

DE COU TO HEAD TREE CAMPAIGN

Instructions for Planting Will be Sent Out

AIM IS TO IMPROVE CITY

Women's Clubs of Eugene Sponsor Movement

This week in Eugene introduces a tree planting campaign throughout the city. Prof. E. E. DeCou of the University, who has been asked by the Federation of Women's Clubs of Eugene to take charge of this work, has organized six committees in the various districts of the city. Chairmen of these committees are now carrying on the work of taking orders for trees and assisting local citizens in planting. The tree planting campaign is a part of a movement of the Federation of Women's Clubs of Eugene to beautify the city and is regarded as the primary step in improving the appearance of local property. Miss Mozelle Hair, secretary of the extension department of the University, is head of this work for the clubs.

Planting Is Discussed
Instructions in methods of planting and information on the variety of trees best adapted to the soil in various localities in the city are included in a small folder, which has been issued by the committee and is available from any of the chairmen in the six districts into which the city has been divided. The cooperation of authorities on planting and soil conditions at O. A. C. and of several local experts has been of great assistance in the work of gathering information and makes the folder of great practical value to property owners who are taking part in the movement, according to Mr. DeCou.

Fisher to Help
George W. Taylor, assistant inspector of trees and shrubs of Lane county, has volunteered his services in the supervision of planting and H. M. Fisher, superintendent of grounds on the campus, is assisting the officials in the campaign.

Orders for trees are being taken now by committee chairmen, and planting is expected to start immediately. By the end of the season it is expected that there will be hundreds of new trees set out in the park strips of the city. The plan for planting provides for certain varieties of trees to be used in particular streets so that the planting will be uniform and thus add to its effectiveness.

Chairmen Named
Chairmen of district committees for the city and their territory are listed below: Fairmount, Mrs. Carl Washburn; University Heights, Robert W. Prescott; northeast district, Miss Ida Patterson; College Hill district, Samuel Rugh; western district, Mrs. Flora McDonald; northwest district, Mrs. Blaine H. Hovey. Orders for trees and advice about planting may be obtained at any time from these chairmen, and it is hoped that residents in all districts will take part in the work of improving the property in their vicinity.

PHONOGRAPH UTILIZED TO TEACH LANGUAGES

Many Persons Working for Doctor's Degree Take Course at University High

Teaching languages by phonograph is the method used by Mrs. Edith Baker Pattee, teacher of romance languages at the University high school. Mrs. Pattee has been using the phonograph system for several years and has made quite a study of it. Her article on "The Use of the Phonograph in Class Work," has been printed in the "Oregon Teachers' Monthly," and in "The School Review," which is published at the University of Chicago and is recognized as one of the best magazines on education in the United States. Mrs. Pattee has recently received a new set of records in French and Spanish. They are of a new system called the Rosenthal method, which she likes better than any that she has tried before. All the beginning lessons are repeated three times, first very slowly and distinctly and then slightly faster and last, as a connected discourse and at the speed of ordinary conversation. Mrs. Pattee says that the wonderful pronunciation and the genuinely foreign voices are the best points of the new system.

Many persons who are working for a doctor's degree, yet are behind in language work, come to Mrs. Pattee and find that they can learn quickly by the phonograph method. It is also very helpful to students who find themselves behind in class work, and to teachers who are in doubt as to certain pronunciations. The phonograph has the advantage that it will repeat any number of times without getting cross. Mrs. Pattee thinks that one of the greatest uses of the new method is to give to the traveler a working knowledge of the language of the country in which he plans to travel. The Rosenthal method has a number of phrases for general use that are of great help to prospective travelers.

DR. HODGE WILL GIVE RADIO LECTURE FRIDAY

Geological Aspects of Teapot Dome to be Subject of KGW Broadcasting Talk

Dr. Edwin T. Hodge, professor of geology, will broadcast a radio lecture from station KGW, of the Oregonian, on "The Teapot Dome," Friday evening, March 14, at 9 o'clock. On the following Friday, March 21, Dr. Peter Crockatt, professor of economics, will give a radio lecture on "History and Significance of the Labor Movement in England."

"Dr. Hodge will take up the geological aspects of the Teapot Dome, and will not touch on the recent political scandal," said Alfred Powers, in charge of radio activities on the campus. "Last year, Dr. Hodge gave a radio lecture on 'The Pre-historic Men of Oregon.'" At the time thousands of letters and cards from all parts of the country were received by both the extension division and the Oregonian commenting on the transmission, he said. With the great increase in number of radio receiving sets all over the country, it is expected that Dr. Hodge will have a far greater audience this year than last. For the weeks following the lectures by Dr. Crockatt, a special series of lectures has been arranged by the Portland branch of the extension division.

ROSALIA KEBER TO EDIT CAMPUS NEWS SECTION

Department to be Given More Space in "Old Oregon" Under New Assistant Editor

Rosalia Keber, senior in journalism, has been appointed assistant editor of "Old Oregon," alumni publication, it was announced yesterday from the office of Grace Edgington, editor. Miss Keber will help with the editing of the whole magazine and will have special charge of the department of campus news. This department has never been highly developed before, but a great deal of interest has been shown on the part of many alumni, and more space will be devoted to it beginning with the March issue. The alumni are interested in it primarily for its point of view. They like to compare it with campus views of their day, to know of the upholding or breaking down of old traditions and the establishment of new ones. Miss Keber is the first student on the regular staff, aside from those who edit special campus departments.

