NUMBER 111

ORCHESTRA SET FOR WEDNESDAY

Concert for All University to be Held in Methodist Church Starting at 8:00

FRANK JUE WILL SING

Program to Have Popular Appeal; Admission Is by Student Body Ticket

"The University orchestra this year and, in fact, for the last two years, has been a wonderfully fine—really a super-fine group that the student body should be proud of," said Dr. John Landsbury, dean of the school of music, yesterday, in speaking of the organization that will be heard in concert tomorrow evening in the Methodist Episcopal church at 8:00 p. m.

Praise Is Given

"I hear echoes yet of the University orchestra concert in Portland last year, and many prominent people have requested the orchestra to give another concert in that city," continued Dr. Landsbury. "I think the students should take advantage of the chance to get familiar with orchestral music; for such an organization there are so many people involved that it is not often one has the opportunity to hear and become acquainted with music of that kind."

The program, said Rex Underwood, director of the orchestra, while of strictly a good type of music, will not bore, and it does not take a person of music appreciation to enjoy it. In other words, it has a popular appeal.

Numbers Well Selected

The numbers on the program are well selected, presenting enough variety to appeal to all music tastes, from the more classical overture, "Fidelio," by Beethoven, and the introduction of the opera, "Mignon," by Thomas, to the English folk dances, which have been modernized by Percy Grainger.

Frank Jue, tenor, known professionally as Joe Pong, and Doris Helen Patterson, harpist, are the soloists for the concert. Mr. Jue was the headliner on a vaudeville circuit last summer and toured the Pacific coast.

The Portland Oregonian in speaking of his voice said: "Frank Jue has one of the best operatic tenor voices in Portland." George Warren, of the San Francisco Chronicle, was also loud in his praise of the tenor's voice, saying, "Frank Jue, the Chinese tenor, has a rich, full voice, splendidly schooled." Mr. Jue is at present soloist at the Congregational church in this city. He is a senior in the University and a student of John B. Seifert.

Child Will Play

Doris Patterson is considered a child prodigy as a harpist. Though quite young, she has appeared many times publicly, and her association with the orchestra has proved her to be a most noteworthy musician.

This is the fifth concert sponsored by the student body.

One of Players in Latest Guild Play

DARRELL LARSEN

PLAYERS TO PRESENT 'SCHOOL FOR SCANDAL'

Guild Hall Production Dated for March 6, 7 and 8

The "School for Scandal," by Richard Sheridan, will be produced by the members of the junior and senior companies at Guild hall next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 6, 7 and 8. This famous comedy is an exceedingly brilliant and witty picture of eighteenth century manners and will be interesting not only because of its humor, but because of its quaintness of costume and speech, and its many noted characters.

Fergus Reddie, head of the dramatic department, will direct it as a purely classical comedy. Simple backdrops will serve as stage settings. Stage technique will be simple, as in the times in which the play was written; and the costumes of the period will further enable the audience to view a true classical comedy.

The plot of the "School for Scandal" is well known. Every one is familiar with Sir Peter Teazle's unfortunate time with his pert young wife, who frequents the society of the School for Scandal very much against his will; and the two nephews of Sir Oliver, Joseph and Charles Surface, with irreproachable and dastardly reputations, respectively, who eventually get his uncle's fortune.

There is a large cast in this comedy. Bernard McPhillips is taking the part of Sir Peter Teazle, the crabby old gentleman, who quarrels continually with his young wife, Elizabeth Robinson, who played the leading role in "Dover Road" is playing Lady Teazle, the extravagant, witty young woman, whose sharp tongue is the delight of the School for Scandal. Sir Oliver Surface, the wise little uncle from India, who comes to England to pick his heir, will be played by Virgil Mulkey.

Darrell Larsen will play Joseph Surface, the smooth, suave, moralizing young man with no enemies and a spotless reputation. Charles Surface, his brother, seems, however, to be a most dissolute and profligate young man. Everyone speaks in stern condemnation of his drunkenness and his gambing with his uncle's money. Sir Peter is one of his most scandalized enemies. Dave Swanson has this role.

DEBATE PLANNED THURSDAY NIGHT

Oregon to Meet Stanford, Washington in Year's Most Important Contest

SOX IS ILL IN INFIRMARY

Team Members Have First Experience on Varsity; Squad Leaves Tomorrow

A forensic connection of long standing will be continued this year when Oregon, Stanford and Washington meet in a triangular contest Thursday night of this week to debate the question, "Resolved, that the United States should enter the proposed world court."

This contest marks the most important triangle of the year, in point of distance traveled and parts of the country represented, for Oregon will send two men to Palo Alto, Stanford will send two to Seattle, and the University of Washington men will come here, making a distance of almost 1,000 miles between the extreme points of the triangle.

