HAYWARD MAY BE OLYMPIC COACH

Letter From Amateur Union President Asks Oregon's Trainer to Go to Paris

ROBERTSON STAFF HEAD

Spearow May Pole Vault on United States Team in European Contest

Bill Hayward, Oregon's veteran track coach and trainer, has been invited to act as one of the track and field coaches for the American Olympic team when it leaves to participate in the 1924 Olympic games which will be held in Paris next summer.

Bill's invitation was made known in a letter received from William C. Prout, president of the Amateur Athletic Union of America. His final selection depends, however, upon the ratification by the Olympic committee. Hayward has accepted the invitation, and if his appointment is confirmed by the Olympic body, he will sail from New York June 17 with the American team.

Coaches Together Before

Lawson Robertson, track mentor at the University of Pennsylvania, has been selected as head coach of the American track teams and if Hayward makes the trip this year, it will be the third time that he and the Penn coach have been co-workers on the Olympic coaching staff. Robertson and Hayward were together at the games at Stockholm in 1912 and again at Antwerp in 1920.

It was disclosed in the interview with Bill that the Lemon-Yellow has had a representative on every American Olympic team that has gone abroad since 1908. In that year, Oregon's famed sprinter, Dan Kelly, whose record of 9 3/5 seconds in the hundred still stands, was a member of the Olympic squad which represented the United States at the games in London.

Oregon Men in Games

In 1912, at Stockholm, Oregon was represented on the Olympic team by McClure, in the distances, and Hawkins, in the hurdles. There were no games in 1916 on account of the war, but at the Antwerp games in 1920, Ken Bartlett, varsity discus hurler, and Art Tuck, javelin, accompanied the American team across the water. In that same year, Hank Foster missed qualifying for the broad jump by a scant half inch.

It looks as though the 1924 Olympic team will not be without its Oregon man in Ralph Spearow, varsity track captain, polevaulter in his usual form. Last year, Spearow came perilously close to shattering the world mark in this event and if his work this season is up to the standard of that of last, he should have little trouble gaining a berth on the Olympic squad.

ON THANK FAMILY HAPPY OVER BIRTH OF BABY GIRL

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Onthank are being congratulated on the birth of a daughter, born Friday morning.

Japanese Current May Play Havoc at University Campus

Consider Oregon without its proverbial mist. It may be if . . . Imagine the campus with throes of hockey players instead of the Sunday golfers. Bang's Riding Academy would continue, to be sure, but the co-eds might be astir! reinder. All these may be if the Japanese current gets frisky and goes exploring outside her regular path.

The earthquake sort of stirred up an internal revolution down in the subterranean regions of the sea, and in the squabble the ocean bed got a dent or two and a few bumps that are going to affect mightily the future life of the Pacific coast, says a group of scientists, or they say words to that effect. At any rate,

GLEE CLUB PROGRAM HAS MANY FEATURES

Concert is January 8; Only Appearance of Year

The Men's Glee club, which will be heard in concert next Tuesday evening, January 8, has several outstanding features on its program, the chief of which is the ever popular quartet. They will give several light and popular numbers, which include some old-time quarter harmonies. Lyle Palmer and the Bolshevik Duo are also among the specialists who will appear on the program.

A novel and unique lighting effect is being worked out by Ted Baker, manager, in which the quartet is to be featured. The same idea was carried out as a part of the program given at the Whitman and Washington State college concerts, and it was considered one of the biggest hits.

The quartet, in addition to its glee club work, has been greatly in demand for downtown affairs, and in the near future will fill an engagement in Salem for the Rotary club.

Ronald Reid, pianist for the club who also is the assistant director, has toured quite extensively as a pianist in chataqua and lyceum work in the east.

Another interesting feature of the concert will be the "Soft Shoe Shuffle" by Lyle Palmer. Lyle's ability as an entertainer of high quality has been manifested frequently on the campus and his name on any program proves popular.

Si Muller and Dale Cooley, in the "Bolshevik," are sure to please the most exacting audience, for they have something new and different to offer. Si Muller will be remembered for his unusually fine work in "The Hour Hand," when it was produced last year. Dale Cooley is a graduate of the University high school, and he is considered one of the best campus comedians. The "Bolshevik Duo" is an original conception of the two young men.

