EVENT TO BE IN VILLARD

Contest is Set For 7:15;
Bailey and Frazer Take
Affirmative on Question

Tonight at 7:15 in Villard hall the Oregon debaters are coming up against a stiff team, a team which has made a rather enviable record in debate within the last few years. But despite this fact debate fans are promised a contest which will be far from one-sided, for Ralph Bailey and Joe Frazer, the Oregon men, are going to put up a good fight to add another name to Oregon's string of debate victories.

British Columbia, the opponent, last year met the University of California in a dual debate, and won both ends of the contest on audience decisions. When they met California at Berkeley, an audience of 1,200, composed mostly of California students, gave the decision to the Canadians by a substantial majority.

Team is Experienced

On the other hand, Bailey and Frazer are both experienced men who have worked long and faithfully on the question. H. E. Rosson, Oregon coach, says of them:

"Frazer received valuable experience in the O. A. C.-Reed debate. Although his work in that contest was satisfactory, the experience gained and confidence acquired as a result of participation in this debate have proven valuable training for the meet tonight.

"Bailey is the hardest worker in debate that I have ever known. He has worked incessantly since the beginning of the year in acquiring information on the Russian question, and his natural ability and previous training and experience as a varsity debater in past years make him most valuable as a representative of the University of Oregon."

Question is Stated

Characterizing the debate as a whole, Mr. Rosson said:

"This event represents the establishment of a most desirable relation with the institutions of the north-west which have been noted for years for their interest in forensics and for their standards of work. Friday night there will be offered the opportunity of seeing what is probably one of the strongest debate teams in Canada in contest with our own team, which is holder of this year's state championship."

British Columbia will take the negative and Oregon the affirmative of the question: "Resolved, that the United States should im-

PLANS FOR SUMMER SCHOOL BEING MADE

Slight Increase in Number of Courses Offered

Plans are maturing for the summer sessions both in Eugene and Portland. This is the report of Professor F. L. Stetson, of the school of education, who is in charge of the Eugene session.

"The summer school will begin June 23 this year, allowing one week between the end of the regular school year and the summer work," said Stetson.

"The general plan is similar to that of last year. The Portland division is offering, in the main, undergraduate courses, including a large number of special and popular features.

"On the campus, graduate and upper-division courses will be featured and special efforts will be made to take care of the needs of the large group of superintendents, principals, and teachers who come every year from Oregon and other parts of the northwest. The departments represented will be practically the same as last year with a slight increase in the number of courses."

The faculty on the campus will be chosen largely from the regular faculty staff of the university but will include several instructors from other parts of the country. Dr. J. Duncan Spaeth will be one of the visitors. He will come from Princeton and will teach literature. Dr. S. B. Harding, who will teach history, comes from the University of Minnesota. A new course in education will be offered by Superintendent C. W. Washburn of Winnetka, Illinois. He is nationally known for his system of individual instruction developed in his school system.

The Portland faculty includes various campus teachers and some from the extension division, with the addition of several visiting professors. Professor Cardinal Goodwin of Mills college will teach American history; Professor Bernard Ever of Pomona College, Clairmont, California, will teach psychology, and Professor Christian Gauss will teach literature.

Students are allowed to take nine hours of work. The fee for entrance will be $12.50.

NEIHARDT WILL SPEAK SATURDAY

Campus to Hear Epic Poet

"Precious Saga-Stuff"

PRICE IS REASONABLE

Popular Lecture Series is First of Year Sponsored by Associated Students

Arrangements are being completed for the reception of John C. Neihardt, nationally known poet, who is to give a reading of some of his lyric and dramatic poems in Villard hall tomorrow night at 8:15. Mr. Neihardt speaks under the auspices of the Portland Library association in the Woman's Club building in Portland this evening, and will arrive in Eugene on the 1:47 train from Portland tomorrow afternoon. This is the first of the lecture series sponsored by the Associated Students this year.

Price is a Quarter

One notable fact is that the A. S. U. O. offers this lecture at exactly one-third the price of the Portland one. The policy of obtaining really distinguished men in the field of letters, whose lectures may be attended for the nominal fee of twenty-five cents, is to be maintained again this year. The idea from the first has been to put the lecture series within the reach of all, and the hope of the committee is only to clear expenses. Tickets are now on sale in all campus living organizations, at the Co-op, and in the downtown district at Kuykendall's drug store.

