

MADDOCK TO BE ON CAMPUS SOON

Telegrams State New Coach Will be in Eugene Tomorrow or Thursday

CONTRACT MATTERS UP

Many Letters Received from Mentor's Friends Recently by Virgil Earl

By Monte Byers In the next two or three days we will have a chance to see our new coach, "Joe" Maddock. Telegrams received recently state that the new football mentor will be down to discuss contract matters with the University officials.

Skepticism Runs Out The undercurrent of skepticism which was prevalent on the campus and in other sport circles has to a great extent run out.

Virgil Earl, athletic director, is the recipient of many letters from friends of Maddock's, who have played under him, who have known him in his undergraduate days at Michigan, and all of them speak highly of him.

Thomas Varley, present advisory manager at the University of Utah, pens a favorable letter concerning Maddock. For twenty years they have been friends.

Idaho Professor Writes J. W. Barton, professor of psychology at the University of Idaho, begins to worry about the Vandal chances with Maddock at the helm of Oregon football.

Maddock is a fine combination of technical ability (in shaping the preparation of the team, or the men), business and social fitness necessary to getting the full respect and confidence of all athletes.

Professor Kelly Volunteers Help With Income Tax

Faculty members who receive income tax statements may at least be saved from the harrowing efforts of working out their individual taxes and filling out the mystifying tax blank by making appointments with Professor C. L. Kelly, a member of the staff of the school of business administration who has offered the benefit of expert training in such intricate problems to his contemporaries.

Professor Kelly has announced that faculty members may come to him for assistance in filling out their tax blanks by appointment in the Commerce building. Professor Kelly is an expert in all such work and conducts a number of classes dealing with such aspects of economics as taxes and related subjects.

Of course in books there are students with incomes of taxable size but it is doubtful if anyone on the campus is so affected. If there should be such a case, however, it is probable that he might receive the benefit of Professor Kelly's assistance as well as faculty members.

MU PHI EPSILON PLANS ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

Selections to Include Special Feature Numbers

The weekly assembly Thursday, February 14, will be turned over to Mu Phi Epsilon for its annual assembly program. The entire program will be devoted to musical features, including instrumental and vocal selections.

The program is to include eight numbers, which will be given entirely by members of the organization. There will be vocal numbers, piano selections, flute solo, an instrumental stringed quartet, and a double quartet for several vocal pieces.

Mu Phi Epsilon is a national honorary musical fraternity for women. The fraternity recently celebrated the twentieth anniversary of its founding, being founded at the Metropolitan College of Music on November 13, 1903. The University of Oregon chapter was installed on the campus March 3, 1911.

There are twenty-six active members on the campus, and Beulah Clark is president of the organization. Outstanding musical ability is one of the requirements of the members of this group.

The assembly will be held in the Woman's building instead of Villard hall in order to accommodate the increased attendance that greets the programs of this fraternity.

O. A. C. HAS REPUBLICAN CLUB FOR STUDENTS

A Republican club has been organized at O. A. C., similar to the club on the University campus. The college policy forbids political meetings on the campus, so the club will cooperate with the Corvallis Republican organization. The committee is endeavoring to have prominent speakers address their sessions, among them being Theodore Roosevelt.

ANNUAL BANQUET TO BE BIG AFFAIR

Editors and Publishers Who Come to Conference to be Guests at Osburn Event

STUDENTS ARE INVITED

Outside Speakers Listed; Visiting Delegates on Program for Addresses

Wit and humor, home-grown and imported, will be served with the rest of the menu at the banquet to be given the editors and publishers of Oregon Friday evening as a feature of the sixth annual Oregon Newspaper conference.

Among the out-of-town speakers will be Lloyd Spencer, of the staff of the Seattle Star, whose fame as an after-dinner speaker has spread over the Northwest, and Charles Duncan of San Francisco, representative of the Foster & Kleiser company, who is now in the Northwest on a speaking tour.

Student to Give Toast

Short addresses will be made by several of the visiting editors. President Campbell is scheduled for toastmaster if his health will permit. The annual toast given by one of the young women of the school of journalism, last year given by Margaret Scott, has been assigned this year to Rosalia Keber, senior in the school.