Admittance to the concert, which will be held in the Woman's building, will be by student body ticket, and all new students are to be admitted on recognition.

The Men's Glee club concert has always proved one of the biggest drawing cards of the school year, and since it will only be heard one evening on the campus an exceptionally large attendance is expected.

COLLEGE NIGHT SET FOR FRIDAY

Preppers' Entertainment to Follow the Banquet in the Woman's Building

PLAN FOR 200 GUESTS

Style Show for High School Girls Arranged; Campus Groups Are to be Hosts

High school students will partake of college atmosphere next Friday evening at the annual College Night. This is to be a gathering of University students with delegates to the conferences of high school editors and managers and student body officers.

More than 200 high school boys and girls are expected on the campus to meet in serious contemplation of their respective problems, but who will be equally ready to participate in any college excitement which may be offered. College Night is planned, as the outstanding occasion for the amusement of these preppers. The program of entertainment which is being arranged by Floyd McKallon, Though designed particularly for the benefit of the high schoolers, is also to be open to the University student body.

Awards Promised

A particular feature of the evening's program will be the award of sweaters to the football men who earned them during the past season. Bill Hayward will be on hand to see that the boys get their due, and the lettermen will make their appearance before the high school delegates.

The glee clubs and the University orchestra have promised to put on numbers. There will be musical solos, stunts, skits, a dialogue by two campus humorists, a solo dance, and other forms of diversion for the tired mind.

Program at Banquet

The entertainment will be held at the gymnasium in the Woman's building immediately following the banquet for the high school delegates there at 6 p. m. Friday. At the banquet there will be a brief speakers' program. President Campbell will preside as toastmaster, and there will be brief words of welcome by John Straub, dean of men; Virginia Judy Esterly, dean of women; Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism; and Claude Robinson, president of the Associated Students.

An exhibition which will be held for the benefit of the delegates, particularly the girls, is that to be staged by the Women's Athletic association. A definite time and place have not been decided as yet, but it will no doubt be staged at the women's gymnasium Friday afternoon. The women's league is planning to put on another style show for the visiting girls. It will serve to show them correct and sensible modes of dress for the high school girl. This will be held Saturday morning at a place yet to be determined.

To Entertain Delegates

Campus organizations will have the chance to entertain these delegates at luncheon both Friday and Saturday noon. From all indications a large proportion, if not half, the representatives from the high schools will be girls this year. More of them than ever before are incumbents of the high school student body offices. Thus the co-eds will be called upon for their share of the entertaining this year.

Friday evening has been set aside as an evening exclusive for the entertainment of these guests. There being no other social functions, it is trusted that all the student body will turn out for the occasion.

Scandal Sheet News Reviewed; Let's Study Now

Pigges Told to Wait for Balmy Spring

Now that the scandal sheet has been browsed through and is fodder for the flames and everybody knows what everybody else received as a Christmas present from the faculty, it might behoove some of us to take on a little knowledge for the exams along toward the fag end of March.

The long winter nights are here and the east wind is howling through the grandstand and the bleachers on the race—good chance for the pigger to leave the lady home and browse through a little philosophy or econ. Spring is the time to pig—the moonlight, the stars—ah, let us study now and wait for the spring.

HONORABLE MENTION RECEIVED BY SEVENTY

Three Students Make An Average Grade of I

Seventy-one students received grades of two or above last term. Thirty-three of these were men and 38 women. The list of students contains representatives from all classes and bespeaks the increasing effort at scholastic attainment in the University. Following is the list of these honor students:

REGISTRATION SYSTEM PROVES SUCCESSFUL

Increase of Thirty-Three Over Last Year; Petitions to Change Courses Numerous

One hundred fifty-six persons had signed for registration up to four o'clock yesterday, the records of the registrar's office showed. Under the new year system of registration this number shows the increase in enrollment and compares favorably with the number of new students who registered at this time last year.

The enrollment for the last term was 2,224 students and with this increase the total enrollment, so far, is 2,380 persons. The increase at this time last year was 158 and the total enrollment for the winter term last year was 2,347, showing an increase for this year of 33. It is expected by the registrar's office that the increase will be greater when the final figures are compiled.