Emotions Shown

To those who heard the negro spirituals of Vachel Lindsay, the echo of tom-toms, and the talking animals, and to those who listened to Carl Sandburg's poems of last year with their breath of cities, the sound of the elevated, and the bitterness of those men who toil blindly and drip sweat and blood, the songs of Neihardt will come as something new, and not less interesting.

His early poems plumb the depths of the erotic emotion, now proud and harsh,

"My love is like the snarl of haughty drums,
And blare of trumpets—" again he is doubting and engrossed.
"Can this be sin?
This ecstasy of arms and eyes and lips,
This thrilling of caressing fingertips—" Or gently,
"Come back and bring the summer in your eyes—"

These moods of his poetry pass into something deeper and with a

RUSSIAN ART IS DYING

Moscow Art Theater and Imperial Ballet Slowing Fading

University of Idaho—(By P. I. N. S.)—The Moscow art theater and the Imperial Russian ballet are dying a slow death, according to a statement made by Dr. Frank A. Golder, a nationally known Russian historian now in charge of the Hoover war library at Stanford university, in a special interview to the University of Idaho Argonaut.

The old drama and music that distinguished Russia and placed her high in the art circles of the world are gradually disappearing, according to Dr. Golder, because of lack of financial support from the Soviet government.

"Naturally such undertakings as the ballet must be highly subsidized by the government. But since the majority of the Russian operas and plays deal with the life of the aristocracy, it is not surprising that the communists do not desire to give them their support aside from the fact that the government is in no position to do so should they desire."

Night Watch Gives Coat to Cold Neophyte

Scantly Clad Youth
Out at 3:30 a. m.

The man who parts with his shirt for a friend is celebrated in fiction and proverb. This being the case the University's night watchman, familiarly known as "Dad" or "Jim," deserves no less mention for parting with his overcoat at 3:30 in the morning. A pre-initiate was hurrying past the Co-op without—well, anyway, very scantily clad, at that hour of the morning.

"What's up?" asked "Dad."
"Oh, just a little fun, but I'm awful darned cold," replied the shivering one.

"If my overcoat will do you any good you can have it," was the prompt offer.

"But what if I couldn't return it? If they find it I'll be ducked again, and there's no telling what will become of the coat."

The argument went on, with "Dad" winning out, and the shorn lamb departing with the wind tempered by the warm folds of the coat. Spectator, behind a tree, was felt to wonder what fate the coat would suffer.

MALADJUSTMENT IS REASON FOR FAILURE

Irving Vining Urges Service
as Means of Success

That a large proportion of the grief which meets college students when they step out into the business world for the first time is due to maladjustment and unwillingness or failure on the part of the business neophyte to realize that he must start at the bottom and prove his worth, was the statement of Irving E. Vining, of Ashland, Oregon, president of the State Chamber of Commerce, who spoke to the University assembly yesterday morning.

"Let your voice speak not through words but through service," was Mr. Vining's preachment. "Take a piece of paper," he said, "and draw zones upon it. In the center zone place contentment, and next it, on the downward scale, place maladjustment, and below that in the depths, put criminality, typified by the men behind the bars in our nation today.

"Upon the rising scale above the zone of contentment, put the zone of achievement, and above that the highest zone of all, that of genius."

Y. W. POSITIONS FILLED

Margaret Seymour and Marion
Lowry Receive Appointments

At a meeting of the University Y. W. C. A. council, Margaret Seymour was appointed to the position of finance head of that group, and Marion Lowry was appointed as publicity head. Miss Seymour, who has been active in the Y. W. C. A. for some time, is at present assistant finance head of the cabinet, and succeeds Luella Hausler who has resigned.

Henryetta Lawrence has resigned as head of publicity because of other duties. Her place is being taken by Marian Lowry, at present reporter on the council.

C. L. HUGHES TO SPEAK

"Applied Psychology" Subject
Chosen for Yoncalla Meeting

A lecture by Professor C. L. Hughes, of the school of education on "Applied Psychology" and based on two books, "Psychology in the Schools," by Cameron, and "Educational Tests and Measurements," by Professor C. A. Gregory, will be a feature of the zone meeting of Douglas county teachers, to be held at Yoncalla Saturday, January 19. The book by Professor Gregory, also of the school of education, is being used as a basis of study in psychology by the teachers in the Douglas county schools this year.

