GLEE CLUB WILL JOIN IN CONTEST

Finance Committee Passes Suggestion of Music Group of the University

TEN SCHOOLS TO ENTER

Session Will be Staged in Portland Under Auspices of National Organization

The University Men's Glee club will enter the contest of the Pacific Association of Collegiate Glee clubs, a part of the Inter-Collegiate National Musical association, which will convene in Portland soon for its second annual session.

It was not decided until yesterday that the University of Oregon Glee club would enter the contest. However, at the most recent meeting of the University music committee it was recommended that the club participate. Yesterday the recommendation was passed favorably upon by the finance committee.

The association was formed when a need for a better and closer coordination between the men's glee clubs of the colleges and universities of the Pacific coast became apparent, and to encourage male voice singing of the highest excellence by giving musical receptions and concerts at which the glee clubs may sing competitively.

Schools are Listed

The association is open to all collegiate glee clubs on the coast whose membership does not exceed 30 men, who are regularly registered students in the college represented. Up to the present time ten colleges have affiliated with this organization. They are: Washington State college, University of Montana, Willamette university, University of Idaho, University of Oregon, Oregon Agricultural college, Stanford university, University of Washington, Whitman College and Montana State college.

At the coming contest each of the ten glee clubs will sing three selections. One is to be the prize song, "The Morning Hymn" by Henschel. This song is considered one of the most beautiful songs ever written for male voices, and is also very difficult. Each club will also sing a light song. It must be of a high musical standard and the association may reject the song if it is judged below standard. No songs of the strictly vaudeville type will be accepted. A typical college song of the college represented is the third song to be sung. There will be three judges for the contest, none of whom shall have affiliation with any of the colleges competing.

Oregon Alumni Interested

The Oregon alumni residing in Portland are especially interested in the contest and that Oregon be present. V. T. Moteschenbacher, an Oregon graduate of the class of '13, has been chosen head of the alumni committee to promote the association in Portland. Each of the other schools in the association have many alumni and followers in Portland, and they are expressing un-

"The Dress Rehearsal" Given Ovation by Campus Audience

By L. K. B.

"The Dress Rehearsal," a four-act comedy, which began a three night run at the Guild theater last night, is a light bit of humor—a fluffy dessert to tempt the palate of the theatergoers. It has no aim but to amuse, and in this aim it succeeds.

The plot is nonsensical and an analysis of it would probably reveal little that is of permanent value, yet the audience of professors and students which viewed the performance last night seemed highly pleased—seemed to relax and catch the spirit of levity and abandon—which marked the work of the cast as a whole. Whether the simplicity of the piece at-

Today Last Day to Flatten Purse by Paying Fees

She turned away from the cashier's window. "And is there nothing left?" she asked in a voice that broke with apprehension.

"Nothing," he answered, "You have spent your last available cash to pay your fees." She breathed a sigh of relief. "At least that is off my mind for another three months," she said as she turned away.

This is not the latest production from the class in short story, but a drama of real life such as being staged daily within the confines of Eugene.

Just one more day left to pay registration fees with exactly half of the registered students yet to pay, says Mr. Lyons of the business office.

Beginning on Monday a fine of $3.00 will be charged for all late payment fees and no excuses will be accepted.

SOCIAL REGULATIONS FORMULATED BY WOMEN

Courtesy Code For Patrons and Chaperones Made

At a meeting of the women's forum last night, a number of decisions relating to campus policy were reached. The main topic of discussion concerned chaperones, patrons and patronesses for University social functions, both formal and informal.

Some of the points particularly stressed were: First, a verbal invitation to act as chaperone for a party or dance is not sufficient. This should be followed by a note requesting the presence of the patron or patroness, signifying that he is to act in that capacity. Second, chaperones for the entire evening should be provided. Third, transportation should be provided for all patrons and patronesses and they should be notified accordingly. Fourth, programs should be made out for the patrons and patronesses when they so desire, and these programs adhered to by the students.

Points of courtesy to patrons and patronesses, which were discussed, were the recognition of the receiving line by students and the location of the patrons and patronesses in a pleasant and comfortable part of the room.

In discussing the entertainment of women at Sunday dinner by the men's living organizations, it was decided that, due to the fact that guests often remain for the greater part of the afternoon, making cancellation of other arrangements of the chaperone necessary, they should remain for only one hour after dinner. The time limit set for mid-week dinner engagements is 7:30.

