

MEN FILL MANY ODD POSITIONS

University Students Get Work Through Y. M.

JOBS FOUND FOR 105

Pay Last Term is $11,979 Says Mrs. Donnelly

Some unusual occupations that University men engage in were brought to light recently in a report by Mrs. C. R. Donnelly, head of the University employment bureau, to the advisory board of the United Christian Work of the University of Oregon.

Mrs. Donnelly, who has headquarters at the Young Men's Christian Association, has for several years been the friend of men who have had to work their way through college and has aided them a great deal in finding employment. She is affectionately known as "Mother" Donnelly to the boys around the "Hut."

Jobs Are Varied
Some of the men are dishwashers, dishwashers, or waiters in fraternity houses, downtown lunch counters, restaurants and hotels. There are janitors, clerks, stenographers, and electricians. One freshman has made over $180 milking cows. There is a professional rug weaver. Another is a junior who takes care of children in private homes when their parents are out for the evening. Several men mark or sort clothes in laundries.

Many Earn Board
The report shows that the employment bureau has found regular jobs for 105 men and a very much larger number of odd jobs. Seventy-two men have made more than their board and room. Eleven men have made more than their board, and twenty-two have made more than their room. The total amount of money made by these students who have had regular jobs in the last term is $10,479. A conservative estimate of the amount made through odd jobs was placed by Mrs. Donnelly at $1,500, making the grand total for the term $11,979. One year ago, for the same term, only $10,928 was earned, which shows an increase of $1,051 for this year.

CONVENTION SPEAKERS DISCUSS THE WEST

capacity to put themselves in another's situation and who are especially prone to forget that the native whom they regard as a "foreigner," probably, and with greater justification, views the missionary in the same light.

"It is an error, for example, to assume that all the institutions and sacred traditions of centuries must be ruthlessly supplanted by the practices of a western civilization." Dr. Ching Yi Cheng, national leader of the student Christian movement in China, declared the greatest desire of China today is to learn. The Chinese want to study for themselves. They do not want to take everything for granted, or to take unpremeditated the predigested thought food of the western peoples. They welcome missionaries, preachers, teachers and physicians, but they want men of authority, with deep convictions, who are willing to work in the spirit of co-operation, of a big brother, and as a co-seeker after truth.

The history of Japan for the last few decades indicates what may be accomplished by these former dominant nations in the realm of progress. But if we merely impose western customs and western progress on them, what contribution can they make to a future and, we hope, a better civilization?

Africa, too, is becoming self-conscious. Her people are no longer willing to accept everything second-hand, but are desirous of an opportunity to work out their own salvation under the guidance, but not the dominance, of more fortunate nations. Dr. J. E. K. Aggrey, native of the Gold Coast, Africa, with a strength of oratory excelled by few, predicted the day when Africa would contribute her share to a world civilization and to a world Christianity.

In what spirit shall we go as missionaries to the foreign field? Shall we go with the idea in mind of dominating these peoples, of imposing on them an American civilization and an American Christ? Or shall we go as a big brother, living Christ, rather than teaching him, willing to work under native leadership if necessary, guiding our brothers under God into a fuller life?

For after all, is it not possible that the world Christ will not be complete till China's Christ and India's Christ and Russia's Christ shall have been added to America's Christ?

mentation or decision of other powers.

Substitute moral force and public opinion for the military and economic force originally implied in articles X and XIV of the League of Nations.

Vote is National
Accept the fact that the United States will take upon herself no obligations under the treaty of Versailles unless Congress in the particular case, authorizes the action.

Change the first article of the League to permit admission to the body of any self-governing state that wishes to join and that receives the favorable vote of two-thirds of the assembly.

Authorize a revision of international law by the League with the aid of a commission of jurists. In this case differences of opinion are to be reconciled, and all points adequately provided for.

It is planned to take a straw vote of all the people of the nation on this peace plan, so that the preservation of international peace as a great issue may be brought before the minds of the American people. The University vote is a forerunner of a state campaign on the same question.

SECOND STRING MEN NOW TO BE "SORRELS"

Dance Planned for February 8 to Foster Good Fellowship of Scrub Team

The second stringers of the past season's football squad held a rather torrid meeting in the library last night; the chief argument being over the selection of a name for the club that could be handed down as a permanent tradition. By the exercise of parliamentary rules, backed by methods perfected on the football field, President "Scrap Iron" Toole managed to keep various embryo Patrick Henrys from creating too much disturbance, finally after a close vote the name "Sorrels" was selected over among such others as "Scrub Club," "Yannigans" and others of a similar nature.

An official motion was also passed which made the members of the yell staff, who so ably supported Jack Myers last fall, honorary members of the organization. It was also moved that the sport writers be made members of the organization.

George Hillis and Ed Warren reported that the dance which is to be given February 8 will be an informal affair and held at the College Side Inn. The dance is not only a recreational pleasure, said President Toole, but is for the purpose of developing a spirit of friendliness and good fellowship among those who failed to make their letters and the successful men. To further this cause, he explained that the members of the freshmen squad of footballers who made their numerals will also be invited.

GAMMA PHI BETA WINS MEET. FROM ALPHA CHI

Delta Zeta Forfeits Contest to Alpha Phi; Virginia Wilson High Point Winner

Gamma Phi Beta beat the Alpha Chi Omega team in the meet held last night, with a score of 46 to 17. Both squads showed good fighting spirit throughout. The losers were handicapped by having only four girls to take part in all the events.

Virginia Wilson was the high point winner of the meet, making the maximum 15 points. Francis Morgan, for the Alpha Chis, captured first place in the diving event. Delta Zeta forfeited to Alpha Phi, so no league 1 contest was held last night. Meets scheduled for tonight are Alpha Delta Pi vs. Susan Campbell (1), in league 1, and Alpha Chi Omega vs. Susan Campbell (2), in league 2.

DR. CASWELL IS ASKED TO CRITICIZE MATERIAL

Electrical Data Compiled by the Scientist Group Will be Edited by Professor

Dr. A. F. Caswell, professor of physics, has recently accepted a request from the international research council to edit and criticize some data on thermal electricity to be published in the international critical tables which are being compiled by this group of scientists.

The international research council, composed of experts in the fields of physics, chemistry, and technology from all parts of the world, in a recent meeting decided to compile these tables as time savers for scientists. "In the past if a scientist wanted to secure some of these important technical figures," said Dr. Caswell, "it has been necessary for him to analyze the figures for himself. With the aid of these tables it is hoped that some solution for this difficulty will be made."

After the tables have been compiled, they are to be sent to the various critics to be edited. Dr. Caswell is one of those who will edit the tables on thermal electricity.

REX

"Lights Out," which opened last night at the Rex theatre, contains many screamingly funny situations growing out of the confusing similarity between a famous crook, "Highshine" Joe, and an actor who impersonates him on the screen. The actor, mistaken for the crook, is hounded by secret service men, while the crook himself, bent on committing murder, is treated with the utmost deference by the moving picture company.
