

STUDENTS EARN OVER $23,000

Increase Is $4,508 in Fall and Winter Terms

RANGE OF JOBS IS WIDE

Report Prepared by Y. M. Employment Bureau

An unusual increase in the amount of service rendered the students of the University of Oregon this year by the Employment bureau, in comparison with that of last year, is shown in a report prepared yesterday by Mrs. Charlotte R. Donnelly by Mrs. Charlotte R. Donnelly to be made to the advisory board of the United Christian Work of the University. This report, made at the close of each term, indicates that over $4,508 more has been made by University students during the fall and winter terms of 1923-24 than was made during the same terms of 1922-23.

New Service Added
The increase over the amount of money earned four years ago, when Mrs. Donnelly first took charge of the Employment bureau, is shown by the fact that the total for the entire year was not as much as is earned in one term now. The total at that time was $10,000, while over $11,439 was earned this last winter term.

A new service has been tried out this year of listing cooks, in order to help living organizations secure them when their own cooks are ill or leave. The names of several good cooks are always on file at the Employment office and several houses have already benefitted by this service.

Jobs Regular and Odd
In the last two terms, $23,458 has been earned, in comparison to $18,950 for the same term last year. There is an increase of $3,417 for the amount earned this winter term over that earned during the winter term a year ago.

Regular and odd jobs done by the students cover a wide range. One student is an undertaker's assistant, several men take care of babies while the parents are out for the evening, one freshman helps work his way through college by milking cows, and a few men are firemen in the city fire department. Some of the other kinds of jobs include floor polishers, janitors, fountain clerks, hashers, clerks, stenographers, garage men, electricians readers, shipping clerks, house boys, roofers, laundry workers, filling station attendants, moving picture operators, sign painters, bell boys, painters, plumbers, typists, dish washers and chauffeurs.

Oregon's debate coach, now a member of the faculty of the written and spoken English department, said: "The old emblem is insignificant and meaningless, whereas the proposed emblem has a distinctive quality and is something that I believe a debater can wear with pride. As for the manager, if anyone earns his numeral, the debate manager does, for the reason that he has to do a great deal of hard work behind the scenes which nobody sees or hears about. The success or failure of the season depends in a large measure on him."

H. E. Rosson, present coach, said: "The emblem adopted by the forensic committee is most commendable, for it gives to the student who has gone out for intercollegiate debate a distinction which the present plain letter 'O' does not. This letter, which has been awarded in the past, could be, and in fact, was, duplicated both at Oregon and O. A. C. With the special design which the committee has selected for the award which is now proposed, duplication will be most difficult, and thus the pin will be a really distinctive mark for the person who receives it."

The musical program is in charge of Rex Underwood of the school of music and will consist of the following numbers.

Violin solo by Gwendolyn Lampshire, two numbers by a string quartet, consisting of Gwendolyn Lampshire, Delbert Moore, Jane O'Reilly and Katie Potter. A quartet consisting of violin piano, flute and cello will give one number. This is made up of Nina Warnock, Katie Potter, Beulah Clark and Claire Collette. Delbert Moore will close the program with a violin solo.

This is the third student body meeting of the year. There will be two more during the year. One in the first week of May and the other in the early part of June.

DOUGHNUT WRESTLERS REACH SEMI-FINALS

Men Not on Hand at 4 p. m. Will Forfeit Bout

The winners of the third round of the championship doughnut wrestling tournament, which was held yesterday afternoon advanced in to the semi-finals. The semi-finals will start today at four o'clock sharp, and all men who are not on hand will forfeit their bouts, said Hank Foster, who is in charge of the program. If there are any challenges from Tuesday's matches, they must be held prior to four o'clock as the winners will draw opponents and wrestle in the next round.

There was considerable confusion since some of the men did not show up for the challenging round. A man who challenges must report to the office and also get in touch with the person he expects to wrestle.

The results of the challenging bouts held Tuesday are:

- 118 pound, Cragun threw W. Jones in 3.25.
- 125 pounds, Rice forfeited to Izenbarger; Oswald forfeited to Fakuda.
- 135 pounds, Meader threw S. D. Wingard in 2.2; Young won a decision over Clark; E. Jones beat Frost by a fall in 3.34.
- 145 pounds, Laurs won over Simola by forfeit; Woods threw Lee in 4.45; Dawson forfeited to Lockwood; Christian won by forfeit over Ringler.
- 158 pounds, Crawford forfeited to Poulsen; Baker threw McClain in 3.32.
- 175 pounds, Josephs won by forfeit over McIntyre; B. Jones forfeited to Cronin; Killem threw Burton in 4.10.

Unlimited, L. Johnson lost a decision to G. Shields.

HANDBALL TITLE MATCH SCHEDULED FOR FRIDAY

Friendly Hall and Sigma Alpha Epsilon Share Top Berth in Series; Competition Keen

By reason of a substantial victory over the Oregon club handball squad, the Friendly hall aggregation is now sharing the top berth with the Sigma Alpha Epsilon team. With the finish of the league but a short ways off, the championship is hanging on the title match to be played Friday between the Sig Alphas and Friendly hall squads.

It is difficult to say that either team has an advantage or edge over the other, as they have both met and defeated practically the same opposition. Both teams have developed a speedy offensive that is hard to check. By virtue of more experience, one might favor the S. A. E. combination, although the Hall boys have worked out a system of play that is difficult to cope with. The Sig Alpha pair is made up of Parks and Crandall, while Robinson and Cook are representing Friendly hall. The winner of the contest will cop the trophy, with the loser finishing as runner-up. The tournament extends into the middle of next week, and the other matches will decide in which place each of the remaining teams will finish.