OPERA TO TRAVEL IN SPECIAL TRAIN

Cast, Scenery and Orchestra to be Transported by Rail
For Portland Performance

SHOWING IS AT HEILIG

Mrs. Beck and Managers
Leave for Rose City to Arrange For Production

A special train has been granted by the Southern Pacific company for the conveyance of the cast, orchestra and scenery of "The Hour Hand," to Portland, where a special production of the opera will be given Wednesday evening, February 6 at the Heilig theater, is the announcement made by Ted Gillenwaters, manager.

The train will leave Eugene Tuesday, February 5, at 5:30 p. m., and on Wednesday morning a light rehearsal will be held. The return train leaves Portland at 1:00 a. m. Thursday, bringing the students back in time for their 8:00 o'clocks on that morning. Because of this service there will be no classes missed, by the students except on Wednesday and arrangements are being made with the faculty in regard to the classes missed on that day.

Clubs Back Opera

Mrs. Anne Landsbury Beck, composer of the opera, Ted Gillenwaters, manager, and Robert Love, assistant manager, are leaving for Portland tomorrow to make further arrangements for the production in that city.

Among the several organizations backing "The Hour Hand" in Portland is the Swiss club, which is composed of over two thousand members. Some very good publicity is being extended by this group because of its profound interest in the only Swiss folk-opera ever before produced in that city.

The tickets for the production, both in Eugene and Portland, are going very well, says Ted Gillenwaters. It is of utmost importance to those planning to attend the Eugene production that they reserve their seats early. This may be done by writing to the manager of the Eugene Heilig theater, enclosing return postage. No war tax will be charged.

Ticket Price Listed

The price of tickets ranges from 50 cents to one dollar. The first 10 rows downstairs are selling at one dollar, and the last eight rows are 75 cents. The first three rows in the balcony are one dollar and the last three rows are 75 cents. The entire gallery is selling at 50 cents. All seats, even those in the gallery have to be reserved, and for that reason it is important to purchase tickets early.

There is a student in each house on the campus in charge of selling tickets, but these representatives do not have to confine their selling to the house, for they are supposed to make the rounds of the faculty and everybody else they think might be interested.

JUNIORS NEED STUNTS

Vaudeville Head Asks That Students
Submit Possible Acts

Any students who have acts available for the junior vaudeville are urged by David Swanson, director of the affair, to let him know of them at once. Several acts have already been offered and Dave hopes that others will be proffered voluntarily so that a house-to-house solicitation will not be necessary.

If a large number of acts are available for the affair, a finer selection and a better program will be possible.

PENN STATE COMPLETES NEW FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

State College, Pennsylvania—Penn State has a strong array of grid games for the 1924 season. The schedule includes contests with practically all of the teams played last year, and in addition, games with Mariette and Carnegie Tech.

Flap-Jack Fryers Furnishing Fun for Frivolous Friends

The paleolithic clam-diggers have come to town today. Seven in number, the big toughs may tear up things a bit before they leave. But while they are here they are going to give the campus hicks some entertainment.

These sour-doughs of '49 will be camped at the northeast corner of Kincaid field behind the nicotine bush between the ten and eleven o'clock classes this morning, and while the college kids gaze in wonder, these hardened rock-diggers will flip their flap-jacks about.

In other words, the neophytes of Condon club, Don Johnson, Don Fraser, Ollie Mercer, Si Muller, Mannel Souza, Mac McLean, and Wilbur Godlove, are being initiated. These miners will meander around all day garbed in the clothes of their calling.

THREE WOMEN MAKE REPORTS ON MEETING

Subject of War Taken Up
at Mass Gathering

A mass meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association and Women's league was held in Guild hall yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, for the purpose of hearing reports of delegates to the Students' Volunteer convention held at Indianapolis during the Christmas vacation.

Mary Bartholomew, who attended the conference as a representative of Women's league, the Young Women's Christian Association, and the faculty women, talked on "General Aspects, Industrialism and Devotion." She told of the 6,000 students who attended the convention, representing universities from various parts of the world. She put special emphasis on the part young people are playing in the political, moral and social trend of the world, and the necessity of finding a way to meet social and industrial conditions.

"The Race Question" was the subject of Mary Donaldson's talk. She quoted from Dr. Willis King, negro professor from Alabama, who stressed particularly the need of brotherhood to solve the race problem. Dr. King declares that home problems must be solved before a solution can be offered the rest of the world. Dr. Shu, professor of sociology in Shanghai, China, was present also and discussed the race question. He believes that the attitude of the people of America is due to ignorance of conditions. Miss Donaldson declared that the problem as stated at the conference, which was not solved there nor here, and which will not be solved for some time to come, is: Shall negroes, Jews, and others be admitted on the basis of equality in classrooms, eating places, social affairs, fraternities and athletics?