Arrangements are being made for a trio from the school of music of the University to play for the banquet.

The attendance is expected to approximate that of last year, when the total ran close to 250. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the school of journalism faculty or from Arthur Rudd, John Piper or Lyle Janz.

Program Is Given

The conference will begin Friday morning when the pressmen and editors register at 9:00 o'clock. At 9:30, H. R. Crosland, professor of psychology, will lecture on "The Result of a Two Years' Investigation of the Causes of Errors in Proofreading." The presentation will be enlivened by a demonstration of methods, and a general discussion will follow.

At 10:05 a short course in journalistic English will be conducted by a group of editors under the leadership of Dean Colin V. Dymont.

At 1:45, after luncheon at the fraternity houses, the conference will again gather to discuss the free space problem. Following this, Dean Eric W. Allen will talk on "Some Little Visits to the Offices of European Editors."

Various Talks Listed Edgar B. Piper will lecture on State Economics and the Newspaper, at 3:15, followed by "The Up State Paper and State Wide Questions," by F. H. Young; "Some Practical Problems Confronting Publishers," by George Putnam and E. A. Koen.

Friday evening there will be a banquet at the Osburn hotel at 6:30. President P. L. Campbell will be the toastmaster and a program is being arranged to include leading Portland editors and others.

Saturday morning at 8:30, the University of Oregon Advertising club will be hosts to the pressmen at the Anchorage for breakfast. At 9:30, W. J. Hoffman will lecture on "How to Get More Foreign Advertising." Other lectures in the morning include, "How I Raised Rates and What Came of It," by George Lansing Hurd; "Some Devices That Have Worked Well," by Ralph R. Cronise; "The Country Newspaper—Looking Forward," by Arthur W. Prialux.

Luncheon Is Scheduled The conference will have luncheon at Hendricks hall with Prof. George Turnbull as toastmaster. The newly elected president of the conference will deliver the salutatory. Other toasts include, Arthur Rudd, student of the Emerald, on "As the Student Sees It," and "Where We

Enforcement of 'Lights Out' Hour Urged by Forum

Resolution Committee is Appointed

At the last meeting of the Women's Forum, the question of late hours for study on the campus was discussed. Eleven o'clock has been set as the hour for "lights out" during the week, preceding school days, and it was recommended by the Forum that the heads of girls' living organizations enforce this more rigidly, granting special permission for late study only when absolutely necessary.

A committee was appointed by Georgia Benson, president of the Forum, to draw up resolutions passed by the organization in a regular form to be filed in the office of the dean of women. This committee consists of Mary Bartholomew, chairman; Virginia Pearson, Frances Douglas, and Tekka Haynes.

PRESIDENT CAMPBELL SUFFERS FLU ATTACK

Campus Executive Expects to Resume Duties Soon

President P. L. Campbell, who was reported yesterday morning to be seriously ill with appendicitis, is confined in his home with a slight attack of intestinal influenza, according to the latest reports of the president's condition. Dr. R. O. Coffey of Portland who was called to Eugene to attend the president diagnosed the case as such.

Sunday night the president was taken with abdominal pains and it was feared that these might be from appendicitis. Dr. Coffey was called in order to prepare for any emergency. He has kept the president under observation and reports that his condition is not serious.

There has been wide-spread interest in President Campbell's condition. The president's office was kept busy all day yesterday answering queries as to the president's health. The Emerald was also called for similar information.

It was reported that the president asked to be allowed to get up yesterday but that through the advice of his physician he was not permitted to.

RECITAL WILL BE GIVEN

Theodore Walstrum to Make First Public Appearance

Theodore Walstrum, of the school of music faculty, will make his first public appearance on the campus in a piano recital to be given in Alumni hall, Monday evening, February 18. He will be assisted by John Siefert, tenor, whose accompanist will be Aurora Potter Underwood.

Mr. Walstrum, who has been here only since last September, has been very active in school of music activities. He is the director of the second orchestra and had charge of the last student rehearsal, at which each teacher in the school of music presented a pupil. He also carried an important role in "The Hour Hand," which was recently presented on the campus and in Portland.