It is impossible to tell yet how well the new system of registering for the whole year is working out, but Carlton E. Spencer, the registrar, believes that it will prove entirely satisfactory. He believes that the new system is better than the old and that as soon as the students become accustomed to planning a course for the entire year that much of the present work of changing courses will be eliminated.

The registrar's office, besides handling the registration of new students has been kept busy with the petitions of those desiring to drop or to change courses. Students wishing to change courses must do so within the next week and a half, according to the information given out by the office.

STAFF SELECTED FOR FROSH GLEE

Armory Will be Scene of Annual Freshman Dance Scheduled for Feb. 1

BOB LOVE IS CHAIRMAN

New Decorations, Features and Programs Planned by General Chairman

The annual frosh glee, given by the freshman class to all members of the Oregon student body, to be held this year on Friday night, Feb. 1, at the Armory, will be in charge of Robert Love, who was appointed during the holidays by Lowell Baker, president of the class. Members of the class to work on the dance committee have been selected and the frosh glee promises to be one of the best of the social functions on the calendar for the winter term.

Plans Being Formulated

Although actual plans for the dance are, as yet, only tentative, General Chairman Love promises a most unusual and distinctive entertainment. His committees are working out a motif to be used throughout the decorations, features and program. They plan to secure the best orchestra on the campus and the program and features will be new and very entertaining.

The decorations are to be unusual and in keeping with the old Oregon traditions and spirit according to the plans. Prominent members of both the state and the University will be guests at the affair, acting as patrons and patronesses.

Heads Selected

The following freshman men and women have been chosen by Chairman Love for his special committees: Decoration committee, James Forestell, chairman; Beulah Smith, John Walker, Frances Morgan, Kenneth Bonbright, Alice Laura Olsen, Mary West, Tom Mahoney, Florence Allen, James Farham, Jack Grandall. Features: Carmalita Hadley, chairman; Marylee Andrus, Harry Hennings, Kate Lambert, Clifford Powers. Programs: Morton Coke, chairman; Helen Davidson, Virginia Wilson. Patrons and patronesses: George Mead, chairman; Betty Beans, Holt Slaughter, Irving Brown, Elizabeth Nash, Elizabeth Edwards. Music: Billy O'Bryant, chairman; Peggy Spencer, Mary Cogswel. Refreshments: Frances Strange, chairman; Alice Dorman, Allan Woolley, Fred Lockwood and Helen Wagner.

EMPLOYEE IS INJURED WHEN TIMBER FALLS

Jesse Jones, Working in New Power Plant Suffers Broken Ribs and Bad Cut

Jesse Jones, a laborer in the employ of the building and grounds department, was seriously injured Wednesday afternoon when he was struck by a falling timber, while at work in the new power plant.

Jones was working on the floor of the boiler room and two other men were above him, lowering a timber with ropes. One of the ropes slipped and the timber fell on Jones. He sustained a severe cut on the head, the loss of several teeth and two fractured ribs. He was taken to the infirmary for first aid and later was removed to his home.

W. I. King, a carpenter, was injured Thursday afternoon while operating a power rip-saw in the repair shop. The end of the board which he was sawing flew up and struck him in the solar plexus when the saw caught it and threw it back. At first it was feared that he was severely injured and he was taken to the infirmary for treatment. When he had recovered the shock and loss of breath, it was discovered that his injuries were not serious. He was back on the job yesterday, finishing up the interior of the new headquarters of the University Depot.

Juniors Help Bring Christmas Cheer to Needy Children

Many needy families and many little Eugene children who otherwise might have lost their faith in Santa Claus were made happy by visits from Mrs. M. S. Ady, police matron of the city, and in charge of charitable work.

Mrs. Ady left baskets brimming full of "all kinds of good things," candies, and fruits, and warm clothing, and shoes, and wooly animals that go "Squeek" when "little sister" squeezes it with her pudgy hands.

Part of the money contributed for this work came in the form of a check for $100.00, presented by the Junior class of the University, money that had been raised Junior Shine day. At that time, the class of '25 turned out and became temporary bootblacks, shining the footwear of everyone who could be persuaded by the charity of the purpose, if not by the quality of the work.

