TAG SALE ADDS TO STUDENT FUNDS

Fourteen Delegates May Go to Volunteer Meet at Indianapolis, Indiana

TRAVELING PLANS MADE

Authorities From All Over the World Will Gather and Consider Problems

Yesterday's tag sale was a success. Ed Kirtley will go to the student volunteer convention at Indianapolis as the official representative of the student body. All returns from the sale had not been received last night, but judging from the amount on hand and the number of students yet to report, it is quite likely that the sum will be approximately $160, according to Lot Beattie, chairman of the tag day committee.

While not all of the money has yet been raised, it is almost certain all of the fourteen delegates will be able to go. Money to pay the traveling expenses of Mary Bartholomew, representing the women of the University, has been coming in rather slow. The faculty women have responded in part, and it is expected that many more will send in their contributions in the next few days. The Women's league has voted $30, and the Y. W. C. A. and the women's halls of residence are assisting.

Money Still Needed

Others whose financial support has not yet been fully guaranteed are Lester Turnbaugh, president and representative of the student volunteer movement on the campus, and the three delegates from the Methodist church. Concerts and entertainments are being put on by the orchestra of the Wesley club, the proceeds of which will go to the Methodist delegates. With the exception of several small amounts, all the rest of the delegates have their money assured.

The delegates will leave Eugene December 24 and return January 5. They will go to Indianapolis by special train, joining the other delegates of the northwest at Spokane. The train will be made up of Pullman coaches, diners, observation car, and a car made especially for meetings. The delegates will have an organ and musical instruments of various sorts with which to compose an orchestra. Thus it will be possible to have musical programs while on the trip to and from Indianapolis.

Delegates Listed

The complete list of delegates follows: Mary Bartholomew, Charlotte Winnard, Lovisa Youngs, Ruth Harvey, Lester Turnbaugh, Arthur Everett, Arthur Gray, Orlando Hollis, Ethlyn Forrest, Edith Howe, Mary Donaldson, Paul Krauss, Ed Kirtley, Helen Andrews, Rev. Bruce J. Giffin and Rev. Henry W. Davis.

College Girls to Help Santa in His Christmas Travels

The Christmas spirit has already invaded the campus and spread the feeling of good-will and charity among the various sorority houses. Plans that smack of shining trees, loads of toys, Christmas cakes and other savory food that is symbolical of the jolliest season of the year, are already being made among the girls, so that this year, as in previous years, the children who would ordinarily miss the joy that the holidays bring, will not be disappointed.

Friday evening ten youngsters will be guests for dinner and a happy evening at the Kappa Alpha Theta house. Saturday afternoon the Delta Zetas will be hostesses to thirty children who will enjoy games and a tree, presents and refreshments, and fifteen lucky little tykes will gather at the same time at the Tri Delta house where they are

Dutton Makes New Physical Ability Record for Year

This year's record of 96 points in the physical ability pentathlon, held by Lamont Stone, was broken Thursday by Harry Dutton, a freshman, who annexed 100 points. This is the second time that Dutton has taken the test, this time to raise his final grade. In the physical ability pentathlon taken at the beginning of the term Dutton earned 92 points, and in his second trial he increased the number of points and broke the record for the year.

The test is not over as yet, and this record may go by the board any time. Last year Eugene Richmond scored 119 points in the all-round competition and the year before Haddon Rockley scored 131 points, which is still a record. Ralph Spearow scored 136, but was disqualified because he failed to take the swim. A man has to compete in each of the five events before his record is considered.

Marks in the pentathlon this year do not approach those of last year, when several men went over the 100-point mark.

FROSH TO START HOOP PRACTICE JANUARY 2

Varsity Basketball Men to Use Eugene Army

Freshman basketball practice will start January 2 at four o'clock, in the men's gym. This is the orders of Freshman Coach Evans, who expects a big turnout of first year men at the start of the winter term. Following the holidays, the varsity will move down to the army for practice sessions and the freshmen will have the gym from four o'clock on. Evans wants to have all first year men interested in the hoop game turn out for the first practice.

Doughnut basketball has brought out several good looking basketeers in the ranks of the green cappers, but there are others who have not played doughnut and who will be eligible. In the freshmen ranks are several former high school stars who will battle for positions on Coach Evans' five.

In past years the first year class has put out good teams. Last year the freshmen went through the season with only two defeats. A good schedule is always arranged for the yearlings, with a trip or so to some part of the state.

OLDE ENGLISH FAIR HELD AT UNIVERSITY HIGH SCHOOL

An Olde English Fair was held at the University high school last night by the senior class, in order to raise funds for its activities. Many remarkable features were presented, a program being given during the evening and refreshments were sold. Signs tacked up by the various doors advertised the particular attraction to be found in each room. A large crowd attended the affair and a real holiday spirit prevailed during the entire evening.

