NEWSPAPERMEN CONVENE HERE

Short News Writing Course by Dean Dymont to be a Conference Feature

DR. CROSLAND TO SPEAK

Delegates from Most of State Papers Expected; Big Program Is Planned

Today at 9 a. m. the sixth annual Oregon Newspaper conference officially opens with the registration of the visiting editors and publishers. This conference marks the growth of an idea since the small beginning in 1919. This year's conference will contain more features of interest to those engaged in all branches of the journalistic field than any previous session and there will be more representatives of these various branches here for the conference.

Dymont to Speak

One of the new features of the program is the "Short Course in News Writing." This will be conducted by Dean Colin V. Dymont, of the University. This feature was instituted by the school of journalism at the request of a number of newspapermen and trade journalists who wish to keep their news writing up to the highest standards. Dean Dymont will be assisted by a group of state newspaper men who take special interest in the art of expression.

"The Results of a Two Years' Scientific Investigation of the Causes of Errors in Proofreading."

Dr. H. R. Crosland, professor of psychology, will present at 9:30 this morning, is the release of a story that is likely to create wide interest and to present certain facts that will be beneficial in advancing proofreading standards. With the presentation of this subject, there will be a demonstration of methods that will add to its interest.

Advance Guard Arrives

All the features of the program for the conference have been designed to give the journalists of the state practical help. There will be discussions of problems pertaining to all branches of the journalistic field throughout today and Saturday. Newspapermen of the state, who have had actual experience with such problems will present the subjects.

The advance guard of the newspapermen arrived on the campus yesterday to attend the conference, and many more have written that they will arrive some time today. There are many who have signified their intention of attending and it is expected that there will be representatives from most of the papers of the state. The attendance is expected to range between 80 and 100.

Franklin Club Meets

For the first time, the Willamette Valley Ben Franklin club will meet simultaneously with the conference at the University. Many of the publishers are members of this club and will have further interest in the discussion of printing problems. All sections of the newspaper conference are planning for a larger attendance and a bigger program than ever before.

For the joint session of all sections of the conference today, George P. Cheney, president, will be in the chair.

Early Italian Designs Found in Hangings at Art Gallery

Dull blue and black velvets, heavy with metal stencil, some with 15th and 16th century Italian designs, are to be seen among the wall hangings from the J. Monroe Hewlett studios in New York which are now on exhibit in the little gallery in the arts building. The gallery will be open to the public beginning at 9 o'clock this morning, and the hangings will remain on display until March 5, when they will be sent to the Portland Museum of Fine Arts.

Designing tapestries, and tapestry-like hangings in keeping with the scale of the architecture, is the hobby

Theta Sigma Phi to Entertain Wives of Visiting Editors

The visiting editor's wives will be entertained by the members of Theta Sigma Phi, journalist fraternity for women, in the Woman's building this afternoon, from 4:00 to 5:30. The public is cordially invited to come in and meet the visitors, and a special invitation is being extended to all women in the school of journalism.

Last year in connection with the state editor's convention, Theta Sigma Phi sponsored a meeting of all writers, including those whose interests were not strictly journalistic.

Following the tea, sufficient time will be allowed for the visitors to make ready for the editor's banquet being held at the Hotel Osburn in the evening.

CONCERT TONIGHT HAS DIVERSIFIED PROGRAM

Willamette Glee Club Is on Last Lap of Tour

An especially interesting and varied program will be presented by the Willamette university glee club, which will appear in concert tonight at the Methodist church at 8 o'clock. The Willamette glee club comes here under the auspices of the Wesley club, and members of the University of Oregon men's glee club are sponsoring the concert.

Both popular and classical numbers will be sung by the club ensemble. "The Wreck of the Julie Plant," a stirring ballad by O'Hara, will open the program. Lloyd Thompson, baritone soloist, will take the incidental solo. Albert Warren will play the famous "La Paloma," by Yradier, on the cornet. Mr. Warren is also a first tenor in the club. Two baritone solos will be sung by Edward Warren, president of the club, and Mr. Lloyd Thompson. Select impersonations by Lloyd Waltz will furnish amusement. An interesting feature of the evening's entertainment will be the Scotch songs by Joe Nee, Scotch singer. Mr. Nee will appear in Scottish highlander costume, so something of the Harry Lauder style is to be expected. The varied program also includes a vaudeville skit by the club, the name of the act being "The Red Chamber Dream," a Chinese opera selection. Perhaps the most important number on the program will be the selection by the Willamette octette, "Where My Caravan Has Rested," by Lohr. The octette is well known, having been enthusiastically received everywhere the club has sung.