Oregon club won the championship of the women's do-nut basketball series which closed last term. In the game played just before examinations, Oregon defeated Hendricks (1), champions of league I, with a score of 21 to 16 and obtained the cup presented each year to the champion of both leagues. Hendricks hall has held it for the last two years.

The standings of the different organizations in their leagues has been worked out on the percentage of the number of games played by each team. Games forfeited by an organization are counted as defeats.

Practice for class basketball teams starts today and will continue for three weeks, when first and second teams for each group will be chosen. All those who took part in the do-nut series or are interested in basketball are urged to turn out for the class teams.

BUSINESS AD STUDENT MAKES MAP OF EUGENE

John P. Lowe's Chart of Business District Will be Given to City of Eugene

The most complete up-to-date map of the business district of Eugene, showing present occupants of all business blocks, is one made at the end of last term by John R. Lowe, graduate student in the school of business administration.

Each student in the statistics class, taught by W. B. Mikesell of the school of business administration, was required to make a map of a certain street in the business district for the purpose of locating a retail store, making records and statistics concerning each location. After individual maps of each street were made, John Lowe grouped them all together, making a complete map of the business part of the city.

The map is about 18x12 inches in size and is said to be unusually excellent as to proportions and accuracy. It is planned to exhibit it later at the Eugene chamber of commerce and place it there at the disposal of city use.

FLASHY MEN OUT FOR FROSH SQUAD

Coach David Evans, Mentor of First Year Basketball Begins With Floor Drill

FIRST CUT TO BE MONDAY

Full Schedule Planned With Rooks and High Schools; Season to Begin Soon

Following the first call for freshman basketball prospects Wednesday afternoon in the men's gym, more than 25 men have been turning out under the direction of Coach David Evans.

The candidates have been doing through drill in pivoting and working the ball down the floor by passes as well as shooting, to allow Coach Evans an opportunity for a thorough inspection of the material. He will be forced to cut the group very rapidly in order to get a final squad down to intensive training as the season will begin almost immediately for the frosh. His task will be lightened somewhat due to the pre-season workouts most of the men received in the do-nut league. The first cut will come Monday and from then on men will be dropped as the coach sees fit.

Rooks to be Met

Although final arrangements for a schedule have not been completed it is assured that the freshmen will have a full season. At least four games will be played with the O. A. C. Rooks and the team will be pointed for these contests. Other games will be played against the stronger quintets of the state.

Many former high school players of the first magnitude are contesting for places on the team. A few of the men are Westergren, All-State forward for two years, from Astoria high school, and All-do-nut forward this year. Kiminki, also from Astoria, is a very promising candidate for a guard berth. Chiles, Flynn, Schmeer, Hughes and Westerman stars in the Portland league last year, are showing up well. Okerberg, Reinhart and Cash, members of the fast Salem five last year will fight for places. Among others out are: Johnson, Shulte, Carter,

OREGON INSTRUCTORS ELECTED TO POSITIONS

State Teachers' Association Will Contribute Annual Sum to Student Loan

A meeting of the Oregon State Teachers' association was held at the Lincoln high school in Portland, on December 27, 28 and 29. Thirty-five of the 5,000 members of the association are from the University of Oregon faculty.

Oregon teachers who were honored with election to offices are: Mr. Dickerson, who was made head of the history section; Ethel Wakefield, who was made vice-president of the entire association, and Dean Dymont, re-elected head of the higher section. Dean Sheldon was chairman of the committee to revise the constitution. Superintendent A. C. Strange, of Astoria, was chosen president of the entire association for this year.

Professor F. L. Stetson and Dr. Gregory of the University, gave prominent reports during the series of meetings.

Some of the most interesting business accomplished during the conference was the voting of $150 to be used by Dr. Gregory in his study of retarded children and students. Two hundred dollars was added to the sum already in the fund which has been established for student loans. This same amount is to be added annually. The executive committee is to establish a board to arrange for the lending of this money to students throughout the state.

The higher section of the association also voted to recommend the putting of German back in the high schools as it has been in none of them since the war.