These resolutions are to be drawn up in complete form by a committee of which Georgia Benson, president of the forum, has charge, and copies will be left in the office of the dean of women.

TWO HARD TILTS FACE FROSH FIVE

Medford Quintet Tonight, and Lincoln on Saturday, to Test Infants' Mettle

EVANS' CREW PLUGGING

Accuracy, Speed, and Fight in Plenty Give Freshmen Good Chance for Victory

The freshman basketball team will play its third game of the season with Medford high school in the men's gymnasium at 7:15 tonight. Saturday afternoon at 2:30 they will meet the Lincoln high school team of Portland in the men's gymnasium.

Little is known of the strength of the Medford aggregation, but they have always been strong contenders for honors in their part of the state. The Medford high school team is being coached this year by "Prink" Callison, three-year football letterman and one of the most formidable centers on the coast during his three years work on the football squad. He has the position as athletic director at Medford high school that Eddie Durso held before he went east to finish his school work.

Nine First-string Men

Coach Dave Evans' crew is still drilling every night on the fundamentals of the game in passing, dribbling, and pivoting. From among fifteen men he has on the squad at present he has not been able to pick the best scoring combination. However, there are at least nine men whom Evans can use interchangeably and from whom he hopes to develop a fast, short-passing machine.

Their top-sided victories over the Portland high school teams last week gave the freshmen a good send-off for the season. They have improved in team work since these two games and all are in fine condition with the exception of Kiminki, guard, who injured his eye in practice a couple of days ago and who will not be able to enter the game.

Forward Combination Fast

Starting the game tonight at forward will be Westerman and Westergren. Combining speed, accuracy, and abundance of fight, they will be the forward combination that will get the biggest share of the work. Chiles will be on the bench as spare forward.

Okerberg will handle the pivot position with Flynn to relieve him. Okerberg has been playing a wonderful game at center, and Flynn is a dead shot on the basket. It is the lead position on the team that Coach Evans has to fill, and where the opposition makes their biggest showing. Hughes and Reinhart will go in as guards, with Schmeier and Schroeder to back them up. All are big men and show promise.

Lineup of Teams

The Medford team will arrive in Eugene this afternoon, according to the letter received by Graduate Manager Jack Benefield from Prink Callison. The eight members of the squad are: Mervyn Chastain, Gilbert Knips, Albert Allen, Clarence Williams, Harold Reichstein, Glen Fabbrik, Ernest Hurt, and Russell Hibbard.

The Lincoln high school lineup has not been received. They rank well up in the Portland league. Early season games have not shown their strength. With two men back from the championship team of last year they are expected to make a good showing.

SOCCER PROVES POPULAR

Bear Varsity and Freshmen Have a Successful Season

University of California—Soccer is fast attracting attention on the University of California campus. For the last few years followers of sports have not exhibited a great deal of interest in this game. This season, however, the contests were witnessed by more people than have usually attended.

Under the able leadership of Coach Carl Zamloch, the varsity and freshman squads have come through a very successful season, the former winning third place in the ten-team University and Club league.

Likeness of Frenchman is Autographed

An autographed photograph of Ferdinand Foch, commander-in-chief of the French armies during the World War, was recently received by Lieutenant Colonel W. S. Sinclair of the local R. O. T. C. unit. The picture now is on the wall of the Colonel's office in the barracks.

The picture is very clear and well finished. The inscription which it bears is, "Together with their valor it is their discipline which made the strength of our armies.—F. Foch." Below are the words: "The government of the French Republic,—to Colonel William S. Sinclair, commanding 302nd Infantry, 1917-1918."

Colonel Sinclair was overseas during the war, and this picture, with others, sent to other American commanding officers, is a recognition, in one way, by the French government of the services of the American armies during the war.

QUESTION SELECTED FOR WOMEN'S DEBATE

Oregon to Meet California Team in March

The Townser-Sterling educational bill has been selected as the question for debate when the Oregon women's team meets that of the University of California in March. The exact date has not been determined, but it will probably be either March 26 or 28. Negotiations are under way to include Washington also, and make the meet triangular.

The question is new to the Oregon campus, as it has never been used by an Oregon debate team. In addition to that fact, it is most timely, as it is still before congress. One of the main features of the bill is the establishment of a federal department of education, the head of which shall be a member of the president's cabinet. At the present time educational work is included in the scope of the department of the interior, as a bureau under that department. The founding of a separate department with education as its sole function is considered by educators to be a possible solution to educational difficulties in the United States.