"The Willamette glee club had a very successful season last year, and they promise an even greater hit this year," said Lyall Bolton, former member of the Willamette university glee club, and now a student here, in an

CONDON SCHOOL HAS LOAN OF PRINTS FOR EXHIBITION

A hundred Colonial prints of famous paintings, reproduced directly from the originals, have been loaned to the Condon school by the Colonial Art company. These prints have an individual charm and embrace a large measure of the recognized art treasures of the world. They will be on exhibition at the Condon school from 2 to 5 on the afternoons of February 20, 21, 22; also on Friday evening, from 7:30 to 9. The public is invited.

COACH IS SIGNED FOR THREE YEARS

Vote of Executive Council Taken as Distinct Mark of Confidence in Mentor

SALARY NOT ANNOUNCED

Maddock Meets Football Players; Spring Training Will Start by March 1

Joe Maddock, Oregon's new football coach, was voted a three year contract at a meeting of the executive council of the student body last night at the Anchorage. The council was optimistic over the chances for coming athletic successes. The three year contract may be taken as a distinct vote of confidence for the new man. The salary was decided upon but will not be announced at present. Maddock will leave for his home this week, but will return in time to start spring football by March 1.

Early Practice Popular

It was decided to hold spring football practice early in the spring this year in order that the football men might turn out later for the spring sports. According to Virgil Earl, the idea of early spring training is becoming prevalent throughout the mid-western universities.

At a meeting yesterday afternoon in the Commerce building, the new mentor was introduced to the football men by Earl. Maddock conducted an informal discussion of his plans for the coming year. Coach and men talked over the football that has been played at Oregon in the past. The idea expressed in the meeting was that the defensive brand of ball did not need rejuvenating but that the offensive play would have to be bolstered.

Training Is Outlined

A great part of the spring training will be put in instilling the principles of a fast driving offensive into the men. This means calling signals on the run, men lining up in the final formation, snap the ball and drive. The coach was very pleased with the large turnout to the meeting as there were about 75 men present.

LIBRARY HAS NEW BOOKS

Drama of Civil War and Historical Work Comprised Increase

Two new books of interest have been added to the library recently. "Robert E. Lee," by John Drinkwater, author of the play "Abraham Lincoln," is one of them. The book is a drama of the Civil war and is built around the personality of Robert E. Lee, dealing with the opening of his momentous choice between command of the Union and Rebel forces. It follows his campaigns, his surrender of Richmond, and his farewell speech to his soldiers. The play is in one act with nine scenes.

"Studies in Statesmanship," by D. C. Somervell, is a new book belonging to the seven-day collection of special interest, non-fiction works. The book focuses attention on a succession of critical epochs in history. "Julius Caesar," "Washington," "Napoleon," "Richelieu" and "Bismarck" are among the nine studies of history that are taken up. The biographical element that is found in the book is said to add much to the dramatic and human interest appeal that the studies make.

FIRST JUNIOR TEAM WINS

Third of Class Quintets Defeated in Basketball Game

The junior girls, team 1, defeated the junior third team in the basketball game played last night, 30 to 8. It was more or less of a practice game for the first team, which is to meet the seniors next Saturday afternoon. The results of that match will determine who will be in line to play the freshmen team, which defeated the seniors Wednesday.

In the other game played last night, the freshman girls, team 2, beat the sophomores, team 2, with a score of 15 to 14. It was a hard-fought and well-matched game.

Varsity Quartet in Great Demand This Week-end

Editors to Hear Men at Hotel Osburn

The varsity quartet is having an unusually busy time this week-end keeping engagements. The popularity it has achieved is not only confined to this campus, for the manager has been receiving many tempting offers lately which would take the four songsters to various cities in the state.

Last night they sang at the banquet of the Corvallis Rotary club held in that city. Tonight they will be heard at the joint Phi Mu Alpha and Mu Phi Epsilon dance to be held in the Woman's building. Tomorrow noon they will furnish entertainment for the editor's convention banquet at the Hotel Osburn.

MEMBERS OF NORMAL SCHOOL CLUB MEET

Influence of Teachers Is Stressed in Talks

Members of the Oregon Normal School club held a banquet and meeting at the Campa Shoppe last night at 6:45. About twenty-four members of the club, living in or near Eugene, attended the meeting.