ERIC W. ALLEN RESUMES CLASSES AFTER ILLNESS

Eric W. Allen, dean of the school of journalism, has recovered from his recent illness and will resume his regular classes. The dean has had a form of the flu, which caused him to remain at home since last Tuesday.

FRANK SHORT UNDERGOES OPERATION IN PORTLAND

Frank Short, a senior in the University, is in Portland convalescing after undergoing a minor operation. He is reported to be feeling better and will probably return to the campus the end of this week.

PAST WEEK-END EVENTFUL ONE

Athletic Contests Result in Five Victories and One Defeat for Oregon Men

NEW GUARD IS STRONG

Reed Fails to Send Team for Swimming Meet; Practice Races Staged

Last week-end was a hectic one as far as the athletic phase of campus life was concerned, and the sport lovers (and scribes) had to snap out of the old hop to get around to see all of the contests of various natures. With one pitiful exception, the contests all resulted in victories for the Lemon-Yellow.

Here, in a nut shell, are the results of the sporting events of last week: Oregon won four basketball games, two freshman and two varsity; won the freshman wrestling meet and lost the varsity event. Due to a failure of the Reed College tank team to appear, the varsity and frosh teams held a practice meet.

It's a delicious bit of history—what happened last Friday night at the Armory, when a couple of thousand loyal Oregon supporters saw their cohorts finally nose out the Aggies in a battle that kept the spectators on their feet during most of the second period.

On the second night, a slightly less enthusiastic crowd saw the locals defeat the Aggies with apparently more ease, and they went away convinced that Billy Reinhart had developed a fast-passing, close-checking, and quick-breaking aggregation that will have to be reckoned with when the conference honors are passed out.

A few weeks ago we wrote a line or two about Ted Gillenwaters, the playing manager, and made the prediction that he would "probably" break into the lineup. We must admit that, at the time, we did not think he would much more than break into the lineup. Since that time, however, the stocky little guard, who pulls the purse strings, has more than supported our hasty judgment and has ably filled the place left vacant by Chapman.

Ted's guarding work left little to be desired and time after time he stopped the rushes of the curious Aggie formation, which calls for all of the ingenuity a guard can muster. The only slight flaw in his performance of the two nights which we were able to pick was his tendency to be a little slow on breaking on the offense. This is not uncommon to players getting their big time baptism and with a little more experience, he should be one of the strongest points in the Oregon defense. He is still managinng the team.

BARTLET SCORES HIGH

Total of 107 Points Made in Close of Physical Ability Tests

In the physical ability tests given last Thursday, R. Bartlet broke the high mark of 100 points held by H. Dutton, by annexing 107 points.

During the fall term L. Stone was high point man with 96 points but this was broken in the next term by Dutton who rolled up 100 points. Several higher marks were made in the intramural pentathlon but did not count in the physical ability test. The high mark at the close of last year was 116 points. Bartlet's records in the test were: high jump, 4 feet 8 inches; bar vault, 6 feet 4 inches; 2 lap run, 23 seconds; rope climb, 11 seconds; swim, 1 minute, 44 seconds.

BABY DAUGHTER BORN TO FORMER STUDENT

News has been received on the campus of the arrival of a baby daughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harding of 98 North Chester avenue, Pasadena, California. Mrs. Harding was formerly Felicia Perkins. She graduated from the University in January, '23, and is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority and Mortar Board.

Good Samaritan is Simulated by Faculty Member

At about 9 o'clock, Saturday night, two boys, young in years and enrolled in one of the grade schools of the city, raced swiftly into the quiet reference room of the library, ran over to the circulation desk, and while trying to check their crying, nervously begged the assistant librarians to allow them to stay in the library awhile.

They said that there were some larger boys, twice their age and size, waiting for them outside, and if they went out they would get a beating. One of the librarians strolled to the front door and saw that the boys were right. The library would close in an hour; and if they were allowed to go home alone, the older boys would get them as they came out of the library.

A University professor came in with a library errand and after having the situation explained to him, acted the part of the Good Samaritan and took the two boys home in his car.

