Varsity Loses to Winged M

Result of Swimming Meet is 43 to 23

State Record Made

Diving Exhibition is Given by Kuehn

The Multnomah club mermen bested the varsity aggregation yesterday afternoon in the women's tank by a final count of 43 to 23, taking every event except the dives and the plunge. Peterson, of the club, was the high-point man of the matinee affair with 11¼ points. He took first in both the 100-yard and 40-yard dashes and swam the last leg of the relay, which was taken by the Portland swimmers. Not only was Peterson the high-point man of the meet, but he also succeeded in cracking the state record for the 100-yard dash when he swam the five laps in 1:00:4-5. The previous mark of 1:01 was held by Norman Ross, former club star.

Horsfall was the high man of the varsity aggregation, taking first in the dives and second in the 220-yard dash. During an intermission, Louis "Happy" Kuehn, amateur champion fancy diver of the world, gave an exhibition which brought the crowd to its feet on several occasions. Although Kuehn holds his title on the 10-foot board, he seemed to have little trouble performing on the four-foot board. His repertoire included a list of plain and fancy dives as well as a number of trick dives, in which he comically depicted the novice at the diving game.

The results:

40-yard dash—Peterson (M), Burke (M), McCabe (O); time, 20 4-5 seconds.

100-yard backstroke—Bushnell (M), Ringler (M), Yoran (O); time, 1:17 4-5.

100-yard breaststroke—Egan (M), Sinclair (O); time, 1:18 2-5.

220-yard dash—Boggs (M), Horsfall (O); time, 2:40.

100-yard dash—Peterson (M), Burke (M), Palmer (O); time, 1:00 4-5 (state record).

Plunge—Wiswall (O), Samuels (O), Bushnell (M); distance, 57 feet.

Diving—Horsfall (O), Kalunki (M), McCabe (O).

Relay—The Multnomah club team composed of Farrel, Boggs, Burke and Peterson beat the Oregon team composed of Herron, McCabe, Horsfall and Palmer; time, 1:26.

The officials—Starter, Scott, of Oregon. Judges of the finish, Reinhart, Oregon; Kuehn, M. A. A. C. Timers, Foster and Lombard, of Oregon; diving judges, Kuehn, M. A. A. C.; Parks, Oregon.

Rumors Heard on Graveyard Removal

been sexton of the cemetery for the past nine years, estimated that two-thirds of the graves would be removed if the place were converted into a park.

Expense would also be a large item. A removal of the graveyard would oblige those responsible for the movement to provide new land, and to stand the expense of the actual transportation. If two-thirds of those interred were removed, say to the new Odd Fellow's cemetery five miles west of town, Mr. La Duke estimated the entire expense, including the purchase of new land, would amount to approximately $50,000. This new Odd Fellows' cemetery, established recently upon the sale of all available space in the old cemetery, is forty acres in extent, and would provide ample ground for all the graves removed.

The old cemetery, which covers approximately six city blocks, was established in 1871, or one year before the founding of the University of Oregon.

As to the possibility of the rumor becoming an actuality, one guess seems about as good as another. Mr. La Duke could offer nothing definite. He has heard the rumor for the past nine years. The University administration is non-commital, except that it is hoped in the future to have the place changed into a memorial park, with perhaps a campanile as a single monument.

There has never been an organized attempt to secure the removal of the graveyard. Perhaps if the assistance of the townspeople interested might be secured, the project might be pushed through in the not far distant future.

'Fuzzy' Carson Joins Vernons

Clayburn "Fuzzy" Carson, who was registered in the University as a sophomore in the school of physical education last term, left Thursday for Los Angeles, California, where he will join the Vernon baseball club for spring training.

Carson is a pitcher and was with the Vernon club last year. Although he is younger than most of the players in the Pacific Coast league, "Fuzzy" is a veteran player and won more than half the games in which he played last season. While in college, Carson played on the freshman team. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

KOLLEGE CLUB WINS BIG MARGIN IN RACE

The results of the Kamus Klique election for the most popular exklusive men's hang-out proved konklusively that Obak's is now and always will be the leader for genuine enjoyment. The ballot vote is as follows on the various hang-outs in the contest:

|---|---|
| Kollege Klub | 973 |
| Kollege Krawls | 247 |
| Mill Race | 246 |
| Grave Yard | 245 |
| Davenports | 30 |

Karlo, the Kake Eater

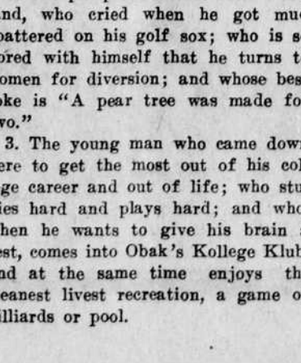
Kal ol' Kid:

I'm getting a hot kick out of the low down I got on a real place to knock around in during my spare time. It's Obak's Kollege Klub, if you know what that means. It's a swell place, plenty of pool and billiard tables, a place to eat, and always somebody around to help you enjoy it. Better'n anything you ever saw at home.

I've threw away my old pipe, on account of Obak selling me one that beats anything I ever puffed at. Any kind of tobacco you want he's got, and when you want swell smokes for a Tux party, or reg'lars for use, he's got them too.

Say I got a real surprise for the old man coming up this month. You know so far reports of my grades have been pretty bum, but since I've been getting a little kick out of life, darned if studying ain't coming sort of natural, and yesterday I got three II's on papers I got back. That don't sound like me, but its a fakt.



Here's my pitcher, Kal, that's to go in the Oreganda, which shows how I feel since startin' in to enjoy myself at the Kollege Klub.

Yours till the Klub Kollapses, Karlo.

Our Hall of Fame

The Krier decided this week to deviate from the usual policy of just nominating one man for this department. Thus several will be put up, and readers are asked to guess which one. The one getting the most guesses will be thrown in the mill race.

1. The young duke from Dufer who thinks that a Tuxedo outfit is a can of tobacco and a pipe; who thinks that the Pentathlon is a local eating fraternity; and who took an advertisement asking for a job to the Ad building.

2. The pampered Prince from Portland, who cried when he got mud spattered on his golf sox; who is so bored with himself that he turns to women for diversion; and whose best joke is "A pear tree was made for two."

3. The young man who came down here to get the most out of his college career and out of life; who studies hard and plays hard; and who, when he wants to give his brain a rest, comes into Obak's Kollege Klub, and at the same time enjoys the cleanest livest recreation, a game of billiards or pool.

Your Car and Your Position

¶ Have you ever noticed how you unconsciously judge a man's position by the kind of a car he drives. Without knowing it you turn over in your mind, his knowledge of values, his appreciation for service, his delight in beauty and the kind of a business man he is in general.

¶ When the passerby sees a Nash in front of a home he recognizes the shrewdness and judgment that would characterize the owner. It places him by his choice of cars, as a man who would lead in affairs of life and not follow.