President J. S. Landers of the Oregon Normal school at Monmouth, gave a talk on "The Normal School and Its Wider Implications." Mr. Landers expressed it as his opinion that the influence of the school in Oregon would eventually result in a teacher's college. He particularly stressed the great influence which the teachers have on the school children, and, as a direct result of this, the subsequent influence which they have on industry and government in general. Dr. B. W. DeBusk, professor of education, gave an address on "Character Development," which he considers to be of utmost importance in the development of a child. He pointed out the relation of character development to democracy, explaining the part which the emotions and the intellect play in bringing about this growth.

Another number on the program was a vocal solo by Helen Burfield, who is a member of the University Glee club. Miss Burfield's selections were, "Sunbeams" and "If You Were the Opening Rose."

Miss Bertha Hayes presided at the banquet in the place of Miss Mary Donaldson, president of the organization, who was called to Portland and was not able to attend.

PUPIL TO BE PRESENTED

Claire Collette, Pianist, Will Appear in Graduate Recital

Claire Collette, a senior in the school of music, will be presented in a graduate piano recital Tuesday, February 19, in Alumni hall of the Woman's building. She will be assisted by Nina Warnock, violinist. Miss Collette is a pupil of Jane Thacher, who speaks of her as having a very crisp, clear technique which enables her to play a difficult program, including numbers by Beethoven and Chopin and a group of modern compositions. "Her interpretation is not only intellectual but musical," says Mrs. Thacher.

Nina Warnock, who is a pupil of Rex Underwood, will play "Hejre Kati," by Hubay, and "Nocturne," by Chopin-Sarasate. No special invitations are being issued and the public is invited to attend.

COURSE IN MILITARY BAND WORK IS GIVEN AT PURDUE

Purdue University—Courses in military bands have been added to the curriculum at Purdue university. The department is under the supervision of Professor Emrick, who has acted as director of the band for many years. The work in these courses is on the same basis as the courses in military training. Basic work includes the fundamental training in military courtesy, manuevers of bands, rehearsals and drill periods. Advance courses are in military history and law.

OREGON WINS BOTH DEBATE CONTESTS

VARSIITY PLAYS W.S.C. TONIGHT

Game at Pullman Will be Hard Tussle; Cougar Five Strong on Home Floor

HUNK LATHAM IS FEARED

By Bob Prescott

(Sports Editor, W. S. C. Evergreen)

PULLMAN, Wash., Feb. 14.—The outcome of the game against the University of Oregon Friday night is uncertain. The most that can be said is that it will be a tough battle for both teams and the winner will earn the victory in every sense of the word.

Oregon is at a disadvantage in that she is playing away from home and with no supporting crowd, which is always a factor in the success of a team.

Latham Big Factor

On the other hand, Hunk Latham in the lineup gives the Webfooters an edge on the Cougars which is difficult to overcome, as Bohler's chief problem this season has been that of developing a center who is big enough to compare favorably with others in the conference.

After experimenting with several prospects, he has at last worked Bill Nolan into a combination which promises to be one of the best scoring machines in the West.

If no injuries result from the game with Washington tonight, Doc will probably start the same team which has played most of the previous games. This includes Schultz and Kelso at forward, Nolan at center, and Captain Schroeder and Reese at guards.

Stellar Players on Team

Schultz is one of the keenest shots in basketball circles and never fails to register his share of counts, while Kelso plays the coolest and steadiest game of any man on the team. Nolan has uncanny ability at leading his guards, and Reese and Schroeder are rated as two of the best checkers on the coast.

The Cougars do not under-rate the capability of the Lemon-Yellow because of the latter's loss to Idaho Wednesday, and are anticipating one of the hardest tussles of the season.

STUDENTS ENTERTAINED

Washington and Lincoln Birthdays Party Is Celebrated

The foreign students of the University were the personally invited guests at a joint birthday party held in the Baptist church last night in commemoration of the lives of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. The party was held midway between the birthdays of these two great men for the purpose of instructing the foreign students about them.

Rev. Henry Davis, secretary of the campus Y. M. C. A., gave a talk about the life and ideals of George Washington, and Rev. C. E. Dunham, pastor of the Baptist church, told of the life of Abraham Lincoln. After these talks came a musical entertainment, and last of all, refreshments.

