

YOCOM TALKS ON DARWIN THEORY

Conflict Between Religion and Evolution Cleared

TEACHINGS EXPLAINED

Lecture Given at Meeting of College Professors

Although it has become a generally accepted fact that the theory of evolution, as expounded by Charles Darwin, in no way conflicts with religion and it is granted by large numbers of men, in the clergy and out, that this process of biology is merely a part of a universal system and does not conflict with the conception of divine creation, there is still controversy and agitation over the matter in current literature.

In an effort to clarify this breach between two great branches of modern education and thought a thorough statement of the controversy and discussion of the duty of scientists of today in dispelling any misconceptions of the teaching of science and its relation to religion was led by Dr. H. B. Yocom, of the zoology department, at the quarterly meeting of the American Association of University Professors, which was held on Monday evening at the College Side Inn.

"Dr. Yocom gave a very careful statement of the controversy," stated Professor E. E. DeCou, president of the local group here.

He was followed by Dr. W. D. Smith, of the department of geology, who spoke on several aspects of the same subject. A general discussion resulted in the explanation that the layman's misunderstanding of the purpose of the teaching of science was responsible for the popular misconception that science opposes religion.

It lies with the scientists to clear up this misunderstanding, according to the conclusion reached at this meeting, by popularizing the fundamental facts of biology particularly. It was pointed out in the course of the discussion that scientists are not in any way trying to bring up theories opposing religion, but that their purpose has been obscure in some instances and, therefore, subject to misinterpretation.

In familiarizing the layman with the common facts of life, as they are observed on every side, it will be possible to show those opposed to the teachings of science its real value in illuminating some of the heretofore "mysteries" of life.

Several questions for discussion at the next meeting of the association were suggested. The purpose and scope of summer sessions, possibilities of simplifying university registration, and methods of increasing intellectual interest and raising the intellectual standards of undergraduates were proposed. Committee to Report

At the next meeting of the local association, which will be held next term, there will be a report of the committee, of which Dr. James H. Gilbert is chairman, on the advisability of a general course in citizenship for University students.

About twenty-five members of the local association attended the meeting.

S. A. E. COMBINATION WINS HANDBALL GAME

Sigma Pi Tau Team Defeated by High Score; Friendly Hall Pair Holds Clean Slate

Continuing their winning stride, the Sigma Alpha Epsilon handball squad easily defeated the Sigma Pi Tau combination by a 21-7, 21-9 score. Having passed through the first rounds without any defeats, the S. A. E. aggregation are in a good line for one of the top berths at the close of the season. The winning team was made up of Parks and Crandall, with Gabriel and Phillips playing for Sigma Pi Tau.

Playing true to form, the Friendly hall squad had little difficulty in whipping the Alpha Beta Chi team, 21-9, 21-9. Cook and Robinson, playing an almost unbeatable game, were too much for Norman and Niemi, the Alpha Beta Chi pair. Friendly hall, one of the teams with a clean slate, will offer no little opposition in the present league before the schedule is completed, having developed a sure, steady game.

In the lower division, the Fiji handball squad defeated the Phi Sigma Pi team in a hard fought match. Green and Trowbridge furnished plenty of opposition to the Phi Gamma Delta pair, King and Furry. The final score was 21-8, 21-16.

ARCHITECTURE MAN DIES

Fred Junken Succumbs After Illness of Week's Duration

Fred Junken, senior in the school of architecture, died last night at his home in Willamette, Oregon, following an operation for appendicitis, according to word received by that school yesterday.

Mr. Junken left school about a week ago because of illness and, as no word had been received from him, the news of his death came as a shock to his friends in the department. He entered the University from West Linn high school and according to Dean Lawrence was one of the most promising students in the school of architecture.

TEA HELD FOR WOMEN VISITING CONVENTION

Miss Mary Mahony Delivers Talk on "Opportunities for Women in Business"

In honor of the women delegates and wives of the Oregon Retail Merchants' association, Phi Theta Kappa, women's national honorary commerce fraternity, gave a tea Tuesday afternoon in the Woman's building. Miss Mary Mahony, educational director at Meier and Franks in Portland, was the special guest of honor. A bit unusual at a tea, but nevertheless amusing, were the "mysteries of magic" stunts given by E. Cooke Patton of Salem, who has been featuring in several of the sessions of the convention.

Miss Mahony gave an informal talk on "Opportunities for Women in Business," at a dinner given for her at the Anchorage by the Phi Theta Kappas. Different fields open to women were discussed, the selling approach of business, and opportunities to which it leads were emphasized.

Beginning at the very bottom is the only way to work into an executive position, believes Miss Mahony, who also suggested that it would be a splendid idea if the University should provide field training for girls in the particular line they are interested in some time during their course of education.

SCRIBES TO TAKE REST

Saturday Emerald to be Omitted; Usual Publication Sunday

Although the coming weekend will be play time for most of the University campus, due to the Washington birthday holiday, Friday, only one Emerald—that of Saturday morning—will be omitted from the usual schedule.

The usual Friday morning paper will be issued, as will the Sunday morning Emerald. Staff members will be expected to report Thursday and Saturday afternoons as usual, as will the Thespian assistants.

This, however, was an increase of 86 points over the score of the week before and an even better showing is expected this week.

DANCE NOT TO BE GIVEN

Washington Birthday Jitney Matinee Discontinued by League

Due to the fact that Washington's birthday falls on Friday this year, the Women's league will not give its annual matinee jitney dance.

This is the first time in a number of years that it has not been given, but because many students will be going home for the holiday, the idea was abandoned, and the "dime crawls" substituted as a means of raising money for the foreign scholarship fund.