NEW POTTERY RECEIVED

Fund for Replacing Articles Lost in Fire Used in Purchase

An old Persian laquer tray in dull gold, old blue flowers, and ivory ground is one of the pieces just added to the normal arts pottery collection. Its purchase was made possible by the Mrs. George T. Gerlinger fund of over $700, the purpose of which is to replace the articles lost in the fire of two summers ago.

An odd plate of modern Danish pottery, also just added to the collection, is dark blue, with green border of conventionalized leaves, and fruit of a rich yellow-red color.

WOMEN'S DO-NUT GAMES NEAR END

Finals to be Played Show Susan Campbell Hall and Oregon Club are in Lead

THETAS WIN FAST TILT

Winning Team in Monday's Toss-Up Will Decide the Championship for Season

Susan Campbell (1), will play Oregon club for the championship of League II as a result of the game played last night between Susan Campbell and Hendricks (2), which ended with a score of 16 to 2 for Susan Campbell. The decision as to the participants in the final struggle for the supremacy of this league had rested on the results of last night's game, and crowds of cheering rooters filled the gym for the occasion.

It was a good, fast game, exciting from the very start to the last whistle. Hendricks made the first basket, within a minute after the contest had started. It was their first basket, however, for the Susan Campbell squad jumped right into the game, amassing points and fighting hard.

Team in Good Shape

Golda Boone, for the winners, played a fine game in her position as center. She was quick, and accurate, making several good passes. The guarding for Susan Campbell was well taken care of by Maude Schroeder, who successfully carried the ball, time after time, out of the opponents' territory. The whole team was in good shape, although slightly weakened by the absence of Maurine Johnston, forward.

Myrtle Bast was the star of the Hendricks team in her position of guard. The forwards for the losers were weak and not up to their usual game. The centers also were slower than usual.

A close game was played last night between Kappa Alpha Theta and Chi Omega, resulting in a score of 22 to 17 in favor of the Thetas. It was fairly well-matched all through the contest, the score at the end of the first half, standing 8 to 7 for the winners.

Corinne Hill starred for the Thetas with well-placed basket shots. Edna Murphy also played a good game as center. Melba Byrom, forward, was the stellar player for the losers.

Another Game Today

The contest for the lead of League II will be played off sometime today between Oregon club and Susan Campbell (1). The time has not been definitely arranged as yet. It is hard to prophesy as to the results, for the teams seem to be pretty evenly matched. Susan Campbell seems to have the edge over Oregon club, judging from the scores of each in contests with Hendricks. The Susan Campbell-Hendricks score stands 16 to 2, while Oregon club beat Hendricks with only a two-point margin, 19 to 17. The dope doesn't always hold good, however, and it is a great question who will play Hendricks (1), the champions of League I, in the final game next Monday at 5 o'clock.

Fate of Campus Shieks During '24 Looks Uncertain

Leap Year Brings New Order of Piggings

"It's always the woman that pays—and pays—and pays." 1924 will soon be upon us and being presidential election year and most important of all—leap year, marked changes should soon become evident in the attitude of the masculine element toward the University co-ed.

He will probably assume an elaborate indifference to feminine charms, but all the while, go out of his way to speak to any girl whom he may see on the street. Around the fraternity fireplace on Saturday nights of next year, elaborate excuses will be cooked up and expounded on "Why I am staying in tonight."

Yea—the tables will be turned for all of the campus piggers and particularly those of the class of '25. For in order to balance things up a bit, senior leap-week will be the time when it is perfectly proper for a gentleman to call up his lady friend, invite her out and pay all of the bills!

DISCUSSION FORUMS PLANNED BY Y. W. C. A.

Faculty Members to Talk At Weekly Gatherings

Beginning with the winter term, each women's living organization on the campus will conduct a weekly discussion forum at which a faculty member will give a talk dealing with some religious, scientific or current events topic. The discussions will be held for six weeks, and will come under the supervision of the religious study department of the Y. W. C. A., headed by Ruth Sensewich.

Each organization will send in three names of faculty members it would like to have lead its discussion, and from the three, one will be selected for each group. The faculty member thus chosen will conduct a meeting once a week for the entire six weeks given over to the discussions.

Another work similar in nature to these groups is also being conducted by the Y. W. C. A. It is the fellowship forums whose purpose and ideals coincide with the student movement and world fellowship work of the world's christian students' organizations.