Archer Is New Member

Harold Sox, who was a member of Oregon's negative team, and would have made the trip to Palo Alto, is ill in the infirmary, and last Saturday it was necessary to put in a new man, Glenwood Archer, to take his place. However, Archer has been a member of the squad doing preliminary work on the question, so it is not entirely new to him. With his team mate, Herschel Brown, he will leave tomorrow on the Shasta for California. They are scheduled to arrive in Palo Alto at 11:30 Thursday morning, in time to rest up from the trip and polish up their arguments and presentation before the contest.

Martin S. Moore and Ernest Henriksen, of the affirmative, will stay on the campus to meet the Washington negative, probably in Villard hall. The names of the Washington debaters have not been sent in.

Men Have Experience

All four men are debating on varsity for the first time, though they have all had experience in public speaking. Henriksen and Moore have represented the University in oratorical contests; Brown has been a member of the men's doughnut team which won the Tau Kappa Alpha shield last fall, and Archer has been working on the varsity squad for some time.

H. E. Rosson and Gerrit Demink, coaches, are putting the men through their speeches daily, and are being assisted by Prof. C. D. Thorpe and Paul Patterson, of the written and spoken English department.

Judges and a chairman for Thursday night's meet have not as yet been announced.

GRADUATE WILL SPEAK

Felix Bulso Scheduled for Address at Cosmopolitan Club

Felix Bulso, a Filipino student, who graduated from the University two years ago and who made a trip to his homeland last year, will be the principal speaker at the meeting of the Cosmopolitan club, to be held in the Y. W. C. A. bungalow at 7:30 this evening. Mr. Bulso will speak about the impressions he had gained in his traveling in his native country.

In addition to this address, Manuel Seminario, a student from Peru, South America, will perform a few Peruvian magics. A light lunch will be served after the meeting. The music will be furnished by the Misses Florence Hardes and Marion Hardes. A welcome is extended to all who are interested in the foreign students.

SOCIAL SERVICE DIRECTOR WILL BE HERE WEDNESDAY

Miss Margaret Creech, director of social case work of the school of social service of the University of Oregon at Portland, will be on the campus Wednesday. All girls interested in social service work may see Miss Creech at the extension building on that day. She will have conference hours from 11 to 12 o'clock in the morning, and from 2 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon at the extension building.

Five Oregon Men Will Enter State Swimming Events

Meets Will be Held in Corvallis

Oregon will enter five men in the Oregon state swimming championship meets, which will be held at O. A. C. on March 8 at 7:00. The men that will represent the local institution are Palmer, Horsfall, Sinclair, Wiswall and Lombard.

Lombard, although a freshman, will swim the 50 and 220-yard events. He has been going at a fast clip and from all indications will make a strong bid for honors. Palmer, who is captain of the varsity, will be entered in the 50 and 100 dashes and the 100-yard backstroke.

Horsfall will participate in the dives and 220-yard dash. The diving will be held from a 10-foot board. Although this is the first year that Horsfall has been diving, he has greatly improved since the opening of the season. His showing at the meet with Multnomah club is worthy of praise. Sinclair will swim the 100-yard breaststroke, and Wiswall will enter the plunge.

Y. W. C. A. BANQUET WILL BE WEDNESDAY

Returns from Afternoon Election to be Given

The final big event in the calendar of the Young Women's Christian association for the past year, will be the banquet to be given at the College Side Inn tomorrow night. The affair is to start promptly at 6 o'clock, and end at 7:30, in order to allow those wishing to attend the University orchestra concert to do so.

The banquet is for all sustaining members of the Y. W. C. A., for the officers and members of the association advisory board. To be a member of the association was made possible by signing the cards given out last fall.

Special music is to be given by Margaret and Katherine Inwood on the violin and piano and by Gladys Keeney, who will sing. Mrs. E. E. DeCou, Eloise Buck, Mrs. Bruce Giffen, and Dean Virginia Judy Eyster will give toasts. Mary Clerin, retiring president, will act as toastmistress.

One of the interesting numbers on the program will be the announcement of the elections of the new officers of the association for the coming year. The annual election of officers will come Wednesday from 9 to 4 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. bungalow. Every member of the University Y. W. C. A. is urged to come out and vote.

Candidates up for offices are, Florence Buck, president; Mary Donaldson, and Neva Service, vice-president; Marian Lowry and Margaret Boyer, secretary; Lois Easterbrooks and Claudia Broders, treasurer; and Helen Andrews, undergraduate representative.

SPONSOR LIST IS READY

"Big Sisters" and Sponsees Will Meet at Weekly Tea

The "Big Sister" list has been posted on the bulletin board in the library and is serving as a source of information for the women of the University. The fact that sponsors are not able to get in touch with their sponsees does not exclude anyone from the weekly Woman's league tea, as every woman in the University is invited, but the committee urges the upper-class women to make an effort to get in touch with their sponsees.