Edith Howe's subject was the question of war, and she discussed the two types of war, international strife and civic unrest. She said that the four viewpoints for meeting war, which were presented at the convention, were: first, preparation

Babes Plan Class Festivity to Keep Up to Pace of Elders

It is to dance!! Even the babes have caught the spirit of the times and are gathering together tonight in the men's gym for a frolic. Date, or no-date, according to your own feelings about the matter. Some frosh already have dates, and a demand for a no-date affair came from a large group of underclassmen who claimed they did not know any girls to ask.

Shieks and shiekesses, Spanish dancers from Seville, bold, bad pirates, and highwaymen, will haunt the Woman's building, where the sophomores are to gather together. Strictly no-date, say the class of '26, and any couple "Pigging" will be handled in a far from kindly manner.

"Juniors" and "lottery" are synonymous just now since the third year men and women have plunged whole-heartedly into the affair. It

MOLAR GRINDERS HAVE GOOD TEAM

Game Set for 7:15 Tonight;
Does Not Affect Varsity
Standing in Conference

BABES TO STAGE GAME

Jefferson High Quintet to Play Frosh After Game
With Embryo Dentists

Due to a forced change of the plans of the Jefferson high school quintet, which was billed to meet the frosh this afternoon, tonight's varsity clash with the North Pacific Dental college will be a double-header. The varsity will tangle with the Dentists in the first engagement of the evening, which starts at 7:15 sharp. After the varsity teams have settled their difficulties, the babes will then take the floor and have it out with Portland high aggregation. It is probable that the second scrimmage of the evening will start about 8:15.

Dentists Have Veterans

Although tonight's game has no bearing on the conference standing, it should see the varsity offense in better shape than in the preceding games. Reinhart will use the same starting combination that he has used in both of last week's games. Let there be no mistake, however, about the fact that the molar grinders have a fast combination, as it is composed, for the most part, of veterans at the hoop sport.

Jefferson high was slated to meet the frosh this afternoon in the men's gym, but the preppers could not break away from their studies in time to make Eugene by that time, so the Frosh-Jeff go will be shoved up till tonight. The Jefferson lads will arrive on the Oregon electric this evening at 6:45.

Lineups are Given

The varsity game tomorrow night will start at 7:30 and the freshman game will be in the afternoon when the babes tangle with Franklin high at 3:00.

Following are the tentative lineups for tonight's varsity game.

NEW HALL TO JOIN ROOMS USED BY PSYCHOLOGISTS

Work on an entrance to the rooms used as offices for the instructors in the psychology department was started yesterday. Three men are working on the third floor of McClure hall in Doctor E. S. Conklin's office, and are dividing it into a hall that will join the one that leads to the other rooms. When this is finished it will enable people to reach members in the department without passing through the laboratory rooms.

Greetings: Know All Men by These Presents, That--

WHEREAS, it has long been noticed and observed at many and various times and in sundry and divers places and locations both private and public that due and proper respect and deference has not been paid to the honorable and highly respectable students and devotees of the law of many vulgar and undiscerning person and people, more particularly to be described as students of arts and sciences at the University of Oregon, and ability and incapacity to appreciate or detect true merit and worth without some physical or material mark or token, and

WHEREAS, the recognition of merit and superiority is greatly to be desired and is to a people or group which is best to serve its purpose or survive, imperative, essential and supremely necessary.

THEREFORE, be it ordered and decreed that from this date on, for each and every year, month and day forever hereafter that every student regularly enrolled in the school of Law at the University of Oregon is empowered to and hereafter shall, at all times and upon all occasions on the campus of the said University of Oregon, or in Eugene, County of Lane, State of Oregon, carry, convey, transport, drag, flourish, twirl, or ability and incapacity to appreciate or detect true merit and worth without some physical or material mark or token, and was absolutely square, though there are those who profess to doubt it. The results can only be termed freaks o' nature, for in some cases Miss Tall was paired off with Mr. Short, two room-mates at the D. G. house drew brothers, and in one case a young gentleman, a confirmed pigger at a certain house—until he had a fight with his lady friend drew that identical lady friend, and what's more, is planning to go with her.

Owing to the fact that the women outnumber the men by a large number, several junior women did not draw dates for tonight, but the committee wishes to state that these women will still be expected to come.

The seniors are busy shaking out the moth balls, and perhaps shedding a few tears in the meantime,