Though there is already a working squad selected to prepare the question, any girls who are interested may yet have a chance at the trip to California by making a try-out appointment with H. E. Rosson or Gerrit Demmink, coaches, immediately. They may be found in room 206, Sociology building.

Members of the present squad, part of whom will continue to work on the Ruhr question in preparation for the O. A. C.-Willamette meet February 15, are: May Helliwell, Dorothy Newman, Mary Baker, Lela Wade, Edna Spenker, Gertrude Tucker and Cecil McKercher.

Elimination tryouts for the men's debate with Stanford and the University of Washington began yesterday. From a squad of about 17 men, coaches will select four to represent the University in this triangle, which will be an event of March 6. The question will be, "Resolved, that the United States should enter the world court."

STANFORD KEEPS COACH

"Tiny" Thornhill Will Not Take Place at Center College

Stanford University—(By P. I. N. S.)—Coach "Tiny" Thornhill intends to stay at Stanford despite the recent rumors in the San Francisco papers that he had received an offer to replace "Uncle Charley" Moran as coach at Center college.

Thornhill says that the first rumor he had of the matter was when he read it in the paper. The same thing happened with reference to the O. A. C. proposition. It wasn't until three days after the papers printed the story that Thornhill got a telegram making him an offer.

ADVANCE OF MAN SEEMS REACHED

Professor Herbert C. Howe Tells of Certain Limit to Survival of Species

ILLITERATES GRADUATED

Civilization May be Forced to a Simpler Physical and Moral Environment

"That there is a certain mysterious limit to the survival of species is a commonplace of science. Man, as one organic form among them, is subject to the same law, by which an organism, if not destroyed from without, ultimately perishes by its own decay." Prof. Herbert C. Howe, head of the English department, declared, in speaking to the assembly in Villard hall yesterday forenoon.

Professor Howe stressed the fact that for centuries, a species has begun, developed, reached the height of its civilization, so to speak, and then decayed. Man, too, has developed and made modifications in his environment, which culminated in a modification of moral environment.

Changes Produces Reforms

These changes have given rise to prophets and reformers of two classes; those who wish to modify (they call it "reform" or "improve") the environment, and those who wish to modify (they call it "reform" or "educate") the moral reactions of the organism.

Right conduct means conduct in harmony with present environment, and therefore tending to the survival of the species. Education for right conduct is then a biological necessity, he said.

"I do not underestimate the mental progress of college students," said Professor Howe, "but measured against what there is for them to know, against what the stability of civilization demands that they know, they make discouragingly small progress. The colleges are graduating a mass of men and women who are illiterates—in the sense that they cannot use their own language to express thought with any exactitude.

Limit Seemingly Reached

"If, as seems likely, we have reached the limit of inhibition and perversion, of memory and reason in the retention and application of knowledge, then the very continuing, unstopable progress of our material environment will bring us shortly to a forced liquidation of civilization, a forced return to a simpler physical and moral environment—how much simpler no man can as yet forecast," Professor Howe concluded.

Jane O'Reilly played a violin solo, a poem by Fibich, and Largetto by Weber, as an encore, at the beginning of the hour. Rev. Frank Fay Eddy, Unitarian minister, gave the invocation.

D. A. R. TO STAGE COLONIAL DANCE AT ARMORY TONIGHT

The Daughters of the Revolution are putting on a Colonial ball tonight at the Armory. Admission of $1.00 per couple will be charged, and the proceeds are to go for patriotic uses. All University students are cordially invited to attend.

Stanford Ruling Allows for Degree Under Four Years

Stanford University—By a revision of faculty regulations governing the amount of scholastic work a student may carry at Stanford during one quarter, the Academic Council of the University has made it possible for the students to gain their degrees in less than the usual four years.

However, for the first quarter in residence at the University only 16 units may count toward graduation. In case a student has incurred a condition or a failure during one quarter, 16 units is the maximum amount of work which can be taken during the succeeding quarter.

COACH RUTHERFORD RESIGNS AT O. A. C.

Aggies Mentor to Complete Remainder of Contract

SPECIAL TO THE EMERALD CORVALLIS, Ore., Jan. 25.—Coach E. B. Rutherford resigned as football coach and athletic director of physical education of Oregon Agricultural college early this morning at a meeting of the board of regents. His resignation was accepted by that body.

Rutherford will finish out his term of contract at O. A. C. by remaining as director of physical education until July 1. No successor is in view, but it is understood that negotiations will be begun immediately for another man. Rutherford has no plans as to another position.