This will probably be the last tea given this term. A charge of five cents per couple will be made.

OREGON AND O. A. C. TO BE HOSTS TO MAY CONVENTION

Oregon Agricultural College—(By P. I. N. S.)—O. A. C. will be the joint host with the University of Oregon to the fourth semi-annual convention of the Pacific Student Presidents' association the last of May. The association is drawn from the student body presidents of Pacific coast colleges and universities.

FIFTY FOOTBALL MEN TURN OUT

New Mentor Is Satisfied With Showing Made in First Work Yesterday

SPEED IS EMPHASIZED

Charging Drills, Tackling, and Blocking Make Up Elementary Field Lesson

Last night more than fifty grid aspirants and Joe Maddock ushered Old King Football back into the glare of the campus spotlight when spring football practice definitely got under way on the sawdust field back of Hayward field. It is expected that from 10 to 20 more pigskin artists will be back in the harness before the week is out.

Joe expressed himself as being very well satisfied with the initial turnout which included varsity, freshman, and newcomers. Last night's workout was rather light due to the fact that the men are, as yet, not in the best of condition and the speed of Joe's formations calls for the ultimate of condition on the part of the men.

Men Work in Squads

The line candidates separated into two squads of about 20 each went through charging drills which consisted of a series of short charges with emphasis on the speed in lining up. After that, tackling and blocking was the order of the afternoon.

The backfield men put in the afternoon running through a shift formation to limber up the old plus. Speed was the noticeable element throughout the matinee workout.

Shy worked with the new mentor as did Baz Williams and Bill Reinhardt, the fresh coaches of last fall. The blue "M" of his alma mater adorned Joe's sweater as he put his men through their paces in their first workout together.

Coach Inspires Men

Maddock's quiet voice seemed to inspire the men as a few words from him would send the line charging in a fierce manner that belied the fact that it was the first practice of the year.

Toward the close of the session, Joe lined up a team and ran through several plays in order to show the squad the necessity of knowing the fundamentals that were stressed during practice.

OREGON NURSES MEET

Mozelle Hair Presides at Annual Conference in Portland

Miss Mozelle Hair, secretary of the University extension division, was in Portland last week, where she attended several different meetings of public health. Wednesday, Miss Hair presided at the afternoon session of the annual meeting of the Oregon Association of Public Health Nurses.

Miss Harriet Thomson, of the University school of physical education, and Miss Hair were present at the meeting of the Oregon Tuberculosis association on Thursday. Miss Thomson acted as the official representative from Lane county. Friday, Miss Hair attended the board of director's meeting of the Association of Public Health Nurses, of which she is a lay member.

U. H. S. FIVE WINS TILT

Corvallis Team Losses, 22-18; Local Men in Championship Race

By defeating the Corvallis high hoopers on the Corvallis floor Saturday night, the University high basketball quintet cleared another hurdle in its race for the district championship.

During the first half of the game, the Corvallis team was able to score only once and the half ended 12 to 2 in favor of the local team. During the last quarter, the Corvallis team rallied and made some spectacular shots from the middle of the floor, but the University high's lead was too great and the Corvallis squad was not able to overtake them. Bidings, University high guard, was high-point man with 11 of their 22 points to his credit. The final score was 22-18.

'Old Oregon' Humor Section Is Headed by Eugene F. Short

Eugene F. (Bunk) Short has been appointed editor of the humor section of "Old Oregon." This was announced yesterday from the editor's office, after the decision had been made from suggestions turned in by students. Short is a journalism major and is known, too, for his work in cartoons. Short drew the cartoon for the 1923 Homecoming letter, which was sent to all alumni.

"Old Oregon" is still on the hunt for humor. A mistaken impression is going around the campus that art and humor are wanted from just the well known humorists and artists. Everyone is asked to turn in humorous poems, anecdotes, epigrams or art drawings. The offer of $2.50 still holds for each of the 10 best contributions. The contest closes March 8. All material is dated as it comes into the office and contributions are wanted as far ahead of the closing date as possible.

Short is interested in an art heading for his section. If it is necessary to know the name for the department before drawing the headline, he may have suggestions upon consultation. Suggestions are wanted for a name.

ASSOCIATED STUDENTS WILL MEET THURSDAY

Program to Consist of Business and Music

The assembly hour Thursday morning will be given over to the third student body meeting of the year. Following the short business meeting of the associated students, short talks will be given by the coaches on spring sports, and the school of music is to give a special program for the remaining part of the hour.

The main business to be taken up Thursday, as announced by Claude Robinson, president of the associated students, yesterday, will be an amendment to the by-laws framed by the forensic people to change the pattern of the debate award.

There will be two more student body meetings for the year, one during the first week of May and the other during the first week of June.