SIGMA XI WILL HOLD MEETING IN PORTLAND

Honorary Fraternity Banquet Held Last Night at Portland University Club

Sigma Xi, honorary science fraternity, holds its regular monthly meeting at Portland this week-end. Last night a banquet was held at the Portland University club, and this morning the organization will hold its business meeting, according to Professor Harry B. Yocom, of the zoology department and secretary of the organization.

Dr. W. E. Allen, professor of anatomy at the medical school, is to give a paper on "Mammalian Cerebellum." Dr. Allen will deal with the anatomic side of the question, said Yocom.

The organization has members not only on the campus, but at Portland. The chapter takes in the medical school, the secretary of the organization explained. The December and April meetings are held at Portland.

About a dozen campus members of Sigma Xi left yesterday afternoon on the electric for the convention, Yocom said. President A. E. Caswell, of the physics department, and head of the organization, accompanied the party to Portland.

EDWARDS WINS IN INSURANCE TALKS

Irwin Adams Takes Second In Contest; Rufus Sumner Third; Policies are sold

FIFTEEN DOLLARS PRIZE

Event Aid in Promoting Interest in Topic; Local Men Contribute to Fund

Shirley Edwards, senior, won first prize of $15 in the insurance selling contest at the chamber of commerce last evening, Irwin Adams, senior, won second prize of $10, and Rufus Sumner, sophomore, third prize, of $5. Paul De Koenig and Russell Gowan, the other two entrants in the contest were tied for fourth place, all are in the school of business administration. The winners of both first and second prizes are members of Beta Gamma Sigma, national honorary business administration fraternity.

Mrs. Evelyn Johnson, the last prospect, was interviewed by Shirley Edwards, representing the Oregon Life Insurance company, who went about the business of selling the policy with all the ease of a veteran. He spread his chart showing length of life, law of averages, before his prospect and explained to her the advantage of taking out an insurance policy to provide for the education of her children in event of her disability to do so personally. A few questions when he had finished his talk and a few concise answers in the experienced and confidential tone of voice which he had used throughout the interview turned the trick, and he won first prize.

Professor C. L. Kelley, of the department of insurance and accounting of the school of business administration, presided at the meeting. In his introductory talk he explained that the contest was for the promotion of interest in the study of life insurance and that the following local insurance men had contributed to the "jackpot" which made up the prizes.

G. M. Sprague, Mutual Life Insurance company; Robert Earl, Equitable Life Insurance company, of New York; J. W. Pixley, New York Life Insurance company; K. A. Tobias, National Life Insurance company; W. C. Schuppel of the Oregon Life Insurance company; W. F. Gilstrap, New York Life Insurance company.

The silver loving-cup, of the school of business administration, upon which the winner's name is engraved each year, was donated by the Oregon Life Insurance company. Last year the first prize was won by Wesley Frater, the second prize was won by Fred Strahome, and Darle Seymore had his name engraved on the cup and was presented with a gold fountain pen by the Oregon Life Insurance company. The first year, 1921, Dix Holiday had his name engraved on the cup, and Mrs. V. R. McDougle won a cash prize of $25.00.

The judges at last night's contest were Carlton Spencer, registrar; Dean E. C. Robbins, of the school of business administration, and S. Diamond, of the Eugene chamber of commerce.

PRESIDENT IN PORTLAND

Many University People Will Attend C. N. McArthur Funeral

President and Mrs. P. L. Campbell left on Thursday afternoon for Portland, where they will remain until Sunday, on University business. They plan to attend the funeral of C. N. McArthur this afternoon at Trinity Episcopal church, and the president will meet a number of appointments in conference on University affairs.

The funeral of Mr. McArthur will be attended by a number of representatives of the University staff who are in Portland for the occasion. Among these are Colin V. Dymont, dean of the college of literature, science and the arts, and Dean Walker, assistant dean of men.

Christmas Joys Coming in Next Scandal Sheet

While the notion of abolishing various campus institutions lasts on the campus, it has been suggested from several sources that doing away with the scandal sheet—that frank and sensational organ of the faculty—would meet with approval from the masses, that is, the student body.

However, no such move has been contemplated, according to University officials, who announce that this most influential publication on the campus will appear shortly after Christmas.

Nothing need be said of the contents except that a surprise is undoubtedly in store for many of the anxious readers. The nature of this is customarily not divulged before the appearance of the bulletin and so the weary student is advised to spend as merry a Christmas as possible and wait patiently for the arrival of the dreaded document at the paternal office.