EARL SHAFER RECOVERS FROM RECENT OPERATION

Earl Shafer, a member of the varsity basketball team, who was operated on for appendicitis about two weeks ago, was dismissed from the infirmary yesterday. He is able to be about the campus again now, though he will probably not be able to finish this term of school.

JEAN GERARDY

HERE MARCH 26

Belgian 'Cellist Will be Concert Soloist

ABILITY HIGHLY LAUDED

First Local Appearance to be at M. E. Church

Jean Gerardy, great Belgian 'cellist, will be heard in concert Wednesday evening, March 26, at the Methodist Episcopal church auditorium. This marks the sixth concert sponsored by the music committee of the associated students and admission, as usual, will be by student body ticket with townspeople paying the regular admission price.

Jean Gerardy, whose fame is international, has toured the United States many times, however, this is his initial appearance in Eugene. He made his last tour prior to his enlistment in the Belgian army, and with each appearance the wonder grew that a man could be so great a master of his instrument. But Gerardy of today, say the critics, even surpasses the Gerardy of six years ago. His four years of active service in the war and the past two years which he spent in rest and study, have worked wonders in the further development of the great Belgian master.

Artistry Is Praised
Artistically, Gerardy is considered a genius, and personally he is fascinating. It is said he embodies every quality necessary for complete conquering his audiences.

He is not a young man, for he was born 47 years ago on December 7, at Liege, where his father, Dieudonne Gerardy was a pianoforte teacher at the municipal conservatory. Jean at the age of seven commenced his studies with Richard Boellmann, and in less than two years won the second prize at the conservatory. In 1889, he was awarded the gold medal by unanimous consent of the jury. When he was ten years of age, he appeared in public for the first time. The following year, when he played at Lille and Aix-la-Chapelle, the newspaper critics hailed him as "an apparition destined to revolutionize the musical world."

Ysaye Is Impressed
Eugene Ysaye, world noted violinist, who heard the boy during the summer of 1888, was so greatly impressed that he caused London appearances to be arranged where Gerardy appeared jointly with him and Paderewski. Since then his successes have been continuous and phenomenal.

"Jean Gerardy returned to us an incomparable 'cellist," said the New York Globe following his concert in the metropolis. "One might expiate on his utter mastery of technique and indulge in purple and swollen praise of his marvellously rich and varied tone."
"Mr. Gerardy played with intensive expression and with a tone of rare and searching beauty," were the words of the music critic of the New York Times.

Present Tour Popular
His present tour, it is said, is evoking even more interest, if possible, than previous tours. To the city of Eugene and to the University his concert means the presence of one of the finer musicians of the world and one that no person can afford to miss.

MAURICE HYDE TO BE ON CAMPUS MONDAY

Former Student Has Varied Career; Members of Advertising Class to Hear Talk

Maurice Hyde, advertising manager of Lipman, Wolfe and Company of Portland, will be on the campus next Monday to address the members of the advertising class. His subject will be "Department Store Advertising."

Hyde graduated from the University of Oregon school of journalism in 1917. After leaving school, he led a varied career, first going to Stanfield to run the Stanfield Standard. At the end of a period of service during the war, he came to Eugene, and was telegraph editor of the Eugene Daily Guard, becoming after this, the circulation editor of the Morning Register.

From here, he went to Portland, where he worked on the copy desk of the Oregonian, and then to San Francisco to join the staff of the Bulletin. When he came back to Portland, he became assistant advertising manager at Lipman, Wolfe and Company, and upon the resignation of his chief a few months later, he was made manager.

He has held this position for two years and much of the success in the advertising business is attributed to his artistic taste and experience which he gained in window decorating. He now has as his assistant Harry Smith, '22, who was editor of the Emerald in 1921.

CORRESPONDENCE WORK HAS SLIGHT INCREASE

Students Enrolled in 108 Courses in Month; 825 Papers Sent Extension Division

A slight increase in University correspondence study registrations was shown during February, 1924, as compared with February, 1923.

There were 99 students enrolled in 108 courses of correspondence study last month, and 97 students enrolled in 105 courses a year ago. Of these, the largest number of registrations was in education, with English second and literature third. The extension division received 825 lesson papers during the month, the largest number of these from

HOOPERS PLAY TONIGHT

University High School Game With Albany Is Last of Season

Tonight at 7:30 at the men's gymnasium, the University high school squad will play the last game of its basketball season against Albany high. Billy Reinhart is to referee the game.

The University high quintet ranks second in the district conference at the present time. Their defeat last Tuesday night by Eugene high put them definitely out of the race for first honors. The outcome of the game tonight will decide whether University high or Albany high finishes in second place, as both teams have about the same percentage of victories.

Shorthand on the Campus

Due to the fact that through a state ruling, shorthand cannot be given as part of the college curriculum, private shorthand courses of five hours a week have been established on the campus.

These courses are exclusively for college students and they require a minimum of outside study. A small tuition is charged.

Special attention is given to those who are expecting to teach stenography.

Helpful instructions are offered without cost for those who are desirous of learning touch system of typing.

Further particulars may be obtained from F. Ramsey, room 101, Commerce Bldg., between 3 and 5 p. m.

"It's on even when it's off"
(Does this slogan about the Hinge-Cap deserve a prize? If not, what better one can you suggest? Read our offer.)

WILLIAMS is a wonderfully popular shaving cream. Here's why:—It's heavier, faster-working lather, the way it lubricates the path of the razor and eliminates painful friction, the soothing ingredient which keeps the skin so smooth and cool even in daily shaving—these are qualities men like! They also like its purity—no artificial coloring. With the new Hinge-Cap, Williams is winning more friends than ever before. See if you ever used a shaving cream as good.