TED RICE CONVALESCENT FROM SERIOUS OPERATION

Ted Rice, journalism student and varsity debater, who was seriously ill from sinus operation caused by wounds received in the war, has returned to the campus to recuperate. His condition at the first of the year was decided to be very critical by several consulting physicians, but he is recovering rapidly now.

R. O. T. C. AT MISSOURI INSTALLS NEW RADIO

University of Missouri—A radio broadcasting station has been installed by the R. O. T. C. of the University of Missouri. Weather reports are being sent out every evening now, and it is planned to broadcast regular radio programs later on.

Samara Will Sell Toothsome Bits to Hungry Students

Divinity, fudge, and other toothsome sweets are to be vended in the halls, laboratories and classrooms of Deady hall this afternoon after 12:30. The members of Samara, women's honorary botany fraternity, are conducting the sale to raise money for their library fund.

All frequenters of the building are asked to be prepared for the sale with open purses.

It is the purpose of the members of Samara to increase the number of books on the shelves of the botanical library in Deady hall, especially to add useful reference books and works of memorable men in the botanical field.

HEALTH DIVISION HAS LARGE ENROLLMENT

Underweight Girls Make Up Majority of Total

About 275 women are enrolled in the health division of the department of physical education this term, under the personal supervision of Dr. Bertha Stuart. Of these, many are underweight cases, while others are cases of general disability.

Of the number enrolled in the department last term, 25 failed to return to the campus after the vacation. This is a much better showing than last year, when 60 women enrolled in that department failed to return after the first term. It is the opinion of those in charge of the department that the physically fit are remaining in college, while poor health is the cause of most of the withdrawals.

Of the underweight girls enrolled in the classes, 120 gained from one-half to eight pounds during the month of January, which brings 30 of them up to normal weight, while a few have even overstepped the normalcy mark. This is accredited to the supervised exercise and the diet planned by the department. Jane Gavin, who has charge of the reports and records, states that there is a marked difference in the records of those who have been conscientious in following the schedule and those who have not.

LAURA RAND, MEMBER OF CLASS OF '21, IS MARRIED

Word was received on the campus this week of the marriage of Miss Laura Rand, a member of the class of '21, to Clarence Thomas Terril of Bend. The wedding was an event of Monday evening at the Hotel Portland. Mr. Terril is a prominent lawyer of Bend, where the bride was musical instructor in the schools for two years following her graduation from the University. Mrs. Terril, who is a member of Pi Beta Phi, was attended by a number of sorority sisters.

WOMEN ACHIEVE STATE VICTORY

Home Meet Gets Two to One Decision; Unanimous Vote Gained at Salem

REBUTTAL IS PRAISED

Immediate Evacuation of Ruhr by the French Question for Argument

By Leonard Lerwill

The women's debate teams of the University won a unanimous decision from Willamette University at Salem and a two to one decision from Oregon Agricultural College in Villard hall in the triangular contest held last night. O. A. C. was reported to have won a two to one decision from Willamette University at Corvallis.

Corvallis Result Uncertain

There was some difficulty in making out the decision at Corvallis. The decision of one of the judges was first read as a vote for the affirmative, but a later inspection of the ballot gave rise to doubt as to what it really was. By that time, the judge had left town and it could not be verified at a late hour last night.

The subject debated in last night's contests was "Resolved, that France should immediately evacuate the Ruhr." The negative team of each institution left its home campus to meet the opposing affirmative team on its home floor. The Oregon affirmative team, which debated in Villard hall, was composed of Mildred Bateman and Mildred Whitecomb. The negative team, which met the Willamette affirmative team in Salem, was Margaret Woodson and Dorothy Abbott.

Contest Is Close

The debate held here last night was declared by many interested in the subject to be the most interesting and competently handled contest that has ever taken place on the Oregon campus. It was pointed out that the decision of two to one indicated the closeness of the debate and the excellence of the work done. H. E. Rosson, debate coach at the University, declared that talent rarely seen in any debate was brought out on the Villard hall stage last night.

Rebuttals Win Praise

Mildred Bateman brought prolonged applause from the audience at the close of her argument. When she returned to the stage to make the final rebuttal for the affirmative, she was greeted with another outburst of applause which was followed by expectant silence. In a clear and determined voice, which seemed to carry conviction throughout the room, she summed up the arguments as presented in the constructive speeches. The negative had contended that a tax of $13.00 per capita extended over a number of years would be sufficient to pay