SHORT STORY CLASSES TO PUBLISH MAGAZINE

Edison Marshall Contest Stories to Appear

A publication, unlike any that has ever been produced on this campus, is to be undertaken at the first of the year. The short story writing classes are to publish, under the direction of W. F. G. Thacher, a 32-page magazine, much like "Old Oregon" in size and form. This undertaking will be supported by "Pot and Quill" and "Ye Tabard Inn" of Sigma Upsilon, the two writing organizations.

The magazine will contain the winner of the Edison Marshall contest and from seven to nine other stories at the head of the contest lists.

"We have for a long time felt the need for some sort of outlet for the activities in authorship," said Mr. Thacher, "especially for the short story development on the campus. This year, in view of the fact that there are nearly 100 students in the classes, it seems safe enough to undertake the publication of at least one number of this magazine. It will contain as many short stories as there is room for. There is no financial backing of the magazine and no one will make any money on it. We will pay for it by the sale of about a thousand copies at twenty-five cents each."

"If it is successful," Mr. Thacher went on, "there is no reason to believe that it can not grow to a regular edition, a college publication of a more general character."

The Edison Marshall contest will open at the beginning of the year and will close February first. A prize of $50 will be awarded to the winner. Formerly there were two prizes of smaller amounts, but Mr. Marshall wishes to make one prize, as a bigger incentive to contestants. He hopes to add another prize next year in addition to the $50 prize.

The contest is open to anyone enrolled in the University. Rules will be announced at the first of the year. It will take about two months for the judges to decide upon the winner and the publication may be expected about May first.

PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE TO MEET AT 10:00 TODAY

This morning at 10:00 o'clock the University publications committee will meet to consider bids for the Oregon contract. Bids have been sent in from six different companies, Koke-Tiffany company, Eugene; Statesman Publishing company, of Salem; Enterprise Publishing company, of Oregon City; and James Kearns, Abbott, Kilham Stationery and Dimm and Son, of Portland. The cost of the completed Oregon runs about $7,500. Last year the contract was given to the Oregon City house, while Koke-Tiffany, the local house, handled it for several years previous.

FIJI BASKETEERS WIN DO-NUT TITLE

Championship Tilt Full of Thrills; Winners Checking Features Very Fast Game

LEAD NEVER IN DANGER

Flynn, Chiles and Brown Play Nice Ball; Midget Westergren Losers' Star

LEAGUE STANDING
	P.	L. Pet.
Fijis	7	1 .880
Betas	6	2 .760
Phi Deltas	5	2 .710
Sigma Chi	4	3 .570
Phi Psi	2	4 .333
Friendly Hall	1	5 .160
Deltas	0	6 .000

Phi Gamma Delta fought their way to the championship yesterday afternoon by winning a sensational game from the Betas, 20 to 10. The contest was fast with the Fijis maintaining a safe lead except at one point, when the Betas, in a spectacular comeback scrapped their way to within 4 points of the fleet-victors.

The game opened with both teams going at top speed and for the first two or three minutes it was nip and tuck, with neither side being able to score consistently. When Flynn, the lanky Fiji center, looped a basket it started the Fijis on a spurt which ended with them on the long end of a 13 to 5 score at the end of the first period.

Betas Try Desperately

The Betas made desperate tries to come back at the start of the second half and with some spectacular floor work by Westergren, stellar forward, worked the ball down to where Callaway and Gunther scored and put the Betas just four points behind the leaders. Then happened one of those breaks, which more or less decides games. Gunther, the Beta center, broke loose under the hoop and shot what should have been a sure goal, however the ball seemed undecided as to whether it should roll inside or outside, and finally rolled off, leaving the Fijis in the lead. The Betas never dangerously threatened the lead of the Fijis from that time on, although they kept scrapping to the end.

The big three of the Fiji offense, Flynn, Chiles and Brown, were too much for the Beta defense and the three passed, dribbled and worked their way through the Beta check for the necessary points to put the game on ice. Goodell showed up good for the Fijis as running guard and caged five points. Schmeer checked well and saved several

RIFLE MATCHES END IN R. O. T. C. CONTESTS

Cup Winners and Scores for Series Will Be Announced After Target Checkover

Doughnut rifle matches were concluded yesterday afternoon at the R. O. T. C. barracks, but names of the winners of the cups and the scores for the series will not be announced until this afternoon. Captain J. T. Murray, officer in charge of firing, said in an interview yesterday afternoon, that the delay in publication of the scores and winners is necessary because the targets of the various contestants must be accurately checked to eliminate all possibility of mistake in the ratings of the teams.

Interest in the contests has been falling off somewhat since first practice began some weeks ago. The lack of enthusiasm during the week of final shooting is due mostly to the close proximity of exams. The students who placed high in the doughnut matches will be eligible and are urged to try out for the University teams, which will have several contests after the first of the year.
