The fact that one race may not desire to associate with another has nothing whatever to do with the solution of the racial question. The problem deals with the dominance of one race over another.

If Great Britain is denying the native population of India the right, to which it is naturally entitled, to manage its own affairs, it is the duty of every person to lend his moral force to bring about an adjustment of the situation. Each race is entitled to the right to work out its own destiny in its own way so long as it does not interfere with other people. It is not a question of personal likes or dislikes. If two races want to mingle together, join the same clubs, and move in the same social circles, let them do so. But if they prefer to keep apart and maintain their own individuality that should be their privilege. And the same rule should hold with racial companionship that holds with individual companionship; the relation must be agreeable to both parties in order to hold.

conferences will have a separate program and schedule of events. Women's league is presenting a program for the girls. They are to be assisted by the Women's Athletic association which will give a demonstration of athletics on Saturday morning at 11 o'clock in the women's gymnasium.

The program opens promptly at 9 o'clock Friday morning at Villard hall with a joint meeting of all delegates. The conference will close Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock following an address of all delegates by Governor Walter M. Pierce.

CASTLE
"Flaming Youth," the long-heralded First National screen version of Warner Fabian's sensational book, will be shown at the Castle theatre for an engagement of three days, beginning today. Colleen Moore has the leading feminine role as Patricia Fentress, youngest daughter of a very modern family of three beautiful girls, whose indulgent and wealthy parents give them a free reign in the gratification of their whims. Patricia's numerous shallow love affairs and her final awakening in a real romance form the nucleus of the plot.

WRESTLING PROMISING FOR COMING SEASON

O. A. C. and U. of W. Meets Will be in Eugene

Walter Whitecomb, who wrestled on the varsity year before last, has been showing wonderful class in his initial workouts. Whitecomb wrestled at 125 pounds and is working hard to get down to that weight. At the rate that he has been going it will be a man's size job to put his shoulders on the mat.

Coach Earl Widmer has a large number of green men out. He has been giving them the fundamental holds which include the nelsons, wristlocks and others that are necessary in the grappling game. Never before has there been such a promising number of candidates out for a heavyweight berth. Terjeson's injury has put a slight crimp in the prospects, but without a doubt another good man will be developed by Widmer.

Ford, a lightweight, a member of last year's fresh team, has been showing his stuff on the mat and is getting by in great fashion. Ford has a wicked pair of legs and once he secures the sicors it is "good night." A few more weeks of training and Ford will give any lightweight a tussle.

Only two meets will be staged in Eugene this year. The first, which opens the season is with O. A. C., on February 9. The University of Washington grapplers will be seen in action here on February 25. The U. of W. wrestlers are strong and nothing would please the local fans more than to send the Seattle lads home with a package under their arms containing defeat. The varsity on the first trip from home will meet the University of Idaho at Moscow, February 16 and two days later tackle the W. S. C. aggregation. The last match of the season will see O. A. C. and Oregon grapplers in a return match.

approximately $4,000 in the same time.

The compulsory membership plan, the committee urged, would increase student support of the store, since all students would be members and at the end of the year receive dividends at least equivalent to the membership fee paid.

This plan would give the Co-op the same amount of money to operate on that is now provided by the students. Membership has averaged about half the University and has been at a cost of one dollar. This measure, the committee said, would also eliminate one more obnoxious drive on the campus.

President Robinson was instructed to appoint a committee to investigate the advisability of installing a central accounting system for student body activities.

would have a beneficial effect on the world at present.

Elihu Root, chairman of the jury of award, says of the plan: "It is the unanimous hope of the jury that the first fruit of the mutual counsel and cooperation among the nations which will result from the adoption of the plan selected will be a general prohibition of the manufacture and sale of all materials of war."

Question Held Important

The question, which is international in scope, and perhaps the most important that has been laid before the American people since the world war, will be explained and further treated in various publications. Students are asked to become thoroughly familiar with the plan before voting on it, and then to express their true convictions. A sample ballot, which was sent to the Emerald office is printed on the front page of this issue.