In the lower division, the question of the league leader is narrowed down with the Beta and Fiji squads battling for the honor. Due to some misunderstanding, the tournament is extending over the scheduled time, but by the end of this week the victor will be known.

UNIVERSITY HIGH DRAMATIC CLUB GIVES ONE-ACT PLAYS

The dramatic club at the University high school has been active this year in furnishing entertainment for assemblies. The club has put on a number of one-act plays. Last Friday they presented "Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil," before the student assembly. They are planning other short plays to be given from time to time.

GRA-KOS SOCIETY NOW FORMALLY RECOGNIZED

Alan Smith Is President of New Organization

An underclass inter-fraternity society, the Gra-Kos, was given formal recognition by the student council yesterday afternoon. The purposes of the new honorary organization, according to the report to the council, will be to promote a closer relationship among the fraternity men of the campus, assist local fraternities, foster student democracy, and maintain Oregon ideals and traditions.

The present membership of the organization consists of fourteen sophomores, but they plan to elect freshmen soon who will become active in their sophomore year.

Gra-Kos will hold round-table discussion groups every two weeks and at these times they will exchange ideas on fraternity problems and campus situation. Further than this, they are planning to have faculty members, professional and business men meet with them and from these contacts gather a broader vision of their own problems. The members believe that much good can be accomplished by this sort of an active organization, believing that greater inter-fraternity understanding and co-operation can be achieved by a more or less social group, and that an under-class order can build up a more lasting type of inter-fraternity harmony.

The active membership of the group will be the sophomores, the freshman pledges not becoming active until their sophomore year and upper-classmen being inactive.

Alan Smith, president, says that the group has been planning their organization for sometime, but had made no announcement until they felt sure that they had become sufficiently strong to accomplish their purposes. He thinks that Gra-Kos will prove an important factor in getting freshman into worthwhile activities and teaching them true Oregon principles.

The other officers of the society are: Charles Snider, vice-president, and Ben Smith secretary-treasurer. The charter members are: Douglas Wilson, Clarence Toole, Ben Smith, Merton Foltz, Vory Heron, Howard Hobson, Dick Gehn, Bill Dills, Rodney Keating, Kenneth Bailey, Charles Snider, Jack Seabrook, Parley Stoddard and Alan Smith.

inter-class nature. Although the plan was not fully worked out, it was suggested that inter-class competition under the supervision of varsity coaches be held. Under this plan, the men trained by the intramural sports would be in a better position to step into the varsity system. It was suggested that class football might be revived after a four-year lapse.

Plan Is Not New

It was brought out at the meeting that the University of Illinois had adopted a system that is essentially the same as the one that is outlined here. It was also brought out that the University of Montana had abolished inter-fraternity athletics.

A report of the committee on Junior Week-end stated that any fraternity which rushed or entertained a prospective student during Junior Week-end would do so contrary to the rulings of the inter-fraternity council and should be dealt with at the will of a majority of the council members.

with their D minor cadences continually recurring, yet with the major always working in. The "Peasant Dance" brought wooden shoes and buxom, flaxen-haired dancers to mind.

The Overture to Mignon by Thomas closed the program. There are some difficult passages in this overture, but it was very well done, and a fitting climax to the evening's concert.

Doris Helen Patterson, harpist, though a child, showed herself to be a musician of merit and great possibilities. She was unruffled, and played with no small amount of feeling.

Frank Jue, tenor, sang very well his group of three songs. Mr. Jue has a voice of power and volume, which does not lack sweetness. His control and interpretation is excellent. "The Star," by Rogers, was a lovely number, well sung. "Bye and Bye," arranged by Burleigh, is a negro spiritual. Had it not been for Mr. Jue's sympathetic interpretation of this, it might have grown wearisome, with its repetition of strain; but his deep feeling sustained interest. "M'appari," from Plotow's "Marta," was ably sung. Mr. Jue's enunciation is pleasingly clear. Aurora Potter Underwood accompanied him on the piano.

CLUBWOMAN TO SPEAK

Members of Women's League Urged by President to Attend

A large attendance of University women at the meeting of the Federation of Women's clubs at 3 o'clock this afternoon, in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, is urged by Georgia Benson, president of Women's league. Mrs. Saidie Orr-Dunbar, of Portland, state president of the federation, will speak at the meeting. Mrs. Dunbar is secretary of the State Tuberculosis association and is coming under the auspices of the Fortnightly club.

An informal tea will follow, to which all members of the organization are invited.

CASTLE
One of the most thrilling scenes in "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," the Castle theater's offering, is where Henry Hull as the schoolmaster, flees from the mob who want to lynch him. "The Hoosier Schoolmaster" is the picturization of Edward Eggleston's widely-read novel of the same name. Jane Thomas is seen opposite Mr. Hull. "The Hoosier Schoolmaster" shows today for the last times.

LIUTENANT M. E. KNOWLES RETURNS FROM HONOLULU

Lieutenant M. E. Knowles, who was formerly on the local R. O. T. C. staff and is now stationed at Honolulu, was in Portland over the weekend on his way to Washington, D. C., where he is sent on a special mission. Lieutenant Knowles will be in the United States three or four weeks, and says he prefers this country to Hawaii, as moonlight nights, beaches and other characteristic Hawaiian "atmosphere" gets monotonous.
