnes and E. C. Clark of the University history department will give addresses of interest to the historians. Professor Barnes is scheduled to speak on, "Natural Law in Eighteenth Century Thought," at the afternoon session Friday, while Professor Clark will discuss at the annual dinner the system of indexing the historical material in Oregon newspapers for the convenience of students.

The American Historical association convenes once a year in some western city, but because it was not easily accessible for western members, the Pacific coast branch was formed in 1904. The purpose of these annual meetings, according to Professor Barnes, is to bring together once a year intellectual intercourse between historians of the various parts of the country. Stanford University, University of Southern California, University of California, southern branch, University of Washington, Pomona College, Occidental College Mills College, and University of Oregon are the institutions represented at the conference besides the various teachers' colleges and high schools of the Pacific coast. Mr. Barnes is a member of the council of the association.

The American Historical association issues a quarterly magazine called the American Historical Review, which is of interest to all historians in that it contains book reviews and articles of a historical nature.

GREEK LETTER WORLD CLAIMS WHITE HOUSE

The Greek letter world for the first time possesses occupants for a fraternity and sorority "White House" in the persons of President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge. President Coolidge is a member of Phi Gamma Delta and was initiated at Amherst College. Grace Anna Godhue Coolidge, a charter member of Pi Beta Phi at the University of Vermont, is the first mistress of the White House who had been a sorority woman in college.

It's a Real PLEASURE

To have a part in making the college functions and occasions heartily successful. We gladly assist, doing our part: our store will remain closed from 1:30 to 5:00 Saturday afternoon during the game.

WE WILL ENJOY THE GAME

Our entire organization have reserved seats. We will be there to meet old friends and former customers.