DEBATERS PREPARING FOR THURSDAY'S MEETS

Contests With Willamette and O. A. C. Planned

In preparation for the coming contest with O. A. C. and Willamette university, Oregon's women debaters are hard at work on the question, "Resolved, that France should immediately evacuate the Ruhr." For the past three weeks members of the team have had daily meetings with Gerrit Demmink, coach, to strengthen and improve their delivery and subject matter.

Mildred Bateman and Mildred Whitecomb comprise the Oregon affirmative. They will meet the O. A. C. negative in Villard hall Thursday night, February 14. At the same time Dorothy Abbott and Margaret Woodson, the Oregon negative, will go to Salem and there meet the Willamette affirmative.

Miss Bateman and Miss Woodson have both participated in a previous varsity contest. They met and defeated the University of Washington team last spring on this campus, when the question of a uniform national divorce law was presented.

Though they are debating on the varsity for the first time, Miss Abbott and Miss Whitecomb have had considerable experience in forensic work. Miss Whitecomb having been a member of the doughnut team which last year received the women's debate cup, and Miss Abbott the team which holds it this year. All four girls are pledges of Zeta Kappa Psi, women's national honorary forensic fraternity.

GROUP REQUIREMENTS MET BY LOWER MATHEMATICS

Owing to some confusion about the group requirements in mathematics and science, a member of the faculty has requested that the reminder be made that any three terms of lower division mathematics meets the group requirement in mathematics or science.

Proceeds from "Dime Crawl" to Swell Scholarship Fund

"A dime a crawl Admits you to the brawl." Which means, gentle reader, that the masculine element of the University will be at liberty to spend the time from 6:45 to 7:30 of Wednesday evening at any of the women's houses of residence which happens to suit his fancy—providing he pays the necessary entrance fee of one dime.

It is thus that the members of Women's league have chosen to raise the necessary shelds for the foreign scholarship fund. Each house is providing its own orchestra and it is whispered about that the identity of many an embryo Paderevski or Kreisler will be revealed for the first time on the eventful evening.

Owing to the lack of dancing space

Varsity Leaves ON TRIP NORTH

Basketball Team Will Play at Moscow, February 13; Three Contests on List

SEVEN MEN MAKE TOUR

W. S. C. and Whitman to Vie Against Locals in Tilts During Week-end

Coast Basketball Standings Northern Section. Table with columns: Team, W., L., Pct. Oregon 2 0 1.000, Oregon Aggies 3 2 .600, W. S. C. 3 2 .600, Washington 2 2 .500, Idaho 2 2 .500, Montana 0 4 .000

The varsity hoopers left yesterday afternoon on the Shasta, bound for Moscow, where they will tangle with the Idaho quintet in their third conference tangle of the season. Thus far, Billy Reinhart's fast-passing aggregation has kept its slate bright and, although the Gem-Staters are hard to beat on their own floor, the Lemon-Yellow will be the slight favorite in Wednesday night's struggle.

Friday night, the varsity will take on the W. S. C. Cougars in Pullman. The next evening the Whitman Missionaries will be met at Walla Walla.

The seven men who accompanied Coach Reinhart on the northern trip are Latham, Gowans, Hobson, King, Shafer, Gillenwaters and Jost. The lineup that will start the Idaho game will probably be the same that started the Aggie games here as this combination proved to be the best working one out of the available material.

Oregon Holds Lead

Just at present, Oregon's hold on the top rung of the conference ladder is none too secure, but if the Vandals are trampled on in their own lair, the Oregonians can breathe a bit easier. By virtue of a pair of defeats over the Aggies, who trimmed the Muscovites on their own floor, it would seem that Oregon ought to be able to turn the trick, but then, hope is rather unreliable. On the other hand, there is one valid reason why the local outfit might be picked to win. To explain this, however, necessitates the explanation of why Idaho is so hard to beat on their own floor.

The basketball floor at the U. of I. has a very low ceiling and is otherwise not up to the standard of the big courts of the other schools, hence any offensive that is not based almost entirely on short shots is practically useless. It is for this reason that Idaho teams of the past have been so successful at working the ball under the basket for a close shot.

Varsity Style Good

This year Oregon's offensive is based on the short shot with the long shot more as a threat, although mighty effective at times as a means of scoring. Along the same line, we find that the Oregon five-man defense, introduced by Reinhart, is