The tentative music program, as announced yesterday for Thursday, includes numbers by the stringed quartet, a violin solo and an instrumental trio on the flute, piano and the violin.

The meeting is to be held in Villard hall at 11 o'clock.

SENIORS ARE VICTORS

Sophomore Women Defeated in Swim by 37 to 22 Score

The women's senior first team was victorious over the sophomore team in an exciting swimming meet yesterday at 5 o'clock. The final score was 37 for the seniors and 22 for the sophomores.

Florence Baker was high-point woman for the seniors with a total of nine points, and Anna DeWitt for the sophomores with 10 points to her credit. Both teams are made up of strong swimmers and the meet was close in every event.

Tonight, at 5 o'clock, the junior second team and sophomore-senior second will meet.

Keen Nature Interpretation Shown in Schroff Exhibition

Art lovers will be privileged to visit the exhibition of the work of Alfred H. Schroff in his studio across Eleventh street from the campus, until March 16. The studio is open to the public from 2 to 5 o'clock each afternoon, with informal groups scheduled for the evenings.

The maturity of Mr. Schroff's work immediately impresses one. It has a mellowness, a ripeness, that has developed through years of study through a very great gift. The first impression is the beauty of color—a richness in his landscapes which gives them their decorative charm. Closer analysis, however, reveals his keen observation of nature, and the technique which enables him to reproduce the truth

OREGON TO MEET BEARCATS TODAY

Willamette Game, Winding Up Season for Varsity, to be Played at Salem

NINE MEN TO MAKE TRIP

After - Conference Contest Psychology Makes Odds Bigger Than Customary

The rather anti-climatic ending of Oregon's basketball season will take place tonight when Billy's boys wind up their schedule at Salem with the Willamette Bearcats as opponents. Oregon trounced the Salem quintet earlier in the season by a good safe margin and, in spite of varsity reverses, the local team is still picked as the favorite.

There is, however, a certain psychology that is against the Lemon-Yellow in that the game has no bearing on the conference standings and there is not a great deal of honor attached to hanging up a victory over the smaller institution.

History Is Recalled

On the other hand, it would be quite a feather in the cap of the Methodists to lower Oregon's colors, especially when backing such odds. This recalls to memory the time when Oregon came within two games of winning the Coast conference honors in the winter of 1921, losing to California. Then, after beating all of the major teams in the Northwest, Oregon was barely able to defeat the Bearcats, 26 to 25, in the final game of the season.

Nine men, accompanied by Billy, will make the trip to the capitol city for tonight's tussle. Latham, Gowans, Hobson, Gillenwaters and Rockey will probably be the lineup that will receive the assignment, with Chapman, Jost, Gunther and Stoddard ready to jump into the fray as relief material.

Chapman's Knee Better

Chappy's knee, although not healed, is in much better shape, and it is possible that he may relieve either Rockey or Gillenwaters in the initial lineup. A light practice was held last night in the men's gymnasium. There was no scrimmage, the workout being confined to signal drill.

DR. SMITH TO GIVE TALK

Japanese Earthquake Will be Topic of Illustrated Lecture

An illustrated lecture, for which special slides have been made, concerning the earthquake of September, 1923, in Japan, will be delivered by Dr. W. D. Smith, head of the geology department, Wednesday evening at 7:30 in Deady hall.

The lecture, which is being held under the auspices of the Technical society of the University, will be of special interest to geology and architecture students. Some of the structures which withstood the shock with the least damage will be illustrated and discussed. All students, however, are invited to attend and it is believed that the interest of the talk will not be confined to geology and architecture majors alone, as the subject will be treated from other less technical angles.

New Church Chapel to Bear Name of Late Thomas Condon

Plans are now being completed for the building of a $50,000 Congregational church on the corner of the 13th and Ferry streets, construction of which is to begin during the coming summer. Of special interest to students and faculty should be the fact that a memorial room to be a part of the office, will be dedicated to Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Condon, and will be known as Condon chapel.

"Especially fitting this dedication seems," said M. H. Douglas, in speaking of the memorial, "for Thomas Condon lived at the time, soon after the publication of Darwin's books on evolution, when it was thought that a believer in Darwin's theories could obviously not be a Christian, and he stood apart as being both a Christian and a scientist." To quote from a biography of his life—"To Mr. Condon, the theory of evolution presented to the human mind a wider conception of God than the world had ever known. It involved a plan of unthinkable grandeur, beginning with the smallest, simplest things, gradually unfolding into more complex life, often interrupted by some upturning of nature, but never losing the continuity of purpose, the steady progress toward the culminating glory of all: the spiritual life of man."

To new students at the University, evidence of the great love and respect which former students and faculty have felt for "Oregon's Grand Old Man of Science," is shown in the naming of "The Condon