No statement was given by the board of regents for the resignation of Coach Rutherford. He refused to discuss the matter, but was strong in praise of the loyalty shown him by the student body and the support given him by the varsity athletes. He is proud of the staff that has aided him in the perfection of a splendid physical education department.

WINTER SPORTS TAUGHT

University of Minnesota Buys Skis for Gym Equipment

University of Minnesota—Fifty pairs of skis have been bought by the University of Minnesota for the use of regular gym class who will be taught the art by Emil Iverson, the Danish sport expert on the athletic department staff. When not in regular use, these skis will be at the command of outing club members under the supervision of W. R. Smith, supervisor of intramural athletics.

Hikes have been under way all fall, large parties covering specified routes each Saturday.

MICHIGAN PROFESSOR IN NOVEL BILLIARD MATCH

University of Michigan—A billiard match between a college professor and a thirteen year old boy seems to be the latest fad at Michigan. The lad, who is to play a mathematics professor is Harold Wirsing, of Flint, Michigan. The professor has gone down to defeat in front of the lad once before.

Paintings, Arts, and Crafts on Exhibit Today in Museum

An exhibition of hand-woven goods and rare embroideries will be open to the public today in the little museum in the arts building. The articles were sent from Portland by the Arts and Crafts society, and were unpacked yesterday. The display will be held in connection with the exhibit of the paintings of Emil Jacques, Belgian artist. The building will be open to visitors from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. The embroidery and stitchery is varied, there being table covers, runners, bags, scarves, luncheon sets and pillow tops. The cloth used includes linens, cotton, wool, and silk.

The colors are rich; one piece of tie-dyeing is a rich purple tone, and the white and ecru articles are worked in soft greens, golds, and

VARSITY STARTS NORTHERN TRIP

Seven Men Besides Coach and Manager Comprise Squad Leaving Today

TEAM WEAK ON DEFENSE

Contests Away From Home Will Not Test Strength of Lemon-Yellow Quintet

The varsity hoop squad will train today for Forest Grove, where they meet Pacific on the first tussle of their week-end jaunt. Seven men, besides Coach Reinhart and Manager Killenwaters will make the trip. Gowans, Hobson, King, Latham, Chapman, and Jost will compose the squad that will leave today on the northern invasion.

Pacific will form the first opposition for the varsity tonight at Forest Grove, and although the game here with the Badgers eliminated them from the class of dangerous contenders, they will form good opposition. Tonight's game should give Coach Reinhart a chance to whip his defense into shape. Although the defense has not been causing him any sleepless nights, Billy confessed that the defensive work had not progressed as rapidly as had the offensive.

To Meet Dentists

At Oregon this year is found one of those persons, fast fading from the sport world—the playing manager. Although Ted Gillenwaters makes the trip in the capacity of manager, he has been working out with the squad all season in a guard position and it is not without the bounds of possibility that he will get into one of the contests on the trip.

Tomorrow night the Lemon-Yellow outfit will meet the North Pacific Dentists on their home floor. Although Coach "Franc" Jacobberger, of the Portland quint, does not entertain any hopes of trimming Oregon, he let it be known that Saturday's game would see the Dentists going at top speed.

Forwards on Par

The lineup that will probably start the game is the one that has started the home contests, Gowans and Hobson, forwards; Latham, center; Shafer and Chapman, guards. King will probably alternate with the two aforementioned forwards. The three of them are about on a par and it would be an injustice to any one of them to name two as regulars and the other as a substitute. Jost is too inexperienced to come in the class of either Chapman or Shafer, but Reinhart hopes to give him enough skill exercise to make him into a first-class alternate for either of the guards or center.

LITERARY ORGANIZATION ELECTS EIGHT MEMBERS

Eutaxian, literary society on the campus, has elected the following to membership: Eugenia Zeibor, Cecile Bennett, Gertrude Butler, Mary Donaldson, Mary Nichol, Lucy Vander Steer, Francis Simpson and Imogene Lewis.

more vivid blues and scarlets. Examples of Russian and Italian work are shown.

It was the first thought that Mrs. Lee Hoffman, president of the Arts and Craft could be present from Portland, but word has been received by Miss Maud Kerns, head of the normal arts, that Mrs. Hoffman has been ill. The exhibit will be of especial interest to students of the normal arts who have been studying weaving on hand looms.

The next exhibition in the department will be from February 3 to 13, and will include wood block prints sent by the American Federation of Arts, with headquarters in New York. This particular group of prints comes
